Fowkes' Hat Tricks Give Budget 7-4 Win

Bobby and Richie Fowkes each had a hat trick to lead Budget Rent-A-Car to a 7-4 win over Dayce's Place in the opening game of the Executive Hockey League season Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Mike Stoller scored Budget's other goal. Rich Fowkes had four assists. Bob Fowkes and Stoller two

For Dayce's Kevin Lewis had two goals and Doug McLean and Jack Valle one each. Jack Duffy had three assists and Lewis, McLean and Dave Mullen one each.

Goalie Art Boyle had the shutout as Beau's Place blanked Luke's Lounge, 2-0. Scott Linscott and Frankie Guest had the goals and Guest and Ken Noome had assists.

Grogan's Business Machines defeated Adams Sporting Goods, 4-2, with John Emmott, Jack Crowley, Paul Veneziano and Dick McCabe scoring the goals. Emmott had two assists and Paul Hannon one. Paul O'Brien scored both goals for Adams with Billy Hansen having an assist.

Jaehnig Club Fighting For Playoff Spot

With the regular season in its final week, the Jaehnig Chiropactic Club of Quincy, with a 7-3 record, is battling for a playoff spot in the Ridge Racquetball Club fall basketball league.

Jaehnig split two games during the past week, easily topping Blue Star, 55-32, and dropping a 50-48 squeaker to the Braintree Cutters.

In the win over Blue Star

Dave Hassan paced the club with 15 points. Steve Mele had 10. Mark Jaehnig nine, John Jamieson eight, Mike Granahan eight, Mike Granahan six, Mike Wilson four, Mike Jaehnig two and Dan Jaehnig one.

Jaehnig was unable to hold on to an early lead in the loss to the Cutters. Mark Jaehnig had 17 points, Granahan 12 and Bob Eastman eight.

The Mount, a team made up of recent North Quincy High stars, leads the league with an 8-0 record, led by Mark Millane, Moose Mallory, Jim Halloran, Joel Devlin, Billy Murphy and Bob Evans.

The rest of the standings: Miller A.C., 5-2; McOffs, 5-2; Jaehnig, 7-3; Hanna Club, 6-3; DC Club, 5-3; O'Brien Old, 5-3; Cutters, 3-6; Armstrong, 2-5; Emissions, 2-6; Selects, 2-7, and Blue Star, 2-8.

Camp Fire Registration Sept. 12

Quincy Camp Fire will hold registration night Wednesday, Sept. 12, at 7 p.m. at United First Parish Church, 1306 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

A brief program and film will explain Camp Fire, a national non-profit youth organization active in Quincy since 1910.

Members meet weekly in clubs for field trips, arts and crafts, service projects, and skill building. There are also such city wide events as a square dance, splash parties, and campouts. This year's program will include council-wide activities celebrating Camp Fire's 75th birthday nationwide.

Red Cross classes in health and safety will be offered for the first time this year. Leaders trained by the Quincy chapter of the American Red Cross will teach these classes.

Progress through the Camp Fire program is marked with the presentation of emblems and Honor Beads at the annual Grand Council Fire.

It's a way of life!"

Bob Cerasoli May Be One of the Younger Representatives On Beacon Hill But He's An Old Hand At Getting Results
Even If He Has To Stand Alone!

When Bob entered the legislature in 1975, he was assigned to the Joint Committee on Election Laws. With the committee, he immediately set to work rewriting Chapter 55 of the General Laws which provides for full disclosure of campaign contributions and expenditures.

Results!

Today, Massachusetts has one of the toughest

At a time when people have become frustrated with the political system and its leaders, others were just talking about tough Ethics Laws. Bob co-authored and co-sponsored with Common Cause Massachusetts one of the strongest state-wide Ethics Laws ever enacted in the United States.

Bob Cerasoli did something about it.

Today, Massachusetts has its first State Ethics Commission, a strong Conflict of Interest Law and mandatory Financial Disclosure. All a direct result of Bob Cerasoli's legislation.

When things started to get out of hand in the Massachusetts House, Bob Cerasoli co-sponsored a proposal to televise House debates.

Results!

Now, the public can monitor their Representatives

Bob Cerasoli did something about it.

As the youngest Chairman ever appointed to the House Ethics Committee, Bob Cerasoli forced the Legislature to take action against one of its own members. And for the first time in history, Bob Cerasoli presided over the public reprimand of a member of the Massachusetts House.

Bob Cerasoli will do it again!

Elect Bob Cerasoli State Representative Sept. 18

Raymond Dunn, 19 Murdock Ave., Quincy

The Winners:

Shamie, Kerry, Harold, Cerasoli

By TOM HENSHAW

Senator Paul D. Harold and Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli, two longtime Quincy legislators on Beacon Hill, easily turned back what was expected to be strong challenge in Tuesday's primary election.

Harold, who first won the state senate seat in 1978, piled up a better than 2-1 margin in Quincy over Richard D. Golden, 29, of Quincy, and went on to increase his margin in the towns of Braintree, Holbrook and Avon.

Harold is assured of re-election since he will have no opposition in the November general election.

Cerasoli demolished his opponent, Thomas E. Tanner of Weymouth, by a margin of nearly 3-1 in his home Ward 2 Quincy section of the 3rd Norfolk District and barely lost the Weymouth precincts in claiming victory.

Cerasoli also is assured of re-election since he too is unopposed in November.

In other races in Quincy:

• Lt. Gov. John Kerry of Boston came through with a nearly 1,300 vote margin in Quincy over Cong. James M. Shannon of Lawrence in the race for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Statewide, Kerry edged Shannon by a tiny margin to win the Democratic nomination for the seat being vacated by Sen. Paul Tsongas, who is retiring for reasons of health.

• In the only contest on the Republican ballot, Raymond Shamie, the conservative Walpole businessman, overwhelmed Elliot Richardson of Brookline enroute to winning that party's nomination for U.S. senator.

Statewide, Shamie, in his second bid for a Senate seat, prevailed over Richardson by a 2-1 margin.

The voter turnout in Quincy was 18,363, or 39.8 per cent of the city's 46,297 registered voters. City Clerk John Gillis had predicted a 35 per cent turnout.

Cerasoli's fight with Tanner carried overtones of the battle between House Speaker Thomas McGee of Lynn and Rep. George Keverian of Everett for House leadership.

"I feel that the people of the Third Norfolk District rejected the politics of Tommy McGee and the shady subculture that exists in the Beacon Hill leadership," said an exultant Cerasoli, a Keverian supporter.

"I'm very, very glad that the people of Quincy Point and Weymouth outright rejected the empty negative rhetoric that my opponent put forth. We decided to take the high road and not respond."

Cerasoli noted that Rep. Robert Ambler of Weymouth, a McGee supporter, had sent out a letter endorsing Tanner and appeared at the polls Tuesday "holding Tanner's hand and introducing him to the voters."

"I lost Weymouth by 28 votes," he said. "I expected it would be close. We were up against a strong Ambler machine and the voters rejected it."

Cerasoli's margin over Tanner in Quincy was 2,088 to 754.

Golden called Harold at 10:45 p.m. to concede the primary fight and pledge his support of the Democratic ticket in the November election.

Counselling Service Substitute For Escort Plan?

Mayor Francis X. McCauley thinks he has found a substitute for the controversial "escort service" clause in the city's affirmative action plan that will be acceptable to the MCAD.

But City Council President James A. Sheets sees little if any similarity between the South West Community Center's Housing Resources Program and the escort service, with its implications that Quincy is a racist city.

And Alex Rodriguez, head of the MCAD, whose approval or disapproval is the key to the substitution, still hasn't made up his mind.

Meanwhile, angry members of the City Council took turns Monday night castigating the McCauley administration and Affirmative Action Officer Donald Hansen in particular for locking the city into the plan.

"You bungled it publicly," Councillor John J. Lydon

Jr. told Hansen. "I see you as stirring up this mess by misrepresenting the city. You highlighted the wrong things to the MCAD."

"It is a sin that Quincy is subjected to this publicity as being a racist city," said Councillor Joanne Condon. "The MCAD is using us as an example for the rest of the state. I don't believe we have problems of bigotry."

McCauley's substitute for the escort service is the Housing Resources Program which has been conducted by the South West Community Center with $20,000 in state funds for the past eight years.

"That is not an escort service," said Sheets. "There is no escort service out of South West now. These are counselling services that are offered to everyone who comes into the city."

Nevertheless, he said he considered the substitution a "reasonable compromise."

The escort service clause is not very specific, saying only:

"Escort service shall be the responsibility of the director of fair housing and will be closely linked with the housing counselling program. The service is intended to show those individuals who are unfamiliar (or) uncomfortable with the city's neighborhoods the location of available housing. Such a service may be provided by another agency but does not necessarily have to be a contracted service."

Sheets explained that the Housing Resources Program at South West consists of steering newcomers to the areas of Quincy and other South Shore communities where they can expect to find housing in their income brackets. No escorts are provided, he said.

Three new points of interest in the city's affirmative action dispute with the state emerged from Hansen's appearance before the Council Monday night.

Gov. Michael S. Dukakis considered not coming to Quincy for the groundbreaking of the Burgin Parkway Extension because of the affirmative action controversy.

"We heard from a person in position to know that it was possible he might not come if the matter was not resolved," said McCauley. "He questioned if everything is all right down here."

The memorandum of agreement on the affirmative action plan will terminate in two years "unless the Commission, by written memorandum to the Mayor, grants an extension for another two years."

Councillors interpreted that to mean that the MCAD could unilaterally end or extend the agreement without input from the city, but Hansen said his interpretation was that "unless the MCAD got a request from the Mayor the agreement would not be extended."

When Mayor McCauley appoints six new police officers in the not too distant future, four will be selected from the regular Civil Service list and two from a list of "selective certifications" of women and Spanish speaking persons.

"We really do not have an agreement here," said Sheets. "We have a directive sent forth by the MCAD for the Mayor to sign. It is a misnomer to call it an agreement."

Residents of Quincy got one consolation, however, when, in a letter to McCauley, the MCAD's Rodriguez conceded that the city is not dangerously racist.

"At no time did the MCAD believe that persons of color were subject to such danger that a security escort was required," he acknowledged.

Board Grants CV License To 7-Eleven

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board voted Tuesday to grant common victualer and Lord's Day licenses to 7-Eleven Food Store, 75 Franklin St., South Quincy, after neighbors voiced no opposition to the request.

The license was granted for a six month probationary period. At the end of that time, the license will be reviewed.

The matter had been continued from last week's meeting to allow area residents to notify the board of any concerns.

"I received no calls or mail," said City Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro. "I assume the neighbors are content with what has taken place."

City Councillor James Sheets, who also said he has received no calls on the matter from area residents, discussed the possibility of having the c/v license go with the manager of the store.

Sheets said there have been problems with a changeover in managers of some establishments.

Atty. Peter Eley, who represented license holder Patricia Cunningham, said that there will be no change in the floor structure of the store with the addition of the common victualer license for take-out only.

Eley said sandwiches will be sold from the deli counter of the store which is open 24 hours a day.

A GOOD DEED — Scott Stewart, 5, of Quincy got an unexpected reward for his generosity from the Quincy Fire Department. Scott had been saving tabs from soda cans to redeem for a new bicycle. But when he heard about an ailing Quincy youngster who needed help, he donated his money to that cause. The Fire Department heard of Scott's good deed and decided to get a bicycle for Scott. With Scott, from left, are Fire Fighter Mike Granahan, Lt. Bernard Macauley, Fire Fighter William J. Barron and Fire Fighter Chuck Walters.

Council Elects Reardon Clerk

The City Council Monday night elected Jeanne Reardon to her old post as the Council's clerk of committees, effective Oct. 1. Mrs. Reardon served as clerk until last January when she left that job to become Mayor Francis X. McCauley's personal secretary. She was succeeded by Donna Pollara Martin, whom she now succeeds.

Tree Planting Set In Ward 2

City Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro has announced that funds will be available for the planting of trees in the Ward 2 area. DeCristofaro asked that residents interested in having a tree planted call City Hall, Council Office, 773-1380, extension 342, before Oct. 1.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a one-day all alcoholic license to the Howard Johnson Co., One Monarch Drive, for a retirement party Saturday, Sept. 29, 5:30 p.m. to midnight.

- Granted a one-day all alcoholic license to the North Quincy Business and Professional Association to be used in conjunction with a Las Vegas Night Friday, Sept. 28, 7 p.m. to midnight at North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall. The games are to be run by members of the organization, not professionals.

- Granted a request from North Quincy Taxi Service, 2 Billings Road, for two additional cabs. License holder Wayne McCulley is to notify the board if the cabs are to be parked at a different location.

- Granted a one-day all alcoholic license to Gale Peterson for a wedding reception Saturday, Oct. 6, 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. at North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

Building Inspector Allen MacDonald reports that his department issued 1,389 building permits for construction estimated to cost $39,630,494 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1984.

During the previous year, he issued 1,014 permits for construction valued at $35,368,064.

In his latest report for fiscal 1984, MacDonald said he collected $231,393 in permit fees and $8,564 for public safety inspections.

A total of 487 dwelling units were added through construction and 131 were provided through alterations.

Fifteen permits were issued for one-family dwellings, one for a two-family dwelling, 11 for three-family dwellings, 13 for four-family dwellings and 17 for multi-familial dwellings.

There were seven permits for mercantile buildings, three for storage buildings, 12 for garages, 874 for residential alterations, 162 for other alterations, 46 for removals, 106 for signs and 122 for miscellaneous projects.

4 To Be Sentenced In Houghs Neck Assault Case

Four men convicted of assaulting a group of sailors outside Louis Cafe on Sea St., Houghs Neck, in February face sentencing in Norfolk District Court Wednesday, Sept. 29.

Dist. Atty. William Delahunt said he will recommend prison sentences for Russell Crombie, 28, of 25 Walnut St., David T. Picard, 23, of 32 Littlefield Rd., and Charles McIsaac, 19, of 40 Sea Ave., all of Quincy; and David Silcox, 19, of Braintree.

All have been released on bail following their conviction Friday by a jury after a three-week trial.

A mistrial was declared on charges that the civil rights of the sailors were violated and Delahunt said he will review the case to see if he will seek another trial on the civil rights charges.

The incident occurred when five sailors, three of them black and one Hispanic, went to Louis Cafe while off-duty from the USS Fulton, then at the General Dynamics Shipyard for renovations.

Intruder Demands Money And Drugs

A man broke into the home of Irene Rouillard, 78, of Darrow St., Houghs Neck, early Tuesday, demanded money and drugs and fled when she refused him.

The man, who was described as tall with a deep voice and wearing a hat, apparently entered through a kitchen window.

Mrs. Rouillard told police she was awakened shortly after 2 a.m. by a man shining a flashlight in her face. The man asked for money and drugs. She said "no" and he left.

the fixed payment adjustable rate mortgage

Colonial's new Adjustable Rate Mortgage removes the worry of what your later payments may be. Colonial guarantees a fixed payment for ten years to those who qualify — and most applicants do. After ten years, without penalty, you can elect to continue the mortgage, renegotiate, or pay off. Peace of mind? You bet! And, if rates drop, as economists expect in the latter part of the '80s, you can be a big winner.

Opportunities For Retired Council On Aging Topic

Ezra Merrill, executive director of Careers For Later Years, Inc., will be guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Quincy Council on Aging to be held Thursday, Sept. 27 at 2 p.m. in the second floor conference room of City Hall Annex.

Merrill, a 75-year-old retired president of H. P. Hood Inc., will discuss opportunities for retired senior citizens with business experience.

Merrill is the founder of Careers For Later Years, an affiliate of the Executive Corps of Boston sponsored by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Carers For Later Years examines work options, paid and unpaid, for older persons. It has launched two divisions, Executive Service Corps of Boston and Operation ABLE of the greater Boston area. Its objective is to explore ways of utilizing the "untapped natural resource of our graduate segment of society."

Executive Service Corps of Boston (ESCB) is a group of retired senior executives and management professionals who volunteer management consulting services to not-for-profit organizations seeking assistance on specific assignments.

ESCB recruits retired volunteers who were successful in business in the Greater Boston area. The group includes consultants who offer expertise in accounting, data processing, marketing, personnel, public relations and other areas.

Operation ABLE (Ability Based on Long Experience)

is designed to create and expand employment opportunities for persons 55 and over. It works to break down the myths and misconceptions about older persons. ABLE explains why it is good business to hire older workers.

The organization does not place people in jobs. It coordinates and facilitates the efforts of not-for-profit centers employment in the areas around Boston.

A centralized hotline links job seekers and employment centers with business. ABLE provides technical assistance to the centers, job fairs, pre-retirement counseling, older worker recruitment and training, and job development.

John Noonan, chairman of the Quincy Council on Aging, said that the meeting is open to the public and senior citizens 55 years of age and older who are interested in employment opportunities are cordially invited to attend.

Noonan said that senior citizens should take advantage of the free flu vaccine inoculation clinic which is to be sponsored by the Quincy Health Department Sept. 29 at the JFK health center.

Brian Buckley, coordinator for the Council, will present updated reports on Council activities and programs. According to Buckley one of the most important activities of the Council is providing transportation to senior citizens of Quincy.

The Council oversees six vans which provided 18,994 rides to seniors last year to hospitals, physicians and dentists, and other needed services.

Who Was There? Who Wasn't?

City Councillor Joanne Condon left them guessing—a little, anyway—at her $50 per plate fund-raiser the other night.

"I'm running for election next year," she teased supporters. "And you'll be the first to know what I'm running for."

What she's running for, as reported here Aug. 30, is mayor. And unless something changes her mind, she'll make it official in January as planned.

Among those at the fund-raiser were:

Senator Paul Harold, Councillors Joseph LaRaia, Ted DeCristofaro, Michael Cheney and Steve McGrath, former Councillor Leo Kelly, businessmen Tony Losordo and Peter Kelly, Carmine D'Olimpio, head of the Building Trades union, Joseph McParland, former city labor negotiator and Ralph Maher.

That, of course, doesn't necessarily mean they are all backing Condon. Some could have been there out of political politeness.

Perhaps more important was who wasn't there.

Mayor Francis McCauley, for example, wasn't there. And for that matter no one from his official City Hall family were there.

Jeanne Reardon was there, but you can't count her as a member of the McCauley official family. Not anymore, anyway.

She recently resigned as his personal secretary to return to her former post as City Council clerk of committees.

It would appear that the McCauley team is convinced that Condon will be a mayoral challenger next year.

The tip-off that Condon was thinking of changing political horses was the wording of the ticket for the fundraiser.

The event was sponsored by the Committee to Elect Joanne Condon. Not the Committee to Re-elect Joanne Condon.

CONDON

MEANWHILE, speculation has already started as to who might run for the Ward 6 City Council seat Condon would have to vacate to make a bid for mayor.

Among names being mentioned as potential candidates: School Committeewoman Mary Collins, who had to bow out of the race last year because of a medical problem; Tom Koch, brother of Councillor-at-large Richard Koch or Linda Bowes, his sister, John Walsh, campaign coordinator for Ron Iacobucci.

Stay tuned for more names.

JACK DONAHUE, former long-time North High School football coach, is a patient at the Colonial Nursing Home, Broad St., Weymouth.

DONAHUE

Donahue, now 79, fractured his right thigh in a fall at his Quincy home. He was North's first football coach and held that post 28 years, becoming an institution at that school.

Right-side fractures have dogged him.

He fractured his right leg as guard and captain of the Boston College team in 1925. In 1981 he fractured his right hip in a fall at home.

We're rooting for you, Jack.

ANDERSON

PUBLIC WORKS COMM. Paul Anderson has been named Southern Norfolk County Coordinator for Ronald Reagan-George Bush campaign. Anderson was appointed by Senator David Locke, state coordinator.

WILLIAM BRABAZON, whose wife Louise is secretary to the City Council, recently retired after 42 years with the MBTA. He was chief legal assistant at the time of his retirement. Says Louise, spoken like a true wife: "No big plans. He's going to do a few things around the house to start."

Lions Club Seeking Eye Glasses for Needy

The Quincy Lions Club is accepting used eye glasses and frames for recycling and distribution to the needy.

Dr. James Will, Quincy dentist and project chairman, said the glasses will be sent to New Eyes for the Needy. The 50-year-old volunteer organization tests and analyzes these eyeglasses and sends them to medical missions all over the world to be matched with people who can use them.

"What is no longer of use to you may be precious to someone in need," said Dr. Will.

Glasses may be dropped off at his dental office, 36 Adams St., Quincy.

WHICH CLOSING COSTS DEDUCTIBLE?

QUESTION: I signed a lot of checks during the closing of the purchase of our home. Can you tell me which closing costs are deductible from my income tax?

ANSWER: Property taxes are usually pro-rated so that both the buyer and seller each pay the taxes for the portion of the year that each owns the property. Each may deduct this amount - and only this amount. Another deductible item that appears in closing costs is interest charged to the seller on the mortgage up to the date of closing. Also deductible as interest is the amount charged as points.

Non-deductible closing expenses are fire insurance, FHA mortgage insurance, and charges for rent for occupancy before closing.

MANY CLOSING COSTS ARE DEDUCTIBLE. Keep good records of the transaction so as not to lose any.

Free Flu Clinic At Health Center Sept. 29

Public Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey announces there will be a free flu clinic for Quincy residents age 29 and over only Saturday, Sept. 29, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St.

Other flu clinics to accommodate senior citizens and those unable to come to the Health Center will be held at the following times and locations:

Monday, Sept. 24 - O'Brien Towers, 73 Bicknell St., 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.; Granite Place, 125 Granite St., 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.; Hancock Court, 25 School St., 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Tuesday, Sept. 25 - Fenno House, 540 Hancock St., 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.

Wednesday, Sept. 26 - 1000 Southern Artery, North Wing, 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.; Town Brook House, 45 Brackett St., 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Thursday, Sept. 27 - Tobin Towers, 80 Clay St., 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.; Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 12 Hunt St., 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Friday, Sept. 28 - Sawyer Towers, 95 Martensen St., 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.; Pagnano Towers, 109 Curtis Ave., 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Tuesday, Oct. 2 - Drohan Apartments, 170 Copeland St., 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.; Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St., 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Shut-ins who are unable to attend any of the clinics should call the Quincy Public Health Department at 773-1380, extension 239 to make an appointment for a house visit.

Annual immunization against influenza is recommended for persons in the older age group, particularly those over 65 years of age; persons in nursing homes and other facilities where the elderly gather.

Under no circumstances will flu vaccine be given to those under the age of 28 without written request from a physician. No vaccine is available for children under 13 years of age.

The State Department of Public Health has warned that the appearance of new viral strains, known as A-Chile and B-USSR, has raised the possibility of increased influenza morbidity this winter.

Largest Airplane Ever In Quincy

Famed aviators Col. Clarence Chamberlain and Ruth Nichols landed at Dennison Airport in a twin-engine Curtiss Condor, the largest airplane ever to set down in Quincy, to study the possibilities of a network of passenger air routes throughout New England.

Dennison Airport was observing the eighth anniversary of its founding with 10 airplanes in residence, five of them privately owned, and a new hanger expected to be finished by Oct. 1.

"Business conditions today are much better in aviation," said Manager Hal Martin. "All factories are behind in orders and we feel there is a real upturn in private flying."

"We have been missionaries for the airlines. Persons who have never flown before come down here for a short hop and then when they want to make a trip of any distance they turn to the airlines without the slightest bit of hesitation."

"It is not unusual for us to fly 1,000 persons over a weekend of short hops."

PUPILS SENT HOME

More than 850 pupils are Central Junior High School were sent home when temperatures in the building dropped to 52 degrees as the result of a School Committee deadlock on a contract for retubing the boilers made it impossible to start the furnaces.

Members of the School Committee could not decide between bids of $1,750 by Troup Brothers of Quincy and $1,725 by Kendall Brothers of Cambridge.

"The retubing of the boilers should have been completed two weeks ago," said Headmaster David H. Goodspeed.

"Twenty five dollars seems like a pretty small amount for the School Committee to be arguing about when you consider the pupils and teachers were facing colds and sickness here."

LYONS THREATENED

Lawrence J. Lyons, clerk of the Quincy District Court for 25 years, was faced with the loss of his job when it was reported that Edward G. Morris, a political supporter of Gov. James Michael Curley, would replace him when his appointment expired Dec. 10.

Morris, a former state rep and senator from South Boston who ran unsuccessfully against Cong. Richard Wigglesworth in 1932 and 1934, was named tax collector of Quincy by Mayor Charles A. Ross and replaced by Mayor Thomas S. Burgin a few months later.

QUINCY-ISMS

Mayor Burgin, responding to reports that welfare recipients were trying to buy liquor instead of groceries with their welfare orders, directed the Police Department to investigate such abuses. . . City Councillor Edward J. Sandberg suggested that the old police station in the basement of City Hall be converted into a downtown comfort station for women. . . Lemon cream layer cakes were 35 cents at Guay's Bakery, 1455 Hancock St. . . The Quincy Labor Church, newly organized under the Rev. John W. Robinson, announced that Norman Thomas, leader of the American Socialist party, would speak at a public meeting Oct. 6 in the Quincy High School auditorium. . . "Dante's Inferno," starring Spencer Tracy, Claire Trevor, Henry B. Walthall and Alan Dinehart, was playing at the Strand. . . Bethany Congregational Church was set to welcome its new pastor, the Rev. George E. Gilchrist. . . Mabel E. Adams, retired principal of the Horace Mann School for the Deaf and the first woman member of the Quincy School Committee in 1896, died at her home in Dorchester. . . Sunday dinner of roast stuffed Vermont turkey was 75 cents at Abbott's Roadside Stand at Adams St. and Furnace Brook Parkway. . . Thomas McMorrow, new superintendent of the Boston Sewage Disposal Plant on Moon Island, said he will leave the gates unlocked so that Quincy hunters and fishermen could use the reservation. . . The Health Food Center, featuring "natural foods and unsulphured fruits and nuts," opened at 710 Hancock St., Wollaston. . . Roy A. Means, the North Quincy concrete manufacturer, announced his candidacy for the City Council from Ward 6. . . Henry Wright of 815 Sea St., Houghs Neck, was home recovering from injuries suffered for the third time in falls from scaffolding on the new Fore River Bridge under construction. . . Hamburger was 16 cents a pound at the Mohican Market's 39th anniversary sale.

Testimonial For Emblem President

Susan McGregor of Quincy, first state vice president of the Emblem Club, will chair a testimonial tonight (Thursday) for the national president of the organization.

The testimonial, for Margaret Strable of Lynnwood, WA, will be held at Lombardo's, Randolph.

Miss Strable was recently elected at the 58th annual convention of the Supreme Emblem Club of the U.S.A. held at the Hyatt Regency on Capitol Hill, Washington, D.C.

Over 2,000 people from Alaska to California attended.

Attending from Quincy were Pearl Garcia, past state president; Susan McGregor, first state vice president; Maxine Eames, president;

Geraldine Shepherd, past president; Charlotte Wilson, past president; Mary Gibbons, and Mary Spalding, past president.

Also attending were Quincy Elks members Tom Shepherd, Tom Eames and Pat Gibbons.

Charlotte Wilson was appointed to the office of Supreme Press Correspondent at the national convention and will be responsible for compiling all press notices for the clubs in District 9 in Massachusetts.

Fifty $1,000 scholarships were given to deserving students, and $1,000 was also given to each of the following: Diabetes Association, Research for Deafness, Prevention of Blindness, Muscular Dystrophy, Multiple Sclerosis and Cystic Fibrosis.

Laurie Penza Wins UCT Poster Contest

Laurie Penza, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Domenic Penza, of Randolph, has received the highest award for her poster design submitted to the Special Poster Contest sponsored by the Grand Council of New England, United Commercial Travelers of America.

Miss Penza's poster was selected because of its originality, composition and color.

Donald Deware, Past Grand Counselor, presented Miss Penza with the award. Deware is also Chairman of the Supreme Council Nierology Committee.

Accompanying Deware were Harry Snyder, Senior Counselor; James Thorne, Past Counselor; and Charles Keveney, Past Counselor of Wollaston Council 594, which sponsored Miss Penza's poster in the contest.

Past Grand Secretary, Charles Furness, representing the Grand Council of New England, extended the Grand Counselor's congratulations to Miss Penza.

Nutrition Topic For Mother's Cooperative

The Quincy Mother's Cooperative will hold its first meeting of the year Monday, Sept. 24, at 7 p.m. at Quincy City Hospital.

Kathleen Colombo, a hospital dietician, will address the group. Her topic will be nutrition.

There will be a buffet before the talk and a short business meeting will follow.

The first day trip will be a visit to the Trailside Museum in Milton Oct. 10.

The museum staff has planned a special nature show for the children. Members will meet at 10 a.m. outside the museum.

The Co-op is beginning its tenth year. It is composed of mothers of preschool children.

Its purpose is to provide activities for the children and opportunities for the mothers to come together and share experiences and concerns.

There are three components to the group: playgroups, evening meetings, and field trips.

The playgroups consist of three or four mothers and their children. They meet at each other's homes on a rotating basis once a week.

Activities of the group vary depending on the age of the children and the desires of the mothers.

All of the mothers stay with the children so they also have an opportunity to socialize.

There is a playgroup coordinator to help new members find the proper playgroup for their children.

Evening meetings are held every other month at the home of a member.

It usually consists of a social time, business meeting, and a guest speaker.

The topic of the speaker depends on the interests of the group.

The Co-op plans group activities for all the children during the year. Children's Museum, Science Museum, Quincy Library are a few of the field trips being planned for this year.

Parties for Halloween and Christmas are also on the agenda.

New members are welcome at this first meeting or any time during the year.

Contact Cindy Karalus at 479-1614 or Marlene Dunn at 479-7858 if you plan to attend.

Early Childhood Program At 3 Schools

The Early Childhood Program of the Quincy Public Schools is a federally funded Chapter 1 project which services children who reside in the Chapter 1 school districts.

The Pre-School Program offers readiness, social, language and motor development skills to children who will be four years old during the calendar year 1984. There is no fee. Bus transportation is provided.

For more information call the Early Childhood Center at 479-8180 or 471-0100, ext. 208, during school hours.

Health Yourself Program At Manet

Health Yourself, a 10-week weight management program for adults starts its fall course Monday, Oct. 1.

Two sessions will be held, one at 6:30 p.m. and one at 8 p.m. Any adult with diabetes, hypertension or cardiovascular disease is especially welcomed.

Registration fee is $50. For further information, contact Jacalyn Newman, nutritionist, at the Manet Community Health Center, or call 471-8683.

SEVERE BLEEDING

A Michigan man bagged a deer on the second day of hunting and took it home to dress it. His seven-year-old son stood by and watched as the man hung the deer in the garage and started working on it. The boy picked up the skinning knife to help, but the blade clipped on the tough hide and slashed deeply into the youngster's leg.

The man put his son in the car and headed for the nearest doctor - 14 miles away. When he arrived, everyone had already gone home. The father now sped to the nearest hospital, half an hour away. He got there too late. He young son arrived dead. He bled to death along the way.

The distraught father probably could have saved his son's life just by applying a pad of gauze or a clean handkerchief directly on the wound, wrapped the leg firmly with a strip of cloth, and having the boy lie down with his leg propped up.

But, like many of us, he felt helpless in the face of medical emergency, either ignorant of what to do or afraid he would do the wrong thing. So the boy died. Remember - if bleeding is profuse, you can't wait for medical attention. Stop the bleeding first.

Computer Program Reviewed By Mayor

Mayor Francis X. McCauley met recently with Wally Smith, vice president for sales support of Prime Computer Inc., to review the city's second step in computerization of municipal records.

Prime work stations have been installed in the Mayor's office as well as the City Council, Legal and Planning Departments. A fifth unit is in the Data Processing Office for training purposes.

These units are to be connected to the main computer system for access to a full office automation system and financial and real estate records.

Terminals will be installed this year in the Fire, Public Works, Building and Engineering Departments to give them access to the city computer network system.

Robert Brennan, director of Data Processing, has indicated that the long-range goal is to have all city departments linked to the computer network.

Patriot Tackle Speaker For North SADD

Brian Holloway, offensive tackle for the New England Patriots, will speak on drinking and driving Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 1 p.m. at North Quincy High School.

The half hour talk in the interests of SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) will kick off a statewide program in which six members of the Patriots will speak at various schools.

The program is to be announced Monday by Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

McGrath Seeks Repairs For Wollaston Library Roof

City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath has asked the McCauley administration to provide funding to repair the roof of the Wollaston branch library on Beale St.

"The roof of the library is badly in need of repair," said McGrath in a letter to Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

"This facility is used by many residents of the Ward 5 area and should be properly maintained. Proper repair of the roof now will avoid future more costly repair later."

McGrath suggested that JOBS money or money from the sale of schools be used to pay for the repair work.

Lucien (Lou) Brouillard, 73 Former Boxing Champion

By TOM HENSHAW

He was a familiar figure around Joe Bernstein's gym over the Bargain Center 35 years ago, helping out his father-in-law, giving tips to the young boxers who worked out there and spinning tales of his days in the ring.

He was, by one account, "squat and southpaw with the strength of a bucking horse, a French Canadian who hit like a bloke gone berserk." He won 100 of 140 fights, the welter-weight championship of the world in 1931 and a share of the middleweight crown in 1933.

He lost his last fight, the big one, Friday in Morton Hospital, Taunton.

A funeral Mass was said Tuesday in Our Lady of the Lake Church, Monponsett, for Lucien (Lou) Brouillard of Quincy, who died at the age of 73 of respiratory failure after a long bout with Alzheimer's Disease. Burial was in Central Cemetery, Halifax.

LOU BROUILLARD

A native of St. Eugene, Que., he won the world welterweight championship at the age of 20 when he outpointed Young Jack Thompson in 15 rounds in Boston Garden. He lost it three months later to Jackie Fields in 10 rounds in Chicago.

When Middleweight Champ Mickey Walker retired, in 1931, the title was disputed by the National Boxing Association and the New York State Athletic Commission, and in 1933 Mr. Brouillard won the NBA version by knocking out Ben Jeby in seven rounds in New York.

He lost the title three months later when he was outpointed by Vince Dundee in 15 rounds in Boston. He fought for the middleweight title twice in 1936 and 1937, losing both times to the Frenchman, Marcel Thil, in Paris on disputed fouls called by French officials.

He retired in 1940 after losing a 10-round bout to Henry Chmielewski in Worcester and became a crane operator and rigger at the Fore River Shipyard, retiring from that job 15 years ago. In his retirement, he raised golden retrievers.

He leaves his wife, Minnie F. (Beston) Brouillard; a son, Lucien P. Brouillard Jr. of Middleboro; five daughters, Florence Murdock and Patricia Anderson, both of Plympton; Joan Bromley of Portsmouth, N.H.; Judith Confar of Carver; and Linda Wass of Eliot, Maine.

Also three brothers, Ovide Brouillard of Norwell; Richard Brouillard of Brooklyn, Conn.; and Euclide Brouillard of Springfield; a sister, Eva Brouillard of Danielson, Conn.; 23 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Charles C. Peter, 22, Killed In Accident

A funeral Mass was held Wednesday for Charles C. Peter in Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Houghs Neck.

He was killed Sept. 14 when his pickup truck collided with a car at the intersection of Sea and Babcock Sts., Houghs Neck.

Mr. Peter, of 77 Allerton St., Houghs Neck, was dead on arrival at Quincy City Hospital.

The driver of the car, Michael J. Fey, 20, of 71

Whitten St., Dorchester, was arrested on charges of driving under the influence of alcohol, driving to endanger and motor vehicle homicide while intoxicated. He was not injured.

Mr. Peter was the son of Charles M. and Gertrude (Holmes) Peter.

He was the brother of Andrew and Anne Peter of Houghs Neck, Susan Peter of South Boston, Mrs. Laura Goodwin of Quincy and Mrs. Carole Toner of North Quincy.

He was the grandson of Mr. Louis Sears of Quincy and Mr. and Mrs. Gerherd Peter of Dorchester.

Funeral arrangements were by Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy Center.

Donations may be made to Houghs Neck Community Council Scholarship Fund, 1193 Sea St., Quincy, MA 02169.

Julia T. Sullivan, 78, Retired Attorney

A funeral Mass for Julia T. Sullivan, 78, a retired attorney with Bagley and Bagley Law firm in Boston, was held Saturday at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Miss Sullivan died Sept. 12 at the Quincy Nursing Home after a long illness. Born in Boston, she had lived in Quincy for the past seven years.

She was a graduate of Boston University and Northeastern University Law School.

She had been a member of the Massachusetts Bar Association since 1946.

She is survived by three sisters; Mary Sullivan, and Josephine Sullivan, both of Quincy, and Margaret Valentine; and a niece, Irene Hughes, both of

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It has been said that there are two kinds of people in the world in reference to their attitudes toward others. Some are chronic "complainers," critics of others. Others are "complimentors," commending others whenever such opportunities arise. Which are you?

Some people seldom write a letter unless it is to complain or to criticize some condition or something some other person has done or has not done. Others prefer to write complimentary letters. They usually take a positive attitude toward life and everything and everyone in it.

Sometimes criticism is justifiable, of course. While some criticism is necessary to correct a situation, wouldn't it be better to suggest positively a better action in place of the one criticized?

Let us not be chronic "complainers," a continual critic, with never a word of commendation. Let us not "sour" on life. Let us take a positive attitude, an attitude of helpfulness toward others.

Check up on yourself. Which are you, a complainer or a complimentor?

Eastern Nazarene College Begins 65th School Year

For the sixty-fifth time, Eastern Nazarene College has opened its doors in Wollaston for a new school year.

Freshmen students began arriving for orientation and testing over the Labor Day weekend. Freshmen enrollment appears to be higher than anticipated.

Eastern Nazarene College is a fully accredited, four year liberal arts college, that draws one third of its enrollment, approximately 900, from Quincy and the South Shore area with the other two thirds coming primarily from the north-eastern United States.

Although sponsored by the Church of the Nazarene, the college has a fully non-discriminatory enrollment policy and includes students of many faiths and religions.

President Stephen W. Nease stated that "It is always exciting to welcome new and returning students to our campus. ENC's strong enrollment in the face of a nationally declining 'pool' of high school graduates indicates to us that college-age young people and their parents continue to desire a strong, liberal arts, value-centered college education. As always, the large number of students coming from the Quincy-South Shore area is heartening."

This new academic year marks the beginning of a number of new programs, including updated programs in Computer Science. Dr. Donald Young, Vice President for Academic Affairs, reported that the Graduate Division is offering new Masters Degrees with concentrations in Instructional Development, Computers in the Classroom, Reading Education, and Secondary Education.

A special program for area clergymen has been announced, which will facilitate their earning Masters Degrees in Religion or Pastoral Counseling.

Eastern Nazarene College moved to Quincy sixty-five years ago occupying the former home of Boston Mayor Josiah Quincy.

Conference On Parish Networking At St. John's

A one-day conference on networking between parishes of the Brockton region, which includes the Quincy Vicariate, will be held in St. John's school auditorium, Saturday, Sept. 22, beginning at 9 a.m.

The objective of the conference is to provide an opportunity for individuals and groups of parishioners to become aware of the resources, both human and material, found in other parishes of the region.

The conference is also designed to encourage mutual assistance, particularly in the area of adult religious education, spiritual development, outreach to the alienated and evangelization.

Among the speakers will be Auxiliary Bishop Daniel A. Hart, D.D. who oversees the parishes in the Brockton, Natick, Norwood, Plymouth and Quincy Vicariates.

More than 90 parish representatives from the Region have pre-registered for the program.

Keynote speaker will be Bernard Swain, Ph. D. of the Paulist Leadership Renewal Project of Boston.

Following the keynote address the conference participants will attend workshops in the school classrooms. Workshops will include:

- Evangelization-facilitator: Mary Herald; presentations: Joan Gilliatt, Janet Blakeley.
- Spiritual Development-facilitator: Kathy Foell; presentations by Joan Cahill and Brenda Natchek. Discussion will include small-group direction and Vicariate overview.
- Outreach to the Alienated-facilitator: Tom Kent; presentations: Trudy Medicke, sick and dying; Bob Dunn, the poor; and Joseph Michon, refugees.

• Adult Education-facilitator: Tim Scharf; Linda Michon will make a presentation, peace and justice.

One adult education workshop will highlight the CCD program of St. Blaise, Bellingham.

A luncheon will be served in the Church Hall after which the workshop facilitators will report to the conference on the workshop discussions and conclusions. Dr. Swain will serve as moderator for the afternoon session.

The conference is made possible by a Vicariate grant to St. John's Adult Center, Janet Blakeley, Director. For further information call the Adult Center at 770-1586.

'Suffer The Children' Bethany Sermon Topic

There will be two worship services Sunday, Sept. 23, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both services on the topic "Suffer the Children", based on scriptural texts from Isaiah 11:6-9, Mark 10:13-16 and Matthew 18:5-6.

Lay scripture readers will be Robert L. Lockwood for the early service and Carlyle W. Jacob for the late service. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will assist in leading the worship at both hours.

During the 10 a.m. service, the sacrament of Christian baptism will be given to Justin Ray Brady, son of John W. and Teri (Donovan) Brady. Godparents will be Raymond Pendleton and Josephine Larrow.

During the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory, "Praise, My Soul, the King of Heaven" composed by Mark Andrew, and as the anthem, "Christian People, Raise Your Song", a German chorale from the 1584 "Leisentritt's Gesangbuch".

The service will also be broadcast over South Shore radio station WJDA, 1300 kc at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The senior high class, 9th through 12th grades, will meet at 9 a.m. with Robert R. Peoples, Jr., teacher. Nursery care will be provided for babies at the 10 a.m. hour.

At 11 a.m., there will be a coffee hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

For information about Bethany Church and its ministry and programs, contact Pastor Arnold or the Church Office at 479-7300.

Infant Dedication At Squantum Church

The highlight of the second service at the First Church of Squantum Sunday was an infant dedication.

Andrew Douglas Johnston was dedicated to God by his parents, William and Pamela Johnston of Bay-side Road in Squantum, and the church pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin.

Welcoming Andrew into the family of faith were Deacons Stewart Scott and Katherine Hansen as well as Barbara Anderson who represented the church Board of Christian Education. Andrew's parents were presented with a certificate of dedication, a rosebud by which to remember the occasion and a "Cradle Roll" certificate showing that he had now been enrolled in the church's cradle roll.

The pastor's sermon was on the topic, "What is God's Work?" The Chancel Choir sang "Rejoice in the Lord Alway" by Henry Purcell.

The Stewardship Committee announced the beginning of the 1985 Church Pledge Drive which will conclude Covenant Sunday, Oct. 7, at 10:30 a.m.

Eva Martin and Katherine Hansen were greeters. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were ushers.

Sunday School teachers this year include Susan Scott, Mindi Hurd, Sarah Mildram and Karin Reister. During the early service, Dr. Langevin distributed comic strips from Sunday morning's newspaper and asked members of the congregation to help him interpret the theological questions that the comic strips raised. His sermon was entitled, "What Are You Searching For?"

Lori Ogilvie and David Williams were ushers. Susan Scott and Robert Dixey assisted the pastor in a humorous skit announcing an all-church picnic at Grottonwood Oct. 8.

There will be two services again next Sunday with the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. Sunday School is offered during the second service. There is a nursery during both services. Visitors are welcome.

The Board of Deacons will meet for the first time this fall Wednesday, Sept. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

Rally Day Sunday At Wollaston Congregational

This Sunday will be Rally Day at Wollaston Congregational Church.

The service will begin at 10 a.m.

Classes for nursery through Grade 8 will meet at 10 a.m. Grades 9-12 will meet at 9 a.m.

The church will also celebrate Bring A Friend Sunday and enjoy fellowship during Coffee Hour following the service.

The Rev. Elden D. J. Zuern will preach on the subject, "Misguided Good Intentions."

During the Coffee Hour a Produce Sale will be held to benefit PSSB's Pantry Shelf.

Ray Cornils New Braintree Choral Director

Ray Cornils of Boston, who was choir director at First Presbyterian Church, Quincy, is the new music director of the Braintree Choral Society.

The Choral Society holds rehearsals Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. at Thayer Middle School, Hobart Ave., Braintree.

There are still vacancies in all voice parts.

NORTH'S RICH HERRIGAN carries for a first down against Milton Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Milton continued jinx over Raiders, winning 7-0.

Raiders Must Get Tough At Medford

By TOM SULLIVAN

For three years North Quincy has appeared to have the better team, but each year the Milton football team has defeated its oldtime rival.

Last Saturday the Raiders, loaded with veterans, hosted Milton, which has only one starter back. On paper it looked like North should open with a victory.

But, for the third straight year, Milton, coached by former North assistant Jack Bowes, upset the Raiders, 7-0, in the rain at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Ken McPhee's North team now faces two of its toughest rivals in a row. Saturday The Raiders go to Medford to face a tough Greater Boston League team at 1:30 p.m.

Medford had a fine team last year but, due to a player being declared ineligible at the end of the season, had to forfeit all its games and officially was 0-10.

This season, despite having only three starters back, Medford, with eight other returning lettermen, is rated one of the top teams in the GBL.

Next week North faces the unenviable task of facing powerhouse Brockton, again the Suburban League favorite.

"I don't know, it must be me," said a disappointed McPhee following the Milton loss. "I know we have a better team than Milton but Jack (Bowes) seems to get his players especially high for us."

"Maybe it's my fault. One thing I know is we have to get tougher. We are not a tough enough team and Milton out-toughed us today. We are going to work awfully hard in preparation for Medford, as I know they are going to be very strong. Just think, we could be 0-3 after this Brockton game. We just have to get much tougher."

It was like two different games last week. Milton dominated the first half as North unbelievably had just one play (an intercepted pass) and just six plays the entire first half.

The second half was entirely different as North controlled the ball as Milton had only 10 plays but the Raiders failed to score, while Milton scored its touchdown early in the second quarter and it held up.

The statistics show how even the teams were. North had 79 net yards rushing to 63 for Milton. North had 68 yards passing with nine of 16 and Milton had 56 yards on six of 13. North had 12 first downs to nine for Milton.

Mike Barry, starting at fullback in place of Colin Powers, who is out for most of the season with a broken ankle, was the only consistent ground gainer for the Raiders with 59 yards. Quarterback Dave Zurows passed well but was victimized by his receivers, who had trouble handling the wet ball and dropped several strikes.

Starters Joe Bangs and Steve Dever were out with injuries.

Assistant coach Mark Mulvaney praised Jack Hannan, Larry Nialez, Rich Horrigan and Al DiBella for their work on offense.

"DiBella is one of the finest players around and played the entire game," Mulvaney said. "He was outstanding both ways."

On defense Barry, Bill Doherty, DiBella, Joe Morrissey, Steve Kelly and Dave Cooke turned in excellent performances.

Milton took the opening kickoff and proceeded to eat up the clock as it held the ball for seven minutes and 39 seconds before North held on its 25. But on the first play Zurows' pass was intercepted by Tim Collins and Milton had the ball for the last four plays of the quarter.

A pass from Collins to Dave Cluett gave Milton a first down on the North four. The Raiders held for three downs but Collins found Jon Cross free in the far corner of the end zone for the game-winning pass. Dave Bartley kicked the extra point.

North received the second half kickoff and ran off 13 plays to reach Milton's 16. Milton held but had to punt to North's 45. A Raider fumble was recovered by Milton's Chris Calos on North's 45.

North got the ball back and continued to control it as it marched to Milton's 16, grinding out six first downs. With fourth down and two on Milton's eight, an unfortunate penalty for illegal motion (officials ruled the center had moved the ball) set North back to the 13 and Milton held and ran out the clock.

"That penalty broke our backs," said McPhee. "I think we had an excellent chance of getting the first down with two yards to go but the penalty killed us."

Hubbard Wollaston MVP

Notarangelo Wins

First Belcastro Award

The Wollaston Legion baseball team, which captured its first Zone 6 title in 32 years this summer, held its end of the year banquet recently at the North Quincy K. of C. Hall.

The Wollaston players dedicated the past season to their late coach, John Belcastro, who passed away just before the season opened.

A new award, the John A. Belcastro Memorial Award for sportsmanship and desire was presented to Mike Notarangelo.

Other awards were the coaches' award for dedication to Joe Conti and the Most Valuable Player award to Mark Hubbard.

Jackets, plaques and color team pictures were presented to all the players.

The Wollaston team, coached by Dick Travers, assisted by three members of Belcastro's family, Steve Belcastro, John's son; Frank Belcastro, his nephew, and Kevin Cahill, his son-in-law, will lose many of its top players but will have a good nucleus next season.

The team loses Notarangelo, Hubbard, Conti, Steve Hogan, Brian

Gibbons, Paul Cahill, Bob Campbell, Keith Smith, Rob McElaney and Vin Christiani.

Returning will be Steve Higgins, John Comeau, Ken Runge, Steve Constat, Chris Rossi, Bob Pitts, Bob Kozlowski and Greg McGlame.

Tennis Tourney In Second Week With Multiple Events

The 14th annual City of Quincy/Granite Cooperative Bank Tennis Tournament is in its second week with several players still active in multiple events.

Joe Ryan, a claims manager for Prudential Insurance is alive in four categories, as is Quincy Atty. George Burke. Neil Cronin, who has won five Quincy tournament titles is in the finals of the men's over 50 singles for the fourth consecutive year. Cronin is a Boston school principal.

Steve Durante, a senior at Quincy High School and a tennis instructor in the summer recreation playground program is teamed with John Franceschini, the current tournament director in the men's doubles. Durante, who in 1983 duplicated Chris Cuniff Finnell's tournament record of three championships, along with Franceschini easily defeated Jose Mateu and Mike Conley 6-2, 6-1.

Ryan has won matches in four separate categories. In men's singles, he defeated Peter Johnson 6-1, 6-2 to advance to the semi-finals. In the men's 35 singles, Ryan defeated Al McDonald after losing the first set to the second seeded McDonald, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3. Ryan must face McDonald again in the semi-finals of the men's singles. Ryan is also alive in the men's doubles where he is teamed up with Michael Kenny. Ryan and Kenny must face Henry Seto and Bill Courtney in the quarter finals of the men's doubles. Ryan is also in the mixed doubles teamed up with his wife Frances Ryan where they are to play the top seed Rich Landi and Hildy Gillis. Cronin defeated Harold Fain 6-2, 7-6 in the semi-finals. Cronin is also in the men's doubles where he is teamed up with Rich Landi. Top seeded Cronin and Landi are to face Steve Durante and John Franceschini in the semi-finals which is expected to be a close match.

Matt Tobin, a student at Quincy Junior College advanced to the semi-finals of the men's singles defeating Jack Goddard 6-4, 6-2. Tobin must face last year's singles finalist Leonard Ciavaro.

George Burke defeated Ralph Columbare in the men's 35 singles and is teamed with Richard Hutton, a professor at Quincy Junior College. Burke and Columbare are to face Alan Gray and Norman Gray in the quarter finals of the men's doubles. Burke is also in the semi-finals of the men's 50 singles and is also teamed with his wife, Sandy, to form a tough mixed doubles team.

Susan Pacetti, a finalist in last year's tournament and a student teacher has advanced into the semi-finals of the women's singles. Pacetti, with her near flawless ground strokes defeated Roberta McDonald 6-1, 6-2. The top seed Pacetti must now face Terry Shea in the semi-finals.

Second Period goals were scored by Kevin Lewis, assisted by Doug McLean (Whites) and Jack Aldred, (assisted by Frankie Cuest (South Shore). The Third was scoreless for both teams.

Jaehnig Club Upsets Mount In 44-43 Thriller

In a hard fought battle, the Jaehnig Chioprac Club defeated the Mount, 44-43 in the Ridge Racquet Club fall basketball league. It was the Mount's first loss of the season.

Bob Eastman dribbled the length of the court to sink a reverse layup at the buzzer to give the Jaehnig Club a thrilling victory, in the contest featuring the two Quincy rivals.

The first half saw the Jaehnig Club lead 22-13 as the Mount had difficulty penetrating the Chioprac zone. Jim Holleran scored eight of his game high 13 points to keep the Mount within striking distance, while Eastman's nine first half points paced the Jaehnig Club.

Joel Devlin and Mark Millane each scored all of their 10 and 8 points respectively in the second half to rally the Mount, and when Billy Murphy sank a foul shot the Mount led by a point with five seconds remaining, setting up Eastman's dramatic winning basket.

Dave Hassan scored 10, Mark Jaehnig seven, Mike Granahan six and Steve Mele five for the Jaehnig Club while Moose Mallory contributed six for the

The Jaehnig Club also defeated the Cutters 38-34 behind 11 points each from John Jamieson and Hassan, while Granahan and Jaehnig chipped in with six apiece.

The Jaehnig Chioprac

Club finished the regular season in second place with a 9-3 record and began playoff action this week, with the finals scheduled for tonight (Thursday) at 7:45 p.m. The games are free to the public.

MacNeil Leads Koch Women

Shirley MacNeil got off to a fast start to lead the Koch Club Women's Bowling League with a 106 average and high three string total of 318.

Presidents Host Brookline, Eye 2nd Win

Jack Raymer waited a long time to become a head coach and he made his debut last Saturday by leading the Quincy football team to an impressive 20-0 Suburban League victory over Cambridge Rindge and Latin at Daley Field, Brighton.

The Presidents will go for number two Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium when they host league foe Brookline.

Quincy will be out to repeat last year's 23-14 win over Brookline, which last year was 4-6 but has nine returning starters, three on offense and six on defense.

Quarterback Bill Shaughnessy and halfback Daron Tucker were the sparks in last week's opening win. Shaughnessy scored two touchdowns, completed seven of 12 passes for 82 yards, rushed for 71 himself, and had a touchdown pass to Gerry Frazier called back by a penalty. Tucker, enjoying the finest game of his career, scored a touchdown, rushed for 165 yards and was a standout on defense, having a key pass interception.

"Shaughnessy was just awesome and Tucker also was tremendous," said Raymer, who the last seven years was an assistant coach at North Quincy.

"I am very happy with our performance. The line blocked well and the defense was outstanding, especially the secondary (three interceptions). We gained over 200 yards (204) on the ground and Shaughnessy's passing was excellent."

Raymer had good words for Steve Perfetuo, Pat Calabro, P. J. Duggan, Rich Pettinelli, John O'Callaghan, Kevin Burke and Mark Callahan on offense. Starter Walter Rollins suffered a back injury in practice and sat the game out.

Defensive coordinator Jeff Giordani hailed the play of Mark Porzio, John Wholey, Shaughnessy, Joe Cullen, Callahan, O'Callaghan, Duggan and Burke for their work on defense.

The Presidents dominated the first half as they took a 13-0 lead and ground out nine first downs to one for Cambridge. The Warriors failed to get into Quincy territory in the half.

After being stopped on its first possession, Quincy drove 49 yards in seven Cambridge's only two drives were halted by pass interceptions by Shaughnessy and Don Parry.

"Not only did our starting units perform admirably, but I was pleased with the efforts of our second group late in the game," said a happy Raymer.

George Moran led the Quincy Point Panthers to an impressive 16-0 victory over the West Quincy Elks in the second week of Quincy Youth Football League action.

Coach Frank Brillo praised the outstanding performance of Moran, who led the team in tackles, assists and sacks, along with scoring a safety. Moran also recovered two Elks' fumbles.

Chris Noble kicked off for the Elks, now 1-1, with Vinnie Digiacoimo taking the ball on the Panthers' 30 yard line, returning it to the 45. The Panthers offense was halted and gave the ball up.

The Elks began on their own 45, with Noble calling the signals. Ernie Light's groundwork carried the Elks just across midfield.

On third down and 10, from the Panthers' 49, Noble fumbled and the ball was recovered by George Moran.

On first down, with Timmy Brillo at quarterback, Joe Taylor got the call and raced to the Elks 12-yard line. Charlie Freeman carried to the 10 and on the next play, Taylor put the first points on the board. Brillo's pass to Digiacoimo failed.

At the end of the first quarter, the Panthers led 6-0.

Little Loop

The Quincy Bowling Little Loop's 31st season will start Saturday, Oct. 13, at the Wollaston Boulevard Bowladrome at 9 a.m.

The league is open to all boys, 11 through 16 years of age, regardless of residence.

Registration is now being accepted by League President Joe Gildea, 45 Division St., North Quincy, and Treasurer Stan Kovalski, 8 Hamilton St., Wollaston.

The Elks drove to the 44, with Lights again leading the offensive attack.

George Moran and Steve Slicic's defensive play, stopped the Elks and another fumble forced the turnover.

Taylor carried on first down and Charlie Freeman rushed to the 36. A long bomb to Wayne Chambers was deflected into the hands of the Elks.

The Panthers defense, aided by Monte Baker, who sacked Noble for a big loss, forced the Elks to give up the ball.

Panthers took over on the 21, gained 10 yards and time ran out in the first half as Brillo was thrown for a loss.

In the third quarter, the Elks started on their own 42. The defense of Brian Taylor, Moran and Tommy Mayo forced the Elks to punt on fourth and long.

Joe Taylor fielded the punt on the 40 and rolled downfield to the 12. One play later, Taylor scored his second touchdown. Brillo handed the ball to Charlie Freeman who rambled right into the end zone for the conversion.

The Elks took the kick with Light carrying the bulk of the load to the Panthers' 44. On second down, Noble was hit behind the line of scrimmage. On the next attempt, the ball was fumbled and the Panthers recovered. Jay McLernon led the defensive attack.

Panthers attempted their next attack, but the ball was fumbled and recovered by the Elks. Four plays later, the Elks fumbled and Moran was there for the Panthers.

In the fourth quarter, the Elks tried passing to no avail and were also hit with back to back unsportsmanlike conduct penalties.

The Panthers were stopped and the Elks took over, deep in Panther territory. On the first play, Moran barreled through the line and found Chris Noble in the end zone for a 2-point Panther safety.

Penalties played an important part of the fourth quarter and eventually time ran out.

This Sunday the first-place Panthers meet the winless Squantum Sailors at the stadium at 1 p.m.

Dudek, Segalla Shine For Plymouth State

Hard-hitting linebacker Glenn Segalla of North Quincy, co-captain of the Plymouth, N.H., State College football team, defending New England ECAC Division 3 champion, is starting where he left off last year when he led the Panthers with tackles, including a career-high 18 in the championship win over Mass. Maritime.

opening day win over arch rival Norwich, Segalla led the charge with four tackles, nine assists and one sack. He has been named to the ECAC Div. 3 honor roll.

Last week as the Panthers rolled over Nichols, 52-7, he was again superb as he led the team on defense.

In that game North Quincy's Joe Dudek, who broke all the Plymouth rushing records a year ago, ran for 136 yards and scored four touchdowns. In the opener he had sprinted for 128 yards.

Quincy's Scott Anson, closing in on the school's record for pass receptions, caught a scoring pass from John Perzel. He also caught a scoring pass against Norwich.

Koch Club Youth Bowling Opens Oct. 6

The Koch Club Youth Bowling League will open its 22nd season Saturday, Oct. 6 at 9 a.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Allevs, Broad St., Quincy.

Boys and girls, 7-15 years old, throughout the city are invited to join. Every participant will be assigned to a team and actively compete in the weekly sessions.

Boys and girls, 7 through 12, will be assigned to the Junior Division while those 13-15 will make up the Senior Loop.

Anthony T. Delmonico, founder and director of the league, may be contacted at 479-3882 for further information.

The league will bowl every Saturday morning through March of 1985 and close out

Firemen's Muster Raises $1,000 For Muscular Dystrophy

The first Quincy firemen's muster in memory at O'Rourke Field, West Quincy, netted more than $1,000 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Eleven fire departments took part - Quincy, Quincy Auxiliary, Holbrook, Weymouth, Hanson, Halifax, Bare Cove (Hingham), Kingston, Duxbury, Scituate and Rockland.

The delegation from Hanson was the overall winner of the muster events.

Event winners were Halifax, the midnight alarm; Holbrook, the burst hose; Hanson, the triple coupling with water thief; and Holbrook, the rolled hose coupling.

Holbrook won the women's event, the standard wet hose.

The muster began with a parade of engines - including vehicles from Brooklyn, N.Y. and Boston - starting from Shaw's Market on Quincy Ave., down Hancock and Adams Sts. and Furnace Brook Parkway to O'Rourke Field.

It was estimated that close to 800 people were on hand for the competition at one time.

The muster was sponsored by Local 792 of the Quincy Fire Fighters Union, which donated $500 for initial expenses.

The program was arranged by firefighters Michael Butts and John Keegan and their wives.

Trisha and Chris respectively.

Off duty fire fighters and their wives manned the concession stands for the five-hour duration of the muster.

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 20

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Stalled projects receive the go-ahead - all at one time. In romance, take nothing for granted. At home, prepare to entertain a variety of unexpected guests.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Prepare for possible conflict between domestic and career interests. Signs of improved lifestyle change appear now. Pets are prominent in week's picture.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Financial dispute can be settled, but it's important that you don't concede too many points. Step into fall with a look that accents warm colors and understated styles.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Efficiency peaks, and this is a favorable week for concluding projects or launching a job search. Public relations is a present strength; learn how to use it successfully.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Messages that arrive before the weekend need clarification before you make any moves. If looking for solution to long-lasting difficulty, experimentation may bring results.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Domestic affairs claim much of your time till the weekend, and a family responsibility may be unexpectedly costly. Superior is highly receptive to your ideas.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Financial upturn is a highlight, and reconciliations are encouraged through the period. Watch tendency - especially after weekend - to give more information than you need to.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Superior gives his/her nod of approval - and you can proceed with a prestigious task. Platonic side of relationship is accented. Possessive friend is more understanding.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Romancewise, fall is off to an upbeat start. You may have to take the initiative, but it's well worth the effort. Business dealings may require an objective opinion.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Partner may oppose your request or suggestion - but don't close the file too quickly. Self-improvement scheme is accented through the week, along with spontaneous travel.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
You're entering a cycle that highlights friendship and commitment. Volunteer assignment may include a pleasant fringe benefit. Shared financial arrangements require attention to detail.

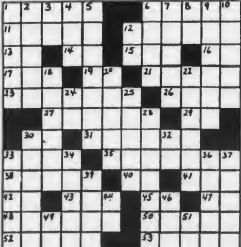

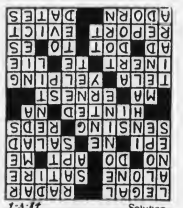

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Old acquaintance may suggest renewing a relationship - don't make your decision too quickly. Family member benefits from the lessons in assertiveness that you provide.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Detail is important to you - as are beautiful objects, a luxurious lifestyle, and education. You tend to make too many compromises, however, which can be a liability early in '85. Taking a stand is all-important - and can lead to key career advancement.

Now there's a channel for kids that's good fun. And good television.

CABLE CHANNEL 10

The first channel for kids.
NICKELODEON™

The Eyes of Quincy

Between the ages of 2 and 17, your children will spend approximately a third of their waking hours in front of the TV set. It's a staggering thought. Especially when you know the kinds of things they're watching aren't made for them. Now, there is children's television that's different.

Introducing Nickelodeon—the first and only channel exclusively for young people. Available only on cable TV, all day long.

With Nickelodeon, kids get commercial-free programs. Non-violent, too. With positive role models for every age group. It's no wonder that Nickelodeon has been endorsed by the National Education Association. Children love Nickelodeon. And parents can stop worrying.

Harold in turn congratulated Golden and his workers "for an energetic, enthusiastic campaign." In his victory statement, Harold said: "I will continue to make a fulltime commitment to the position of state senator and to insure that priorities of our district are made priorities of the Commonwealth. "I am much appreciative of the vote of confidence of the people of Quincy, Braintree, Holbrook and Avon.

"This campaign was not a campaign of three months but one of service to the district over the past five and a half years."

Harold took Quincy 9,947 to 4,099, carried Holbrook, Avon and Braintree by a 3-1 margin.

The Holbrook vote was 1,047 to 154 and Avon 471 to 79.

In other races on the Democratic ballot:

James J. Collins of Milton and George B. McDonald of Quincy easily won renomination for county commissioner.

The vote in Quincy was 8,746 for McDonald, 6,321 for Collins, 3,476 for Gerald Ridge of Braintree and 2,235 for Thomas Brennan of Wellesley.

Cong. Brian J. Connelly easily turned back a challenge from John Pasquale Scialdone of Boston, a follower of radical economist Lyndon Larouche, by 12,485 to 1,223 in Quincy.

Rep. Michael Morrissey also defeated a Larouche supporter, Patricia Peterson of West Quincy, by 4,302 to 992 in the race for the nomination from the First Norfolk District.

Democrats re-nominated unopposed were Peter L. Eley of Quincy for governor's council, Rep. Thomas F. Brownell in the Second Norfolk District, Thomas P. Hughes of Quincy for Register of Probate; and James M. Collins of Milton for county treasurer.

Republicans unopposed were Patricia A. Ruskiewicz of Brockton for governors councillors, Auburn J. Perry Jr. of Canton for county commissioner.

Michael Sullivan got 172 writein votes in Quincy in his effort to get the Republican nomination for county treasurer. He needed 1,000 writeins throughout the county to get his name on the November ballot.

Finn Opposition Stalls Police Study

A proposal for a $35,000 study of the operation of the Quincey Police Department stalled before the City Council's Finance Committee Monday night when Chief Francis X. Finn vehemently objected to the company chosen to do the work.

"I have no confidence in this organization," said Finn, speaking of Techmark of Hanover, a firm that specializes in public safety management consultation and security systems.

"If the chief is not happy with this, I feel we should look into another bid," said Councillor Theodore P. DeCristoforo, whereupon his fellow councillors decided to leave the matter in committee for a while.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, whose administration proposed the study at the behest of several councillors, said he plans to wait and see what the Council does with the order before it, before thinking about making a change.

Meanwhile, Councillor Joanne Condon wrote to Edward Collins, state deputy commissioner of revenue, to see if state funding would be available to pay for such a study.

She noted that she and Collins were present at a meeting early last summer at which the Council's concerns over the elimination of 13 positions on the Police and Fire Departments were discussed.

"At that time," she said, "you indicated that if the city needed assistance in the funding of the study of our Police and Fire Departments that it may be available through the state."

"I would appreciate it if you would advise as to the procedure the city of Quincey should follow to apply for funding for such a study."

Personnel Director Donald Hansen, who wrote the request for bids, said the city received two bids and Techmark of Hanover was the lowest and best qualified.

Richard P. Grassie, president of Techmark, outlined his firm's proposal to the committee in some detail.

He said a committee of five nationally known experts in law enforcement would work with the Police Department to determine its weaknesses and suggest ways to correct them.

"We would not run the department," said Grassie, "but we will make recommendations, good strong recommendations based on our past experience."

But Finn was not appeased.

"We have been through this before," he said. "We have been analyzed hundreds of times. We are willing to accept another study if that is what you want."

"But we don't want a $35,000 cap on it. We want the best. And I have no confidence in this organization."

play radios loudly and urinate in the area.

She said that she contacted managers and supervisors of the stores, but the problems persisted.

Another neighbor said she has seen youths take things from the store.

Tom Fillingim, Dacey's vice president, said that he and his supervisors have been at the store on several occasions and have seen no problems.

$2,000 Tools Taken

Tools valued at more than $2,000 were reported stolen Monday from a Welch Group Construction trailer parked at 133 Cmdr. Shea the security system employed by Dacey's, said he talked to some residents of the area who didn't have any great animosity towards the store.

"There's a problem here," said Police Chief Francis Finn, "that you people don't address."

"If this continues, you're going to have to pay for a police detail."

Board members voted to continue the matter for one month.

The items included two air hammers valued at $1,600, bolt cutter torches at $350, a staple gun at $46 and a pocket calculator at $45.

For Rehabilitation

$1.2 Million Available For Housing Loans

By TOM HENSHAW

The city's housing rehabilitation loan program has proven to be so successful that the Planning Department may have to hire two fulltime and one parttime new employees just to handle the paper work.

Right now, the city has $1.8 million in federal funds, plus $320,000 in paybacks and interest, a total of $2.1 million, to loan to middle income residents of the city at low interest to fix up their homes.

Only $939,000 of this is out on loan and $1.2 million available for loans with no takers.

"We will intensify our advertising procedures to get more loans out when we get the new people," said Planning Director James Lydon. "We are investing more of the money than we should."

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has authorized the hiring of a second financial rehabilitation specialist, a full-time clerk and a part-time clerk to add to the five rehab specialists and one financial specialist now employed.

In a way, the buildup of funds in the housing rehabilitation loan account is deliberate.

"We are accumulating loan pools like a bank," said Lydon.

The original money comes to the city as part of the annual Community Development Block Grant. It is loaned out at 9-1/2 to 10 per cent interest. It started five years ago and paybacks to date total $302,000 plus $18,000 interest.

The paybacks are invested in Money Market accounts to draw interest while awaiting the next loan.

One of the concerns about the program is that the annual infusion of funds from Washington is going to dry up, although Mayor McCauley said he sees no sign of it yet.

"I recall Sen. Tsongas saying in February, 1983, that we should be careful how much we put into the communities because it is going to dry up," said McCauley.

"But instead of decreasing the loan funds increased by $100,000 in fiscal 1985. The UDAG grants and Revenue Sharing are still there so Reagan hasn't hurt us at all."

McCauley looks upon the housing rehab account as "recycled money" that can go on in perpetuity to support an important city program in the times of Proposition 2-1/2.

"We will still have funds, even if the money from Washington is cut off," said Robert Donald, the Planning Department's financial specialist on all money matters.

"It's not likely that the funds will be cut off but it's possible that we will see a reduction," said Lydon.

"The funds look at demographics and ours are significant. We have one of the lowest unemployment rates (5.2 per cent) in the state and as the Quincey economy improves we will see a decrease in all CDBG funds."

24-Hour Store Ban Raises No Opposition

Peter Moran's bedroom window at 10 Chapman St., Wollaston, is only 20 feet from the delivery door of the Dandy Donuts shop.

"They cook doughnuts 24 hours a day," he said. "The smell of cooking doughnuts is everywhere. Deliveries are made at 4 a.m. The dumpster is emptied at 7 a.m. I am looking to relocate."

In the meantime, Moran appeared before a City Council hearing Monday night to speak in favor of a proposal for a zoning change that would close small convenience and similar stores between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m.

The change would have no effect on Dandy Donuts but Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia said that perhaps an ordinance should be introduced that would curtail early morning deliveries and dumpster work.

No opposition was voiced to the curtailment of the store hours. Nine residents spoke in favor of the zoning change and 23 were recorded in favor.

City Solicitor Dean Nicastro said current 24-hour stores would not be affected by the change.

"What is a convenience to some is an inconvenience to others," said Planning Director James Lydon. "The 24-hour stores draw people who are obnoxious to residents."

"It is unreasonable to expect people who live in residential areas to put up with 24-hour stores," said Councillor Michael Cheney. "This zoning change is not anti-business, it's pro-neighborhood."

"Ask the hundreds who live in the neighborhoods of convenience stores," said Ronald Iacobucci of 59 Andrews Rd., Wollaston. "They will tell you about the pollution, the public safety problem of traffic and crime."

"It's time to stop dealing with special interests in this matter and deal with the public interest."

Lydon Asks Buses Observe Rules

City Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. has asked the MBTA to direct its bus drivers to observe all safety rules and regulations in the area of Amesbury St. and Wilson Ave., Montclair.

Lydon noted in a letter to James F. O'Leary, general manager of the MBTA, that an MBTA bus recently struck a youngster at the corner of those two streets.

"Historically," he said, "there has been a problem in this area with the MBTA buses using excessive speed in a very thickly settled neighborhood with narrow roadways."

"I am writing to ask your cooperation and assistance in an effort to resolve this public safety hazard permanently."

Lydon noted that the city "recently instituted a high intensity motorcycle patrol in this area in an effort to stop the speeding."

The security system employed by Dacey Bros. Dairy Inc. will work with the manager of the store at 139 West Elm Ave. to control youth problems which have disturbed neighbors over the summer.

Ward Councillor Stephen McGrath and two residents of the area told the License Board Tuesday about problems outside the Wollaston store.

McGrath said that young people have been congregating in front of the store until late at night, and have left trash in the area.

One neighbor told the board the youths use "filthy, filthy language".

Council On Aging Seeks Grant

The Quincy Council on Aging has submitted its 1984 proposal for the annual formula grants provided by the State Department of Elder Affairs.

The Quincy Council is eligible for $28,210 or $143 per elder. Last year it received $19,455.

Brian Buckley, the council coordinator, said the proposal includes to rehiring of an outreach worker and four senior corps workers. The remainder will go to the purchase of a wheelchair-equipped van.

Council Chairman John Noonan said the funding awards will be announced in October.

The Council on Aging will also submit a proposal for the state's discretionary grant program later this month as well as a proposal for funds through the South Shore Elder Services.

Emergency Medicine Week Observed In Quincy

Mayor Francis X. McCauley recently declared Emergency Medicine Week in Quincy.

Sponsored by the American College of Emergency Physicians, Emergency Medicine Week was designed to encourage the public to learn more about the emergency medical resources in their communities.

The newest medical specialty, emergency medicine, is the practice of evaluating, stabilizing and treating life and limb-threatening illnesses and injuries.

Emergency physicians provide this care, in addition to aiding all other patients who seek medical care in emergency departments. Each year, over 80 million Americans turn to emergency departments for medical care.

In addition to issuing a proclamation declaring as Emergency Medicine Week, Mayor McCauley presented Jay McDonough and Sarah Flaherty, Special Needs students, with a poster entitled, "You Have Friends," which is being presented to all of the Special Needs Students in Quincy.

The goals of the Special Needs program are to teach the students how to dial for help in a medical emergency.

MAYOR FRANCIS MCCAULEY presented special needs students Sarah Flaherty and Jay McDonough with a poster, "You Have Friends", as part of Emergency Medicine Week.

gency to leave them with a reminder of the program and the correct number to call, and to familiarize them with ambulances, paramedics, and the equipment frequently used in a medical emergency.

The program is sponsored by Quincy City Hospital Women's Auxiliary and Bay State Ambulance, Quincy's Front Line Advanced Life Support provider.

New Computer Lab Opens At QJC

Quincy Junior College has opened a new micro-computer lab for the fall semester.

The center now contains 12 IBM personal computers with three more due shortly. An additional 15 Apple computers have been ordered for the spring semester.

The microcomputers will be used by day and evening students in courses such as BASIC Programming and PASCAL. In the future, seminars will be offered on such popular software as d-BASE II and LOTUS 1-2-3. These courses are still open on a full or part-time basis.

The center will be staffed by professional computer science faculty under the direction of faculty member Helen Lahage. The center will be open to students for their use whenever a class is not scheduled.

Ivan Smith, Chairman of the Science and Technology Division commented, "This new equipment will complement our main frame computer and provide more computer time for everyone."

"We are especially pleased because IBM's are the number one computers used in the business world today and the experience gained by our students will make them that much more employable when they complete the program," Smith added.

"Some openings remain in the computer science program but it is not necessary to be a computer science major to enroll in a computer course." Director of Admissions Richard Pessin said. Further information on computer science courses can be obtained by calling 786-8799.

Charges Continued In Church Sex Assault

Charges against five boys, ages 10 to 12, accused of sexually assaulting two girls in the basement of St. Boniface Church, Germantown, were continued without finding in juvenile court.

District Court Judge Charles J. Artesani ordered the charges continued until their 17th birthdays after which, with continued good behavior, they presumably will be dismissed.

All five boys were charged with delinquency by reason of indecent assault and battery and three of them were accused of delinquency by reason of assault with intent to rape.

The hearing was closed to the public and the names of the five boys and two girls were not revealed.

Zoning Change Paves Way For Hotel In $200-M Development

By TOM HENSHAW

A proposed zoning change that would permit construction of a hotel in a $200 million development in West Quincy sailed through a Planning Board-City Council hearing Monday night with only one dissenting vote.

Several of those who testified in favor of the zoning change said they thought that permission to build a first class hotel in Quincy should in some way be linked to first crack at the new jobs for Quincy residents.

Thomas Manning of 148 Standish Rd., Squantum, said the city "should be a little more firm with the contractors after construction. They bring in people from outside to fill jobs that should be reserved for Quincy residents."

The project in question is the $200 million Crown Colony Place, an office park that is planned for a 170-acre site at the Old Colony Crushed Stone Co. at the intersection of Routes 3 and 128 in West Quincy.

Planning Director James Lydon said the entire development will employ some 7,000 to 10,000 people when it is completed.

"It is my strong belief," said Lydon, "that we should not impose any employment percentages or linkages on developers like they do in Boston. If we do they'll go somewhere else. I see a lot of Boston developers coming to my office."

Lydon said the requested zoning change was sought specifically for Crown Colony Place so that a hotel could be included in the development. The change permits construction of a hotel or motel in an area zoned for Industry B (light industry).

A hotel is important from the point of view of prestige, Lydon told the hearing.

"Seventy to 80 per cent of the functions that are held at hotels in Randolph originate in Quincy," he said. "A number of businesses have come to Quincy recently but they don't allow visiting dignitaries to stay in Quincy."

Ronald Iacobucci of 59 Andrews Rd., Wollaston, told the hearing that he was in favor of development but he warned that the city would have to deal with new flooding, sewage and traffic problems.

"Make sure that you negotiate with the developers about jobs," he added. "Let's not lose sight of the residents. It's time to talk about certain percentages of commitments."

Council President James Sheets noted that when the National Fire Protection Association moved from Boston to a new site in West Quincy only 1 per cent of its employees were from Quincy.

"Now," he said, "the percentage is approaching 20 per cent. They are making a point to hire Quincy residents."

The Planning Board later in the evening reiterated its approval of the project.

Lodging House Expansion Approved

The License Board voted Tuesday to approve plans for expansion of a lodging house at 60 Spear St., Quincy Center.

Atty. Robert Fleming, who represented owner Joseph F. Baglione of Quincy, told the board the number of rooms will be increased from 10 to 22.

"There will be complete rehabilitation of the building," said Fleming who explained that there will be new heating, electrical and wiring systems, roof siding and fire alarm systems installed.

The renovations will bring the number of bathrooms to 11, and work probably won't start until next spring, said Fleming.

Fleming also said there would be off-street parking for 22 cars.

Police Chief Francis Finn said he would like to see provisions for the handicapped included in the plans.

The request was granted with the stipulations that there be no use of hot plates or make-shift cooking in the building, and off-street parking be provided.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from the Quincy High Football Parents Club for tag days Thursday, Oct. 25, and Friday, Oct. 26, 5 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, Oct. 27, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., with no soliciting at intersections.

- Granted a request from Kane Realty Trust for a parking lot license for 182 East Howard St.

- Placed on file a hearing regarding renovation of the premises at Bentley's Steakhouse, 579 Southern Artery. License holder Brian Leonard is to supply the Building Department with architectural plans.

Woman, 84, Hurt In Collision

An 84-year-old Needham woman was injured Monday when her car was in collision with another vehicle at the intersection of Hancock St. and Newport Ave. Extension.

Mildred V. Tompkins was in good condition in the progressive care unit at Quincy City Hospital.

Police said Tompkins' 1965 Chevrolet was in collision with a 1976 Mercury driven by John A. Delorey of 34 Carruth St., Wollaston.

Planning Board Approves Great Hill Open Space

The Planning Board has reaffirmed its approval of a zoning change that would shift the site of the former Great Hill School in Houghs Neck from Residence A to Open Space.

The Board acted following a joint public hearing with the City Council at which eight people spoke in favor of the change and 26 signed for it.

"This is something that has to be done," said former City Councillor Leo J. Kelly. "This could be one of the finest open area recreation sites in any city."

"The people of Houghs Neck, who are burdened with the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant, deserve something like this," said City Councillor Michael Cheney.

Rehab Planned For Liberty Park

Some 25 residents of South Quincy met last week with Council President James A. Sheets to plan a rehabilitation of Liberty Square and its monument to Quincy men who served in past wars.

"The park was renovated seven years ago," said Sheets, "but it is overrun now. Trees hide the monument."

The park is at the intersection of Liberty and Taber Sts. A model of Liberty Square was shown at the community meeting to get ideas from residents, Sheets said.

Sheets said it is hoped that the park can be rededicated in the spring, with a block party on Taber St.

"We want to get a nice-looking park," said Sheets, "where someone raises the flag every day like it used to be."

"It would be kind of a symbol of the renaissance of the area, a rebirth of community spirit."

Readers' Forum Ed Makes Amends Re: Quincy News Staff

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Like many folks of a nostalgic bent, I have a magic lantern in my noggin that I turn on and off at will, tripping the "on" switch when I wish to see things as they were in "my day" rather than as they actually are today. But that usually-infallible device failed me miserably recently as I tried to conjure up the roster of competent scribes on the old Quincy News -- for my article in the Aug. 23rd issue of The Quincy Sun.

How else to account for a heap of glaring omissions, such as: Robert (Bob) Newman, highly-successful author who also make a name for himself as a script writer in Hollywood; dependable Jane Adair, wife or retired Patriot Ledger editor Don Wilder; quietly-efficient Irene Weiss; soft-spoken Jane MacDonnell of Weymouth, wife of retired school principal Ralph Stewart, and Kenny Dowd, J. Norman McKenzie and Paul Kennedy editor of Izzy Zack's prolific sports staff. Long-time residents may remember Paul and friendly rival Jackie Duggan were sensational juvenile song-and-dance artists when you and I were young, Maggie, and Paul frequently performed with Mal Hallett's band Norm McKenzie's product of Weymouth who now makes his home in Squantum, still demonstrates his wonderful way with words in occasional newspaper articles he pens with wit and warmth.

The reference to Squantum reminds me that I plumb forgot to also list my ever-young classmate at Thayer, Sam Long, who kingly calls himself "the first citizen of Squantum" inasmuch as he (and faithful canine companion "Jiggs") reside in the first house in Squantum as one enters the popular peninsula. Let's I forget, energetic Drury Engley of Monclair and two lovely ladies, Mrs. Claude Roundy of Germantown and John Herbert's mother in Squantum, were key district correspondents on the old News reportorial staff a half century ago.

Hence, this red-faced poor excuse for a writer apologizes to his old cronies at the long-gone News for the unpardonable oversights and is grateful to Sun publisher-editor Henry Bosworth for this opportunity to try to make amends. Hope I'm forgiven for these classic examples of a doddering dotage.

SETTING THE STAGE

QUESTION: Do you have any suggestions on how to prepare a home for its best showing?

ANSWER: Don't just sell a house -- sell a home! For evening inspection, brighten your home from the front porch light on through all the rooms in the house. Little decorative touches -- a vase of flowers, a plant, small pillows -- can add much to the comfortable feeling.

If it's winter, a crackling fire (in the fireplace) adds irresistible charm. A working fireplace is a major attraction to home buyers. A large mirror can make a room look larger, reflect and magnify many of your best selling points. Turn off the TV and turn on soft background music. Create that subtle, lived-in atmosphere.

DON'T JUST SELL A HOUSE -- sell a home. Subtle showmanship can help set the right atmosphere.

Where Did Those Years Go?

Sixteen years seems like a long time. But it isn't, really.

With this issue The Quincy Sun is 16 years old and will start its 17th year next week.

Sixteen years! Where did they go?

Time doesn't march on. It flies. W-h-O-O-s-h!

For 16 years, The Sun has been Quincy's community newspaper. We're proud of the honor and of the Quincy in our name. That's what we're all about: Quincy.

It has been an interesting 16 years. We've seen a lot of changes in our community.

We've covered five mayors--their promises, their accomplishments, their frustrations. We've chronicled hundreds of births, and sadly, the passing of many residents including civic and political figures--some of them close friends.

We've seen our young news carriers grow up and go off to college or into the service and into successful careers. And we've seen photographs of some of those little girls grown up like Gigi as beautiful brides on our social pages. And, yes, we have recorded the births of their children, too.

W-h-O-O-s-h! Where did those 16 years go?

Overall they've been pretty good years. But not easy ones. A newspaper can be pretty demanding. Or as the late Percy Lane used to say when I was a young kid at the Patriot Ledger: "A newspaper is a jealous mistress."

Perce was a notorious punster. He was also a confirmed bachelor who liked to say: "Marriage is an institution but who wants to live in an institution?"

Percy was my friend. So were (and still are) John Herbert, Pres Hobson and Don Wilder who gave me a lot of encouragement in my early days at The Ledger. And maybe, they are partly responsible for a Quincy Sun being here, today.

The Sun began in a small second-floor office on Foster St., Quincy Center with very little money but a lot of hope and faith in Quincy.

There were those who predicted we wouldn't last six months. And there were times in those early days when we thought they might be right.

But, as we said, we had a lot of hope--and especially faith--in Quincy. A lot of people we found out thought Quincy would be a better community with two newspapers instead of one. We like to think it is.

And, thanks to their faith in us and their support and encouragement, we hung in there during those rocky early months and--well--we're still here.

We went from Foster St. to another second floor office at 1601 Hancock St., a year later. And then in March, 1975 we moved to the present street floor location in the old Quincy Savings Bank building at 1372 Hancock St.

In 1980 we purchased the historic Hingham Journal which dates back to 1827 when John Quincy Adams was president.

The two newspapers have retained their own identities: The Sun, as Quincy's community newspaper and The Journal, Hingham's community newspaper.

February 11, 1982 was another major milestone for us and a historic chapter in local journalism. On that date, The Sun began news telecast on its Ch. 8 on Quincy Cable systems.

The Sun, on that date, became the first newspaper in the South Shore and one of the first in the state to provide news coverage over cable television.

The Sun's Ch. 8 operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week bringing the latest Quincy news in text from Sun staffers and up-to-the-moment regional, national and world news from the Associated Press. There is also video, display and classified advertising.

Since January of this year, The Sun has expanded its television coverage with a videotaped News Report

Commission's Corner

On Tuesday, Oct. 2, the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women and the League of Women Voters will present a program, Women in Politics.

From 5:30 P.M. to 7 P.M., there will be voter registration assisted by John Gillis, City Clerk, at City Hall.

From 7 P.M. to 8:30 P.M., there will be a panel discussion on women in politics at City Hall on the second floor of the new building. Participants will be: shown Mondays through Friday nights at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. and repeated the following morning at 10 a.m.

THE EARLY DAYS of The Quincy Sun were fun but sometimes tough. Like on a frigid day at its second location where the heat had a habit of going off. Here typesetter Muriel Lyon, publisher Henry Bosworth and reporter Tom Henshaw keep warm with coats on.

Now, viewers can see the news as it actually happened with Sun TV cameras at the scene of all important Quincy news events.

In addition to the News Report, we are developing special events programs. So we look ahead to more progress.

The Sun, as we have said before many times, has been blessed with loyal readers from the very first issue. They are readers of all ages from all walks of life who want a community newspaper--a newspaper devoted to their community interests.

A newspaper has a responsibility to the community to report the news fairly and accurately. So does a community cable TV news channel like Ch. 8.

We have tried to be fair and accurate--giving those on both sides of an issue the opportunity in our news columns and on Ch. 8 to present their views.

We don't write editorials just for the sake of having an editorial. But when we do speak out, you don't have to wonder where we stand.

You may not always agree with us. That is your right and we will continue to respect that. We have a right to our opinions, too and we will continue to express them.

As we mark our 16th anniversary and prepare to launch our 17th year we want to again thank you--our readers, viewers and advertisers--for your continued support and encouragement.

A special "thank you" as always, goes to our small army of faithful newscasters who bring The Sun to your home in all kinds of weather. And a tip of the hat, too, to the letter carriers who deliver the mailed subscriptions.

We've said it before, but we'd like to say it again: All of you are as much a part of The Sun as we, the staff. Without you we never would have reached this 16th milestone. In fact, without you, we might not have made it to those first six months.

With your help--and encouragement--we look to the future with confidence and enthusiasm.

Thank you, again--all of you from all of us.

Thank you for making it all possible. You really did make it possible.

And, we hope that Quincy is a better community because it has two newspapers instead of just one.

If it is, then we are doing our job.

The first motion-picture "drive-in" theater opened in Camden, New Jersey in 1933. Room was provided for 500 cars.

Lions Club Sets Dates For Free Glaucoma Screening Clinics

In cooperation with the City of Quincy Health Department, the Lions Club will co-sponsor two Glaucoma Screening Clinics at the J.F.K. Health Center, Hancock St. Quincy Dentist Dr. James Will, is the Project

Chairman for the Lions Club.

Undetected and untreated glaucoma leads to total blindness.

"There may be no symptoms at all. Only a periodic checkup by a qualified eye specialist can detect the presence of glaucoma", says Dr. Will.

All residents of Quincy are welcome and it is recommended that anyone over 40 years of age should take advantage of this free service.

The dates are Wednesday, Oct. 17 and Wednesday, Oct. 31 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Appointments must be made by calling Mary Taylor, R.N. at 773-1380 ext. 239.

MORE MEMORY "TRICKS"

Piece / Peace
Principal / Principle
Stationary / Stationery

Do you know the difference in meaning between the pairs of words listed above? If you have trouble remembering, associations can help.

A Piece of Pie

For example: piece means a portion—as in a piece of pie. Notice that the word pie is in the word piece. If you make that association, you should remember how to use the word properly.

Example #2: the principal of the school is your pal. The word pal ends the word principal. In addition, the word principle is like a rule, and both principle and rule end in le.

Example #3: stationary means standing or staying still. Both meanings have an a in the word which can be associated with the second a in stationary. In addition, the word stationery refers to paper used to write letters. The word letters contains e's which can be associated with the e in stationery.

You should be able to create associations for most sets of homonyms.

Put Eggs in a Crate

You can also improve your vocabulary by making associations. For example: suppose you wanted to remember the definition of the following words: excrete (pronounced eggs-i-crete) and hyperbole (pronounced hip-per-bowl-e).

Excrete means to hate or despise. Picture someone putting eggs in a crate and hating it. If you make that visual association, you should have little difficulty remembering the meaning of the word.

Similarly, if you picture an enormous bowl with the word hyper on it, you should remember that the word hyperbole means exaggeration.

Parlez-vous Francais?

The association method can be used in other subject areas such as science, geography, and especially foreign languages. For example: the Spanish word for table is mesa. Picture your table at home with a big mess on it. (Some associations are easier than others.) Example #2: the French word for father is pere. Picture your father holding a giant pear (giant because uncommon images stay with us longer).

Any word in any language should make you think of a corresponding English word, which in turn can be associated with the meaning of the foreign word. Try it—it really works!

A Fish Eating Pizza?

Suppose you want to memorize things in sequence. All you need to do is "tie together", or link, one item with the item following it, through some association.

For example: suppose you needed to memorize the following items in order: pizza, fish, glove, basketball, cheese, bicycle, flowers, toaster, earrings, bowling balls.

Try the following—link pizza with fish by picturing a fish eating pizza. (You must actually picture all of these connections for this to work.) Next, picture a fish wearing a glove; next, a basketball player dribbling with a glove on; next, a basketball shaped like a cheese. (Remember to actually picture these things; don't just read them.) Next, picture a bicycle with round cheeses for wheels; next, flowers coming out of the handlebars of a bicycle; next, flowers popping out of a toaster; next, picture a woman wearing toasters in place of earrings; and finally bowling balls in place of earrings.

If you actually pictured all of those connections, you should be able to remember the ten items in order—forward or backward. Have someone test you.

This method can be used for much longer lists of items also.

The "tie-in", or link, method can be very helpful in memorizing items for a school project or test, but it can also be used in other ways. If you are giving a presentation or speech and you link the important ideas of your presentation together, you should be able to give the entire speech from memory without referring to notes.

Early thinking skills and how to develop them.

QUEST-CORNER

Do you have trouble remembering how many days there are in each month? Try this: Make a fist with each hand by wrapping your fingers around the thumb. Put your fists together with the back of your hands toward you.

Each knuckle and each "valley" between knuckles corresponds to a month. Beginning from either side—January corresponds to the first knuckle, February to the "valley" between knuckles, March to the second knuckle, and so forth. (Don't count the space between hands.)

Each month that corresponds to a knuckle has thirty-one days; each month that corresponds to a "valley" has thirty days, or in the case of February, twenty-eight or twenty-nine.

School Okay'd For Emergency Welfare Housing

The School Committee listened to a plea by City Councillor David J. Crowley and then voted to permit the Welfare Department to use the abandoned Washington School in Quincy Point for temporary emergency housing purposes.

Crowley told the Board that four families with eight adults and 25 children were living in a city warehouse on Penn St., South Quincy, and Health Commissioner Dr. Richard M. Ash was about to condemn the warehouse as unfit for human habitation.

The Washington School was being used for homemaking classes. Sometime back, the School Committee released the building to be used for veterans' housing but the city had not yet seen fit to undertake the $150,000 conversion project.

LATE PAYMENT

Mrs. E. Victor Bigelow was cleaning out the attic of her home at 61 Spear St. when she came across a bill for $2.48 from a North Tewksbury milk dealer dated in July, 1914, when milk cost eight cents a quart. The bill was unpaid for 34 years.

"I was horrified," wrote Mrs. Bigelow, who lived in Lowell at the time she bought the milk. "I felt that I couldn't tell you about it, but I know it's the only thing to do—to ask your pardon and send the amount to you."

TANKER KEEL LAID

The keel laid at the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River Shipyard for a 36,250-ton tanker capable of carrying 28,000 tons of oil, the third of four $5 million sister ships to be built at the yard for the Texas Co. of New York.

LAND-TAKING SUPPORTED

The Quincy Taxpayers Association announced its support of a proposal by City Councillor Edna B. Austin that the city take the land behind City Hall for a possible addition. The land recently had been purchased by a Philadelphia real estate firm.

OLD COLONY SURVIVAL

Lawrence H. Whittemore, new president of the New Haven Railroad, told a state legislative committee that the future of the Old Colony commuter line is largely up to the riding public. Ridership had dropped 20 per cent this year, he said.

THE NATURAL PEARL

One of the beautiful things about a natural pearl is that it is a phenomenon of nature. It forms by itself with no interference from man. The Greeks called it "unica," meaning unique. Since natural pearls are an "accident" of nature, no two look alike. With other gems, it is possible to get a large piece and cut several identical stones. This is not so with natural pearls which also have a glow that is warmer than that of cultured pearls. They come in tremendous range of shapes, from perfect spheres to wild freeforms. In addition, the durability of natural pearls is superior to the cultured product

Pearls are simple yet elegant, they're Nature's gifts from the sea. They are worn by all age groups and look magnificent on all. Come to TODDIE'S FINE JEWELRY at 1163 Hancock St. to select the pearls that suit you. There are fresh water pearls, cultured pearls and pearls in many colors. If you've inherited some pearls, perhaps you'd like them reset in a modern setting. Let us know what you want and we'll be able to create a magnificent and original piece for you. Our jewelry will have you coming back time and again. Mon-Fri 10-6, Sat. till 4 Tel 479-9464 Evening appointments are available.

Pearls are a most versatile gem. They go with jeans or a dressy gown.

QJC To Hold Nursing Students Meeting

Quincy Junior College will hold a meeting for nursing students and partners, parents and friends Thursday, Oct. 4 at the Quincy High School Methods Center.

The meeting, entitled, "Strategies for Successful Coping," will focus on ways to deal with coordination of home and work responsibilities while studying as a student in the R.N.

Program.

New students and attendees have been invited to enjoy coffee, punch and refreshments at 7 p.m. At 7:30 p.m., graduate students and their partners will share information about their experiences and how they succeeded.

At 8 p.m., the meeting will separate into smaller groups to discuss possible solutions to the everyday problems which could hinder a student's progress in the nursing program.

Kathleen O'Brien, chairperson of the Division of Nursing Education, commented, "We are quite proud to join with the Placement Office and the Women's Center in offering our entering students an opportunity to meet with our graduates to discuss strategies which enabled them to be successful in the nursing program."

Displaced Homemaker Center Accepting New Participants

New participants are being accepted for free job search assistance at the Displaced Homemaker Center at Quincy Junior College.

The Center, which is in its third year of service in Quincy, offers group and individual career counseling to women who are 35 or older who have primarily been homemakers and who now need to re-enter the job market to support themselves and their families.

"Participants are generally at a difficult and stressful point in their lives. They may be divorced, widowed, separated, married to a disabled spouse or nearing the end of public assistance benefits," says Pat Davey, counselor at the Quincy Center. "They need self confidence and job seeking skills."

Services include referral to education, training and employment, workshops in resume writing, job interviewing, goal setting, assertiveness training, and life management.

Women's Group To Sponsor Voter Rally Oct. 2

The Quincy League of Women Voters and the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women will sponsor a voter rally Tuesday, Oct. 2.

There will be a voter registration booth at the Quincy Center MB&A Station, beginning at 4:30 p.m. A panel discussion on "Women in Politics" will follow at Quincy City Hall at 7 p.m.

Featured speakers will be Lois Pines, Ellie Seton, Kathleen Kroll, Alicia Colletti and Patricia Toland.

Special Ed Program Info Night Oct. 1

The Department of Special Education of the Quincy Public Schools is currently developing its annual program plan for special education for the 1985-1986 school year.

Input from the community is welcomed.

Those wishing to be involved in or to know more about the plan, are asked to contact Dr. Patricia Delval at 786-8743. An information meeting will be held on Monday, Oct. 1 at 9 a.m., in the Administration Offices of the Quincy Public Schools.

QHS Students Receive College Credit

Twenty-nine students participated in the Advanced Placement Program at Quincy High School in May, 1984. They enrolled in 30 separate examinations.

Twenty-six (66 per cent) examinations were rated three or better.

It is the assumption of the program that colleges make best use of the examinations when they grant advanced placement and credit to candidates who have grades of 5, 4, and 3.

Eagles Supper Oct. 16

The John Adams Eagles Auxiliary will hold a covered dish supper Tuesday, Oct. 16, at 7 p.m.

The regular meeting will follow after supper.

PHARMACY TOPICS

Someday orthopedic surgeons may be able to reconstruct knees and other joints damaged in sports accidents. Artificial ligaments made from animal collagen fibers would be implanted. Doctors hope the procedure will be approved for humans within 6 months.

Alprazolam, a new drug for serious depression, seems to be more effective than other antidepressants, with fewer side effects. The FDA has approved it.

Mild deficiencies of Vitamin B12, C, folate and riboflavin can lower brain function in otherwise healthy adults, a University of New Mexico study found.

Studies at the Clinical Research Center at the University of Seattle, Washington, show that acyclovir, used against herpes infection, is more effective administered intravenously than topically. Researchers are now studying oral forms of the drug.

Patients with stomach disorders or ulcers should generally avoid aspirin.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

If you had a bank that credited your account each morning with $86,400, carried over no balance from day to day, allowed you to keep whatever part of the amount you had failed to use during the day, what would you do? You would probably draw out every penny!

Well, you DO have such a bank. It is TIME. Every morning it credits you with 86,400 seconds. Every night it charges off, as lost, whatever you failed to invest to good purpose. It carries no balance and it tolerates no overdraft. If you fail to use the day's deposits, the loss is yours. We talk about saving time, but there is really no way to do it...

September 27 affords you 86,400 extra seconds. What do you plan to do with it?

YMCA Dedicates Gilbert Crofts Memorial Nautilus Center

The officers, board of directors, staff and members of the South Shore YMCA recently dedicated the new nautilus fitness center in memory of Gilbert L. 'Crum' Crofts in appreciation of his admirable qualities of leadership, his dedicated service to the youth of Quincy and his devotion to the ideals and principles of the YMCA.

Crofts was connected with the Y for 39 years, starting as associate physical director from 1930 to '34, physical director from 1934 to '50, associate general secretary from '50 to '56 and general secretary from '56 to '69.

Gil introduced Little League baseball to Quincy, brought about spring and summer basketball leagues and began a softball league which had Quincy's first lighted field. He was actively involved with the Y's Sunday School Basketball League, United Way fund drives and served 14 years on Quincy's recreation commission, four of them as vice chairman.

He organized excellent programs at Camp Burgess and Camp Hayward. He loved the sea and spent many happy hours aboard his cabin cruiser "Brucynca".

O'Brien's Bakery Contributes To Children's Hospital

Jim and Joanne O'Brien of O'Brien's Bakery, 9 Beale St., Wollaston and 148 Granite St., Quincy Center, contributed a large amount of Irish Bread to the Dave Maynard Farm Stand.

The Farm Stand is a fund-raising event annually sponsored by WBZ Radio to benefit Children's Hospital.

O'Brien's Bakery, along with other members of the Massachusetts Retail Bakers Association, produced over $500 worth of baked goods. The products were sold at WBZ, and the money was given to the Children's Hospital.

'Gently Now, Gently' Sermon Topic At Bethany Church

There will be two worship services Sunday, Sept. 30, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both services on the topic, "Gently Now, Gently," based on scriptural texts from Galatians 6:1-5 and the Gospel of John 8:1-11.

Lay scripture readers will be Marion Lockwood for the early service and Pauline Anderson for the late service. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will assist in leading the worship at both services.

During the 10 a.m. service, the sacrament of Christian baptism will be given to Mary Roberts Brundige, daughter of Michael and Jane (Roberts) Brundige. Godparents will be Steven and Kathryn Roberts.

During the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter F. Krasinski, organist will sing the offertory Mendelssohn's "Lift Thine Eyes to the Mountains." Krasinski will also present an organ selection composed by Jean Langlais, "Song of Peace."

The service will be broadcast over South Shore radio station WJDA 1300 kc at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape. Sunday Church School classes will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. for preschool through eighth grad pupils. The senior high class, ninth through twelfth grades, will meet at 9 a.m. with Robert R. Peoples, Jr., teacher. Nursery care will be provided for babies at the 10 a.m. hour.

At 11 a.m., there will be a coffee hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

For information about Bethany Church and its ministry and programs, contact Pastor Arnold or the church Office at 479-7300.

St. John's HNS Plans Italian Night

St. John's Holy Name will hold an Italian Night Oct. 20 in observance of its Silver Anniversary.

An all-Italian family style dinner will be served in the church hall beginning at 8 p.m. The menu will include antipasto, various specialty dishes and ice cream and cake.

There will be a social hour at 6:30 p.m., music for dancing until midnight. Tickets are $15 each and may be obtained by calling Ed Grilli (479-3014), Joe Ciccolo (479-1730), Harry Fifield (773-6005) or Frank Daly (773-5524).

Sermon In Dramatic Form At Squantum Church

Worshippers at the early service at the First Church of Squantum witnessed a sermon in dramatic form Sunday.

Instead of being preached to by the pastor in the usual way, the message came in the form of a play entitled "The Prodigal Son."

Playing roles in the drama were David Williams, father; Robert Dixey, prodigal son; Susan Scott, elder brother; Sarah Mildram, servant; pastor Rev. Gene Langevin, the employer; Debbie Stohberg, Mindi Hurd and Lori Ogilvie, helpers in the far country.

Mary Ruth Scott and Steven Williams provided the musical accompaniment for the singing with their guitars. Blythe Bumpus and Chris Dixey were ushers.

During the later traditional service, Dr. Langevin preached on the subject, "How Shall We Give?" This is the second week of the annual Pledge Drive sponsored by the Stewardship Committee. The drive will culminate on Covenant Sunday, Oct. 7.

The Chancel Choir sang Beethoven's "The Heavens Are Telling" for the offertory. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were ushers.

Greeters for the morning at the second service were Stewart and Mary Scott. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Genevieve Todd and Barbara Anderson.

The new robes for the choir will be dedicated on Covenant Sunday, Oct. 7, at the Covenant Service at 10:30 a.m. There will be a special breakfast that morning at 9:15 a.m.

This Sunday, there will be two worship services again: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. Visitors are welcome.

St. Joseph School Initiates Student Government

St. Joseph School, 22 Pray St., Quincy, recently initiated a Student Government program.

The Student Government representatives for the 1984-85 school year will be installed at a prayer service in the church Friday.

Being installed are: Sandra Doherty, Jeanette Zupkofska, Rebecca Chiochino, Kellie Foley, James McLarnon, James McCarthy, Brian Taylor, James Tolson, Stephen Pearson, Joseph Abouzeid, John Glennon, Lina Russo, Kerry Wood and Jeremy Burn.

The Student Government will try to develop leadership among students and teach them about democracy and responsibility. Together the students will strive to achieve the goals of learning, involvement, service, citizenship, leadership, culture, scholarship, achievement and self growth.

Emotions Anonymous Open Meeting Oct. 7

Emotions Anonymous, a twelve-step program to a new way of life, finding a way to deal with stress in daily living, will hold an open meeting Sunday, Oct. 7.

If your life has become like a shoe that pinches Emotions Anonymous is for you, according to the organization.

The Open Meeting will be held by The Quincy Chapter at 3 p.m. at Quincy City Hospital 114 Whittell St., second floor of the Administration Building in the Conference Room.

Abe Greenspan is the religious committee chairman.

Rosh Hashanah which in Hebrew means "first of the year" comes in Autumn and begins not at midnight, but at sunset the day before the actual date of the holiday and ends at sunset on Yom Kippur Day.

Yom Kippur the "Day of Atonement" comes 10 days after Rosh Hashanah and concludes this holy period. According to Jewish tradition, Rosh Hashanah is the day on which God judges the deeds of every man.

On Rosh Hashanah, Jewish people resolve to live better lives. They pray for forgiveness and a year of peace and happiness for themselves and the world. The new year is regarded not as the occasion for carousing but for spiritual stocktaking. What is man? What is our life? What will be our fate?

Some Jews have believed literally, others metaphorically, that on the new year, the books of life are spread open before the Great Judge.

In this period of judgment, it is determined "Who shall live and who shall die, who shall be at rest and who shall wander, who shall be tranquil and who shall be harassed, who shall become poor and shall be rich, who shall be brought low and who shall be exalted".

Orthodox, Conservative and some Reform Congregations celebrate Rosh Hashanah, two days in accordance with ancient tradition. Many Reform Congregations, however, observe the holiday only one day.

The Shofar, made from the horn of a ram is sounded during the Rosh Hashanah morning services. It was used in ancient Israel to call the people together for emergencies or for peaceful assemblies. When the Shofar is sounded during the Rosh Hashanah services, it reminds the members of the Congregation the need to do good and the necessity to live an honorable and God-fearing life. The cry of the Shofar calls upon worshippers to repent any misdeeds.

Often the prayers are changed to Hebrew, the language the Old Testament was written in. Nowadays, in almost all synagogues, some prayers are recited in English, too. This is done so that everyone, whether he knows Hebrew or not, may take part in the services. Many High Holy Day Prayer books contain English translations alongside the Hebrew text, so that members of the Congregation can follow and understand.

One of the very stirring prayers recited during the service is the following litany:

"Our Father, our King, hear our prayer"; "Our Father, our King, we have sinned before Thee"; "Our Father, our King have mercy upon us and upon our children"; "Our Father, our King, keep our country free from pestilence, war and famine"; "Our Father, our King, cause all hate and oppression to vanish from the earth"; "Our Father, our King, grant unto us a year of happiness"; "Our Father, our King, be merciful and answer us, though we plead no merit, deal with us according to Thy loving-kindness and help us", "Amen".

At home, the Rosh Hashanah dining table is set with Kiddush cup, candle sticks with candles, two challahs (holiday bread) and special challah cloths. The round Challahs are usually round filled with raisins to symbolize an unbroken year, continuous and sweet year. A piece of apple or challah is dipped into honey by the host and guest for a good year.

Yom Kippur (the Day of Atonement) is the last day of the "Ten Days of Penitence", which began with Rosh Hashanah. This 10 day period, according to Jewish tradition is a time for repentance, prayer and charity in preparation for the holiest day of the year, Yom Kippur.

On this solemn and important day, almost all Jewish men and women (unless illness prevents) refrain from eating and drinking. Some young children try to fast for at least part of the day. The Bible (Leviticus 16:29-31; 23: 26-31; Numbers 29:7) also requires that Jews do no manner of work on these High Holy Days.

On Yom Kippur, members of the Congregation spend the entire day in prayer and worship. The word "atonement" explains the nature of the day, for "atonement" is made up of two words: "at" and "one". And on the day of "at-one-men", Jewish people try to be "at-one" in harmony with God.

Yom Kippur is above all, a day on which Jews seek forgiveness, not only from God, but also from man. Judaism teaches that one cannot ask God's forgiveness for wrong doing unless he has also asked others to forgive him for any evil, he may have done to them.

But simply asking for forgiveness is not enough. The wrong must be righted whenever that is possible. There must be a true feeling of repentance. God recognizes the sincere desire of the worshipper to undo his evil and to live his life better.

Just as the best-known part of Rosh Hashanah is the sounding of the Shofar, so in the Yom Kippur services the part known and loved by the Jewish people is the chanting of the famous Kol Nidrai prayer which means "all vows". One of the beautiful prayers recited in many synagogues on Yom Kippur eve is:

"O Lord, our God, let thy presence be manifest to us in all Thy works, that reverence for Thee may fill the hearts of all Thy creatures. May all the children of men come before Thee in humility and unite to do Thy will with perfect heart, that all may acknowledge that Thine are power, dominion and majesty and that Thy name is exalted above all."

Also, on this Holy Day, Yom Kippur, Yizkor (memorial prayers) for the departed are recited. At nightfall, the end of the fast is announced by a single blast of the Shofar, after which worshippers return to their homes, some joyous and glad at heart.

The festival of Sukkot (Booths) starts Wednesday evening, Oct. 10 with services at all three Synagogues in Quincy and throughout the country.

Family Service Assn. Mother-Child Program

The Quincy Office of Family Service Association of Greater Boston is sponsoring a 20-week Mother/Child Enrichment Program to begin in October.

The goals of the program are to strengthen the relationship between mother and child and to increase the verbal and cognitive skills of the child. Studies indicate that young children who have participated in this program experience greater success in school.

The group will meet weekly for an hour and a half. The focus will be on parenting issues, women's issues, stress and play demonstration. This educational support group works to strengthen and build parenting skills while serving as an outlet for the many frustrations of parenting young children.

The Mother/Child Program is free for low income parents of 18 month to five year old children. Child care is provided.

Family Service Association of Greater Boston, the sponsoring organization, is a licensed mental health clinic and social service center. It offers individual, marital, family and group counseling. It is located at 1 Cliveden St., Quincy Center.

New England-Hancock Obtains $1.8 Million For Student Loans

The Bank of New England-Hancock, Quincy, obtained $1.8 million for student loans it originated from the Student Loan Marketing Association (Sallie Mae) of Washington, D.C.

Sallie Mae officials estimate that the funds obtained by Bank of New England-Hancock could facilitate origination of more than 700 individual student loans.

Bank of New England-Hancock obtained the funds by selling existing student loans from its portfolio to Sallie Mae, the major financial intermediary for education credit and the nation's largest single source of funds for guaranteed student loans.

"We have provided more than $10 million in student loans to students in the South Shore area under the Guaranteed Student Loan Program in the past 15 years," said Cornelius J. Harney, Vice President of Bank of New England-Hancock.

"By selling existing loans to Sallie Mae, we can, in effect, recycle our funds and thus assure our ability to meet the financial needs of our student customers."

Guaranteed Student Loans are the predominant financing vehicle for students attending post-secondary educational institutions. Maximum annual loan amounts for undergraduate and graduate students are $2,500 and $5,000 a year, respectively.

Loans are originated by private lenders and public agencies and are reinsured by the federal government. Students are required to begin repaying the loans on a monthly basis after they graduate or leave school.

By buying insured student loans and providing other financial services to financial and educational institutions, Sallie Mae replenishes local supplies of student credit. Last year the corporation provided $2.6 billion in funds and commitments for student loans nationwide.

Sallie Mae, whose stock is traded on the New York Stock Exchange, raises funds to provide these services by borrowing in the nation's capital markets.

Presidents Hope To Regroup Against Waltham

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's football team may lose some more games this season, but it will never lose a tougher or more controversial game than it did last Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Presidents were upset by Brookline, 18-12, when the Indians scored the winning touchdown on the final play of the game after time had apparently run out after Quincy had held for three downs on the one-yard line.

Jack Raymer's Presidents will try to regroup Saturday when they host Waltham at 1:30 p.m. at the stadium.

Waltham, which defeated Quincy, 12-6, last season, is 0-2 this fall with losses to Lexington, 19-14, and Arlington, 9-0. Despite the losses, Waltham, playing its first league game Saturday, is one of the top-rated Suburban League teams, with nine returning starters, including outstanding running back Scott Giusti.

"This was a real tough way to lose a game," said a disappointed Raymer, who had made his head coaching debut the previous week with an impressive win over Cambridge Rindge and Latin. "But we beat ourselves today. We moved the ball well between the 20-yard lines but once inside the 20 we just didn't execute. Penalties hurt us a lot and we have ourselves to blame."

"The official clock indicated time ran out before their last play and we thought we had come out of it with a tie but the referee ruled Brookline had called a time out and they had time for one more play, which beat us.

"Joe Cullen and Daron Tucker ran well and, despite the statistics, Billy Shaughnessy played well at quarterback. The line, which had given him fine protection at Cambridge, didn't give him that protection today and he was under terrific pressure. This was particularly disappointing because we executed so well at Cambridge."

"But, I promise we'll rebound next week and we'll be ready for Waltham, always one of the toughest teams on our schedule."

Raymer had high praise for P. J. Duggan and Pat Calabro, who were outstanding both ways. Calabro set up the first touchdown with a fumble recovery on Brookline's seven, and Duggan blocked Brookline's second kick for the extra point. Both also played well on offense.

"If we had made one of our two extra point tries we would have just run out the clock when we got the ball with time running out," Raymer pointed out.

Joe Conti's kick went wide on the first try and on the second attempt a bad pass from center prevented a Conti kick. Tucker, the holder, grabbed the high pass and tried to run around the left side but was stopped short.

Raymer had good words for Kevin Burke, John O'Callaghan, Rich Pettinelli, Calabro and Duggan for their work on offense and Cullen, Duggan, Calabro, Conti, O'Callaghan and Shaughnessy for their defensive performances.

Tucker ran for 70 yards and Cullen for 66. Shaughnessy was able to hit on only four of 14 passes, due to the extreme pressure on him, for 67 yards and one touchdown.

The Presidents had 137 net yards rushing and Brookline 102.

The Indians' Edgar Howe was four of 15 for 88 yards and two touchdowns as Quincy's pass defense, for the most part, was good. Shaughnessy was intercepted twice and Howe once. Quincy had 11 first downs to 10 for Brookline and Brookline was hit with 85 yards in penalties to 50 for Quincy, but several other penalties were declined.

The game was highlighted by brilliant punting by Quincy's Conti and Brookline's Rene Elysee. One of Conti's kicks went 70 yards to Brookline's seven-yard line.

On the first play from scrimmage Tucker recovered a fumble on Brookline's 36 but Quincy lost nine yards in three plays and Conti kicked to the Brookline 10. On the second play another Brookline fumble was recovered by Calabro on the seven and on the next play Cullen scored. Conti's kick for the point was wide.

Brookline bounced back six plays later when Howe hit Tito Lepore with a 35-yard scoring pass. The extra point attempt was blocked.

Quincy controlled the ball for most of the rest of the half and much of the third quarter but penalties and an intercepted pass stopped several good drives.

There was no more scoring until midway in the fourth quarter when Shaughnessy hit Don Parry on a well-executed crossing pass covering 30 yards, giving Quincy a 12-6 lead. Then came the botched try for point, which proved costly.

Quincy's kickoff was a squibbler that traveled only to Brookline's 41 and the Indians drove for the tying touchdown. Howe passed to Scott Gillis in the end zone for a 20-yard touchdown but Duggan blocked the extra point try and it appeared the game would end 12-12 with 2:00 remaining.

Quincy was stopped and Conti punted 50 yards to Brookline's 20 and returned to the 32. The Presidents held and Elysee's kick went to the Quincy 18 with 40 seconds left.

On the second play

Shaughnessy, back to pass, was hit hard from the blind side and fumbled, Brookline recovering on the one-yard line.

Howe was halted three times and the clock showed time had run out. But, while North was celebrating getting away with the tie, Brookline was given one more play and this time Howe scored around right end.

Dudek Sparks Plymouth State To Third Win

North Quincy's Joe Dudek, who last year broke all rushing records at Plymouth, N.H., State College, continued to sparkle last Saturday when he rushed for 185 yards on 27 carries and scored twice on runs of 47 and three yards as the Panthers improved their record to 3-0 with a 23-16 win over previously unbeaten Western Connecticut.

Dudek, who two weeks ago received the Div. 3 Gold Helmer Award after rushing for 108 yards and scoring four touchdowns against Nichols, has gained 449 yards in three games and is one of the nation's top rushers with a 133 per game average.

Only a junior, Dudek has gained a career total of 3,026 yards and is just 292 yards behind the N. E. small college all-time scoring record of 3,318 yards set by Peter Gorniewicz of Colby in 1971-73.

He also has scored 39 career touchdowns for 234 points and is seventh on the all-time N. E. list behind leader Ben Boynton of Williams, who scored 270 career points.

Meanwhile, Curry College, winner of only three games last year, is already 7-0 following a 17-6 win last week over Mass. Maritime, led by the passing of Quincy sophomore Bob Barrett.

Although not passing for any scores last week, Barrett, who had a sensational freshman year in 1983, paved the way for the Colonels' touchdowns with his aeriels.

In an opening day 21-16 victory over Westfield State Barrett threw for 173 yards on 13 for 22, including a 35-yard scoring strike to James Sousa. This touchdown put Curry ahead to stay.

3 In Track Club's Hall of Fame

The Quincy Track Club held its third annual summer awards cookout at Veterans Memorial Stadium with three persons being inducted into the club's Hall of Fame.

They were Patrick Murphy, who has been with the club since 1976, has had all five of his children involved with the club and was the primary organizer of the ad book given out at the annual Frank Kelly Meet; Lou Tozzi, highly successful North Quincy coach and one of the founders of the club in 1974, who has had most of his outstanding athletes come up through the ranks of the QTC, and Karen McCarthy, one of the club's former standouts.

Karen ran and jumped with the club from 1976 until her graduation from Abp. Williams High. While at Williams she was a four-year league all-star and All-Catholic performer. In 1980 she was given the Cardinal Cushing award as the outstanding Catholic Scholar-Athlete in the state.

A perennial honor student, she attended Dartmouth College on a full track scholarship, captained the 1984 team and was all Ivy League in the long jump. She set personal bests of 18-2½ in the long jump and 57.6 in the 400.

The Most Valuable Player awards went to Paul McLellan and Amy Janus. The Frank Kelly memorial awards for dedication and excellence went to Mike Flebotte and Francine Rogers. The coaches' awards went to Brian Barrett and Chrissy Kelley, the most improved athletes were Dan Hobin and Mary Beth Powers and the rookies of the year were Michael Duffy and Alicia Porro.

Coach Jeff Hennessy, himself a member of the club's Hall of Fame, and other club officials wish to thank all those who made the summer program such a success.

Jaehnig Club Defeated In Tourney

The Jaehnig Chiropractic Club of Quincy was defeated in the semifinal round of the Ridge Racquet Club fall basketball league playoffs by the O'Brien Club, 51-49, despite a courageous comeback.

Jaehnig trailed by 18 points with 10 minutes left but staged a furious rally to cut the lead and had a chance to tie the score but a last second jump shot fell harmlessly off the rim as the buzzer sounded.

The O'Brien Club, led by Tom Barao, Pat Kelliher and Keith Whitt, who combined for 40 points, used some excellent outside shooting in gaining a big lead, while the Jaehnig Club shot poorly for three quarters.

Steve Mele, Bob Eastman, Chuck Jaehnig and Dave Hassan scored 10 points each for Jaehnig.

Field Goal Beats New Jersey For Quincy Manets

Ed Murphy recovered a blocked punt inside the 15-yard-line and then booted a field goal in the dying moments to give the Quincy Manets a 10-9 upset victory over the Union City, N.J., Rams in a tense struggle before more than 1,200 fans at Norwood Arena.

The game was moved to Norwood when Manet Manager Jake Casna said he could no longer put up financially with the number of fans who jumped the fences and watched the games for nothing at Veterans Memorial Stadium in Quincy.

SANTOSUOSSO STARS

John Santosuosso, a second string senior fullback starting his first varsity football game, carried the ball 30 yards in three plays, the last time for the only touchdown, as North Quincy opened the season with a 7-0 victory over Braintree.

QUINCY WINS, 25-13

Charlie Sacchetti scored two touchdowns and Ed Westland added a third as the Quincy High School football team came up with 19 points in the fourth quarter to overcome a 13-6 Brookline lead and go on to a 25-13 victory.

NORTH ALUMNI WIN

Ed Sweeney ran nine yards for one score and Leo Luchini passed to Joe Riley for the second as the North Quincy Alumni powered its way to a 12-6 victory over the Walsh Legion Post of Boston at Cavanaugh Stadium.

CROSS COUNTRY LOSS

Braintree's stars Allen Carlson and Hugh Huleatt finished one-two and the best the Quincy cross country team could do was a fifth place at the Wamps bested the Presidents 17-46 over the Quincy course.

The Quincy finishers included: 5. G. Hill, 6. M. Hill, 10. Browering, 11. Black, 12. Volpe, 13. Haraw, 17. Forester, 18. Dudley, 19. Houkanon, 20. Lane, 21. Sharpe, 22. Stevenson.

North Stepping Into Fire At Brockton

Following a disappointing loss to Milton in its opening game, North Quincy football coach Ken McPhee said the team was not tough enough and had to be a lot tougher to beat Medford, one of the top teams in the Greater Boston League.

Last week at Hornet Field in Medford, the Raiders took their coach's words to heart and were much tougher as they upset Medford, 14-8, to even their record at 1-1.

This Saturday North jumps from the frying pan into the fire as it goes to Marciano Stadium in Brockton to face the powerful Boxers, again the Suburban League favorite.

Brockton, with four returning starters on offense headed by the outstanding Odell Wilson, and six returning defensive starters, rolled over Greenwich, Conn., 27-7, and Newton North, 34-0, in their first two games.

"I am just as pleased with our showing today as I was disappointed at the Milton loss," said McPhee. "We took it to them and the entire team was just outstanding. The offensive line was the best I've ever seen at North Quincy and the defense also was superb. Dave Zuroms had one of his finest games at quarterback and everyone was just great. This was a big win because we beat a very good team."

Zuroms was outstanding as he hit on 10 of 14 passes and scored the first touchdown. Steve Kelly, who scored the other touchdown and had a brilliant 70-yard touchdown run nullified by a clipping penalty, and Mike Barry, ran well and did the bulk of the ball carrying.

"The offensive line was just super," said assistant coach Mark Mulvaney. "Everyone did his job and especially outstanding were Larry Nialeiz, who played his best game ever, Jack Hannan, Al DiBella, Billy Doherty, John Roney and Gerry Coughlin.

"On defense Ken Runge, playing his first year of football, caused a fumble, recovered two fumbles and had a quarterback sack. Also playing superbly were Dave Cooke, Rich Brooks, who had a key pass interception, DiBella, Kevin Sullivan, Doherty, Tony Lio, Kelly and Tim Sullivan, who stole the ball out of a receiver's hands to help us out of a jam."

North drove downfield the first time it had the ball and Zuroms scored from the two. The try for points failed.

In the second quarter Kelly, after having his 70-yard run called back, scored the clincher from the seven and Zuroms passed to Coughlin for the two-point conversion.

North lost another touchdown when a receiver, in the clear, was unable to

Young North Girls Team Wins Opener

Veteran North Quincy girls' cross-country coach Lou Tozzi has his youngest team ever with only one senior in the top seven runners and lost two of his predicted top five.

But, the Raiderettes started out where they left off last year when they shut out Brookline, 15-48, in their opener last week.

The North girls were 7-0 and Suburban League champions last year and won the Eastern Mass. title for the fourth year in a row. Their current win streak is 24, their last loss being on October of 1981.

"There is a great deal of pressure on this team because people expect us to win all the time," said Tozzi. "We'll need to overcome some adversity but if we can struggle through September and early October, we'll be there in the big meets at the end. We need some more hard work and desperately need racing experience, but we coaches are very happy with the motivation being shown thus far.

"John Furey, a former Quincy High great, is doing an outstanding job as my assistant."

Sophomore Patricia Barrett should be one of the best in the area, She was sixth in Eastern Massachusetts last year, 13th in the state, second in the Suburban League and an all-scholastic.

Junior Mary Ann Kelleher was unbeaten in dual meets and first in the league, fifth in Eastern Mass. and also an all-scholastic.

Meg Leary, the only senior, has made a remarkable comeback from an injury which sidelined her last winter and spring. She was 10th in the league championships and is the team leader.

Junior Tricia Leary, sister of Meg, was 12th in the league last year and has improved tremendously.

Sophomore Ann Toland was last year's surprise as a freshman and was ninth in the league.

Junior Sharon Barrett, sister of Patricia, worked hard over the summer to make the varsity and has looked good.

Sophomore Leanne Fitzgerald, ran well in winter and spring track and looks good in her first year of cross-country.

There is a good group of freshmen, Stacey Welch, Patricia Feecey, Karyn Collings and Colleen Roland, and also working out are some key track people, Lisa Fitzgerald, the Mass. indoor 600-yard champion who is recovering from arthroscopic surgery, and Theresa Collings.

The varsity has been invited to New York's Manhattan College meet Oct. 13, the first girls' team from North to make the trip.

In the opening romp over Brookline, Patricia Barrett won, covering the 2.35-mile course in 15:05, one second ahead of teammate Meg Leary.

Tricia Leary was third, Leanna Fitzgerald fourth, Toland fifth, Sharon Barrett sixth and Karyn Collings ninth.

The Raiderettes met Cambridge Rindge and Latin yesterday (Wednesday) and will be at Brockton next Wednesday.

Softball Game Raises $350 For Handicapped

The Quincy Police Department recently defeated the Bryan VFW Post, 21-10, but it was really the South Shore Handicapped Association which turned out to be the winner in the benefit softball game.

As a result of the game, sponsored by the Bryan Post, $350 was presented to the association.

Event organizer was John Alex, bartender at the post.

A major contributor to the game was George Parker, owner of Yellow Cab.

Bryan Post officers are Leo Reardon, commander; Bob Manning, senior vice commander; Peter Landry, junior vice commander; John Alex, bar; Ray D'Angelo, bar manager; and Tom Olson, function manager.

Crowley Sparks Grogan's, 10-4

Jack Crowley had a hat trick and assisted on another goal to spark Grogan's Business Machines to a 10-4 win over Hoke's Lounge in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Marty Tolson added two goals and Jay Powers, Dick McCabe, Lee Staskiewicz, Jack Patten and John Emmott one each. Emmott had three assists, Tolson and McCabe two apiece and Crowley, Powers, Patten and Verzano one each. For Luke's Ed Linehan, Jim Conso, Gary DeCoste and Kevin Sullivan had the goals. Al Me-

Kay had two assists and Chet Brunstrom, Sullivan and DeCoste one each.

Adams Sports defeated Bob White's Lounge, 8-2, with Paul Bauserme, Bob Simonelli and Fred Ahern scoring two goals each. Bob Donovan and Bibby Lewis had the other goals. Tom Roberts had two assists and Donovan, Billy Hanson, Dennis O'Connell, Simonelli, Bauserme and Paul Morris one each. For White's Jack Valle and Jack Duffy had the goals and Dave Mullen an assist.

Budget Rent-A-Car and South Shore Bearing played to a 3-3 tie as Art Boyle scored twice for Budget and Frankie Guest twice for South Shore. Bob Fowkes had the other Budget goal and Mike Stoller and Hank Dondoro had assists. Jack Aldred had the other South Shore goal and Bill Reardon had two assists and Guest and Bob Carroll one each.

Jerry Perfetuo President QHS Football Parents Club

Jerry Perfetuo has been elected president of the newly-organized Quincy High School Football Parents Club, successor to the Quincy Fathers Club.

Other officers are Vice President Dan Mantani, Treasurer Joan Conti and Secretary Marjorie Perfetuo.

"We would like to thank the school officials, parents, new coach Jack Raymer and the Quincy High cheerleaders for their support and understanding," Perfetuo said.

Volleyball

Quincy Girls Hurting But Off To Good Start

The Quincy girls' volleyball team once again a threat for the Eastern Mass. title, is hurting with Karen Marnell out with an injured rotator cuff and Maria LeVangie sidelined with an ankle injury, but the First Ladies are off to another fast start with a 3-1 record.

Quincy opened with a victory over Waltham, lost to Brockton, 2-0, and came back to defeat North Quincy, 2-0, and Brookline, 2-1.

In the North Quincy win senior Colleen Dunn paced Quincy to a 15-4, 15-3 sweep. With three sophomores starting, Beth Veneto gave a steady effort on defense and Terry McLoughlin sparked the offense, running the plays.

Against Brookline Dunn, Veneto and sophomore Terry Duggan led the win. The final game was a thrilling 16-14 overtime victory.

Quincy Coach Ray Whitehouse lost All-American Christine Gallery and All-Scholastic Sue Bevens to graduation but described his current team as "the most intelligent I've ever coached and the scrappiest."

The First Ladies have live sophomores who played on the national Junior Olympic team, including twins Terry and Ginny Duggan and middle hitter Pam Austin, who have moved into starting roles. The other sophs are Lauren Standing and Susan Parry.

Marnell, Veneto and Dunn are the tri-captains. Senior Terry McLoughlin handles most of the setting and Whitehouse and his new assistant coach, Tom Henderson, hope to have six-foot blocker Kathy McGregor back this week.

At North Quincy Coach Peter Finch has a fine hitter in co-captain Ann Duggan, who was outstanding in the loss to Quincy. "As Ann goes, the team goes," Finch said. "She is one of the best in the league, very aggressive. She hits a good ball and she's a jumper."

Co-Capt. Valerie Papapetros is used for her serving and the Raiderettes have fine starting hitters in Jean Welby, Stacey Carvalho and Karen Runge. Stephanie Petrakos at middle blocker and Noreen Connolly at setter are other starters. Kathy Keenan and ninth grader Barbara Carroll are other key players.

Quincy plays at Newton North Friday and will host Boston Latin next Wednesday at 3:30. North will be at Newton North Friday and will be at home to Cambridge Rindge and Latin next Wednesday at 3:30.

Soccer

North Has Only One Win But Potential

Although the North Quincy boys' soccer team has only one win in five games, new coach Mike Hurley, who succeeded Paul Bregoli, feels his squad has the potential to play with any team in the strong Suburban League.

"They play like heck, they really want to win and they always give me 100 percent and more," said Hurley, whose team topped Quincy, 5-0, last week for its first victory.

"I feel when we have our best 11 on the field, we can match anyone in the league."

The Raiders, who dropped a tough 3-2 decision to Newton North, faced Brockton without top midfielder Mike Cocce, leading scorer Mark Scanlon and goalie Jim Sheets and were walloped, 9-1.

"We have to keep every-one healthy, gain a bit of experience and we should be all right," Hurley continued. "We have a nice combination of experience and kids up from the junior varsity."

Hurley has coached soccer in Scituate for several years and is being assisted by Kuss Hannebury, whose experience with Quincy youth soccer gives Hurley a better idea of his players' abilities.

Scanlon and tri-captains Keith Burke, Pat Marcham and Cocce are the big guns for the Raiders. Sophomore Warren Palmer is also seeing action up front. Joining Cocce in the mid-field are Jim Cahill, Paul Hannebury and Ricky Golden. North has an all-junior trio of fullbacks in Mike Kubera, Eric Roukey and Brian Koch.

"A couple of times against Newton, if the ball had taken the right bounce, we would have won, 4-3," said Hurley. "One of our shots hit the crossbar and bounced over the net."

In the win over Quincy, Sheets was again sidelined and backup goalie John Murphy was also out. Palmer volunteered to play in goal and he and jayvee goalie Don Jones combined for the shutout.

Scanlon and Burke had two goals each and Kubera the other.

Quincy coach Charlie McLaughlin wasn't downhearted, despite his squad not scoring a goal in five games. Goalie Sean Campbell kept the game fairly close and Jim Regan and midfielder Joe Pham played fine games.

North Quincy plays at Waltham Friday and will host Brookline Tuesday at 3:30. Quincy played Newton North Tuesday and next Tuesday will be at Brockton.

Women's Gym-Swim Fitness Program Oct. 2

The Quincy Recreation Department will conduct a Gym Swim Fitness Program for women Tuesday and Thursday evenings at the Lincoln Hancock community School starting Oct. 2.

Gym Swim Fitness will be given Oct. 2 under the supervision of Mrs. Sara Cobban. The program is designed to give fitness options to each individual in either the gym or pool. Participants may select activities according to their own interests or abilities. They may attend on both Tuesdays and Thursdays or just one day.

Each Tuesday or Thursday, the schedule is: 7-8 p.m. - supervised exercises in gym; 8-9 p.m. - Organized exercise in gym; 9 p.m. - Aquasize - Supervised exercise in the pool. Gym closes.

Cost is $15 for a three month pass or $2 per individual visit. Registration can be done at the program on Tuesdays or Thursdays. Participants should be 18 years or older.

Ice Skating Classes Registration

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch announces that registration is continuing for the department's nine week fall instructional ice skating program.

The program is offered to boys and girls age six through 16 and is under the direction of Mrs. Anne Eagles, a United States Figure Skating Professional Instructor. Instruction is from beginner to advanced and testing is done at the conclusion of the nine week program.

Instruction is on Wednesday at the Quincy Youth Arena in the Merrymount section of Quincy. Participants may choose between the 3 p.m. or 4 p.m. class. Classes will start Oct. 17. The fee is $24 for the nine week program.

Registration can be done weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Quincy Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery as long as openings exist.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASON'S, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Ciavarro Rallies To Win Men's Singles

Leonard Ciavarro, a Quincy High School teacher, spotted Joe Ryan a four-game lead in the first set but rallied to win the men's singles championship in the 14th annual Quincy Recreation-Granite Cooperative Bank Tennis Tournament.

Ryan, who is employed by Presidential Insurance Corporation, was breezing along leading in the first set, 5-1, before Ciavarro rallied to win six straight games and the set, 7-5. Ryan battled back to take the second set 6-3. The deciding set in the three-hour match went to the champion, 7-5.

This is the first individual championship in the Quincy Tournament for Ciavarro. He is the third different champion over the past three years after Tony O'Malley's record four straight men's singles titles. Bill Courtney was the 1982 champion, and Steve Durante was the winner in 1983.

In men's 50 and over, Neil Cronin, a Boston school principal, defeated Paul Bandini, a Quincy contractor. Cronin, in winning his fourth consecutive 50 and over championship, came from behind to win in three sets, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

In men's doubles, Rich Landi and Neil Cronin succeeded Steve Durante and Bruce Cottman as champs. Landi and Cronin defeated Dick Hatton and George Burke in a closely contested match, 6-4, 6-4.

In boys 16 and under, Chris Howley, the number two seed, defeated 15-year-old Tom Savoie in straight sets, 6-0, 6-2.

In girls 16 and under, Nancy Flukes, the 1983 champion and top seeded this year, defeated Beth Ryan, 6-0, 6-0.

In women's doubles, Sue Coleman, who has shared the women's doubles title on six separate occasions, teamed with her younger sister, Jackie, to win her seventh doubles championship. The Coleman sisters defeated Joan Clifford and her daughter Julie.

In the women's over 35, two Merrymount residents and teachers met in the finals. Hildy Gillis, who teaches at Silver Lake Regional High School, defeated Mary Morris, a Snug Harbor School teacher, 6-2, 6-2. Gillis' title is her fourth straight in this category.

In men's "B" singles, both finalists survived close matches in the semi-finals. Mark Jaehnig, a chiropractor, defeated Quincy Youth Coordinator Brian Buckley 7-6, 7-5, while Bill Mitchell defeated his brother Bob.

In the finals, Jaehnig got off to a fast start and then held on to win. He won the first set 6-1, and the second set in a tie breaker 7-6.

Joe Ryan defeated Quincy attorney George Burke in the Men's Single 35 and over. Burke suffered a recurrence of a knee injury and had to retire. Burke, who was a possible finalist in four events, was also forced to default in the semi-finals of the men's over 50 division to Paul Bandini.

In mixed doubles, Rich Landi, a prison guard at Deer Island, and Hildy Gillis won their third doubles championship defeating George and Sandy Burke 6-4, 6-3. Landi and Gillis previously won the doubles in 1977 and 1982.

Susan Pacetti, a summer employee of the Quincy Recreation Department and a member of the Bridgewater State College tennis team, has won the women's division. Pacetti, a student teacher at Whitman-Hanson Regional High School, won in straight sets 6-2, 6-3.

North Cross Country Team Squeezes By Brookline

North Quincy boys' cross-country coach Bart Petracca has just nine runners on his team.

Brookline, always a Suburban League power, has 35 boys on its squad.

But last week the Raiders opened their season by edging Brookline, 28-29, for its first win over that school in many years.

The North boys faced Cambridge Rindge and Latin yesterday (Wednesday) and will be at Brockton next Wednesday.

"I can't believe we beat this team," Petracca said. "Here we are with just nine kids and we knocked off one of the strongest teams in the league. I attribute it to the hard work my top five boys have been putting in lately. In practice they are right with me all the time."

North's Tom Wildes, a senior, was nipped by just one second in the Brookline meet, finishing in 12:31. Junior Heath Petracca was third in 12:42, senior Scott Coyne ran 12:46 for fifth place, junior Harry Morash was sixth in 12:53 and junior Andy Barrett completed the scoring with a 12th place finish.

Rounding out the squad are sophomore Kirk Highfield and juniors Joe Sweeney, Jon Burr and Brendan McDonough.

Stay Alive!

FISH TANK FATALITY

It happened in Washington, D.C. A 3-year-old girl went to feed her favorite goldfish, which were housed in a 25-gallon tank set on a wrought iron stand in the bedroom. The tank was a little too high for her, so she tried to climb up, grabbed the top of the tank and the whole works came tumbling down upon her in a gurgling crash.

Broken glass and a sharp corner of the tank punctured vital organs. After three operations, the girl finally died in the hospital.

Aquariums can topple even if they seem sturdy. The aquarium stand had hairpin-type metal legs with curved bottoms - making it easy to tip over. The girl's father thinks that the tragedy might not have happened if the legs had been straight, or if the stand had been bolted to the wall, or if it had been wider so that the aquarium could sit back further from the front. He also thinks that parents should not put tanks where young children can climb up on them.

Youth Football

Panthers, Apaches In Battle For First Place

The Quincy Point Panthers and North Quincy Apaches rolled to easy wins last week and will battle it out for first place in the Quincy Youth Football League Sunday at 1 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The defending champion Panthers (3-0) defeated the Squantum Sailors, 46-22, and the Apaches (2-0) easily topped the Houghs Neck Manets, 30-0.

In Sunday's other game the West Quincy Elks will meet the Manets at 2:30.

It didn't take the Panthers long to take the lead as Tim Brillo took the opening kickoff and ran it back 85 yards for a touchdown.

The Sailors went only to midfield and punted. Five plays later Charlie Freeman ran 25 yards for the second score and Brillo passed to Mike Lomanno for the two extra points.

Quantum scored its only touchdown against the Panthers' varsity on a pass play covering 55 yards.

In the second quarter the Panthers took over on their 49 and on the first play their leading scorer, Joe Taylor, broke three tackles and went all the way for the touchdown. Lomanno rushed for the extra points.

After stopping the Sailors, Vinnie Digiacomo scored from the Sailors' 38 on a pass-run play from Brillo, who added the extra points.

Following the kickoff the Panthers' junior varsity played the rest of the half. The Jayvees held the Sailors until the final seconds when they scored on a quarterback sneak. At the half it was Panthers 30, Sailors 12.

The Panthers varsity returned and took the opening kickoff with Danny Crespi going all the way to the Sailors' 10. Brillo threw to Wayne Chambers for the touchdown and Freeman rushed for the points.

Dan Flaherty intercepted a Sailors' pass and ran it in for an apparent score but the play was nullified by a slipping penalty.

In the final quarter with the Panthers' jayvees back in the game, on fourth down and inches on the Sailors' 11, Joey Crespi handed off to Jeremy Brum, who went up the middle for the score. Brandon Farrell caught a pass for the final Panther points.

The Sailors added another touchdown on a pass and added the extra points to end the scoring for the day.

The Apaches started off with a pair of touchdown passes covering 21 and 12 yards and followed up with a third score on a 27-yard run by Ryan Craig. Keith Gott rushed for the extra points.

The Apache defense was outstanding, shutting down the Manets for the rest of the game and Jimmy Brian scored on a 12-yard run for the final points.

Physical Fitness Testing At YMCA

The South Shore YMCA, 79 Coddington St., Quincy, will hold its fall testing clinic for a physical fitness program for men and women members Saturday, Oct. 6 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Any adult who wishes to enter the fitness program must make an appointment for testing with Bill Johnson and also obtain clearance from their physician before they are tested. There is a registration and a membership fee involved. The primary purpose of this program is to improve the operational efficiency of the heart, circulatory and respiratory systems.

Clinic tests include an electrocardiogram, blood pressure, work capacity, flexibility, and strength and body measurements. These tests enable professional staff to determine at what level they should start for safe participation. To make an appointment or for more information, contact Johnson, fitness director, at 479-8500.

Mike's Corner

by Representative Michael W. Morrissey

This is the 69th in a series of articles written by Rep. Michael W. Morrissey.

The Legislature is back in session and has a number of important proposals that should be acted on before the end of the year. Among the proposals to be considered are, the Governor's proposal for a Mass Bank to fund infrastructure repairs. The proposal is currently before the House Ways & Means Committee awaiting further actions. There is also a pending proposal to reform public education that is awaiting further action.

The Governor has also recommended passage of a new Metropolitan Sewer and Water Authority. There are still key elements that must be worked out, such as, who will assume the unfunded pension liability or who will fund the initial capital cost for improvements to the plant and equipment. There is also some sentiment for creation of just a Sewer Authority. Final draft of the proposal should be completed in October.

Other pieces of legislation awaiting action include eliminating the age 70 mandatory retirement age and reform of the Workman's Compensation system.

If you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to call me at home, 328-0900 or in the State House, 722-2470.

North Girls Swimming Team Rebuilding

The North Quincy girls' swimming team opened the season last week with a young and fairly inexperienced team which includes 21 returnees (mostly juniors) and 23 newcomers (mostly freshmen).

It is the largest squad in North's 10-year history.

"We are rebuilding with the loss of many talented seniors from last year's fine team," said Coach Bill Walker. "However, the first week of competition showed that we will hold our own within the Suburban League schedule even with our 32 underclassmen."

The Raiderettes, who faced powerful Brockton Tuesday and will be home to Weymouth South next Tuesday at 3:30 at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool, easily won their opener over Weymouth North, 97-65. They then out-swam the Stoughton girls but lost, 90-81, because Stoughton allows boys to swim with the girls' team.

North's winners last week were Michelle Casey, Liz Harrington, Danette Cahill, Stephanie Francis, Julie Killian, Georgia Traficante, Stacey Quintiliani and Donna King.

Second place finishers were Caroline Krantz, Jean Boudreau, Cathy DeFranc, Amy Maginnis, Kristen McCready, Wendy Adams and Diane Mullin.

Finishing third or fourth were Lori Magrath, Lisa Rodriguez, Kris Morris and Stephanie Francis.

Only 12 Swimmers On Quincy Girls Team

The Quincy girls swimming team has only 12 swimmers this season.

Despite some fine individual performances the Quincy girls suffered from a great lack of depth and lost to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 88-66, in their opener.

Quincy had three winners, Colleen Craig in the 100-yard butterfly (1:32.33), Karen Craig in the 100-yard freestyle (1:15.77) and the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Janet Morrow, Gail Rollins, Gayle Morrow and Julie Damiano (6:04.09).

Freshman Rennie Gaura looked impressive with a second place finish in the diving.

Quincy faced Newton North Tuesday and next Tuesday will be at Brockton at 3:30.

Freshman Cookout Held At Abp. Williams

Following orientation and the introduction of school personnel to the new students, a cookout was held on the Archbishop Williams High School grounds, sponsored by the Student Council. Student Council Moderator is Fr. James Braley who not only hosted the event but prepared the food as well. The cookout is an annual event at AWHHS.

Now, you can see Quincy news as it happens.

History Professor To Speak Quincy Historical Society

Historian William Fowler will speak at the Quincy Historical Society's "Quincy Remembers" series program Thursday, Oct. 11, at 1:30 p.m.

Fowler, professor of history at Northeastern University and managing editor of the New England Quarterly, will lecture on his most recent book Jack Tars and Commodores, an account of the United States Navy from Independence through the War of 1812.

Among Mr. Fowler's previous books are Rebels Under Sail, an account of the American Navy during the Revolution, and The Baron of Beacon Hill, a biography of John Hancock.

The meeting is open to the public. There is no admission charge. Refreshments will be served.

FAMILY PANCAKE FESTIVAL was sponsored by the South Shore Mental Health Center's Developmental and Behavioral Service programs. From left, servers Donna Friedman, Holly Ardito and Bob Wilson serve festival-goers Mary Blood and Mary Donnelly of Quincy. Event was held at the Elks Hall, North Quincy.

'Senior Smarts' To Bow on Ch. 3

"Senior Smarts," an entertainment show featuring area senior citizens, will premiere on Quincy Community Television, cable Ch. 3, Oct. 5 at 11:30 a.m.

Bob DeYeso, Steve Marx and Maida Moakley will host the live program. Maida Moakley is also host of the local "Seniors in Action" program, as well as a member of the Quincy Community Television Advisory Board. DeYeso works as area administrator for Quincy's Social Security Office. Marx is program director for Quincy Cablesystems.

Program contestants will play for prizes as they compete in such games as "Remember The Tune," "Choose A Partner," "Who Am I," favorite local talent, and trivia. Home viewers can join the fun by mailing a postcard to: "Senior Smarts," c/o OCTV, 81 School Street, Quincy, MA. 02169.

The premiere program features long married local couples trying to match answers to questions on the state of matrimony.

Christine Sullivan directs this program. Betty Anastasi of Quincy is assistant director.

Cabletalk To Begin Third Season

Cabletalk, Quincy Community Television's longest running all volunteer production, will begin its third season tonight (Thursday) at 9 p.m. on Ch. 3.

Beginning in August, 1982, eight people from varied backgrounds participated in a TV production workshop.

They enjoyed their experience so much, and worked so well together, they decided to stay together. To day, almost 90 programs have been produced.

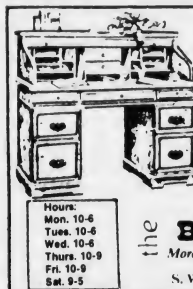

Cabletalk will go on location this week to Carver for a 30-minute visit to a medieval village and festival known as King Richard's Faire.

Program host Diane Solander will guide viewers through the village.

Included will be an exclusive interview with King Richard, a jousting match, minstrels and court jesters.

Cabletalk can be seen Thursday at 9 p.m. and will be repeated Sunday at 9:30 p.m. on Ch. 3.

Members of the Cabletalk family are Bob Gohl, John Noonan, Diane and Edna Solander, George and Nancy Santry, Hugh MacLeod, Kay Borek, Ken Galvin and Frank Cammarata.

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 27

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Improvement is week's keyword; you can make gradual strides in spheres of romance, finance and career — but in all three, observation and dedication are essential ingredients

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Excellent chance opens up for reconciliations with friends. Ideas are bright, but the major task is putting them in operation. Expect some delays on the weekend.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
A troublesome obligation can be fulfilled with unexpected ease — a sense of humor is the key. Domestic responsibility can be shared — but you must make the overtures.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
The week includes little jaunts and some glamorous events. Financial bonus may come your way by Monday-Tuesday. Loved one is in a playful and fanciful mood.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
A change truly is as good as a rest — and likely even better. Mere acquaintance is unexpectedly generous and you're entitled to be a little skeptical of the motives.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
A rather successful week if accepting mental challenges or entering contests of skill. Friend's misconceptions can lead to a confrontation — nip the problem in the bud.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Matters involving household business require full attention. Short-distance travel, bargain hunting, bartering, and renewed friendship are all in week's picture.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Good week for making professional contacts. Impractical friend becomes surprisingly pragmatic. Public speaking — with the accent on wit — is a present strength.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Make no announcements until all the facts are available. Sports are excellent. Fashion ideas may be surprisingly bold — but surprisingly effective as well.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Property matters are spotlighted through the week. Older relative becomes supportive and — if asked — can offer some valuable ideas. Your own hunches are weak after Monday.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Social life is in full swing, and parties hosted now are memorable for their flair. Legal matters require careful attention. Unexpected difficulties may delay agreements.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Events are taking place in the background that signify positive changes in the near future. You respond well to challenges, but don't over-extend yourself this week.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Your greatest strength — and a possible weakness — is that you see both sides of every situation. In the next six months, this trait is a definite asset — winning you a possible promotion and the respect of people you cherish.

BORN THIS WEEK
September 27th, actress Sada Thompson, 28th, singer Olivia Newton-John; 29th, actress Madeline Kahn; 30th, singer Johnny Mathis; October 1st, actor Walter Matthau; 2nd, actor Moses Gunn, 3rd, singer Chubby Checker.

$486,824 In New Wiring

Wire Inspector Thomas E. Purpura reports that he issued 127 permits for wiring estimated to cost $486,824 during the month of August.

He collected $6,683.75 in fees and issued 90 certificates of approval to the Massachusetts Electric Co.

Among the major projects for which permits were issued were:

- Three four-unit condominiums at 76-82 Harbourside Rd., 77-83 Harbourside Rd., and 85-88 Harbourside Rd., Marina Bay.

- Three-unit condominiums at 61-65 Harbourside Rd., 13-17 Ketch Lane, and 19-23 Ketch Lane, also Marina Bay.

- An eight-unit condo at 612 Quincy Shore Drive.
- A 49-unit condo in the renovated Quincy School at 94 Newbury Ave.

The Department of Wire Inspection also made 243 inspections, noted 31 defects, made 14 reinspections and one fire call.

Police officers meter maids were told to "vigorously" carry out enforcement of violations.

Finn said vehicles without appropriate registration plates are prohibited from parking in areas designated for the handicapped.

Harold Praised For Burgin Work

The Quincy Center Business and Professional Association has applauded the work of Sen. Paul D. Harold in coordinating efforts to make the Burgin Parkway Extension a reality.

Steven J. Gillig, association president, pointed out that the long-awaited roadway "is the vital link in providing direct access to Downtown Quincy Center from Route 3."

"When completed, he said, our downtown merchants and other businesses will reap the harvest of additional customers. These shoppers from the south will be able to drive directly into Quincy Center and enjoy convenient parking.

"Completion of the Burgin Parkway extension is perhaps the most important addition to the Downtown Quincy area in more than twenty years.

Colonial's new Adjustable Rate Mortgage removes the worry of what your later payments may be. Colonial guarantees a fixed payment for ten years to those who qualify — and most applicants do. After ten years, without penalty, you can elect to continue the mortgage, renegotiate, or pay off. Peace of mind? You bet! And, if rates drop, as economists expect in the latter part of the '80s, you can be a big winner.

School Owned Less Than Year

Council To Probe $100,000 Profit On Cranch Resale

By TOM HENSHAW

The City Council plans to hold a long post mortem over the sale of the Cranch School after it learned Monday night that the developer who bought it from the city resold it a few months later at a $100,000 profit.

"The questions are," said Council President James A. Sheets, "why couldn't the city have sold it for $100,000 more and could we have gotten more for the other old school buildings we sold."

The matter came up before the Council Monday night when the new developer of the property on Whitwell St. requested an extension of time to complete the site plan and a change in the number of parking spaces.

The request was sent to the Downtown and Economic Development Committee, whose chairman, Joseph J. LaRaia, promised a thorough investigation, although no laws appear to have been broken.

"We put the school out to bid and we took the best bid," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley. "We have no control over what the purchaser does with it once it is sold."

The school building was sold Sept. 6, 1983, for $150,000 to Housing Organizational Trust, of which Walter Hesson is the principal, for conversion into 17 condominium units.

Included in the sale was a covenant to the deed requiring the buyer to post a $45,000 bond to cover the cost of an elaborate landscaping plan to be done by the developer.

"We heard a rumor three or four months ago that Hesson was trying to sell it," said Planning Director

James Lydon. "Later we got informal word that he sold it to Boen Development Corp. of Brookline and made $100,000 on the deal."

The Planning Department got in touch with Boen and the developer acknowledged awareness of the covenant and submitted a plan almost identical to the original, except for two changes.

Boen wanted to decrease the number of parking spaces from 36 to 26 and an extension on the bond from January, 1985, to January, 1986. A start on construction was promised this month.

But the facet of the deal that intrigued councillors

GD Loses Huge Contract But Still Hiring

A spokesman for the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard has described as "pulled out of the air" a report that 2,000 workers will be laid off as a result of the loss of a $365 million contract.

"We have hired that many for current contracts," said Evelyn Murphy. "We are still hiring to fulfill our obligations under current contracts."

General Dynamics disclosed Tuesday that a letter of intent signed by McLean Industries of New York assigning the $365 million contract to the yard expired Sept. 30 and would not be renewed.

"The letter was not a contract," said Murphy. "It just meant that U.S. Lines (a subsidiary of McLean Industries) would deal exclusively with General Dynamics to build the ships."

The contract that was committed to the yard would have called for construction of four or five container ships at $73 million each for U.S. Lines. No explanation was given for the failure to renew the letter of intent, but it was said that U.S. Lines lack the financial resources to go ahead with the contract.

Fore River is currently building five military ships for the Navy's Rapid Deployment Force. Work is expected to be completed in 1986 after which there is nothing.

Present workforce is approximately 5,000.

General Dynamics said "Navy auxiliary and support ships are primary candidates for new work at the shipyard."

Germantown Will Lose 4 Firefighters

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he plans to appoint a number of new firefighters "in a matter of days," enough to bring the complement of the department up to the 177 specified in the 1985 budget.

Meanwhile, Fire Chief Edward Barry is redeploying his men to cover the city's stations.

The matter came up Monday night when City Councilor Michael T. Cheney informed his colleagues that the Germantown Fire Station will lose four men, from 16 to 12, in the deployment.

The news did not sit well with the councillors, who have been feuding with the Mayor for most of the year over the adequacy of the city's public safety forces.

"It all goes back to the Mayor's refusal to provide enough firefighters to the city," said Council President James A. Sheets. "They're pulling one firefighter from a station to keep another open."

"I don't know how the City Council will look at this in the future. It depends on who loses the manpower. But the bottom line is that we have an inadequate number of firefighters."

"We are light on firefighters," said McCauley. "We do have vacancies."

"We called for a Civil Service list in April and it took four months to get it. Right now we're going through a screening process. We will make appointments as soon as we get a final list in a matter of days."

First Half Tax Bills Will Be Late

Tax bills for the first half of fiscal 1985 should have gone out Monday but Mayor Francis X. McCauley conceded on Tuesday that they won't be in the mail for some time.

The delay will cost the city an undetermined amount of money in interest on tax anticipation borrowing but McCauley said it will be about the same as last year when the borrowing occurred in May.

Right now, assessors are in the midst of breaking the total value of the city down into categories, said the Mayor; values have to be updated and a classification plan presented to the City Council.

McCauley declined to estimate when the bills will be in the mail.

"Assessors are compiling a list of comparable sales for the Department of Revenue," he said. "They have sent in the residential list and now they are working on the commercial."

McCauley pointed out that the city will start fiscal 1985 with a real tax rate rather than an estimated one as in fiscal 1984 when second half tax bills went out May 18 instead of May 1.

Cab Driver, 70, Foils Robbery Try

A man with a handlebar mustache attempted to hold up a 70-year-old cab driver in South Quincy early Sunday morning but fled empty-handed when the driver resisted.

John Whitehouse of 30 Heath St., Squantum, told police he picked up the man, who appeared to have been drinking, at the Quincy Center MBTA station and drove him to South Quincy.

When they made a turn from Independence Ave. to Federal Ave., Whitehouse said, the man jabbed his finger in the driver's ribs and demanded money.

At the same time, he said, the man held his hand in an inside pocket as if he had a gun.

Whitehouse told him that he would not give him any money and he demanded the cab fare, whereupon the man fled the cab, leaving a bottle of Bacardi rum behind.

The would-be robber was described as white, about six feet tall, 160 pounds with black hair and a black "Rollie Fingers" mustache.

$200 Million West Quincy Project

City's Biggest Development Underway

Ground was broken in West Quincy last week for the largest single development in the city's history.

The $200 million Crown Colony Place, located on some 170 acres of the Old Colony Crushed Stone quarry, eventually will become an office park with two million square feet of space.

The groundbreaking ceremonies marked the beginning of construction of a new entrance road leading to the site from Centre St. "Crown Colony Place fits in perfectly with our vision of Quincy's business future," said Mayor Francis X.

McCauley. "The City is constantly exploring ways to stimulate business growth in its commercial districts."

"Crown Colony Place will attract more business to our city, which has already been chosen by Raytheon, Stop & Shop, Procter & Gamble, Howard Johnson's and Kemper Insurance as the location for their office operations."

Upon completion, the park will have 18 buildings and space for light industry. Quincy's first hotel, with an estimated 300 rooms, is planned for a portion of the site.

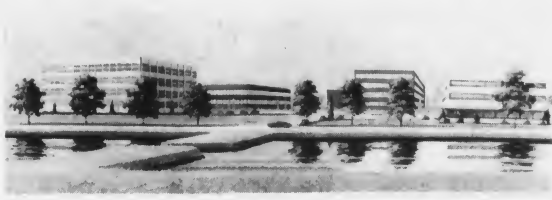

Rock has been excavated to form an expansive plateau bordered by dramatic escarpments. Extensive landscaping and man-made ponds will also enhance the property.

"Crown Colony Place's superb Quincy location and careful master planning will create an ideal business environment for companies that fully intend to grow," said George M. Lovejoy Jr., president of Meredith & Grew, the development managers.

"The park will offer the opportunity for companies to retain the freedom to shape their organization's new home and corporate identity."

Council Committee Approves Chlorine Transport Ordinance

The City Council's Ordinance Committee gave its approval Monday night to an ordinance that would enable the city to control the delivery of liquid chlorine to the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant.

Councillor Michael T. Cheney told the committee that the MDC is currently completing a new building at Nut Island which would accommodate 16-ton liquid chlorine tanker trucks.

"It's dangerous," said Cheney. "Those tankers have to pass through three school zones on the way to Nut Island and the city has no bylaws to cover them."

"If a tank should rupture, the liquid turns to gas in the air and there is no evacuation plan. The hours of delivery are completely unregulated."

Cheney said the publicity that was generated when he first offered the ordinance caused the MDC to respond by providing an escort for the trucks, but he added, "there is no guarantee they will continue."

Gasoline Storage Approved For Garage

By VALERIE NEWMAN

The License Board Tuesday approved a request from Arthur Simon of Fort St. Realty Trust for a permit to store 1,000 gallons of gasoline in a parking garage at 2-14 Fort St. and 169 Granite St.

The facility will accommodate 39 automobiles.

Residents Mildred Brunstrom and Ida Taylor voiced concerns.

"I have a handicapped grandson and a handicapped husband who can't cross the street," said Mrs. Taylor. "The cars come zipping by our street, using it as a shortcut to (Rte.) 128."

The women said they feared more construction would increase traffic.

City Clerk John Gillis pointed out "the Burgin Parkway Extension will alleviate much of the traffic problem."

"I'm concerned with traffic while the construction is occurring," said Police Chief Francis Finn.

"You might have to have a police officer on detail," he told Simon and his attorney, Andrew Schwartz.

"If we need to, we'll be happy to," replied Schwartz. "We should welcome this. It's an asset to the area," said Gillis.

The request was unanimously granted, with the stipulation that the Realty Trust agree to a police detail, while construction occurs, to make sure that handicapped children and others can cross the street. The parking garage will provide parking for office condominiums being constructed in and near the Swedish Methodist Church on Fort St. which is no longer in use as a church.

"The construction will take place in two phases," said Fred Kiley of F.K. Construction.

Phase one, which will begin in two weeks, will renovate the church, and convert it into four floors of offices, with 2,000 square feet per floor. Phase one will last about four months.

Phase two will be the construction of a new building, connected to the first by a glass-covered atrium. The second building will consist of three floors and a total of 30,000 square feet.

The garage will be built behind this building, and parking spaces will also be available under the building.

Night Football Urged For Quincy High Schools

City Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia suggests that lights be installed at Veterans Memorial Stadium so that the Quincy and North Quincy High School football teams could play games at night.

Siciliano Speaker At Ward 2

Tony Siciliano, chief of the Quincy Auxiliary Police, will be the speaker Tuesday, Oct. 9, at 7:30 p.m. at a meeting of the Ward 2 Civic Association at Fore River Clubhouse.

Siciliano will speak on the many phases of Civil Defense.

The Council, Monday, forwarded LaRaia's resolution to Mayor Francis X. McCauley, who is also chairman of the School Committee, with the enthusiastic endorsement of Council President James A. Sheets.

"An excellent idea," said Sheets. "Night football would increase the number of fans who could see the games."

City To Revive Boat Tax After Two-Year Lapse

By TOM HENSHAW
Quincy is about to levy a tax on boats for the first time in two years.

The tax-free two years was not an oversight on the part of assessors or the tax collector.

It was just that there was no one in the assessor's office to count and evaluate boats and, besides, it would have cost more to assess and bill the owners than would have been collected on them.

"One of the first casualties of Proposition 2½ was the assistant assessor who handled boats," says Assessor Marion Fantucchio.

"Our last commitment in fiscal 1982 was $60-66,000 and we only collected 50 per cent, about $30,000. It cost more than that to collect it."

Now, the city has an assistant assessor for boats, Wilbur Bevins, and the assessing information is being put on the computer so boat tax bills will go out for fiscal 1985.

"We don't know yet if we'll make money or lose money but we're going to make a try," says Chief Assessor Elmer Fagerlund.

Marion Fantucchio thinks the city will come out ahead in the long run.

"There is the assistant assessor's salary and the cost of entering the list of boats on data processing," she says. "Once the file is set up there will be only maintenance costs."

One of the problems in taxing boats is locating the boats to be taxed. Under state law, they are vessels "habitually moored or docked" in Quincy even though owners may live elsewhere.

"Fortunately," says Fagerlund, "Wilbur Bevins has a good rapport with marina operators and boat owners. He is able to get the listing more easily than some."

The listing includes the location of the boat on July 1, the name, number, make, model and year, length and type and a description of the engine, if any. It's taxed at $10 per thousand valuation.

Another difficulty faced by the city is that there is no way short of going to court to force a boatowner to pay the tax.

Failure to pay property taxes can bring a lien against the property. Failure to pay motor vehicle excise tax could mean suspension of license and registration. For boats, there is nothing.

The money collected in boat taxes is paid into the city treasury but 50 per cent comes back, under state law, to pay the cost of municipal waterways improvements.

Fagerlund feels that the revived boat tax will not be a burden on boatowners.

"Outside of the guys who never paid, it shouldn't bother anyone," he said. "It's a very minimal tax, $10 per thousand."

Council Votes To Equip 11 New Police Cars

The City Council Monday night passed an order raising $22,200 so that the Police Department can equip 11 new police cars for duty on the streets.

Chief Francis X. Finn said the vehicles are badly needed to enhance the current 14 marked cars and two standbys, five of which are in such bad shape that they are barely usable.

"The cars are on hand," said the Chief, "but they are not properly equipped."

In a related matter, Finn told the Council that he is not ready to put one-man cars in operation until their use has been negotiated with the superior officers union.

Sheets Ponders Mayoral Run

If you like rumors, try this one on for size:

City Council President James Sheets will support Councillor Joanne Condon in her bid for mayor. And he will publicly announce it at a future Unity Breakfast.

That's the hottest item out of this week's rumor mill.

But, says, Sheets that's all it is: a rumor. "A wild rumor," he smiles. Sheets says he's not supporting anyone for mayor. Not at this point, anyway.

"The fact is," says Sheets, "I'm leaving my options open as far as next year's mayoral campaign is concerned."

What he means is that he hasn't decided not to run himself.

"I'm leaving my options open and will make a decision sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas," he says.

Sheets says he has talked with Condon—but not about supporting her.

"I talked with her to see what her intentions are as far as next year's mayoral race is concerned," he says.

"Just as I would talk with anyone else in the City Council who might be thinking of running."

Sheets says it appears Condon's intention is to run. Well, if Sheets decides not to run himself and Condon does as expected, might he support her?

"Right now I really couldn't comment on whether I would remain neutral or support anyone for mayor," he replied.

But, he adds:

"I would have to take into consideration what has been happening in the City Council the past few months."

He apparently was referring to the Council's "Battle of the Budget" with Mayor Francis McCauley and differences of opinion with McCauley over his settlement with General Dynamics in the tax rebate case, the escort plan for minorities and other differences with the McCauley philosophy.

Right now any talk of Sheets backing Condon would seem to be somewhat premature.

But, it doesn't mean it couldn't happen. And if it does happen, it would be a bit ironic. She didn't support him for City Council president. But they have had some political togetherness criticizing the McCauley administration. So, you can never tell.

SHEETS

ELEANOR

ELEANOR REIDY, a City Hall favorite before her retirement in January of 1983, has returned as Mayor McCauley's personal secretary.

Eleanor had been McCauley's secretary for two years and for nine years prior to that at the old Shipbuilders Cooperative Bank.

She decided to retire after successful major surgery but missed being in the mayor's office.

"I'm very happy to be back," she says. "It seems like I never left."

Jeanne Reardon who had succeeded Eleanor as McCauley's secretary, recently returned to her old job as City Council clerk of committees.

SPEAKING OF His Honor, he and First Lady Sandra recently marked their 30th wedding anniversary at a surprise party at the Quincy Yacht Club. The party was given by their children, Michael, Robert, Melissa, Julie and Jennifer.

THERESA GACICIA, secretary to the Quincy License Board is recuperating at home following cataract surgery at Mass. Eye and Ear Infirmary, Boston.

It is the first time Theresa has taken more than a day or two off in the 10 years she has been secretary to the board. She's at her desk every day bright and early - 7 a.m. to be exact.

"That's what you call dedication," says City Clerk John Gillis, her boss.

MALACHY (MAL) CREAVAN of Quincy Point will be honored by his colleagues with a testimonial dinner Monday, Oct. 22, at the Cathay Pacific Restaurant on his retirement after 10 years as a court officer in Quincy District Court. Cocktails will be at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets for the dinner are available from Norma Sheridan at the Courthouse.

Mayor Takes Walking Tour Of Ward 1

Mayor Francis X. Mc-

Cauley will hold the fifth neighborhood tour of his administration today (Thursday), visiting Ward 1 with City Councillor Michael T. Cheney and Peter Kenney, his executive secretary.

The trio will tour the Asherton Hough School, Broad Meadows Middle School, O'Brien Towers Senior Citizens Center in Germantown, the Houghs Neck Community Center and many area businesses.

The Mayor has already toured North Quincy, Wollaston, West Quincy and Quincy Point, taking the opportunity to discuss matters of importance to local residents.

The Ward 1 tour will start at 8:30 a.m.

Montclair Men's Club To Meet

The Montclair Men's Club will hold its regular monthly business meeting tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. in the clubhouse, 93 Holbrook Rd., North Quincy.

Changes in the by-laws and a discussion on vehicular speeding on W. Squantum St. and Newport Ave. will highlight the meeting.

Trim Shrubs At Street Corners, Mayor Urges

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has suggested that Quincy homeowners, particularly those whose property is on intersections, trim their shrubs and hedges to eliminate potential traffic hazards.

McCauley said his office has received complaints about shrubbery that obstructs the view of motorists at many street intersections in residential neighborhoods.

"Untrimmed hedges, shrubs and trees that protrude over sidewalks make it difficult for the motorists to see oncoming traffic," said McCauley.

He reminded residential and business property owners of a city ordinance that requires all buildings to have a street number plainly displayed in numerals at least two inches in height.

Proper numbering, he noted, will assist police, fire trucks and ambulances to find a house in an emergency situation.

WRONG PRICING LOGIC

QUESTION: Why do so many homeowners go wrong when they try to set a realistic selling price on their home?

ANSWER: Most people base their price tags on the only facts known to them: original price, cost of improvements, hoped for profit and what they think similar homes are bringing. The original price, improvements, and hoped-for profit only determine whether you gain or lose, but they have nothing to do with the right price to produce a sale. Prices of other homes? Most of the time you only hear of the asking price, not the selling price.

DOVE Receives $20,000 Grant For Expansion, Remodeling

Planning Director Sandra Balser of the DOVE (Domestic Violence Ended) shelter servicing battered women and their children announces a major program expansion and remodeling of its Quincy facility which will be funded in part through a $20,000 grant awarded by Permanent Charity Fund of Boston.

A check was presented by Anna Jones, Associate Director of Permanent Charity who visited the shelter this week.

These monies will be used to impact on the cycle of violence as DOVE focuses on the children who are the silent victims of family violence. These children who witness and absorb the harmful effects of abuse, are being targeted in an effort to eliminate a future generation of batterers and victims.

Susan Caron, M.Ed., Program Coordinator, formerly employed part-time, has begun working full-time as DOVE's Board of Directors gave their full approval in support of her efforts.

Shelter renovations to accommodate the expanded program and provide adequate play and counseling areas will begin shortly. These renovations also will include modernization of kitchen and dining facilities for our residents.

In the five years of DOVE's existence, it is still the only agency on the South Shore providing emergency shelter, a 24 hour crisis hotline (471-1234), individual and support group counseling, as well as complete advocacy services and the children's program.

A member agency of United Way of Massachusetts Bay since 1981, DOVE's basis of funding and local community support continues to flourish as it serves the needs of over 200 women and 250 children a year who are seeking an escape from the pain and heartbreak of abusive family relationships.

QTA Handbill Violates Law, Says McIntosh

City Councillor David S. McIntosh charged that the distribution of a Quincy Taxpayers Association handbill constituted a violation of the Corrupt Practices Act by presenting in a favorable light seven of the 21 City Council candidates in the Oct. 11 preliminary election.

George A. Yarrington, executive director the QTA, called the charge "plain damned foolishness."

McIntosh said he would ask the State Attorney General for an opinion on the legality of the distribution of 10,000 copies of a reprint from the QTA's publication "Tips on Taxes," which, he charged, was done by Yarrington and not by the QTA.

"I think it's merely one man's opinion," he said. "I don't think the directors of the association approved the articles in question. I think that it is too bad that one man can distribute such an article and the name of the association."

Council candidate Charles L. Shea, one of those favorably mentioned in the article, said he "did not feel that it was an endorsement of my candidacy but I was merely mentioned as a young man of ability. I am grateful for this recognition."

THREE CONTRACTS

The Military Sea Transportation Service announced that the Bethlehem Steel Co's Fore River Shipyard will have the contracts for construction of three 25,000-ton tankers for United Corp. of New York. They will cost $8.2 million each.

The MSTs said that Bethlehem's Sparrow Point, Md., shipyard also would get three contracts and the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. in Pascagoula, Miss., two contracts to build similar ships for private interests for charter to the U.S. Navy.

PLAN A BACKED

A poll of the 21 candidates for the City Council in the Oct. 11 primary election indicated that seven supported the Plan A form of government, four were backing the Plan E form and the rest were uncommitted. Voters would decide their preference in a referendum on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Those favoring Plan A were David J. Crowley, Carl W. Anderson, Bennie Skoler, John Gillis, Mario J. Praderio, James R. McIntyre and Patrick J. Faherty Jr. Those for Plan E were Edna B. Austin, Frank E. MacDonald, Alfred G. Helfrich and Walter H. Sears.

BEDS STUDIED

The City Council authorized City Manager Donald H. Blatt to conduct a study of the shortage of beds at City Hospital, which had only 275 beds to serve a population of 86,000, or 175 beds below the recommended total of five per 1,000 population.

For more information, contact Andrea Sodano at 770-4000, ext. 277.

Senior Citizens MBTA ID Registration Oct. 30

An MBTA team will be at the Senior Drop-In Center, High School Ave., on Tuesday, Oct. 30 to issue identification cards permitting senior citizens and handicapped persons to ride MBTA rapid transit lines and local buses for reduced rates.

With the cards, senior citizens may ride rapid transit lines and local buses for 10 cents at all times. Special needs cards are valid during off-peak hours only and allow the bearer to ride any 60-cent subway route or 50-cent bus route for 10 cents. If the fare exceeds that amount, the cardholders pay half fare.

Eligible citizens from Quincy and surrounding towns will be able to register between the hours of 9:30 and 2:30 p.m.

To be eligible for a senior citizen reduced fare identification card, which contains the name and address of the holder and a color photograph for positive identification, senior citizens must bring proof that they are 65 years of age or older, such as a birth certificate, baptismal record, or driver's license; proof of residency such as a library card, charge plate or driver's license; and a fifty-cent cash fee.

Medicare cards will not be accepted as proof of age.

Senior citizens who already have a reduced fare identification card to not need to register again.

To be eligible for a handicapped citizen reduced fare identification card, handicapped persons must present acceptable proof of their disability such as a letter from the Social Security Administration; evidence of 70 percent or more disability as determined by the United States Veterans' Administration; or completion of MBTA Form No. SN-7 which must be approved and signed by a physician or state or federal agency serving the handicapped.

Bloodmobile Oct. 22 At Point Congregational

SOME OF THE MOST IMPORTANT WORK FOR CANCER IS BEING DONE OUTSIDE THE LAB.

It's being done in automobiles and living rooms. Over coffee and cake. By people like Madeline Milza and Theresa Barbieri.

They met when Madeline was in treatment for breast cancer and Theresa was the volunteer who drove her to her therapy appointments. Now, like Theresa, Madeline is bringing help and hope to other women as a Reach to Recovery volunteer.

Madeline and Theresa are living proof that it's people who give people the will to live. The work in the lab must continue. And so must the work outside. We need your help.

PHARMACY TOPICS

Doctors in the U.S. are stopping smoking, even faster than everyone else. Only 10 percent of doctors still smoke today—and only 4.6 percent of lung specialists.

Psychosomatic medicine unit at Boston's Massachusetts General Hospital is using hypnosis to treat warts. Warts did disappear from patients who had been convinced—under hypnosis—that they would.

Newest method of medicating may be through the nose. Spray pumps or other devices deliver measured doses that are absorbed through nasal membranes. Method would be used for drugs that cannot be taken orally or transdermally, as well as for some usually given by injection.

When new medications become available, you'll find them in the complete pharmaceuticals department at

Board Allows Auto Body Shop To Sell More Cars

By VALERIE NEWMAN
The License Board approved a request from Body Craft Inc., 495 Hancock St., to increase its sale of cars from two to six, despite Building Inspector Allan MacDonald's objection.
"I don't believe it's in the City's best interest to have a used car lot on Hancock St.," said MacDonald.
Atty. Robert Fleming, representing Body Craft, responded, "We only display two cars. Due to the nature of the business, we almost always have more than two cars. This request is just a technicality, since the board already granted us a license to sell two used cars."

"That might have been our first mistake," replied MacDonald. "You had agreed to landscape, build a fence, and keep the wreckers out back. Whenever I drive by, there are always wreckers parked there."
City Clerk John Gillis disagreed with MacDonald, "we'll have to give him credit," he said. "It seems pretty clean to me for an auto body shop. He provides a service for the city, and they're a big taxpayer for the city. I fail to see what the problem is."

MacDonald replied, "I know you disagree with me, and you can vote however you want, but I'm not voting for a junk yard; I won't be guilty of it."
The three other Board members voted to Body Craft's request, with the stipulation that the store not display more than three cars in the front.

4 Sentenced In Houghs Neck Attack

Superior Court Judge James Lynch Jr. last week called the February attack on five sailors in Houghs Neck "blatant racism" and sentenced four men to jail terms for the assault.
"A clear message must be sent that such outrageous conduct cannot and will not be tolerated," said Lynch and he called the incident "an ugly stain on the proud history of the city of presidents."
Sentenced were:
David Picard, 23, of Quincy, three to five years in Walpole State Prison.
Lynch called him "the instigator."
Russell Crombie, 28, of Quincy, two years in the Dedham House of Correction.
David Silcox, 19, of Braintree, four months in the Dedham jail.
Charles McIsaac, 19, of Quincy, 30 days in jail.
The men were convicted of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon on the five sailors from the USS Fulton, which was then at the Fore River Shipyard. Three were black, one hispanic and one white.

Electronic Equipment Taken In $2,000 Theft

Edward D. DeMont of French St., North Quincy, reported to police last week that video and electronic equipment and other items valued at more than $2,000 were stolen from his apartment.
Taken were a video recorder valued at $600, a 13-inch color television set at $300, a 19-inch color TV set at $419, a stereo turntable with two speakers and a tape deck at $1,000, and six VCR tapes.
Also, a camera with three lenses, a four by eight oriental rug, a Tiffany lamp shade, a Seiko watch, a 20-inch gold chain, and an antique crystal vase.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Fate seems sometimes to delight in making strange combinations among the pieces of the game it plays through the centuries. . . Did you know that Queen Isabella of Spain and Christopher Columbus were born in the same year. . . 1451? Queen Isabella was born on April 22 at Madrigal de Las Altas Torres and Columbus in Genoa between August and October. . . It is also believed by some historians that Amerigo Vespucci was born in the same year.

Fate or coincidence? Who knows! But one thing we do know is that these three protagonists of the great oceanic adventure changed the face of the world. . . The discoverer, his noble patron and man from whom the new world was to take its name were all born in the first year of the second half of the 15th century, which was to open a new period of history.

$6,800 Appropriated To Paint Church Clock

The City Council Monday night appropriated $6,800 to paint the city-owned clock in the steeple of United First Parish Church. Richard K. Domas of the Planning Department said the federal government had been asked to provide funds for the painting but the request got tangled up in the church-state separation issue.

"A speedy resolution is not forthcoming," said Domas.

"One way around this impasse quickly is to use city funds to do the first phase (painting) with funding of a subsequent phase to be decided after we hear from HUD."

City Solicitor Dean Nicastro said he had never been specifically asked to research the church-state issue "but a while back I was asked an opinion of the city gold-leafing the face of the clock."

"I concluded that Quincy had a responsibility to maintain the clock because the city owns the clock. The city also owns the bell that was put in in 1960."

Domas said a subsequent phase in the work on the steeple will involve repairs to the belfry supports and the mechanism for striking the chimes.

The clock in the steeple was installed by the city in 1951 apparently for the convenience of the city's residents. The Rev. Keith Munson, minister of the church, said the face of the clock is granite.

Anniversary Sunday At Bethany Congregational

Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, will mark its 152nd year of ministry (1832-1984), Sunday, Oct. 7, with a Communion Service and Congregational Dinner.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary. Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon entitled, "No Other Foundation" based on the text in I Corinthians 3:1-23.

Lay scripture reader will be Richard W. Pinel. Associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will assist in leading the liturgy. Peter E. Krasinski will be at the organ console, and Léwanna C. Semchenko, soprano soloist, will sing "The Hymn of the Lord's Supper" by Demarest.

The service will be broadcast over radio station WJDA at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape. The radio communion commentary will be given by James W. Ross.

Sunday Church School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The senior high class, 9th through 12th grades, will meet at 9 a.m. Nursery care "be provided for babies at the 10 o'clock hour.

At 11 a.m. there will be a coffee hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

At 12:00 noon a covered-dish Anniversary Dinner will be held in the social hall, followed by an old-fashioned Gospel hymn-sing.

For more information, contact Pastor Arnold or the Church Office at 479-7300.

Anointing Of Sick Service At St. John's Church

St. John the Baptist Church, School St., Quincy Center, will hold an Anointing of the Sick service Saturday, Oct. 13, at 12:30 p.m. in the lower church.

The service will be celebrated by the priests of the parish. All are welcome to attend. Luncheon will follow in the church hall.

If transportation is needed, call the rectory (773-1021), Pat Mullen (479-9196), or Eleanor Reidy (773-0835).

A rummage sale will be held Saturday, Oct. 6, at 10 a.m. at Fenno House, 540 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Coffee, donuts and pastry may be purchased.

Squantum Church Pastor Discusses Cuomo Speech

A recent speech by Gov. Mario Cuomo of New York was the cue for a sermon Sunday by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin at the second service of the First Church of Squantum.

In a recent speech at Notre Dame University in South Bend, Ind., Cuomo argued that since there is no national consensus against abortion, Roman Catholic political leaders are not required by the teaching of their church to try to put the views of their church on the subject into law.

Dr. Langevin said that "the speech is one to which all of us should give some attention, not as Republicans or Democrats, but as Christians, and perhaps particularly as Protestants."

Cuomo's speech was in reaction to statements of particular leaders of his church, notably Archbishop John J. O'Connor of New York, that Roman Catholics could not "in good conscience" vote for anyone who differed from the anti-abortion position.

The Archbishop's statement has been widely interpreted to be an attack on Geraldine Ferraro, the vice-presidential candidate for the Democrats, according to Rev. Langevin.

During the past month, Archbishop Bernard F. Law of Boston has made speeches on a similar theme in the Boston area, suggesting that abortion is the primary issue upon which Massachusetts voters have to decide.

In a sermon entitled "Your Conscience and Your Vote", Dr. Langevin discussed these events, as well as similar attempts by Protestant ministers like Jerry Falwell and Jimmy Swaggart to marshal support for a particular candidate or party by implying that only one side had divine approval.

On the basis of his text "Render therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's", Dr. Langevin contended that there were two realms under discussion: a realm of power and politics and a spiritual realm, a realm of the conscience that belonged to God.

The pastor claimed that "while the values of one's conscience will certainly have implications in the political realm, and while Christian ministers and priests do have the responsibility to inform the individual consciences of their faithful, it is certainly inappropriate for clergymen to tell their followers who to vote for, either by name or by so narrowly defining the issues that there really is no choice."

"The simple truth of the matter is that, for Christians just like everyone else, there are many, many other issues in this election besides abortion. And all of them need to be taken into account when you decide for whom to vote."

"And when you do, that decision should be your own, based on your own conscientious analysis of the candidates and the issues. And for that you need no final direction except that of the Holy Spirit."

Greeters for the morning were Drucilla Warnes and Helen Miller. Ushers were Tore Wallen and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Grace Holmes and Hazel Mayne.

For the offertory, organist Mindi Hurd played "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" by Lowell Mason. The offertory anthem sung by the Chancel Choir was "Stand Up and Bless the Lord" by W. Glen Darst.

After the service, members of the congregation had the opportunity to sign a number of lists, including those for an all-church breakfast this Sunday, an all-church outing at a camp in Groton on Columbus Day and a petition protesting the noise, the widening liquor sales and the traffic tie-ups on East Squantum St. allegedly caused by the Marina project.

At the early service, Dr. Langevin asked the congregation to discuss among themselves the question, "What Does It Feel Like When We Encounter God?" Their insights were then included in the pastor's sermon.

Guitarist Mary Ruth Scott provided the musical accompaniment for the singing. Michael Stamos and Andrew Ogilvie were ushers. Ellen Ogilvie was in charge of the refreshments.

This is the second week of the annual Pledge Drive sponsored by the Stewardship Committee. The drive will culminate on Covenant Sunday, Oct. 7.

On that day, every member who wants to renew his or her commitment to Jesus Christ and His work through the congregation in Squantum is asked to be present.

All of the pledges for 1985 will be dedicated on that day, the annual dues will be paid and the congregation will get to see the new choir robes for the first time.

Members who want to be included in the covenanting list but who cannot be present on that morning should notify the pastor of their intention this week.

The morning begins with an all-church breakfast at 9:15 a.m. The menu includes orange juice, scrambled eggs, ham, hash browns, a muffin and a beverage. Reservations may be called in to the church office at 328-6649 or 328-7675.

On Monday, Oct. 8, persons of all ages will attend "Grootwood Day" at a camp in Groton. Since participants pay for only what they eat or do, there is no charge to go.

The day will include races, a chicken barbecue, hot apple pie, homemade fudge, baked goods, boat rides, hayrides, tours, concerts, a flea market and time to walk in the woods.

Because of the events of Covenant Sunday, there will be no early worship service Oct. 7; only the breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and the worship at 10:30 a.m. Visitors are welcome.

Roy Lind Speaker At QCA Meeting

Roy Lind, program director of WJDA, was scheduled to be the speaker yesterday (Wednesday) at 8 p.m. at a meeting of the Quincy Citizens' Association.

The QCA had planned a candidates night at the meeting but, said President Arthur M. Chandler, the principal candidates for the U.S. Senate, Raymond Shamie and John Kerry, had other commitments.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy's football team will be in for an extra busy week of work on its offense in preparation for Friday night's 7 o'clock game against Greater Boston League power Malden at Malden.

After moving the ball well in their first two games against Cambridge Rindge and Latin and Brookline, the Presidents' attack was shut down by Waltham last Saturday as the Hawks, on one big play - an 80 yard punt return - defeated Quincy, 6-0, at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Quincy will try to regroup Friday night at Malden against a GBL team which was edged by Arlington, 3-0, last week after an impressive 23-0 victory over Peabody the previous week.

The teams did not play last year and Quincy faces a stern test as Malden is favored to win the GBL crown with four returning offensive starters and two on defense as well as three other returning lettermen.

"We know we are going to be in for a busy night as Malden is always strong," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer, disappointed after the Presidents' second straight tough loss.

"I was especially disappointed because we had moved the ball well in our first two games, but today we just didn't execute. Our offensive line was completely outplayed and our quarterback, Billy Shaughnessy, had no chance at all. (Shaughnessy completed just two of 13 passes for 12 yards, had two interceptions and was sacked once). A couple of his passes were on the mark in the first half but were dropped and if they were caught it could have made a difference.

"And we sorely missed Daron Tucker, one of our best running backs. Tucker suffered bruised ribs early in the game when tackled out-of-bounds and sat out a good part of the game. One official was right there but didn't call for a penalty. We are very thin and most of the boys play both ways and we can't afford to lose a runner like Tucker."

Quincy's defense was brilliant all afternoon, although Raymer said "we let up on that punt return." The first half was played entirely in Quincy territory and the Presidents didn't reach Waltham territory until the third quarter. But, the defense was superb and held the Hawks scoreless.

"The defense was on the field so much it was tired at the end, but it did a good job in keeping Waltham off the board again," Raymer said. Waltham had a first down on the Quincy 12 but the Presidents dug in and held on the three with 14 seconds left. Tucker broke loose for a 26-yard run. Quincy's only good gain of the day, but time ran out before Quincy could go any further.

"Everyone did a great job on defense," said Raymer. "Kevin Burke and Pat Calabro were outstanding at end and John O'Callaghan and Mike Shea, starting for the first time, did a good job at tackle. Also shining were Paul Munaf, Gerry Frazier, Joe Cullen, Tucker, Mark Porzio, Steve Perfeuo, Shaughnessy, Don Parry, Joe Conti and P. J. Duggan."

Porzio and Tucker came up with key interceptions to halt Waltham drives.

With Tucker sitting out much of the game, Cullen did the bulk of the ball carrying and performed well. Quincy was held to a net 74 yards on the ground, including Tucker's last second 26-yard run.

Waltham picked up a net 142 yards on the ground and 66 yards through the air on John Logue's six for 13. Waltham had nine first downs and Quincy six, two on penalties.

Penalties haunted both teams, particularly Waltham, which was hit with nine for 95 yards. Quincy was assessed six for 55 yards.

Conti was forced to punt seven times, five in the first half, mostly for good yardage and it was ironic that one of his punts resulted in the only score of the game.

Waltham controlled the ball for most of the first half as it stayed in Quincy territory, but the Presidents' defense kept the game scoreless.

With 3:43 left in the third quarter, Conti punted to Waltham's 20. John Studley caught the ball, faked a handoff to Pat Kavey and, while the Presidents went after Kavey, Studley went around the right side and raced 80 yards untouched for the only score of the game.

Quincy finally reached Waltham territory early in the third quarter going to Waltham's 32, but a pass interception ended the threat. The Presidents later reached Waltham's 40 but a long run by Tucker was nullified by a penalty and another interception thwarted the drive.

Home Run Road Race Raises $1,250 For Youth Commission

The Wollaston Credit Union recently presented a check for $1,250 representing the proceeds from the Home Run road race to the Quincy Youth Commission.

Accepting the check was John Mahoney, chairman of the Youth Commission. Youth coordinator Brian Buckley said the money would be used to help operate the Youth Commission Group Home for Girls and the Group Home for Boys.

The race, which attracted more than 300 runners, was supported by Burger King, Coca-Cola, Pepsi-Cola and Hendrie's Ice Cream, all of whom provided refreshments.

Twenty-two businesses contributed prizes and donations.

Brite Cleaners, Quincy Savings Bank, YMCA, Bank of New England, Gloria Stevens, Brigham's, D'Angelo's, Wollaston Wine and Liquor Co., Cathay Pacific, Tanorama, South Shore Health and Fitness Complex, Stop & Shop, Papa Gino's, World of Health, Friendly's,

Segalla Shines In Plymouth State Win

The undefeated Plymouth N. H. State College football team, defending New England Div. 3 champion, proved last week it doesn't have to depend upon the brilliant Joe Dudek of North Quincy to win.

While Dudek was held to 52 yards rushing, his career low, and scored no touchdowns, quarterback Larry Cummings threw five touchdown passes, four to John Posivata, and passed for 305 yards as Plymouth defeated Westfield State, 34-6, and improved its record to 4-0.

Dudek's 52 yards gave him 3075 career yards and leaves him 243 yards away from the all-time N.E. small college rushing record of 3318 yards held by Peter Gorniewicz (1971-73) of Colby.

North Quincy's Glenn Segalla, the Panthers' co-captain, played another outstanding game last week. Also playing well all season have been two former Quincy High stars end Scott Anson, who is near the school's pass reception record, and cornerback Ed Iodice, who had his best game against Southern Connecticut with eight tackles and an interception.

Meanwhile, Curry College continued to roll with a 35-14 win over Framingham State as it improved to 3-0.

Sophomore quarterback Bob Barrett of Quincy paced the Colonels as he threw for 200 yards and a touchdown.

Leone-Morrell Scoring Pass Beats Durfee

Ronnie Leone passed to Tom Morrell on fourth down with five seconds to play for the winning touchdown as the Quincy High School football team whipped Durfee, 20-14, under the lights in Fall River.

Coach Billy Sullivan called it "one of the biggest thrills of my coaching career."

One of the top stars of the game for the Presidents was Dick Derbes who ran for 145 yards in eight carries, getting off runs of 44 and 45 yards in the last two touchdown drives after Quincy had fallen behind 14-7.

NORTH TOPS SOUTH

The North Quincy High School football team blocked a punt in the last minute and Tom Cataldo plunged two yards for the score with 20 seconds left as North topped South, 6-0, at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The North lineup included: Carney, O'Brien, Moore, Healy, ends; Harding, Young, Devlin, Kovalski, tackles; Noguiera, Ferari, Fronach, Myers, guards; Mahoney, Joy, centers; Cataldo, Gherardi, Radley, Wadleigh, Leigh, Kelly, Travers, Bonner, backs.

The South lineup included: Whiting, Ostby, ends; Unis, Pelton, Peterson, tackles; Youdis, Pellegrini, McClelland, Mills, Pepe, guards; Campitelli, Quintilliani, centers; Paronich, Tonello, Scott, Piccarini, backs.

BLADES LOSE FIRST

Ken Rich was a standout in goal, facing 45 shots, but his defense crumbled in front of him and the Quincy Blades bowed to the Arlington Arcadians, 8-3, in the opening game of the Mayflower Hockey League slate at the Skating Club in Boston.

The Quincy lineup included: Salvucci, Beggs, McCarthy, forwards; Erikson, Cignarella, defense; Rich, goal; Mills, Dymant, Cattaneo, Ford, Sullivan, Salt, Kenton, Williams, MacLeod, spares.

NORTH LOSES

Jack Crowley bucked over for a first period touchdown that gave the North Quincy High School football team a 7-0 lead but Winchester, the favorite to win the state Class B title, roared back for a 26-14 victory. Frank Thompson scored the other Raider touchdown.

The North Quincy lineup included: Grutchfield, Adams, Doring, ends; Wanless, Huber, Frazier, tackles; Frazier, Coughlin, Mann, guards; Stevenson, Sweeney, centers; McGee, Crowley, Cooke, Thompson, Deane, Parson, backs.

HARRIS REGAINS TITLE

Brook Harris of Quincy, the captain-elect of the Harvard tennis team, won the 1955 men's singles title at the Quincy Tennis Club with an upset victory over the No. 1 seed, Tom Raleigh of Weymouth. The scores of their three and a half hour final were 1-6, 6-3, 9-7, 3-6, 6-2.

QYC MIDGETS WIN

The midget team from the Quincy Yacht Club won the All-City Midget Sailing championship with 42 1/2 points to 41 1/2 for Squantum. The team was made up of Steve Hurley, Bob Kirkland, Kevin Kiley and Joe Egan.

SPORTS BITS '55

Dick Stuart was the first Raider home in fifth place as the North Quincy High School cross country team lost to Milton, 17-38. . . . Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams was mobbed by fans when he showed up at the Stoughton Town Hall to purchase a Massachusetts fishing license. . . . Fullback Toffee Derbes crashed over from the one-yard-line early in the first period and the Point Junior High School football team hung on for a 7-0 victory over Central at Veterans Memorial Stadium. . . . Rookie defenseman Don Cherry suffered a six-stitch cut on the bottom of his foot in the final pre-season exhibition game as the Boston Bruins broke training camp in Hershey, Pa. . . . Kenny Burgess scored three touchdowns to lead Mayo's All Stars to a 25-6 victory over the Quincy Point Panthers in a Quincy Little Football League game. . . . Coach Joe Zabitski of Northeastern had high praise for Bob Lyons, the Huskies' center from North Quincy, for his play in the game against American International.

Raiders Forget Boxers, Eye Newton N.

Usually when his team loses, 41-0, a coach is upset, but this was not the case with North Quincy coach Ken McPhee last Saturday when his Raiders were outclassed by unbeaten Brockton, the heavy favorite to win the Suburban League title.

"I'm not the least bit upset because we were beaten by the best high school team I've ever seen," said McPhee. "I can't see anyone beating them this year. I've played with college and pro teams not as good as they are. They played a perfect game and we just never had a chance."

"We stopped them the first time they had the ball but after that we just couldn't stay with them and the game was actually over after the first quarter. Our kids played their hearts out but didn't have a chance. This game only points out what I've said before, we shouldn't be playing in the same league with Brockton and other much bigger schools. Brockton has as many students in the freshman class as we do in the entire school."

Quarterback Dave Zurums was under tremendous pressure all day and was sacked seven times. "I was running for my life all afternoon," Zurums said.

"We just have to forget this one and point to Newton North," McPhee said. The teams play Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Stadium.

Newton, which lost to the Raiders, 10-8, last season, rolled over Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 24-0, last week after losing to Brockton, 34-0, the previous week.

Newton has a veteran team with three returning starters on offense and six on defense as well as seven other returning lettermen.

"Actually, we moved the ball pretty well at Brockton and had nine first downs, but we didn't mount a serious scoring threat," McPhee said. Steve Kelly and Mike Barry picked up most of the Raiders' yardage on the ground. Zurums had one good pass to Rich Horrigan but Horrigan was hit so hard he fumbled and the Boxers recovered. North made one good stand as it held Brockton, which had a first down on the Raider seven.

Quarterback Tom Colombo, the third son of coach Armand Colombo to star at that position, threw four touchdown passes and Odell Wilson, one of the state's finest runners, had two touchdowns.

After being held on its first possession, Brockton opened the scoring following a North punt when Colombo threw a bomb to his cousin, Peter Marciano, for a 61-yard touchdown.

On their next series the Boxers made it 13-0 when Greg McMurty went 35 yards up the middle for a score. This drive was set up when Marciano picked off a Zurums pass on North's 44. Brockton opened it up with two scores in the final three minutes of the second quarter to lead, 27-0, at halftime.

The first came with 2:42 left when Colombo hit Sherrod Raining with a 21-yard scoring pass and the Boxers drove 65 yards in just 35 seconds after Horrigan fumbled and Colombo passed to Wilson for seven yards and the fourth touchdown.

In the third quarter Colombo, who was nine for 11 for 173 yards and four TDs, passed again to Marciano for 50 yards and a score.

Brockton's final score came in the same quarter when Wilson, who apparently was stopped twice at the line of scrimmage, broke loose and raced 28 yards for the TD.

North Jayvees Win, Freshmen Tie Brockton

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy sophomore-junior varsity football team defeated Medford, 14-8, while the Raider freshmen played to a 6-6 tie with Brockton last week.

Medford scored first against the Raider sophomores in the opening quarter. North retaliated with a six-yard run by Leo LeMay and LeMay rushed for the extra points to give North an 8-6 lead.

The final North score came on a 52-yard pass play from Chris Gray to Mark Bilton.

Mike Cicerone had a key pass interception and LeMay, Gary McNamara, John Pacino and Kevin Segalla all ran well for the Raiders.

Ed Bagley and Kevin McCarthy were two-way standouts and Tim Kelly. Keith Segalla, twin brother of Kevin, Scott Chansky and Don Clancy also were hailed for their performances.

The freshman game was a thriller throughout with Brockton getting on the scoreboard on its first offensive play of the game, on a 65-yard touchdown run.

The young Raiders came right back and tied it up on a 56-yard run by Dave Lawless.

Both teams had scoring chances in the second half but both defenses dug in and held when they had to.

The North frosh played well for an opening game and Lawless, Lou Sasso, Bob Sylva, Paul McCormack and Kevin Henry were standouts on offense.

Defensively, Scott Collins, Shaun Clancy, Shaun Darcy, Mark DiMattio, Paul Hannan, Matt McNamara, Mike Kiley, Jay Rodrigues, Bill Manning and Bill Martin played well.

The North freshmen play at Newton North today (Thursday).

Quincy Girls Rebuilding And Winning

Two years ago the Quincy girls' volleyball team finished at 18-3 and won the state championship.

Last fall the First Ladies completed a perfect 16-0 Suburban League season and finished at 21-1 overall. They lost the final match of the year.

This year, after graduating three starters, it looked like Quincy would be rebuilding. "We are rebuilding, but the girls are winning along the way," said coach Ray Whitehouse, whose team last Friday improved its record to 4-1 with a 2-0 victory over Newton North.

The Quincy girls, defeated only by Brockton, played Boston Latin yesterday (Wednesday), will be at Newton South Friday and will host Cambridge Ringde and Latin next Wednesday at 3:30.

"We are pleased with this squad and we feel we just might have the toughest bunch of kids we've ever coached," said Whitehouse, who has a new assistant coach in Tom Henderson.

In a recent win over Brookline, senior captain

Colleen Dunn, at 5-6, did a great job against Brookline's giants, 6-1 Ruth Lamprey and 6-foot Robin Umlah.

"We feel Colleen may be one of the state's best players," Whitehouse continued. "She is intelligent, jumps well, and serves tough.

Quincy's other middle blocker is 5-6 Pam Austin, one of several fine sophomores on the team.

The match was made tougher by the loss of senior captain Karen Marnell (rotator cuff), junior outside hitter Marlo LeVangie (ankle) and senior middle blocker Kathy McGregor, also injured.

The challenge was met by what Whitehouse calls his "little kids."

"Tom and I have known these kids since the seventh grade," he said. "They have stuck together as a group, playing together in basketball and in junior volleyball." They are starters Terry Duggan, outside hitter, and Ginny Duggan, setter, who are twins; Lauren Standing, outside hitter, and defensive specialist Susan Parry.

Senior Beth Veneto is the other senior tri-captain and Whitehouse calls her "the best defensive player I've ever coached. She is our leader and dominated the Brookline match."

With three sophomores starting, stability comes from senior setter Terry McLoughlin, who runs Quincy's complicated multiple offense.

"We might have a sleeper in Leanna Dondero," said Whitehouse. "At 5-9 she is a strong side blocking specialist and is the most improved player on our varsity. We are hoping to get some fine blocking help from her. She has the potential."

Newcomer Stacie Nigro rounds out the varsity squad as a junior setter.

In last week's win over Newton North, Dunn and Austin sparked the offense and Parry was a defensive standout.

"At 4-1, we are off to a good start and we could very well end up as the surprise of the state," Whitehouse concluded.

Apaches Stun Panthers, Take Top Spot

The North Quincy Apaches won the battle of the unbeaten and took over first place in the Quincy Youth Football League with a stunning 26-6 victory over the defending champion Quincy Point Panthers last Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Apaches are now 3-0 and the Panthers stand at

In the first quarter the Panthers were halted on their first set of downs and had to give the ball up. The Apaches drove to the 12 and Ed Ryan scored the first points. A pass for the extra points was knocked down by Wayne Chambers.

Following another unsuccessful Panther drive, Keith Gott scored the next Apache touchdown on a 70-yard run. He also rushed for the two-point conversion.

There was no more scoring in the first half as the Panther defense, led by Monte Baker, was able to contain the tough Apaches.

The Apaches added their third touchdown in the third quarter but the conversion attempt failed.

In the fourth quarter, with both junior varsity squads in action, the Apaches marched to the Panther two-yard line but were halted. The Panther varsity returned and quarterback Tim Brillo was hit in the end zone and Ryan Craig recovered for the Apaches to give his team a 26-0 lead.

The Panthers finally got on the scoreboard when the kick was fielded by Charlie Freeman on the Panther 30. The offense got rolling as the clock worked against them and Brillo completed a 50-yard pass play to Mike Lomanno. On first and 10 from the Apache 17, Freeman bolted into the end zone to prevent a shut-out. The conversion pass fell incomplete.

The Elks will meet the Apaches Monday at 1 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium. The Sailors will square off with the Manets at 2:30 p.m.

The games were switched to Monday because North Quincy will be playing Newton North Sunday at the stadium.

The Panthers are idle this weekend and will next play the Houghs Neck Manets Oct. 14 at 2:30 p.m.

North Girls Extend Win Streak to 25

The young North Quincy girls' cross-country team hurdled one of its toughest obstacles and extended its unbeaten streak to 25 straight with a 26-30 victory over Cambridge Rindge and Latin last week.

Cambridge's Frances Jarvis won the meet in 14:22 with North Quincy's Patricia Barrett second at 14:39 and Mary Ann Kelleher third at 15:50.

The Raiderettes' other scorers were Meg Leary, fourth; Leanne Fitzgerald, eighth, and Tricia Leary, ninth. Sharon Barrett finished 10th.

The North girls faced Brockton yesterday (Wednesday) and will meet Quincy next Wednesday at 3:30.

Meanwhile John Franceschini's improving Quincy girls defeated Brookline, 22-23, to even their record at 1-1.

Joan Sullivan won the meet in 13:43, followed by teammate Kris Mullaney at 14:07.

Two other Quincy scorers were Sharon Steen, fifth; Julie Conte, sixth, and Kim Ellis, eighth.

The First Ladies had lost their opening meet to Suburban League power Brockton, 21-32.

Franceschini is pleased with the team's performances and is hopeful for a successful season.

Sullivan, ranked 19th in Div. 1 last year as a junior, leads the way together with all-league performers Mullaney and Steen. Coste and Marylou Wirtz are other consistent runners and freshman Michelle Lamie and Kim Kelley are other key performers.

The Quincy girls faced Waltham yesterday (Wednesday) and will meet unbeaten North Quincy next Wednesday.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante.

GET THE LEAD OUT

If you're about to embark on a redecorating binge, caution: before you start stripping old paint from your walls, prepare to keep it out of your lungs by wearing a small paper mask over your nose and mouth. Otherwise, if the paint is lead-based, you could inhale enough dust to get a full-fledged case of lead poisoning, with or without symptomatic abdominal pain.

How can you tell whether the paint contains lead? If it's really old (20 years or more), the chances are good that it does. Your local health department, or a college laboratory, might be willing to analyze a chip for you. But the Consumer Product Safety Commission suggests that you use a mask regardless, since even lead-free paint dust isn't good for your health. Take precautions with the scraped peeling. Young children will chew on anything and lead paint chips are the biggest cause of lead poisoning in the home. Place the scrapings in bags, tie securely and dispose in a covered garbage container.

Video To Go Grand Opening Oct. 8-13

Alan Rustein, owner of Video To Go at 374 Granite Ave., Milton, extends an invitation for all to join him as he celebrates the success of the store's first month.

The Grand Opening Celebration, which will include free, colorful helium balloons and free, fresh hot popcorn, will take place from Columbus Day, Monday, Oct. 8, to Saturday, Oct. 13.

The store is open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. No rentals or purchases will be allowed on Columbus Day.

Video To Go is a full service video store, which meets video needs, including rentals, sales and service of a selection of VHS and BETA pre-recorded videotapes, video cassette recorders (VCR's), video cameras, blank tape, and accessories. Everyone is invited to browse through the selection of dramas, concerts, musicals, comedies, exercise, science fiction and children's tapes, look at the latest in video equipment, ask the professional staff questions, or just bring the children to share in the festivities.

Red Cross Has 'Holiday Doll Programs'

The Red Cross, South Shore Chapter invites area residents to participate in its "Holiday Doll Program."

Volunteers dress a Red Cross provided doll that will be distributed to a needy family during the holidays. Crocheted, knitted and sewn clothing of any design is appropriate. Dolls come with underwear, socks and shoes. A sample pattern is included with each 12-inch doll.

Dolls will be available on a first come, first served basis in early Fall and need to be returned to the Red Cross by December 1st so they can be given to households identified as needing "something extra" during the holidays.

For more information, call Merle Lindsay, Community Services Director, at 471-5440.

Wollaston Theater Featured On Cable Talk

"Wollaston Theater-The Last Picture Show In Town."—will be the featured attraction on Cable Talk tonight (Thursday) at 9 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 7 at 9:30 on QCTV Ch. 3.
Theater owner-manager Arthur Chandler takes the Cable Talk camera behind the scenes of the Wollaston Theater operation. Chandler also reminisces about the structure and architecture of what was once considered the most modern showplace along the South Shore.
Theater patrons express their opinions about the only theater that remains in Quincy today. Also appearing are delegates of a visiting theater historical society from England who spent a day at the local theater studying and photographing the interior of the building.

Extra added attractions include film clips of the bill showing when the television program was in production. John Noonan, is host, for the program and Robert Gohl, producer.

Guests on the series will include experts on coins, real estate, and tax shelter investing.
Viewers of these shows are asked to contact Quincy Cablesystems with suggestions for additional topics they wish covered and with their reaction to the series.

Financial Planning On Ch. 3

Quincy Community Television, announces the premier of an educational series "Public Survival Personal Financial Planning".
The first of four one-half hour shows was shown Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m.
Bruce M. Dayton, Chartered Financial Consultant, moderates the personal financial planning series. Dayton is an instructor in Financial Counseling and of Wealth Accumulation at Northeastern University and a practicing financial planner. He was co-founder of Multi-Financial Services, Inc. of Weston.

The educational series highlights the basic financial planning rules of thumb and explores how much life insurance is too much? How much debt is too much? How to balance your investments, how much cash reserve you should have?

Special guest on the first show was Robert M. Zakon who interviewed the series sponsor, Bruce M. Dayton. Zakon is executive Producer of Financial News Network, New England, Northeast Regional Correspondent for Nightly Business Report and Producer/Host of "Window on Wall

Council Raises $21,084 To Pay Golf Course Taxes

The City Council Monday night finally appropriated $21,084 so that the city can pay to itself the taxes on the Furnace Brook Golf Club for fiscal 1985.

The vote was 5-4 with Councillors Michael T. Cheney, Joanne Condon, Stephen J. McGrath and James A. Sheets, casting negative votes. The same quartet also tried and failed to keep the matter tabled.

The appropriation is a remnant of last summer's "battle of the budget" in which the Council deleted some items from Mayor Francis X. McCauley's budget in an effort to force the mayor to hire more police and firefighters.

McCauley sent the order back to the Council Sept. 4 and it had been on the table ever since.

City Auditor Robert E. Foy III told the Council that it was imperative the appropriation be passed before the tax rate is set for fiscal 1985.

For the past 15 years, the city has paid the taxes on the golf club in return for use of the property as a recreation area for city residents. The land becomes city property in 50 years.

"This is an attempt by the mayor to continue the battle of the budget," said Sheets, voting against the appropriation.

Appropriate $15,526 To Mail '85 Tax Bills

The City Council Monday night appropriated $15,526 to enable Tax Collector Franklin Jay to hire a company to get out the tax bills for fiscal 1985.

hoped the postings would be on the city computer in time.

But it was decided to put the excise tax bills on instead.

Jay said it would require two months of manual labor to do the mailing in house, adding that the work probably will be done by computer in fiscal 1986.

City Auditor Robert E. Foy III said Mayor Francis X. McCauley eliminated the appropriation from his 1985 budget because it was the most was the $15,000 profit for holding the land and building for less than a year.

Council To Probe Cranch School Resale Profit

"It's unusual," said Sheets. "There is much about the school sale process that needs to be talked about. If the original purchaser could sell it for $100,000 more, why couldn't the city get it in the first place?"

"Perhaps there should be something in the covenants restricting resale. Councillor LaRita plans to hold hearings on it and maybe some new issues will be raised."

"I think our sale process was good," said Mayor McCauley. "You can't keep a building for two years on the chance that you will get more money for it. If you board up an abandoned school it becomes a target for vandalism."

"Having an old school building developed means a lot to the city. It puts the property back on the tax rolls. Any building that the city sells may change hands down the road, before or after development."

'Good Things Happening'

Osterman Feels History Will Treat Creedon Well

School Supt. John Osterman says he feels that history will treat his predecessor, Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, "very well."

Creedon resigned last summer in the wake of charges of sexual misconduct with female students.

"He was an outstanding superintendent," said Osterman in an interview with The Quincy Sun's Cable Channel 8. "I think over the years history will treat him very, very well."

"He was a man for his time. He was probably the best I've known for having long-range thinking and being able to put that thinking into some manageable goal."

"Many people can state the problem but not have solutions. He had both."

Osterman said the Quincy school system was able to survive the "unfortunate publicity" generated by the Creedon case "because everybody in the system, from Dr. Creedon down, continued to do their jobs."

"The publicity did not interfere with the young people getting an education," he said.

Osterman said the school system's priority "right now and the next couple of years is to show that good things are happening in each classroom."

"For the past several years," he said, "activities in the classroom have taken second place to what has been happening in the board room. That is unfortunate."

"Polls have shown a disinterest in education and a criticism of education. In Quincy it's time to shift focus."

"We have to keep making sure that every youngster we have is taken care of emotionally, educationally and socially."

That's the legacy I would like to see.

"Our responsibility is to provide them with the information. After they have had the information, at another point in their lives, when they'll be able to use that information, it becomes knowledge."

"And when they're our age we hope that knowledge becomes wisdom. That's how the schools Osterman said he is happy with the three-year contract he signed to run the public school system rather than the tenure Dr. Creedon had.

"I think the School Committee has made a wise decision," he said. "I think the times do not necessarily indicate that the superintendent should receive tenure."

"The rest of the Commonwealth has been moving to five to 10 year contracts. Some are one year contracts. A three year contract is more than acceptable."

"I look forward to the School Committee being satisfied enough to offer me another three year contract."

A 'Happy Ending'

Kramer In Apology To Germantown

By TOM HENSHAW

Judge Albert L. Kramer, who labelled Germantown a "white ghetto" in a speech last week, apologized for that and other remarks Tuesday and went on an amiable walking tour of the area with residents.

"It was time very well spent," said the Rev. Roger Haskins of Bethel Nazarene Church, chairman of the Germantown Neighborhood Council. "He is a true gentleman. He acknowledged his mistake and clarified what he really meant."

"I think the tour really helped not only us but him," said Peter Kolson, vice chairman of the Council. "It took a lot of intestinal fortitude for him to come down here. I respect the man for it."

Kramer, presiding justice at Quincy District Court, receiving the Citizen of the Year Award from the South Shore Coalition for Human Rights last Thursday, referred to Germantown as a "white ghetto" and a breeding ground of crime, incest, family violence and alcoholism.

"I believe the residents are entitled to an explanation and I do indeed apologize to anyone who has felt offended by my remarks," said the judge in an open letter to the people of Germantown. "That certainly was not my intent."

"I used Germantown as an example because it is this neighborhood that carries the burden of the overwhelming percentage of the city's public low-income housing for families with all of its problems and hardships."

Judge ALBERT KRAMER

"On the one hand, there are great strengths in the neighborhood, in the people's pride and in the large number of families, which I met today, that provide fine and decent homes, bringing up their children to fulfill their potential and contribute to their community."

"On the other hand, we are at the court see the social costs that too many others pay as a result of multiple hardships stemming from this same neighborhood environment."

"I, therefore, felt obliged to call for a change in a policy that concentrated public housing in certain areas only and, in effect, closes the doors to many for a larger community participation and greater opportunities as well."

"I regret the use of the word 'ghetto,'" said Kramer in a post-tour interview. "and I certainly apologize."

He said he plans to use the friendly relationships established on the walking tour, especially with the Rev. Haskins and the Revs. Francis Kelly and Richard DeVeer of St. Boniface Church, to aid his court's probation officers in dealing with the area's youths.

"I am impressed with the clergy here," said the judge, "and their close relationship to the community. That is a strength that we in the court system should tap into to help young people in trouble with the law."

"I hope to continue the relationship that was established here today. I plan to have my probation officers meet with the clergy during the next few weeks."

"Sometimes things that have unhappy beginnings have happy endings," said Mrs. Judy Kolson, at whose Palmer St. home the Germantown residents and the judge met over coffee and Danish.

A scant 24 hours before, those same residents of Germantown were expressing outrage over Kramer's remarks.

"We are serving public notice to anyone who wants to take a calculated shot at

Make-up Clinics For Flu Shots Oct. 11, 18

Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey announces there will be free make-up clinics Thursdays, Oct. 11 and 18, for Quincy residents only, at the John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

The clinic, Oct. 11, from 5 to 7 p.m. will accommodate city workers and other people in the working force, as well as "at greater risk" individuals.

On Oct. 18, the clinic will be held from 2 to 4 p.m.

These special clinics are for adults, age 29 years and over, who were unable to attend previous clinics.

All signs point to an increasing incidence of influenza this coming winter, says Dr. Hussey who recommends that individuals at greatest risk build up their immunity before the flu season.

Shut-Ins should call the Health Department at 773-1380, Ext. 239 to arrange a house visit as soon as possible.

GROUND BREAKING for the $200 million Crown Colony Place development in West Quincy drew city, state and company officials, including, left to right, Paul Tortolani, deputy commissioner of economic development; City Councillor James A. Sheets, Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, Mayor Francis X. McCauley, George M. Lovejoy Jr., president of Meredith and Grew; and Sen. Paul D. Harold.

Contract Awarded For Quincy Ave., Washington St. Work

The Simeone Corp. of Stoughton has been awarded the contract for a two-phase state road project on Quincy Av. (Route 53) and Washington (Route 3A) in Quincy, State Senator Paul D. Harold and Ward 2 City Councillor Ted DeCristofaro announced.

Work in the $252,108 state contract will include resurfacing Route 53 from the General Dynamics Shipyard to Shaw's Market, starting shortly, Harold said.

When that phase is completed, work will begin to install sidewalks on Route 3A from Chubbuck Street to the Fore River traffic rotary, Councillor DeCristofaro reported.

The contractor has 60 calendar days to complete the work, excluding the winter period, Nov. 15 to April 15, so that completion will depend on weather conditions.

Houghs Neck Council To Honor Residents

Former Ward 1 Councillor Leo J. Kelly and four Houghs Neck residents will be honored at the annual Awards Banquet of the Houghs Neck Community Council Sunday, Oct. 21.

The event will begin at 6:30 p.m. at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall, Darrow St.

Honored for their community service over the years will be James B. Walker, an IBM technical specialist and a volunteer member of the Quincy Underwater Recovery Team of Quincy's Civil Defense organization; John J. Walsh, a life-time resident, chairman of the Nut Island Citizens Advisory Committee and a member of the Federal Environmental Protection Agency who will be cited for his long-time efforts to clean up Quincy Bay.

James Gardner, 18 year old senior at Quincy Votch, will receive a citation for community contributions as July 4th chairman and co-chairman, and for his technical contributions with public address and computerized services.

Mrs. Eric Cyrus Patch is Houghs Neck's Distinguished Senior Citizen of 1984. Arnold Beresen will be master of ceremonies.

Banquet tickets are available from David DiBona, chairman of the event; Dorothy Laing, secretary; Margaretta Radcliffe, ticket chairman; and at the Houghs Neck Community Center.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

Flea Market Kicks Off

GOP Rebuilding In Ward 5

The Ward Five Republican Committee will hold a flea market Saturday, Oct. 13, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at 106 Willow St., Wollaston, in a fund-raising effort to help rebuild the party in Quincy.

"There is a lot of talk about grassroots movements," said Committee Chairman Richard Lockhead, "but the wards and precincts are the real grassroots of our political system.

"We must start one person, one precinct, one ward at a time until the two-party system is rejuvenated."

Rainbow's End Granted Old Gold License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The License Board voted 3 to 2 Tuesday to grant an old gold, jewelry, diamonds, silver and estate furniture license to Rainbow's End Jeweler, Inc., 294 Water St., Quincy.

Voting against the license were Fire Chief Edward Barry and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald who gave no reasons for their actions.

Granting of the license reversed the board's denial of the request from Lawrence A. Dreyfus in April.

The board granted the license this week after going into executive session for about 25 minutes to "discuss the past criminal history and behavior patterns of the individual," said Police Chief Francis Finn.

Atty. Nathaniel Sherman, who represented Dreyfus, said that his client has operated the business for 10 years.

Sherman also referred to Dreyfus' history saying, "who among us hasn't grown up and made mistakes."

Jackie Quirk, aide to Councillor James Sheets, said that the residents of the area have no objections to the request.

She reminded the board that at the April meeting, Dreyfus had agreed to upgrade the building where the business is located if the license were granted.

Chief Finn made the motion to grant the license for a six month trial period. He explained that David Rowell, Chief of Detectives, had stated that granting the license would be in his best interest since it would give the police daily access to bookkeeping records.

Health Commr. Dr. M. Grace Hussey seconded the motion, and City Clerk John Gillis was also in favor.

The license was granted with the stipulation that Dreyfus enter into an agreement with the Neighborhood Housing Services to upgrade the outside of the building.

Trudy Buckley Named To Council On Aging

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has announced the appointment of Trudy Buckley to the Council on Aging replacing Eleanor M. Reidy who resigned to return to work as the mayor's personal secretary.

Mrs. Buckley has been active in local affairs for many years. She was an original member on the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women and served as chairperson for one year.

She was a member of the planning committee that raised funds resulting in the establishment of St. Boniface Parish and church. She has served as corresponding secretary for several local business and professional associations.

Before her retirement, she was a receptionist and secretary for W.E. Hutton and Co. of Boston.

Mrs. Buckley was the first woman member of the Boston Securities Traders Association. She was nominated for Who's Who in American Women in 1974. She has been a warden for City of Quincy elections since 1968.

She is a member and past president of Striker's Bowling League and a member of Gull Point Yacht Club.

Reader's Forum Squantum Pastor Disturbed Over City Clock Appropriation

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The story in today's Quincy Sun (Oct. 4) that the Quincy City Council has appropriated $6,800 to paint the city-owned clock in the steeple of the United First Parish Church is disturbing.

It is reported that the federal government had been asked to provide funds for the job but such funds were not forthcoming because "the request got tangled up in the church-state separation issue."

Well, for good reason. Why should any government money, city or federal, be used to improve the building of a particular congregation?

Richard K. Domas of the Planning Department is reported to have said, "One way around this impasse quickly is to use city funds to do the first phase (painting) with funding of a subsequent phase to be decided after we hear from HUD."

City Solicitor Dean Nicastro says he has never been specifically asked to research the church-state issue on this matter. He has concluded that the city has a responsibility to maintain the clock because the city owns the clock. The city also owns the bell that was put in in 1960.

What is a city-owned clock doing in a building used for sectarian worship? Indeed, why has the city paid for any improvements or repairs to a building owned by a church of a particular religious denomination?

The argument that "the clock in the steeple was installed by the city in 1951 apparently for the convenience of the city's residents" is no answer. If the city residents needed a clock, in addition to the very large one already on the South Shore bank, it could just as well have been put on City Hall.

And where will it stop? Is there anything in or on the steeple or the exterior of the United First Parish Church that the city will not pay for?

The principle of separation of church and state is not just an "impasse" to be gotten around quickly. It is an important guarantee of our religious liberty.

It seems to me that, under the circumstances, the congregation of the United First Parish Church should pay its own maintenance costs.

If for one, as a Baptist and a taxpayer, do not want one dollar of my tax money to be used to repair the building, the bell or the clock of anyone's church.

If the separation of church and state means anything, it surely means that.

Rev. Keith Munson To Respond To Letter

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Rev. Eugene A. Langevin was thoughtful in hand-delivering to me a copy of his letter to you concerning the action of the City Council when it appropriated funds to repair and maintain their clock in the belfry of "The Church of the Presidents".

I do wish to respond to his letter and plan to do so in next week's issue. However, may I point out at this time that there are a number of inaccuracies in his letter. (Some of these were taken from your article appearing in the Oct. 4 issue). Furthermore, a study of American history, and particularly the development of New England communities, reveals how certain practices developed.

I shall try to help Rev. Langevin understand some of the background of the present situation in next week's issue.

How Rodriguez Sees It

To many in Quincy, Alex Rodriguez is an enemy who blackened the city's name when he insisted on an "escort service" for minorities seeking housing.

To others, the chairman of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination is a spearhead in the fight for equal opportunity in housing and employment on the South Shore.

Rodriguez was in Quincy last week to help present the South Shore Coalition for Human Rights' Citizen of the Year Award to his friend Judge Albert Kramer, presiding justice of Quincy District Court.

He noted the role of Kramer, then a state representative, played in the drafting of an executive order for affirmative action in Massachusetts by nodding to Kramer and remarking:

"If you really want to know who got us to escort services..."

Rodriguez was criticized editorially by The Quincy Sun which called his escort plan demand a "gross insult" to Quincy.

In fairness to Rodriguez we present his side of the issue and his philosophy without our comment as laid out by him as keynote speaker at the Kramer award presentation:

"I received a letter from a person in this town during the little event of the last few months (escort plan demand) and in the letter the person said:

"My mother raised 11 children and they all went out and worked for what they got, assuming that perhaps some of us didn't.

"I wrote a draft back and pointed out that my mother had 13 children. Four of them didn't make it to two years old. Five of them are males. Two of them are in wheelchairs, one from the second World War and one from Korea. Another one is the victim of six years in Vietnam.

"We worked for this country. We worked for what we got. Nobody gave us anything. But we didn't do it on our own. I'm so offended when I hear, especially young minority people tell me, 'I made it on my own.' Nobody makes it on their own."

Rodriguez added:

"America's greatest error on the issue of racism is the continuation of the advantage for those who took advantage in the first instance, not to slight a population but to remind you who that was in our history—western European white men who came here for their advantage; who slaughtered the native American; who enslaved the black people for 300 years...That's history. But don't deny it. It's real. Let's try to make it right."

He quoted the late Dr. Martin Luther King as saying: "The Negro in America is here to collect the payment owed for 300 years of hard labor. But it is not sufficient that you just pay us for that labor in the form of guaranteed rights. I want the interest on that debt and the interest shall be known as affirmative action."

"We (at the MCAD) take law enforcement seriously. Our goal is to get the public to understand our role. We are law enforcers. There's no place else to go if your civil rights have been violated in this state. You have to come to us.

"We have to get the people in this Commonwealth to understand that our role is no different than the traffic cop. When you run that red light he doesn't explain much. He writes out a ticket and says, 'good night.' We've got to get it to where I don't explain much. I don't apologize for what I do. What I do is the law. It's right. The towns and the cities in this Commonwealth are going to learn to do as the law."

"I didn't pick on Dedham (when he had federal and state funds withheld). All we asked Dedham to do is the money you've got to follow the rules. Dedham never got the money because Dedham never followed the rules."

"We will have succeeded if we perpetuate the discomfort in those who would carry forth the negativity of the isms. We've got to keep going. We've got to keep moving on. We've got to declare in 1984 that racism and the other isms is a clear mental illness. We shall treat those brothers and sisters with this mental illness."

"The beating of five sailors, three of them black and one hispanic, in Houghs Neck shouldn't be a blemish on a community but don't run and hide when it happens. Shake your fingers at those boys. Shame on them. I do it in Boston. What's wrong with saying you live in a racist city when it's racist? I live in Boston. It's a racist city."

"South Boston has no black people living in it. It's my city. I am ashamed of that. But I want to change that. Let's not run away from reality."

HOME BUYING PSYCHOLOGY

QUESTION: Just how important a factor is overpricing when selling a home?

ANSWER: Buyers buy homes by comparison. The average buyer is no slouch. He'll shop a particular neighborhood and home-type. He'll rarely buy the first one he visits. It's too big an investment to be nonchalant. He will then compare prices against comparative value. He'll quickly throw out any obviously overpriced homes.

If the buyer really likes an overpriced home, he may make a counter offer at a lower price—closer to its true value. But history shows that he'll probably make his offer for one already realistically valued. Overpricing will hurt a sale.

OVERPRICING WILL HURT a sale more than anything else. Buyers compare prices, so you'll lose some excellent prospects.

Kramer Apologizes To Germantown For 'Ghetto' Remarks

us," said Peter Kolson when the delegation visited The Quincy Sun Monday. "We are not going to stand for it anymore."

The Germantown residents particularly objected to Kramer's remark that their children were "culturally trapped."

"I see that the judges in my court and my probation officers see that every day," he said.

"Mothers struggle so hard on limited incomes and sacrifice so they can take their children to the ballet, to concerts, to museums," said Thelma Rogers, a resident of public housing in Germantown for 34 years.

"What Judge Kramer said disabuses the children of all that idea. I'd like him to go to Quincy High School and Broadmeadows Middle School with our kids and see what they have to face because of what he said."

"I can see parents in other sections of the city telling their children, 'It's those kids from Germantown again. You stay away from them,'" said City Councillor Michael T. Cheney.

Far from being culturally deprived, Jean Kennedy, who brought up six children during her 33 years residency in Germantown, reminded Kramer that a Germantown boy, John Faulkner, won a Fulbright scholarship a few years ago.

"Just because we have low incomes does not mean we don't like cultural things," she said.

"Obviously, Judge Kramer has no understanding of the community," said Peter Kolson. "He is judging the whole Germantown community by the people he see in his courtroom."

Judge Kramer used Germantown as an example of how South Shore communities segregate people "due to patterns of living, not out of any deliberate discrimination."

"We segregate our residents from one another," he said. "Look at Germantown. It is a white ghetto.

JUDGE ALBERT L. KRAMER gets together with Abe Cohen, president of the South Shore Coalition on Human Rights, after receiving the Coalition's Citizen of the Year Award.

We segregate those without means from those that have means, educated from the uneducated.

"We have culturally trapped the people in those neighborhoods and the children of those neighborhoods. I see that and the judges in my court and my probation officers see that every day.

"Kids who live within two blocks, they are geographically and culturally trapped and they don't get out. They think taking a trip is down to the park. They don't know of other ideas. They don't know of other types of people. They don't know of other types of experiences. They are trapped and locked into that.

"What does that breed? It breeds crime. It breeds incest. It breeds family violence. It breeds alcoholism. All the kinds of conduct that we in the courts have to deal with."

"Obviously," said Councillor Cheney in a statement issued for the residents, "the judge does not know Germantown and the positive programs that allow children to interact.

"There are no children in Germantown discriminated against in any programs offered by Quincy. The people of Germantown are upset that he singled out Germantown."

Spokesmen for the Germantown community were equally adamant that Kramer had cast a slur on their area.

"We are being used as a whipping boy," said the Rev. Haskins.

"He showed his ignorance of Germantown. He doesn't know what has been going on in the last few years to foster community spirit. Perhaps he is trying to get people upset and respond in other parts of the city."

"Everyone got angry over the word ghetto," said Fr. Kelly. "Maybe its the rest of Quincy that is the ghetto. Maybe we are the whipping boy.

"I've been here for a year and everybody has taken a shot at Germantown. They see it as a bad place. But we don't need to apologize. Everybody else had better grow up."

Both the Rev. Haskins and Fr. Kelly said they felt Kramer did not mean to attack Germantown specifically.

"He used Germantown to take a shot at Quincy," said the Rev. Haskins. "He is not down on Germantown. He exaggerated to use it to make a point."

"Germantown is a mixed community, economically and culturally," said Judy Kolson, Peter's wife. "It's the kind of community Judge Kramer likes to see happen. And it's people like Kramer who destroy these communities.

"No one cares about the good things we have. It falls on deaf ears. People like this judge decide what we are. He has judged many by a few and that is the worst form of discrimination."

"Germantown is what helped me to bring up three children all alone," said Charlene McDonald, director of the Germantown Neighborhood Center. "The people here come together when something happens.

"It's an unfair generalization to describe Germantown as a community in which no one takes pride."

NLRB Election At Fore River Is Postponed

The National Labor Relations Board in Washington postponed for the third time an election at the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River shipyard to see if workers wanted to be represented in collective bargaining by the CIO's International Union of Marine and Ship Workers of America.

The delay was sought by the CIO union so that some 1,445 workers who had been furloughed for lack of work in July could be brought back on the payroll in time to cast their votes.

The rival Independent Union of Fore River Workers fired off telegrams to Rep. Richard Wigglesworth and Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire complaining that the NLRB was "pro-CIO" and that the postponement would seriously endanger national defense.

The postponement was also protested by Dr. A. Howard Myers, regional NLRB director, over whose head the union took its case directly to Washington.

The election originally was scheduled for 1939, then postponed to Aug. 11, 1941, then to Oct. 22 and now to Nov. 19.

DEFENSE HOUSING

Edwin J. MacEwan, secretary of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce, blamed criticism of local efforts to block a defense housing project in the city on a feud between two high officials in Washington.

John Carmody, public works administrator, had testified in Washington that Quincy banks and real estate interests had unduly influenced Charles F. Palmer, federal housing coordinator, in an effort to defeat the project.

STADIUM ADMISSION

The City Council voted to confer with the superintendent of park, the mayor and the chief of police about the problem of admission charged for events at Municipal Stadium.

Councillor Laurence J. Curtin brought the matter up after the father of a boy who injured his back scaling the stadium wall complained that private interests were making money from public property.

Toodie's Jewelry Concepts

by Howard Jacobs

JEWELRY FOR LIFE

Jewelry is with us our entire lives. The moment a baby is born, a tiny identification bracelet is usually placed around its wrist. It is the very first piece of jewelry in the child's life. Each anniversary is a birthday often celebrated, by family and friends, with gifts of jewelry that convey their love and sentiment. Graduating from high school or college, a child often receives gifts of jewelry from those who rejoice in his accomplishments. And, when love is solemnized by engagement and marriage, these occasions are often further formalized by gifts of precious stones and metals. Other special days, such as Mother's Day and Father's Day and Christmas, are made even more memorable by gifts of jewelry that will be cherished for years.

Even though most jewelry items are purchased for special occasions, you can be the special one by selecting a beautiful jewel for no occasion at all. At TODDIE'S FINE JEWELRY we're pleased to help you all year long with rings, bracelets, gold chains, pendants and earrings. Many pieces you see in our store we have designed ourselves. It is important to patronize a jeweler that takes pride in his work and we certainly do at 1163 Hancock St. Stop in Mon-Fri. 10-6, Sat. 11-4, even. by appt. for distinctive pieces that will set you apart from the crowd. Tel. 479-9484.

Through the ages, jewelry has remained a symbol of power, prestige and distinction.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
"I can forgive, but I cannot forget" is only another way of saying "I cannot forgive."
Many people forgive in this tentative fashion. We agree to forget the past for many reasons. Isn't it easier to keep peace in our family, in our business relationships if we forget what has happened? Yet isn't this forgiving only from the lips? It is not from the heart. Aren't we only admitting that we ought to forgive?
It is difficult to empty our hearts and minds of hurt. Yet forgiveness is the constructive answer to hurts. It alone produces wholeness. It is the answer because it alone heals. True forgiveness means not only saying something but being something. It means that we definitely assume a new attitude toward a person. When attitude is changed, it will not be long before emotion is changed also; and when attitude and emotion have both changed, then and only then, have we truly forgiven.
Forgiveness blesses not only him who receives it, but also the person who gives it...

Actress Expected To Attend Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre Rededication Nov. 10

Wollaston-born actress Ruth Gordon is scheduled to be in Quincy Saturday, Nov. 10, for rededication of the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre in Merrymount Park.

Ceremonies are tentatively scheduled for 11 a.m., and will be followed by a luncheon.

There are also plans for Mayor Francis McCauley to proclaim Nov. 10 "Ruth Gordon Day," according to Joseph LaRaia, president of the South Shore Cultural Commission.

Work on the amphitheatre was begun in March, 1977, during LaRaia's term as mayor. However, work was stopped in October of that year.

A dedication was held at the incompleated amphitheatre in December, 1977.

In the years since then, said LaRaia, major hurdles to its completion have been the 4 per cent tax cap and Prop 2 and one half.

"Since Labor Day, a number of people have been working to seek completion by the end of October," said LaRaia.

"It's 75 per cent done now," said LaRaia, "the rest is cosmetic."

Work is being completed with the support of the Quincy Tourism Association and a number of volunteers such as John Bonomi, a retired carpenter, and Chris Arone, both of West Quincy, said LaRaia.

Students from Quincy Vocational Technical School, and participants in Judge Albert Kramer's Earn It Program have also joined in the effort, said LaRaia.

"The city has pitched in with such things as use of equipment," said LaRaia, "and the South Shore Cultural Commission donated wrought iron railings."

The Marine Band, which performed in Quincy as part of Summerfest, is already scheduled to perform at the amphitheatre July 31, 1985.

"Miss Gordon is very thrilled with completion of the amphitheatre," said LaRaia, "she's looking forward to coming back."

"And the community is anxious to give her the honors due her."

Good Shepherd To Celebrate With Music

The Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd will host an afternoon of music Sunday by Emanuel Choir from Manchester, Ct., as part of a service of dedication of its restored building and rebuilt kitchen.

The event will begin at 4 p.m.

Vandals set a fire in the church building in the evening of Christmas Day causing extensive smoke and water damage and completely destroying the kitchen area. Damage amounted to $55,000.

During the past nine months, work has been accomplished to rebuild the kitchen and restore the interior of the building to its original beauty. The church continues to stand as a source of hope and promise for the neighborhood and its members as it has for the past 30 years, says Rev. Larry J. Peterson, pastor.

What may have been a heartbreaking and bewildering experience now brings people together in celebration, he says. At the time of the fire, Rev. Peterson was quoted as saying, "Nothing will hold us back. Nothing has been cancelled and we won't cancel."

"The people want to have services in their church."

"They now open the doors of their church to the city of Quincy and the surrounding area to celebrate the culmination of their restoration and rebuilding efforts."

In the spirit of thankfulness for the support and concern people showed to them during this time of need, the church invites the community to this afternoon of music and dedication of their new kitchen, says Rev. Peterson.

Those interested in attending are asked to call 328-8348.

The Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd is located on the corner of West Squantum and Harvard Sts.

2 Story Elevator For Handicapped Being Built At St. John's

Construction of a new two-story elevator at St. John's Church at a cost of $111,900 is underway.

The contract for the elevator was awarded by the Archbishop's Diocesan Office to Louis Pasqualucci & Son of Quincy. The expected date of completion of the elevator is December.

Installation of the elevator is to provide access for handicapped and physically disabled parishioners to the upper and lower churches including the church social hall.

The project is made possible through donations of parishioners and friends of St. John's church.

The parish council executive board initiated the suggestion that such an elevator be constructed in conformity with the United States Bishop's Pastoral statement on handicapped people.

The Bishop's statement read:

"...all too often, one hears that there are too few persons with disabilities in a given parish to warrant ramped entrances, special liturgies or education programs. Mere cost must never be exclusive consideration, however, since the provision of free access to religious functions for all interested people is a clear pastoral duty."

"It is essential that all forms of the liturgy be completely accessible to handicapped people, since these forms are the essence of the spiritual tie that binds the Christian community together."

After considerable research and consultation the executive board of St. John's parish council concluded that a ramp would not be feasible because of the height of the upper church and that the possibility of an outside wheelchair lift was deemed impractical because of its limitations.

Handicapped and physically disabled parishioners of St. John's church will have better access to the upper and lower churches upon completion of a new elevator in December. Participating at the project groundbreaking were (left to right) Rev. William R. McCarthy, Pastor, Karen LoPorto, handicapped parishioner, and Rev. Thomas J. Synan, associate pastor.

Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon entitled, "Healing the Brokenhearted" based on texts from Isaiah 61:4 and Acts 3:1-10.

Lay scripture readers will be William F. Greene in the chapel and Kathleen Cronin in the sanctuary. The senior minister, Rev. J. William Arnold, will assist in leading the liturgy at both services.

During the 10 a.m. sanctuary service the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing two anthems. The first selection will be Tchaikovsky's, "O Thou From Whom All Blessings Come," and the second anthem, "His Eye Is On The Sparrow" by Gabriel.

Nursery care for babies will be provided during the 10 a.m. service.

"Handicapped Awareness" will be the topic for the Church School classes held from 10 to 11 a.m. Five members of the church will share with the children what it means to be blind, partially-sighted, or deaf.

Paul Aluisi, Linda Briggs, Cathy Burke, Linda Devin and Karen Irvine will also demonstrate "signing" and various aids used by the blind for reading and writing.

These same five persons will also conduct an Adult Forum to be held in the Bethany Chapel from 11:30 to 12:30.

At 11 a.m., there will be a coffee hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and programs and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

The service will also be broadcast over South Shore Radio Station, WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

For more information about Bethany's ministry and programs, contact Pastor Arnold or the church office at 479-7300.

TEAR GAS

You don't have to be a bank robber, terrorist, or rioter to come in contact with tear gas. In fact, most victims of this gas are normally innocent bystanders. Here is a quick course in case you become one of those "innocent bystanders".

Tear gas causes an acute "instant cold" - tearing eyes, stuffy nose, coughing and hoarseness. If exposed to only a small amount of tear gas in the open air, symptoms usually clear within a few hours. Exposure in a confined area may cause symptoms that last for a day or more. Prolonged contact with a high concentration of the gas may result in damage to the respiratory system.

Once out of the area of exposure, wash the eyes freely with tap water. Wash out the mouth and gargle to remove any chemicals. Clean the skin thoroughly with water. If rubbing alcohol is available, mix it with water - about half a cup to a quart of water, and wash the skin. If symptoms persist or if any chemical came in direct contact with the eye, obtain medical attention.

Convent Sunday Observed At Squantum Church

It was Convent Sunday at the First Church of Squantum Sunday.

Members of the congregation renewed their covenant with God and with each other by reading the Church Covenant during the Lord's Supper. This act of commitment was the heart of the service.

Five persons responded to the pastor's invitation to follow Christ and join the church, including Pat Corey, Pamela Johnston Audrey O'Brian and Janet and Louie Townson. They will be welcomed into the church with the right hand of fellowship this Sunday.

Members of the Youth Choir and the Chancel Choir were wearing new choir robes when they sang Sunday. The robes, which were purchased in memory of John and Vera Malmgren and Duncan C. Preston, were dedicated by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin during the service.

At the time of the offering, pledges of financial support for the church in 1985 from the members were carried to several tables at the front of the sanctuary by the 12 Team Captains of the church's Stewardship Committee.

Team Captains for this year were Barbara Anderson, Calvin Bumpus, Gretchen Bumpus, Don Frazer, Richard Hendry, Gloria Lester, Leon MacIntyre, Helen Miller, Si Porter, Stewart Scott, David Williams and Tom Williamson. Barbara Anderson has been the Chairman of the Stewardship Committee this year. Calvin Bumpus, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, announced that the number of persons pledging this year had more than doubled from the number last year. In addition, a very high percentage of the church members paid their church dues which is given to the denomination.

Members who could not be present but wanted to have their name included among those covenanting had been asked to let the pastor know to include them. Dr. Langevin reported that the number of persons who had contacted him had increased this year, too, so that the total number of persons who have renewed their covenant will be higher than usual.

Hymns sung during the service were "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee," "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," "How Firm A Foundation," "Ye Saints of the Lord" and "Now, O Lord, Go With Us." For the offertory anthem, The Youth Choir and the Chancel Choir sang "Dona Nobis Pacem" in Latin and as arranged by Hal Hopson. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

Dr. Langevin preached on the topic, "Doing The Dirty Work", stressing the need for followers of Jesus to be willing to do things in life that may not always be glamorous.

Greeters for the morning were Karl and Barbara Anderson and their daughter, Marsha. Ushers were Harry Holmes and Tore Wallin. Renee Johnson and Adelaide Nelson hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service. The morning had begun with an all-church Covenant Breakfast sponsored by young people in the church to raise money to help children and others go to Christain camps throughout the year.

After the service, members and friends of the church had the opportunity to sign up for a variety of jobs and committees that will serve throughout the year. The newest project by church members is the washing of three carloads of new dishes given to the church. When the dishes have all been cleaned and sorted, they will be offered to the public for sale.

On Columbus day, persons of all ages from the church spent the day at Grotonwood, a Christian camp in Groton. This is an annual church outing.

Friday, Oct. 12, the Evening Circle of the church is sponsoring a Fashion Show in Fellowship Hall. Fashions will be by Corbin's of North Quincy. The program will begin at 8 p.m.

There will be two services next Sunday, the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

Cook's personality determines solution to space requirements in the kitchen

The problem is the same. Not enough useable space in the kitchen. The solution, however, varies according to the personality of the cook.

According to psychologists and design experts, personality factors play a major role in determining preferences. As Canadian psychologist Brian Little is quoted in Joan Kron's book, Home Psychology, "You are what you prefer to do."

Take that kitchen with a lack of space. Ready solutions would involve eliminating clutter and installing space-saving appliances like the General Electric Spacemaker line. GE's Spacemaker family includes an under-the-cabinet-mounted coffee maker and can opener, and an electric knife that mounts on the wall. The line is color-coordinated and provides more working space on counter-tops.

Other solutions, however, are less obvious. Here, for example, are how various personality types might solve the problem.

• The Compulsive Organizer—Making order out of chaos drives this person. He or she might focus on wall spaces or cabinets as areas to be arranged or accessorized.

Copper pans would be hung in an attractive arrangement from available wall space or a ceiling rack. Spice jars taking up space inside a cupboard would be placed on a wall or cabinet-mounted spice rack and arranged alphabetically.

• The Trend-Setter—Having the "newest" look is important to this person. Today a taste for the simple, minimal look. Few kitchen appliances would be on view, and those that would reflect the latest gourmet trends such as a food processor.

This kitchen might feature built-in cabinets, breakfast nook, storage areas and track lighting. The more spare the background, the better, no kitchen curtains or patterned wallpaper here.

• The Do-It-Yourselfer—Control is the goal and the answer to a space problem is enlargement. If cabinet space is too limited, install larger cabinets. Dishwashers and trash compactors can also be built in.

Appliances can be attached underneath cabinets or given their own special niches. In addition to saving space, this also provides a tremendous sense of accomplishment.

• The Good Housekeeper—This type can't tolerate the sight of dirt or clutter. Spills on the dining table, crumbs on the floor, smudges on the countertop are all personally offensive.

When there is a space problem, this cook might opt for a smaller oven but one with self-cleaning features and new linoleum in a pattern that makes the space seem larger but that is made of dirt-resistant material.

A handy built-in floor-to-ceiling broom closet filled with a complete supply of cleaning items is dear to this type.

A small, cramped kitchen with a lack of space is a real problem. Developing a solution, however, may be primarily a question of knowing your own personality.

THE COMPULSIVE ORGANIZER—When space is at a premium, General Electric's color-coordinated Spacemaker line, including an under-the-cabinet-mounted coffeemaker, can opener and an electric knife that mounts on the wall, helps eliminate clutter and organize space.

GIVE YOUR ROOF THE LOOK OF WOOD coupled with a UL Class A fire resistance rating, a UL wind resistance label, and a 30-year prorated warranty with "Woodlands" fiber glass shingles. Also, Woodlands is priced far below wood shakes or wood shingles. Manufactured by Manville, "Woodlands" comes in a wide variety of color blends.

Wood-look shingles deliver beauty and fire protection

Those who sell residential roofing products often hear the following from frustrated homeowners: "If I buy wood shakes I lose fire resistance, plus they cost lots of money; but we love the prestigious look that wood delivers. Any alternatives?"

The answer is a definite yes! Manufacturers of residential roofing products have spent much time and money in developing quality products that give a wood look, provide safety, and cost far less than wood shakes or shakes. Moreover, these "wood look" shingles come in a variety of color blends that can complement a home's surrounding environment.

An example of such a "wood look" shingle is Manville's "Woodlands." "Woodlands" is a three-dimensional fiber glass shingle incorporating exceptional texture and color and producing dramatic shadow lines. Featuring a 30-year prorated warranty, "Woodlands" has been selected to roof some of America's finest homes.

To illustrate, Manville shingles were specified on 18 of 22 show homes in this year's Cincinnati HomeArama, the nation's oldest and most prestigious home show. Eight of these HomeArama homes wore "Woodlands." Carrying an Underwriters Laboratories (UL) Class A fire rating (the highest attainable) and a UL wind resistance label (tested to withstand gale force winds of up to and including 54 mph for an hour), "Woodlands" gives a homeowner "more value" for his hard-earned dollar. Woodlands is priced significantly below wood shakes or shingles.

Manville offers a free color brochure on the "Woodlands" shingle by writing Manville Service Center, 1601 23rd St., Denver, CO 80216, and requesting Woodlands brochure number RF-279.

So, if you're one of those homeowners frustrated by the price and lack of fire protection inherent in wood shingles and shakes, but nevertheless want the distinctive beauty of wood, consider a fiber glass "wood look" shingle. Be sure to carefully compare texture, color and the available guarantee. A new roof is a major investment that not only adds attractiveness and safety but resale value to your home.

Stencil your way to a cozy country kitchen for added warmth and charm

As the cold weather sets in, family and visiting friends gravitate toward the warmth of the kitchen. This fall, turn your kitchen into an especially inviting gathering place with the cozy country look of wood stenciling.

Stenciled decorations can enhance a variety of unfinished wooden surfaces throughout the kitchen. Perform stencil artistry on cabinets, floors, walls, wooden window frames, chairs and tables. All it takes is a little imagination and some basic stenciling supplies starting with "Rit" dye in "country kitchen" colors: Avocado, Cardinal Red, Marine Blue, Golden Yellow and Chestnut Brown.

To add rustic charm to your kitchen, copy a ready-made stencil or design your own combination of such folkloric motifs as flowers, fruit, birds, hearts and borders. Trace out stencil designs onto a sheet of waxed stencil paper and cut the design out with an art-blade knife. Prepare a hot concentrated dye solution in the colors you've chosen (mix half cup liquid dye in one pint hot water; or, dissolve one package powder dye in one pint hot water).

Lap the stencil securely onto the unfinished wooden item you're decorating and hold the inner edges tightly against the item as you work. Using a blunt, stiff paintbrush, make quick, light strokes to paint your design, working your way from the edges of the stencil toward the center. Be sure to allow each color design to dry completely before applying adjacent stencils.

Note: You must cut a new stencil for every color used to keep colors from blending together into unwanted shades. After the completed design has dried thoroughly, protect the design with a coating of varnish or polyurethane.

Once you've admired the beautiful results, you may want to add every decorative stencil design to every room in the house!

LIGHT WORK—Tips on selecting and installing the newest types of skylights are contained in a free consumer information booklet. Photo courtesy of Wasco Products.

In the dark about skylights? This booklet will shed light

Skylights, those overhead windows that let in the sunshine, are home improvements that often pay for themselves by boosting home resale values.

Besides, a plain old-fashioned ceiling can be boring. With a skylight, you trade some white plaster for an ever-changing pattern of sunlight, starlight, and moonbeams.

To help homeowners select and install skylights, Wasco Products Inc. has published a full-color handbook, available free of charge. The company is the nation's largest maker of premium-grade skylights for home use.

The 36-page handbook provides photos showing how skylights can be used for dramatic decorating effects. There's a guide for selecting the shape, color, and size of skylight.

For do-it-yourselfers, there are step-by-step installation instructions, beginning with measuring and marking the ceiling location for the skylight. Each step is illustrated with a how-to photo. There's even a checklist of necessary tools.

The focus is on factory assembled skylights, which are easier to install and offer built-in features—such as an insulating curb on which the window rests—that otherwise have to be constructed separately. Ready-made units are considered to be the most weather-tight and energy efficient.

To obtain a copy of the free handbook, write to Wasco Products Inc., Dept. HB, Box 351, Sanford, ME 04073.

Home improvement shorts

A desire for more energy efficient homes has led to the re-evaluation of skylights, says APC Corp., of Hawthorne, N.J.

Not only can skylights reduce the need for artificial indoor lighting, but they can also take advantage of passive solar heat gain in winter to supplement heating systems. For winter solar heat gain, install skylights in roofs that are angled toward the sun. Double-domed acrylic glazing lets the sunlight penetrate the skylight where its heat is captured to warm the house.

One of the best ways to make your home energy efficient is to install insulation. When you do it yourself, says the Mineral Insulation Manufacturers Association, you save even more. Somewhere are the savings more dramatic than in the attic.

When does a home improvement project require a building permit? The Andersen Corporation of Bayport, Minn., a leading manufacturer of windows and sliding patio doors, says that, generally, a building permit is necessary whenever structural work is planned or when the basic living area is changed.

Raiders Ready For Weymouth North

North Quincy's football team had something to prove last Sunday after being trampled by Brockton, 41-0, the previous week.

The Raiders, playing what Coach Ken McPhee called "the pivotal game of the season," proved their mettle by going out and defeating Newton North, 18-6, to even their record at 2-2.

This win should put the Raiders in a good position when they host former Suburban League rival Weymouth North at 10:15 a.m. Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Weymouth pulled out a last-second 26-20 win a year ago.

Weymouth North, which has been winning since moving to the Old Colony League, takes a 3-1 record into the game, having defeated Braintree, Taunton and Hingham, while bowing to undefeated Plymouth-Carver. One of its assistant coaches is Tom Fitzgerald, longtime North Quincy assistant and former Quincy head coach.

"I told the boys this was the pivotal game of the year," said McPhee, who was extremely pleased by the win. "I told them they had to forget the Brockton game and go out and win, because we still have a chance to have an excellent season. And they really proved themselves."

North unleashed its best offense of the season as it gained 412 yards overall, including 345 yards on the ground. The defense held Newton to 115 yards overall.

North stuck to the ground and Dave Zuroms threw only four passes, completing two for 37 yards and a touchdown. Steve Kelly had a great day with 158 yards in 16 carries and two touchdowns, while Mike Barry had 117 yards on 17 carries. Zuroms carried four times for 48 yards and Joe Bangs five times for 22 yards.

North had 17 first downs to five for Newton, which had 97 yards through the air on 18 completions.

The Raiders' offensive line was outstanding as it opened good holes for the ball carriers. Especially outstanding, were Larry Nialez, Billy Doherty, Jerry Coughlin, Jack Hanna and Richie Brooks. Brooks punted well and got off one 56-yard boot.

The defense had another good day and Dave Cooke shone in particular as he had nine unassisted tackles, recovered two fumbles and intercepted a pass.

Also playing excellent games were John Rency, Al DiBella, Bob Bradley, Ken Runge, Steve Dever, Joe Morrissey, Rich Horrigan, who also looked good offensively and caught a 31-yard pass, and Tim Sullivan.

Bangs came up with a key play when he knocked down a Newton pass in the end zone to prevent a touchdown.

North took the lead in the opening quarter when Kelly, who had earlier run for 20 yards, raced 25 yards for the touchdown. Zuroms ran for 18 yards and Barry for 17 on the drive.

In the second quarter Zuroms passed to Brooks for six yards and the second score, and in the fourth quarter Kelly capped an 8--yard scoring drive by going over from the one.

Newton averted a shutout in the third session on a four-yard pass from Jack Halloran to Alex DeNucci, following two 15-yard penalties against the Raiders. Steve Miller blocked the kick for an extra point.

NORTH QUINCY quarterback Dave Zuroms finds room as he goes for a gain against Newton North. Newton's John Morrissey (50) closes in for tackle.

STEVE KELLY, who ran for 158 yards and scored twice, picks up good yardage for North Quincy against Newton North.

Champion Elks Honored At Banquet

The Quincy Elks, city Babe Ruth League champions with a 21-9 record, were honored recently at a team banquet at the Winfield House as guests of the owner, Mrs. Strout. Parents of the players and the coaches' wives attended.

Ray Cattaneo, coach of the Morrisette Legion baseball team, was the speaker and spoke of his experiences as a minor league player and Legion coach and warned of the evils of drugs, alcohol and tobacco on the athletes of today.

Tom Walsh, Elks exalted ruler, congratulated the team and the coaches presented each player with a baseball autographed by the players and coaches, and a team picture.

After the coaches spoke on each player's contribution to the team, Fred Connolly, a trustee of the Elks, presented each player with a jacket given by the Elks. The players and coaches presented the Elks with an autographed ball on a large holder and a team

North Girls Swim To Win Over Weymouth South

The North Quincy girls' swim team evened its record at 2-2 last week with an easy 112-45 victory over Weymouth South and the Raiderettes' Julie Killion continues her outstanding diving.

Killion last year placed seventh in the state diving championships and after four meets this fall, she has already qualified for the sectional championships and recently broke the school record with a score of 216.75 in a losing cause against Brockton. It was the first time a North diver had scored 200 points.

She not only shattered the school mark but added 46 points to her best score. In the win over Weymouth South Killion again won the diving with 199.05 points.

Other winning Raiderettes were the 200-yard medley relay team of Killion, Liz Harrington, Donna King and Georgia Traficante (2:19.6); Stacy Quintiliani in the 200 freestyle (2:23.7); 100 butterfly, Donna King (1:26); 500 freestyle, Stacy Quintiliani (6:28.9); 100 backstroke, Caroline Krantz (1:22.7); and the 400 freestyle relay team of Diane Mullin, Kristen McCree, Krantz and Quintiliani (4:50.8).

Placing second were mullin, 200 freestyle; King, 200 individual medley; Stephanie Francis, 50 freestyle; Kathy Koski, diving; Cathy DeFranc, 100 butterfly; Killion, 100 freestyle; McCree, 500 freestyle; Michelle Casey, 100 backstroke; Harrington, 100 breaststroke; and the 400 freestyle relay team of Wendy Adams, Amy Maginnis, DeFranc and Francis.

Taking third places were Harrington, 200 individual medley; DeFranc, 50 freestyle; Ann O'Sullivan, diving; Jackie Fennessy, 100 backstroke; and Lisa Rodriguez, 100 breaststroke.

Quincy's new coach, Janet Keyes, has just 12 swimmers and the First Ladies don't appear to have the depth to win any meets, but she has some fine individual performers including Rene Gauer, twins Patty and Gail Morrell, all freshmen and upperclassmen Colleen Craig and Nancy Mellyn.

The North girls faced Brookline Tuesday, will be at Canton today (Thursday) and next Tuesday will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin at 3:30 at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

The Quincy girls met Weymouth-North Tuesday, will host Waltham Friday at 3:30 at the Lincoln-Hancock pool and next Tuesday will be at Weymouth South.

Quincy In Win Over Chelsea

Craig Capaccioli scored on a 25-yard pass from Glenn Fleischer and Dick Maloney, the 200-pound fullback, bulled over for the second touchdown as the Quincy High School football team defeated Chelsea, 13-0, at Chelsea.

The home team managed to get the ball in Quincy territory only twice, reaching the 46-yard-line before Jim Papile intercepted a pass and moving to the 43 on a 15-yard Quincy penalty.

The Quincy lineup included: L. Papile, Doherty, Cantelli, Mattson, Peterson, DiTullio, ends; Craig, Mollica, Holbrook, Faherty, Oliverio, tackles; Pecce, Salvucci, McHoul, McKeagney, guards; J. Papile, Cedrone, centers.

Fleischer, Jolly, Conroy, McInnis, Capaccioli, LaCroix, Maloney, Paolucci, backs.

MANETS WIN

Jimmy Connolly, Bill Piscone and Joe Zapustas scored the touchdowns as the Quincy Manets spotted Abington Oldtown an early six point lead and then roared back for a 19-6 victory at Abington.

The Manets lineup included: Harrison, McDonald, Piscone, ends; Prather, Chestra, Mahon, tackles; Kaufman, Costello, Schwartz, guards; J. Condon, Pace, centers; Zapustas, Donovan, Spirida, Connolly, Franchuk, backs.

NORTH BOWS

Frank Cavallo and George Hodgdon led Weymouth to a 27-0 lead at halftime and the Maroons went on to win their 18th straight victory, 34-0, over the North Quincy High School football team at Municipal Stadium.

QUINCY ALUMNI, 14-0

Don Buckley scored both touchdowns and ran for the extra points as the Quincy Alumni bested the Cunningham AC of Milton, 14-0.

NORTH ALUMNI, 9-0

Eddie Perry and Pete Zoia spearheaded the attack but bill Moody scored the touchdown that gave the North Quincy Alumni a 9-0 victory over the South Quincy Wanderers.

The North lineup included: Beebe, Stephensky, Underwood, Porter ends; Kirstad, Hourihan, Backus, Quinn, tackles; Young, Noble, Darcy, DiCarlo, Murphy, guards; Swindler, Huntley, centers; P. Cooke, Hannigan, Zoia, Larkin, Huenche, Perry, McCauley, Phinney, Hurley, Moody, backs.

Presidents Have Another Problem: Everett

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy's first-year football coach, Jack Raymer, watched a horror show last Friday night and he would like to erase it from his mind.

The Presidents, trying to rebound from hard-to-take losses to Brookline and Waltham, met a strong Malden team, the favorite to win the Greater Boston League title, at Malden.

The 34-0 horror show started soon after the opening kickoff as Quincy was decimated by injuries and before the opening quarter was over, quarterback Bill Shaughnessy was the only regular back on the field and Raymer was forced to go with sophomores and juniors, most seeing their first varsity action.

"It was like our jayvees playing their varsity for most of the game," Raymer said after seeing his team's record fall to 1-3. "And the sad part of it is we may have the same team facing Everett (another GBL power) that finished up at Malden. Some of our starters definitely won't play and others are questionable."

•Volleyball

Quincy hosts Everett Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium and, with so many injuries, the Presidents will have their troubles trying to avenge last season's 14-0 defeat.

Quincy's troubles began even before the game began with big fullback Joe Cullen unable to play because of an earlier injury. Then, soon after the game started, junior Dave Britt, who had worked hard and was seeing his first varsity action, suffered a broken ankle and was taken to the Malden Hospital where he will remain for a few days.

"It happened right in front of me and it took the heart out of the players," Dave had worked so hard to work his way into the varsity," Raymer said. "It is a shame that he had to suffer such an injury in the opening minutes of his first varsity game."

Things went downhill from there as Daron Tucker, who had sat out much of the Waltham game with severely bruised ribs, left the game a few minutes later with a hip injury and Gerry Frazier who, like Tucker, is a standout two-way player, went out with a bruised shoulder.

Later in the game, starting end Mark Callahan and defensive standout John O'Callaghan also left with injuries as did Joe Conti, standout punter and defensive star.

"The bright spot for us was the performance of Shaughnessy, whom I consider one of the best quarterbacks around," Raymer said. "He threw some great passes and looked like a college quarterback, but again our receivers couldn't hold on to the ball. We lost two sure touchdowns because of dropped passes and he had several other strikes dropped. Malden's quarterback (Steve Monaco) is rated tops in the Greater Boston League and Shaughnessy did a better job."

Sophomore Steve Picarski started at fullback and did an excellent job and sophomore quarterback Steve Austin ran the team well late in the game. Ted McCall, playing his first varsity game, and Chris Veneto also did well.

Another sophomore, George McGuiness, played an excellent game as did

Don Parry and Mark Porzio.

"The offensive line did a great job and gave Shaughnessy good protection," said Raymer, who singled out Pat Calabro, Steve Perfetto, P. J. Duggan, Kevin Burke, Rich Pettinelli and Conti and O'Callaghan before their injuries.

Malden took a 12-0 halftime lead on a one-yard sneak by Monaco and a three-yard run by Paul Demayo. Shaughnessy threw a 50-yard bomb to Conti, who was all alone but dropped the ball. "We might have come out trailing only 12-8 at the half and it could have given us some momentum starting the second half," Raymer said.

In the third quarter Malden's Reggie Hayes scored on a 40-yard run and a pass was good for the two-point conversion, and later in the quarter Malden made it 27-0 on a pass from Monaco to Bob McIver and Monaco kicked the point.

Malden showed no mercy in the final session as the starters added another touchdown against Quincy's embattled young reserves when Hayes raced 65 yards and Monaco kicked the point.

Quincy moved the ball well in the second half and a long drive stalled on Malden's 20 on an incomplete pass. Austin then drove the Presidents to the Malden 15 but a completed pass was dropped when the receiver was hit hard.

Kevin Devonshire recovered a fumble on Malden's 25 but time ran out as the Presidents reached the one.

"It would have been nice to get on the scoreboard," said Raymer. "I want to give our sophomores and juniors a lot of credit for their efforts, they did a fine job against tremendous odds."

Quincy Girls Defeat Cambridge

The Quincy girls' volleyball team continued to roll last week as it defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin and Newton South to improve its record to 6-1.

Cambridge gave the First Ladies a tough battle but the Quincy girls won, 15-7 and 16-14, after dropping the first game, 15-10.

Quincy trailed, 14-10, in the third game but came back to pull out the victory behind Mario LeVangie and sophomore Ginny Duggan's clutch serving and the fine defensive play of Pam Austin.

Quincy swept Newton South, 15-2, 15-7, with sophomore Lauren Standing serving well. Senior Terry McLoughlin ran the offense and tri-captain Beth Veneto dominated the game with six kills.

The Quincy girls will host Waltham Friday at 3:30 and will be at Brockton next Wednesday.

The North Quincy girls ended a five-game losing streak with two wins last week.

The Raiderettes swept by Cambridge, 15-13, 15-12, as Jean Welby opened the first game with five straight serve for points. Co-Capt. Ann Duggan and Noreen Connolly played excellent games.

North also swept Waltham, 15-9, 15-1, with Welby again the top server and Ann Duncan and Stacey Carvalho playing strong games.

The Raiderettes played Brockton yesterday (Wednesday) and will host Brookline next Wednesday at 3:30 p.m.

Brownell Survey Favors New Water Authority

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has announced the results of a poll taken by his office in August on a number of issues currently pending before the State Legislature.

"I am very pleased at the results of our survey," he said. "The response was excellent for a poll of this type in that over 40 per cent of the people took the time and effort to fill out the questionnaire and mail it back to our office."

The results of the poll indicate that Brownell's constituency is very much in favor of legislation to repair the public infrastructure and improve environmental quality.

By a wide 24-point margin, respondents indicated their support of the Governor's proposal to create the Metropolitan Water Resources Authority. Forty-three per cent were in support, 19 per cent in opposition, and 39 per cent undecided.

Quincy voters also expressed their support of the establishment of MassBank, a public bank to finance the restoration of the state's infrastructure. Fifty-one per cent are in favor, 29 per cent against, and 20 per cent not sure.

On the question pertaining to transportation, Quincy residents overwhelmingly expressed their dissatisfaction with state efforts to improve service of the MBTA Red Line and in handling traffic on the Southeast Expressway.

Sixty-seven per cent said that they were not satisfied, while only 19 per cent said they were satisfied. Fourteen per cent were undecided.

Public support of the question on the need for uniform sentencing was mixed, with 45 per cent in favor and 43 per cent against.

"This division is probably due to the fact that this legislation, placing boundaries on a judge's sentencing options, is extremely long, complex, and has not been well publicized," said Brownell.

By an almost 9 to 1 ratio, respondents stated they would support legislation to raise the drinking age to 21 years old. Only 2 per cent of the polled said they were undecided on the issue.

Voters expressed a strong sentiment against a 15 per cent parking excise tax for the city of Boston. Seventy-six per cent of those polled were against the parking excise, 21 per cent supported it, while only 3 per cent were not sure.

In regard to education, 51 per cent of the respondents would be willing to forego a potential tax cut in order to improve public education. Thirty-nine per cent were opposed, and 10 per cent undecided.

When asked if enough was being done to promote solar energy and conservation, only 19 per cent said yes and 64 per cent answered no.

Eighty-four per cent were also in favor of setting a statewide cap on sulfur emissions from power plants and factories, compared to just 8 per cent in opposition.

"The responses to those energy-related questions demonstrate that voters would support a policy shift away from conventional energy sources and towards solar energy and conservation," said Brownell.

Finally, almost 90 per cent thought that doctors and insurance companies should be held more responsible for holding down the cost of health care.

"Based on the results it is obvious that people generally feel more should be done to curtail spiraling health care costs," said Brownell.

The poll was mailed to 250 registered Democrats chosen at random from Brownell's district, which includes Houghs Neck, Germantown, Merrymount, and parts of Wollaston. One hundred five responded.

VISITOR Thomas P. Koch of North Quincy presents an honorary Quincy citizenship certificate from Mayor Francis McCauley and a copy of The Quincy Sun's "Historic Quincy" supplement to Mayor Leo Palmowski of Burghaun, West Germany. With them are Koch's second cousins Elizabeth Schneider and Mathilde Koch.

Traces Family Roots In Germany

For Tom Koch It Was A Real Sentimental Journey

Thomas P. Koch of 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy had an opportunity to trace his roots recently and turn back pages of time as he toured the 704 year old Town of Burghaun, West Germany including a visit to the cemetery where his great grandfather Peter Koch is buried.

He visited the small Catholic church and observed the baptismal font where his grandfather Richard was baptized. Koch also had an opportunity to meet second cousins Elizabeth Schneider and Mathilde Koch. It was the first meeting of the families since his grandfather left Germany in the early 1900's.

For Koch, it was the highlight of his tour to Germany, Switzerland and Austria with 48 parishioners of Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy. They were led by Rev. Charles Higgins and Rev. Cornelius Heery on a trip to Europe and Oberammergau, Germany to attend the famous Passion Play now observing its 350th anniversary. Every 19 years the townspeople reenact the Passion of Jesus Christ an observance since 1634 when the people asked God to spare them the dreaded black plague.

Koch said the seating capacity is 5,000 and the stage and the performance is from 9 A.M. to 5:30 P.M. with a three hour break in between. The cast is approximately 1,000. The townspeople prepare for the event a year in advance.

Koch also had an opportunity to visit and lunch with the Mayor of Burghaun Leo Palmowski and presented him a number of mementos from Quincy and Massachusetts including the Quincy Sun's "Historic Quincy" supplement, an honorary citizenship from Mayor Francis X. McCauley and a Koch Club T-Shirt which the Mayor immediately donned.

Koch also acting as emissary of the Koch Club and City of Quincy presented a copy of "Quincy A Pictorial History" by Paul Robert Lyons for the Town Hall from the Koch Club and a book entitled "Massachusetts" from Governor Michael Dukakis depicting in colored pictures the Massachusetts coastline and historical sites.

Koch said the books, which contain a great many photographs of Quincy and Massachusetts will go beyond the language barrier for the people of Burghaun to enjoy the beauty of America.

Koch said one of the most eerie experiences was a trip to the East German border several miles from Burghaun where the East German military could be observed with binoculars. They spotted weapons at the towers and military installations along the border.

Koch said the people were "most cordial" and the countryside "very beautiful." The mayor left his Mercedes and chauffeur at Koch's disposal for the day on his visit to Burghaun.

Koch in a visit to his cousins apartment in Fulda overlooking the German city was surprised to note the high rise contrast to the small neat stucco village homes in the town of Burghaun.

Koch noted the major restoration of the castles, cathedrals and churches throughout Germany that were hundreds of years old and was surprised that the center of each village and town was a church or cathedral.

Koch was impressed with Glockenspiel at the Munich Town Hall and was amazed at the crowds who assembled each noon to observe the mechanical characters perform at the face of the clock.

'United Nations Reform' U.N. Council Topic

The United Nations Council of the South Shore will open its 40th session tonight (Thursday) with a lecture on "United Nations Reform."

The lecture, by Dr. Seyom Brown, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall of the Church of the Presidents, Quincy Sq.

All who are interested are welcome. Admission is free.

Before the meeting, there will be a catered supper at 6:30 p.m.

More information on the dinner is available by calling Mrs. Viola Ellis, 773-5019; or Rachel Grover, 472-2334.

Dr. Brown is professor of politics at Brandeis University, acting director, University Consortium for Research on North America, Center for International Affairs, Harvard University, and visiting professor of government, Harvard University Summer School.

He will address such questions as:

Has the United Nations lived up to its original purposes as an instrument of world peace?

Is the United Nations, as structured, able to deal significantly with the problem of global poverty and starvation in some countries?

Is the United Nations, in its present form, an adequate instrument for protecting human rights?

Carney Hospital Providing Emergency Medical Services To Care Center

Carney Hospital is now providing emergency medical services to the Howard Johnson Child Care Center in North Quincy.

Drs. Robert Younes and Paul Krochmal of the pediatric and emergency department will be teaming up with their staffs to provide this new service.

Carney got involved with the center, according to Dr.

Younes, because of the hospital's "continuing commitment to child advocacy programs and to provide medical back-up care to the community."

Carney also provides medical back-up to Nazareth Child Care Center, Wesley Day Care Center, Hayden Goodwill Inn School for Boys, Dorchester Children's Center, the Division of Youth Services and our six neighborhood health centers.

Carney also provides 24-hour pediatric telephone and in-house services to the community."

North Girls Extend Win Streak To 26

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team, with its youngest team ever, continues to roll along, running its unbeaten streak to 26 straight meets last week with a 19-36 victory over Brockton.

The Raiderettes (3-0) met Quincy yesterday (Wednesday), and next Tuesday will host Newton North at 3:30. Patricia Barrett (17:13) and Meg Leary (17:48) finished 1-2 for the North girls and both broke the Brockton course record of 17:56.

North's other scorers were Tricia Leary, fourth; Leanne Fitzgerald, fifth; and Sharon Barrett, seventh.

lost a close 27-30 decision to Waltham despite a first place finish by Joan Sullivan, who covered the 2.35-mile course in 13:44.

Sharon Steen and Kris Mullaney tied for fourth place and Julie Coste finished eighth.

The Quincy girls met North Quincy yesterday and also will be in the Catholic Memorial meet Saturday. The First Ladies will be at Cambridge next Tuesday.

North Runners Shock Brockton In Upset

The North Quincy boys' cross-country team, with only nine runners, pulled their second big upset last week when it shocked Brockton, 27-30, over the Brockton course.

In their opening meet the Raiders upset Brookline, which has 35 runners, while Brockton, always a Suburban League power, has 30 runners. North's only loss was to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, one of the top teams in the league.

Bart Petracca's North team next Tuesday will be host to Newton North at 3:30 p.m.

Heath Petracca, following in the footsteps of his brother, the North coach and one of the top runners in New England, won the meet at Brockton, nosing out Tony Centello by two seconds. Petracca covered the course in 14:59, while Centello was 15:01.

North's Tom Wildes finished third, Harry Morash fifth and Scott Coyne sixth.

Dudek Runs TD's Up To Record 43

North Quincy's Joe Dudek last week became the New England small college career record-holder with 43 touchdowns as he scored four times to lead unbeaten Plymouth, N.H., State College to its fifth win in a row, 34-21.

Walsh's 105.4 Leads

Koch Women

Maryellen Walsh, defending champion of individual scoring marks of the Koch Club Women's Bowling League, has moved into top spot with an average of 105.4 and high three string total of 357.

Walsh was voted the most valuable player of the South Shore Women's Bowling Tourney in 1984.

Others scoring in the top 10 are:

Debbie Koch, 103.7; Edie Maher, 101.4; Barbara Murphy, 100.8; Debbie Davis, 99.9; June Hillier, 99.9; Carol Johnson, 98.9; Pat Lawlor, 98.9; Linda Bowes, 97.6; and Jean Burgess, 96.5.

Debbie Davis and Debbie Koch have their teams tied with 14 wins and 2 losses each for top spot while 19, 5, 1 and 9 yards and rushed for 179 yards, giving him 3254 career yards and leaving him just 64 yards behind the record of 3318 held by Peter Gorniewicz of Colby.

Meanwhile, surprising Curry College, which won only three games a year ago, remained tied with Plymouth State atop the New England Conference with a 44-22 win over Maine Maritime.

Curry again was led by sophomore quarterback Bob Barrett of Quincy, who scored twice and passed for another touchdown. Curry is now 4-0.

Carol Johnson is 12-4. Barbara Murphy, Pat Lawlor and Mary Ward are deadlocked with 10-6. Charlene Josephs and Debbie Maher have identical 4-12 marks. June Hillier is 2-14 and Maryellen Walsh, 0-16.

Barbara Murphy's team has the best team three string total of 1431. Mary Ward's team owns the best solo string of 498.

Pat Lawlor has the best single string to date with 136. Maryellen Walsh has the most spares, 25 and Edie Maher the most strikes with 5.

The league is in its 30th season. Although there are no regular openings, women are welcome to join as spares and will be assigned to a team when there is a vacancy.

Executive League

Luke's, Budget, Grogan Rack Up Wins

Don Costa and Mark Mataneus each had two goals to spark Luke's Lounge to a 6-4 victory over Bob White's Lounge despite a hat trick by White's Kevin Lewis in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Luke's other goals were scored by Ed Linehan and Chet Brunstrom. Linehan, Brunstrom, Duke Mullaly and Costa had assists. For White's Dave Mullen scored the other goal and Jack Valle, Fred Fawcett and Dave Casey had assists.

Budget Rent-A-Car topped Adams Sports, 6-1, with Bobby Fowkes scoring twice and uncle Richie Fowkes once. Mike Stoler also had two goals and Bob Cattaneo one. Bobby and Rich Fowkes had three assists each and Stoler two. Paul Bausmere had Adams' only goal with an assist for Alan Gullickson.

Frankie Guest had a hat trick to lead South Shore Bearing to a 6-2 win over Grogan's Business Machines. Steve Dymont, Chip Linscott and Charlie Chambers had a goal each, while Jack Hurley had two assists and Guest, Jack Aldred and Bill Reardon one each. Dick McCabe and Jack Crowley scored for Grogan's with an assist for Marty Tolson.

5 From Quincy In Hotshot Playoffs

Five Quincy youngsters are competing in the New England area playoffs in the National Pepsi-Cola N.B.A. Hot Shot Competition.

The youngsters, all age 9-18 are City of Quincy champions, having advanced through a series of competitions sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department.

The Hot Shot competition includes shooting baskets from five "hot spots" marked on a basketball court. This timed competition tests a youngster's speed, shooting, dribbling, and rebounding ability.

Winners from the New England area championships will advance to compete at pre-game and halftimes of N.B.A. games including Boston Garden. The Quincy Recreation Champions competing at the New England area playoffs at the University of Massachusetts are:

Boys: ages 9-12: Jamie Green; age 13-15: Chris Higgins; and age 16-18: Edward McArdle.

Girls: age 9-12: Erin M. Doherty, and age 13-15: Anne McGuigan.

'Peter Pan' To Fly At ENC

Eastern Nazarene College will present "Peter Pan", by J. M. Barrie at the Cove Fine Arts Center from Oct. 18 to 23.

The classic tale of the "boy who wouldn't grow up" is being presented with a new twist, J. M. Barrie's actual descriptions and philosophies from his original works of "Peter Pan". They will be included through the use of a narrator who will act as Barrie himself, guiding the audience through the story.

"Peter Pan" is produced and directed by Ronda Rice Winderl, who produced and directed past hits at ENC such as "Pirates of Penzance", "Oliver", and "Annie".

About the variation of "Peter Pan" she explains, "We've attempted to bring greater literary depth to the original 1954 musical version of Barrie's other versions of this story."

A great amount of technical work is also accompanying this production.

Cliff Hersey is acting as technical director, with Tom Davidson as assistant technical director.

Complex flying techniques, synthesizer effects, possibly laser-technology along with assorted special effects and elaborate sets are being incorporated in the production as well.

Peter's arch-nemesis, Captain Hook, is portrayed by Richard Thompson, a senior at ENC from Stoughton. Portraying the character of J. M. Barrie and co-writing his narrative is junior at ENC Craig Graham of Meadville, PA.

"Peter Pan" will be presented Thursday, Oct. 18 at 7 p.m., Friday, Oct. 19, at 6 and 9 p.m., Sat. Oct. 20, at 6 p.m., Monday, Oct. 22 at 7 p.m., and Tuesday, Oct. 23, at 7 p.m. Daily matinees for south shore area school students are also being presented, but are already sold out.

Sister Barbara Kelly of St. John's Convent, Quincy, was the winner of the September Market Prize at Quincy Farmers Market.
The prize consists of a sampling of produce.
Her name was drawn from the names of shoppers who stopped by the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program's juice table to sign up for the drawing.

The Market will continue until Oct. 26, Fridays, from 12 noon to 5 p.m.
The Farmers Market thanked those who supported it and its volunteers, Mrs. Astrid Coyne, Mrs. Trudy Buckley and Mrs. Sandra Barnes.

WEEK OF: OCTOBER 11

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19

Keyword right now is "investigate"; you're a super-sleuth, and can get to the core of special problems. Romantic revival is encouraging and priorities begin to change.

PISCES — February 20-March 20

Week is favorable for educational and cultural activities. Best friends are of the opposite sex. Hunches are not strong; rely much more on logic than on instinct.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

Adaptability is the keyword through an unusually lively week. The agenda includes visits and visitors, rigid deadlines, last-minute invitations and unexpected travel.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22

Last-minute changes and cancellations make this an unpredictable week. Romance includes some lighthearted surprises. Athletic events are positively spotlighted on weekend.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21

Despite your numerous charms, loved one remains inflexible. Better focus on other areas: career advancement, community involvement, politics and real estate.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

Spend more time at the planning stages, and this could prove a highly productive week. Some travel detours may happen during the weekend — but they lead to discoveries.

LEO — July 23-August 22

Pisces and Capricorn people play key roles in career or academic areas. Love life accents the intellectual side of the relationship. New hobbies can prove profitable.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22

Good week to start shopping for the holidays, but be cautious if buying luxury items. Commitments made now are solid ones; don't promise more than you can handle.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22

Thursday-Saturday are leisurely, then a highly active period begins. Political involvement is highlighted. In matters of the heart, rely on your intellect.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21

An up-in-the-air relationship becomes more comfortable; an up-in-the-air project gets the go-ahead. Financewise, though, be sure both your feet are on solid ground.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22

Platonic friend provides the answer to a personal dilemma. Recent idea backfires but don't be discouraged. You make key contribution in areas of career and community affairs.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20

A week that features fun over profit and includes a variety of changes. Watch tendency to spend as if there's no tomorrow — there is, and that's when the bills arrive.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You enjoy an ambience of elegance and humor. A sense of humor is very important. Sometimes, your sense of perspective is limited — you don't look at the broad picture. Financial expansion takes a gradual but steady course over the next ten months.

BORN THIS WEEK

October 11th, choreographer Jerome Robbins; 12th, actor Dick Gregory; 13th, singer Marie Osmond; 14th, actor Roger Moore; 15th, actress Linda Lavin; 16th, actress Suzanne Somers; 17th, actress Beverly Garland.

Simon Fireman Named Reagan Fund-Raiser

Simon C. Fireman of Quincy, chairman of the board of Aqua-Leisure Industries, has been named fund-raising chairman for Massachusetts Democrats and Independents for Reagan-Bush '84.

A lifelong Democrat, Fireman has served as an advisor on world trade to Presidents Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan and currently heads a task force studying creation of the new cabinet post of Secretary of Trade.

He held key fund-raising posts in the campaigns of Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti, Boston Mayoral candidate John E. Powers and Quincy Mayor Joseph J. LaRia.

He is also a national trustee of Americans for Responsible Government and a member of the executive committee in Massachusetts for the National Coalition of Jews for Reagan.

Montclair Men Endorse Eeley, Harold, Morrissey

The Montclair Men's Club has endorsed for reelection Governor's Councilor Peter Eeley, Sen. Paul D. Harold and Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, all fellow members of the club.

Members also voted to mask Mayor Francis X. McCauley for "more drastic involvement in efforts to curtail needless fatalities and personal injuries" due to speeding vehicles on West Squantum Street and Newport Avenue.

Joseph N. Gildea, chairman of the civic committee, reported that a traffic count of West Squantum St., taken over a five day period in 1978, showed a daily use of more than 14,000 vehicles.

The figure has since increased and safety decreased, Gildea said.

Men's Basketball Programs Get Underway Oct. 24

The Quincy Recreation Department announces that two men's adult basketball programs will begin their weekly schedule Monday, Oct. 22 and Wednesday, Oct. 24.

The programs are open to Quincy residents past high school age on a first come first serve basis. Pick-up teams are established each week for informal play. There is a $2. fee each week, payable at the program. This activity continues throughout the winter, except holidays.

The Monday program is at the Atlantic Middle School from 6 to 8 p.m. The Wednesday program is at the Lincoln Hancock Community School from 7-9 p.m.

Appropriate gym attire is requested and lockers and showers are available. Additional information can be obtained by calling 773-1380, ext. 204.

Calligraphy, Rug Making Classes At YMCA

Registration is being accepted at the South Shore YMCA, 79 Coddington St., Quincy Center for Calligraphy and Oriental rug making classes.

The Calligraphy class starts Oct. 15. It is a seven week course held Mondays from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Oriental rug making is a 10-week course, starting Oct. 16, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Tuesdays in the Clark room.

For more information contact Robert Welch at 479-8500.

Raytheon Honors 3 Residents

Raytheon Company has honored three Quincy employees who this year completed 25 years of service with the company.

The employees are Robert Baker, 78 Botolph St., James Ferris, 535 Washington St., and Ruth Sullivan.

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce through the Small Business Consulting Center will hold its fifth semi-annual sessions beginning Tuesday, Nov. 13, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce.

The remainder of the

sessions will be held Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. at Canterbury Hall at Eastern Nazarene College.

The sixth and final graduation session will be Dec. 17, at the Chamber of Commerce.

Course titles include: Choosing the Legal Business Entity; Developing a Business Plan; How to Develop a Marketing Plan; What are the Recordkeeping and Tax Obligations for a Business; How to Use

Advertising, Promotion and Public Relations to Your Advantage; Understanding Financial Statements; Financing Your Business; Managing People; The Psychological Burden of Starting a (Family) Business; What Type of Insurance Program is Best for You and an In-Depth Look at a Completed Business Plan.

For reservations and more information call Terry Fancher or Dorothy DiBona at the Chamber at 479-1111.

Scuba Lessons To Start Nov. 6

The Quincy Recreation Department and the Quincy underwater recovery dive team will co-sponsor an introductory scuba course as part of its swimming programs at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, said: "This course has been designed to give the average family access to the sport of Scuba with no cost to the participant. The dive team provides the necessary equipment and instructors for the six week course, and it enables residents of Quincy an opportunity to become knowledgeable about the sport, equipment, and safety in a controlled and orderly fashion."

"Although the course does not lead to certification, at its conclusion, participants may elect to enroll in a certification program. It is our hope that a program of this type will prevent persons from "borrowing gear to give it a try" - a dangerous practice which often ends up with injury or death."

There are three weeks of classroom programs and three weeks of pool experience. The classroom lessons are held Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m. and the in-pool experience is Mondays at 9 p.m.

The course will begin Nov. 6. The program is open to all ages from children to adults and family groups are especially encouraged to enroll.

Little Loop To Start 31st Season

The 31st season of the Quincy Bowling Little Loop will start Saturday, Oct. 13, at 9 a.m. at the Wollaston Boulevard Bowldrome.

Boys age 11 through 16 are invited to join, regardless of residence.

A weekly fee of $2.50 includes bowling, shoes, annual awards dinner, MBA state tournament entry fee, trophies and instruction by qualified personnel.

Registration is limited and will take place during recreation swimming programs at the Lincoln Hancock Community School on Oct. 15, 1984. Additional information can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

THANKSGIVING Novena to St. Jude O Holy St. Jude, Apostle & Martyr; great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to whom I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power, to come to my assistance, help me in my present and urgent petition in return, I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys and Glorias Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. Amen. This Novena has never been known to fail. I have had my request granted. (This Novena to be said on 9 consecutive days.)

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT O Holy Spirit, You who enlightens me, who illumines all things so I may attain my goal. You who gives me the divine gift of forgiving and forgetting the evil done to me and who is ever with me at all moments of my life. I wish during this short dialogue with you to thank You for everything and to console once again my wish to never be separated from you, even in the face of all material distractions. I desire to be with You in eternal glory. Thank You for your mercy towards me and all who are dear to me. Must be said three days in succession, after the three days, favor or grace will be attained, even if it appears to be of difficult nature. Then published with instructions as soon as possible, with your initials.

The Quincy Housing Authority will receive a modernization grant of $3,154,450 to upgrade the authority's family housing project in Germantown.

Announcement was made by Sen. Paul Harold and Reps. Thomas Brownell, Michael Morrissey and Robert Cerasoli.

Brownell said, "The grant will be an initial award of $1,740,538 and the remaining $1,413,912 needed to complete the rehabilitation process will be subject to future funding by the legislature. The award will allow the Housing Authority to begin selecting an architect and upon completion of design work put the project out to bid."

"The initial grant will also include roofing, siding and weatherization work on some of the older housing units," said Sen. Harold.

The initial grant will also allow the Housing Authority to begin final design work and bid preparation for the balance of the grant award.

Morrissey, Vice Chairman of the Housing and Urban Development Committee said, "The grant award was made possible by working with the Executive Office of Communities & Development and the commitment and hard work of the Committee members.

Charter Reform Committee Organizes

The first meeting of the Charter Reform Committee was scheduled for Wednesday, at 6:45 p.m. in the City Council Chambers. It was open to the public.

"The Charter Reform Committee will provide the leadership for this three year project that happens once in a generation," said Ron Iacobucci, acting chairman.

"The Charter Reform Committee is representative of our community and includes individuals from various city wide community organizations and levels of government," said Iacobucci.

The 11 member committee includes:

Former Mayor Thomas Burgin; Rona Goodman, representing the League of Women Voters; Arthur Chandler, representing the Quincy Citizens Association; Ethel McClelland, representing the City Wide Parents-Teachers Organization; former Councillor Leo Kelly; Arthur Foley, representing Mayor Francis McCauley; School Committeeman Nicolas Verenis; State Representative Robert Cerasoli; Ward One Councillor Michael Cheney; and City Clerk John Gillis.

In addition, John Walsh, a former official with the State Secretaries Office; Marilyn Contreras of the State Department of Community Affairs and Jay MacRitchie, Assistant City Solicitor will serve as resource people to the Committee.

"Our first task is to meet and define the role of the Committee," said Iacobucci. "It would appear that our first job is to review the existing City Charter and if the consensus of the group is reform then we will put in place a three year grassroots effort to initiate charter reform that will involve all of Quincy's residents in an effort to encourage greater participation in the government process and greater accountability to the people by their elected and appointed officials," said Iacobucci.

Taxes Look Like: Homes $21.03 Business $30.86

By TOM HENSHAW

Quincy will have a residential tax rate of $21.03 and a commercial, industrial and personal property tax rate of $30.86 for fiscal 1985 if the City Council passes Mayor Francis X. McCauley's classification plan and the state adds its approval.

That would be a decrease of 92 cents over fiscal 1984 for homeowners and a drop of $1.64 for owners of business property.

But, McCauley told a Tuesday news conference, the average tax bill will go up since the total value of the city has increased by $146 million in one year with residential values up 10 per cent and commercial and industrial values up 7 per cent.

The total value of all the property in the city now stands at $1,982,853,594.

McCauley said the average valuation of a single family house is $62,260 for fiscal 1985, up from $56,000 in fiscal 1984. The owner of that home paid $1,242 in property taxes in 1984 and will pay $1,309 in 1985.

The average value of commercial and industrial property was $100,000 in fiscal 1984 and the owner paid $3,250. The same property is valued at $107,000 for fiscal 1985 and the owner will pay $3,302.

The Mayor cautioned that the tax rate will not be official until the City Council passes on his classification figures and the State Department of Revenue approves the whole package. The state certified the fair cash values last Friday.

The City Council will hold a public hearing on McCauley's classification plan Monday, Oct. 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the Council chamber but Council President James A. Sheets declined to call a special Council meeting the same night to give final passage.

Councillor Stephen J. McGrath told his colleagues that he wanted to hear comments on the plan from his constituents and take them under consideration before voting.

McCauley said he was hopeful of getting Sheets to change his mind on the special meeting since every delay in seating the tax rate means that the city has to borrow money and pay interest on it just to cover the day-to-day expenses.

"If the Council passes classification on Oct. 29," said McCauley, "I could sign it on Oct. 30 and take the package to Boston that same week."

He refused to set a target (Cont'd on Page 13)

Ordinance Proposed

Gas Stations May Have To Provide Air, Water

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

All gas stations in the city of Quincy will have to provide air and water for customers if the City Council adopts an ordinance at the suggestion of the License Board.

City Clerk John Gillis, chairman of the License Board, said he will introduce the ordinance at the Nov. 5 Council meeting.

The ordinance was suggested by Building Inspector Allen MacDonald at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

The board was discussing a request from Getty Division of Power Test Corp., 671 Washington St., for storage of 38,750 gallons of gasoline, underground, and 2,250 gallons of miscellaneous inflammables.

MacDonald asked applicant Conrad R. Decker if the station provides air and water for its customers. Decker said that he oversees many stations and is not that familiar with the local station.

"Stations are pulling services out from people," commented MacDonald.

The board later granted the license.

Gillis said a similar ordinance was introduced to the City Council about six or eight years ago.

"It did a happy death," said Gillis. "They didn't act on it."

Dedham Escapee Recaptured

William Fryar, 20, of 4 Figurehead Lane, Germantown, who escaped from the Norfolk County House of Correction Sunday night, was recaptured without resistance Monday on a bus near his home.

He was returned to jail in Dedham to finish serving a 16-month sentence for attempted burglary.

Police said they were tipped that Fryar was seen on a bus heading out of Germantown about 9 p.m. Monday. The bus was halted at the Snug Harbor School and Fryar surrendered quietly.

LNG, Propane Tank Trucks Travel Squantum Streets

The Boston Fire Department has been sending tank trucks filled with liquefied natural gas and propane through the streets of Squantum under escort for the past five years, alarmed residents learned this week.

William Murphy, a spokesman for the BFD, said the gas is used for training purposes at the Boston Fire Academy on Moon Island. Two Boston and one Quincy fire companies have been trained daily in handling LNG and propane.

Murphy said one LNG truck and one propane truck a week passed through Squantum escorted by Metro police cruisers. The last one went to Moon Island Tuesday, he said. There will be no more.

"It was absolutely safe," he said. "The tanks are 18 inches thick. The LNG is safer in the tank than the gasoline in the tank of your car. The Quincy Police and Fire Departments were aware of it."

But Maureen Mazximas, a community activist, expressed concern that the residents of Squantum themselves were not told about it.

"I am disturbed at the lack of sensitivity shown to the neighborhood on this dangerous thing," he said.

Ricciardi Resigns From Hospital Board

Developer Stephen Ricciardi has resigned from the Quincy Hospital Board of Managers, a victim of the state's conflict of interest law that forbids even unpaid city employees from doing business with the city.

Under a strict interpretation of the law, Ricciardi's membership on the hospital board would jeopardize his company's application for a $5 million industrial revenue bond to construct an office building at the corner of Granite St. and Parkingway.

The City Council Monday night shot down a proposal by Mayor Francis X. McCauley that would have made Ricciardi and other members of unpaid city boards special municipal employees and thus exempt from some provisions of the law.

City Solicitor Dean Nicastro, speaking to the Council in support of the exemption order, said he interprets the law very strictly.

"We get a fair number of requests from city employees about the conflict of interest law," he said. "If they are not special employees I am not going to look the other way. I am going to follow the statute."

"We will have a limited pool of potential employees by not making special employees."

"We are losing the services of a valuable unpaid board member," said Mayor McCauley of Ricciardi. "He has done a great job, particularly working with Hospital Corp. of America on plans for new building. We are losing him at a critical time."

He said it would be difficult to find another member for the board with construction expertise since most of the developers who reside in the city also do a lot of business with the city.

"We have had a lot of qualified people up for membership on city boards who had to be passed by because they do business with the city, even though that business had nothing to do with the board," said McCauley.

Asst. City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie told the Council that members of the Planning Department already have the special employee designation.

"In that case," said Councillor Patricia Toland, "it would be better to take it board by board. It is up to the City Council to look at each board and decide."

Her colleagues agreed with her.

An ordinance amendment that would make member of the Hospital Board of Managers special employees was taken from the table and sent to the Ordinance Committee for discussion.

Federal Tax Refunds Due 3

The U.S. Internal Revenue Service is seeking three Quincy men whose federal income tax refund checks have been returned as undeliverable.

They are Patrick J. Dennehy of Quincy, David Ferguson of Wollaston and Robert Collier of North Quincy. They are advised to call the IRS toll-free number, 1-800-424-1040.

Water St. Closed For Bridge Construction

The section of Water St. between Franklin and Liberty Sts., South Quincy, will be closed to traffic for about six months while a new bridge is constructed over the MBTA tracks.

Traffic will be directed onto School St. during the construction which is part of the $10 million Burgin Parkway Extension project.

Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson recommended that residents not use the Quincy Adams MBTA off-ramp to get off the expressway which could result in overcrowding on School St.

Anderson suggested that motorists who take Exit 18 coming from Route 128 and Route 3 should stay on the exit, get off at Washington St., Braintree, and take Independence Ave.

Residents should use the Quincy Adams ramp or Furnace Brook Parkway exits off Route 3 or 128 because they will not be heading toward Quincy Square, he said.

Traffic on School St. will experience delays because of a stop sign at the merge with Franklin St., giving Franklin St. drivers the right of way, said Anderson.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

*Granted a request from Pizza Hut, 627 Washington St., Quincy, for change of manager from Paul Duffy to Robert F. Burke.

*Granted a request from Quincy Directory Assistance, 1070 Hancock St., to hold a yard sale Saturday, Oct. 27, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Telephone Co. parking lot, rain date Nov. 3. No used clothing is to be sold.

*Continued to Oct. 23 a request from Lauren M. Barba, 362 Manet Ave.,

Quincy, for a one-day all alcoholic license for a private Halloween party Saturday, Oct. 27, 7 p.m. to midnight, at North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall. No representative appeared at the meeting.

*Granted, subject to approval by the Joint Inspection Team, a lodging house license to Paul J. Leman and John F. McDonough for Hollywood Lodging House, 53-57 Copeland St. Lights are to be installed on the fire escapes, and the owners are to provide parking spaces for roomers with cars.

*Granted a request from the Quincy Tract Club to hold Tag Days Oct. 19 and 20, rain dates Oct. 26 and 27, with no soliciting at intersections.

*Granted a one-day all alcoholic license to Veronica Bertrand for a benefit Friday, Oct. 26, 7 p.m. to midnight at the Fore River Club House.

*Granted a request from Shore Taxi, Inc., for three additional taxicabs. Off-street parking is to be provided for the cabs.

Apartment Looted

Robert Means of East Squantum St., North Quincy, reported to police Sunday that a walkman radio valued at $150, a cassette recorder a $150, a gym bag at $50, a cable converter and $150 in cash were stolen from his apartment. Entry was gained through an unlocked window.

Bellotti Explains George's Bank, Seabrook Opposition

Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti says he is opposed to oil exploration on Georges Bank and construction of the Seabrook II nuclear power plant in New Hampshire.

But, he told the South Shore Chamber of Commerce's monthly meeting Tuesday, he supports the development of energy sources which do not pose unnecessary risks to environmental quality and consumers' pocketbooks.

Bellotti said his suit, which last month blocked the lease of 6.5 million acres of submerged land on Georges Bank for oil exploration, was consistent with interests of the oil industry, since oil companies did not file a single bid on the proposed lease.

Bellotti pointed out that previous drilling attempts on Georges Bank have come up dry, and added that a recently resolved border dispute between the U.S. and Canada had affected 70 per cent of the 25 million acres that were to be offered in the lease.

"I did oppose drilling on

FRANCIS BELLOTTI

Georges Bank, and I will oppose it every chance I get," Bellotti told the chamber.

He explained that the shallow, turbulent nature of Georges Bank makes it ideal for fish, but also renders it extremely vulnerable to disruption by humans.

"One slip, one oil leak, could destroy that fishing ground for our children and our grandchildren," Bellotti said. "If you contaminate that water, you can wipe out a whole species."

Bellotti said he does not oppose attempts to find oil in other less environmentally sensitive areas of the North Atlantic off the Massachusetts coast.

Similarly, Bellotti said opposition to Seabrook II should not be regarded as merely opposition to nuclear power in general.

He said his resistance to Seabrook II was based on predictions from economists that power companies would be unable to finance the new construction.

Those predictions were borne out when investors determined the project was not a sound investment and abandoned it, he said.

The attorney general pointed out that his office has taken an active role in promoting alternative forms of energy, including "trash to energy" plants and conversion of oil-fired generating plants to coal "with appropriate environmental safeguards."

In addition, his office has assisted Joseph Kennedy Jr.'s purchase of South American oil to be sold at reduced rates to the state's needy, said Bellotti.

QCAO Fuel Assistance Applications Available

The Quincy Community Action Fuel Assistance Program is scheduling appointments for income eligible homeowners and renters to make applications for assistance.

Eligibility is determined by the size of the household and the total income received by all members, 18 years and older.

Calls for appointments may be made from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday at 471-4025 or 4026 or 4027.

All income documentation for family members, 18 and over, must be present at the time of application.

Social Security members of all those 18 and over are required and will be wage matched with the Department of Revenue.

Cavanaugh Field Rehabilitation Plans Set

City Councillor Joanne Condon announces that plans for the rehabilitation and refurbishing of Cavanaugh Field on North Quincy have been completed and work should begin later this fall.

The plans include construction of a new running track, reconstruction of the basketball court, new bleachers and refurbishing of the athletic field.

Condon said the improvements are long over due and that area residents have shown patience and concern while waiting.

Marina Bay Project Changes To Be Heard

The State Office of Environmental Affairs will hold a "scoping meeting" tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall to explain significant changes in development plans at Marina Bay, Squantum.

An earlier plan to build 894 condominium units on the 118.6 acre parcel over a five-year period was turned down by the state office because not enough information was supplied. That plan also reserved land for commercial development.

Planning Director James Lydon said the new plan was similar in size.

Richard N. Foster of the State Office of Environmental Affairs, said that "while the overall magnitude of the project is similar to that originally proposed there have been several conceptual changes."

They are significant enough to require rescoping, he said.

The scoping meeting will include a brief presentation of the project by Marina Bay, followed by periods of questions and answers and comment. Additional comments may be made in writing prior to Oct. 25.

The meeting will be held in the conference room in the City Hall Annex.

Council Moves Slowly On Hotel Zoning Change

The City Council, feeling left out in the city's rush to development, dragged its feet Monday night on a plan to build the city's first major hotel until it received an "overview" of the whole $200 million project in West Quincy.

Most of the councilors agreed that they probably will vote for a zoning change that would permit construction of the hotel in Crown Colony Place, the 170-acre high-tech office park planned for the Old Colony Crushed Stone quarry at Routes 3 and 128 in West Quincy.

"This will be our only opportunity to vote on this project," said Councilor Stephen J. McGrath. "We ought to see where we are.

There ought to be a raising of consciousness on the part of the Council on development in general.

"I'll probably vote for it but I will not favor it if it is brought out for a vote tonight. I want an overview of where we are going before I vote."

"It's time to step back and review development in the city," said Councilor Michael Cheney.

Council President James A. Sheets, in whose ward the massive project is located, said he was comfortable voting on the zoning change Monday night.

"Residents of the area are totally informed on what is going on," he said. "The developers have dealt with the issue of sewage. The flooding issue has been addressed. Residents have worked closely with the developer.

"I'm ready to vote this evening but if my colleagues want a presentation we can vote on it Nov. 5."

The order was left in the Ordinance Committee.

Council Shuts Door On 24-Hour Stores

The City Council Monday night approved an ordinance that will limit the opening hours of small stores in residential neighborhoods to 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Asst. City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie told councilors that the ordinance would not affect those stores that were open 24 hours a day prior to the time the proposal was advertised.

Thus, he assured Councilor Theodore P. DeCristofaro, the operating of a recently opened 7-Eleven store in Quincy Point would not be curtailed.

DeCristofaro called it "a fine store. I would not like to see its hours rolled back."

Councilor Michael Cheney said 24-hour stores are "an ongoing issue" in Ward 1.

"This will put to rest the worries of the residents," he said. "This is not an anti-business ordinance. It is a good government and pro-neighborhood bill."

First Parish Minister Responds To Letter About Clock

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

My colleague, Rev. Eugene Langevin, who identifies himself as a Baptist serving the United Church of Christ in Squantum, has undertaken a formidable task of challenging the integrity and legality of the position of the Mayor, City Council, City Solicitor, and Planning Department.

In last week's issue the Squantum pastor condemned the City fathers (and mothers) for actions he interpreted to be a violation of the principle of the separation of church and state. The preacher stated in his letter: "It seems to me that, under the circumstances, the congregation of United First Parish Church should pay its own maintenance costs."

In my conversation with my fellow Quincy churchman before the charges in his letter were published, I tried to point out to him some of the history and circumstances, suggesting he withhold publication of his charges until he had more accurate information. This effort on my part was to no avail.

Furthermore, I attempted to explain to him that the action of the City to undertake maintenance work on their clock (and later on their bell) which, through historical circumstances happen to be in the belfry of First Parish Church, casts no negative reflections whatsoever upon the congregation of my church. At worst they are the victims of circumstance, and at best, custodians of community property.

For his sake and for those who may be confused by the Langevin letter, may I share a bit of Quincy's historical records (I understand that the Mayor has already responded to Pastor Langevin's personal letter, using some of this information which I furnished him).

In 1844, the City Selectmen petitioned the Board of First Parish to grant permission to install in the belfry of the Church one steeple clock, donated to the town by one Daniel Greenleaf. Esq. On March 11 of that year it was voted unanimously by the Board of the Church "that they give their consent to have the clock presented to the town by Daniel Greenleaf, Esq., placed in the tower of their meetinghouse." (P. 187 of the Parish records).

Since that action there have appeared in the City records various entries of payments for the care and upkeep of the clock. In 1951 Patriot Ledger newspaper articles report the electrification of the clock. It continues to remain the property and therefore the responsibility of the City. We at First Parish only ask that the City keep the piece in repair. In particular, we request that the face on the east side, which is glass, be kept from leaking, for during northeast storms water has come down inside the tower onto the ceiling and the Sanctuary and also on the pipe organ. The City has always been most cooperative when we have called the need for maintenance to their attention.

Furthermore, I would like to indicate to the Squantum vicar that if he will search the statutes of the Commonwealth, he might find that there is State legislation that allows clocks and bells to be placed on private property if for the benefit of the whole community. I have been so informed by recognized church historians and by Archivist Owen della Lucca.

Many Quincy residents love the old clock and feel that it adds beauty and dignity to the center as it graces Quincy Square. The few dollars a year that it takes to keep it in repair seem reasonable and worthwhile for the City coffers to bear.

Now, dear Editor, if I may close by asking a question:

I wonder if the reverend from Squantum would care to explain or comment about a situation some Squantum residents, Quincy taxpayers, and even City employees have asked me about. Would he care to explain the new sidewalks installed by the City around his church and even down in front of his dwelling. This has raised some eyebrows, especially when so many of the public streets in Squantum are in serious need of repair.

4,000 New Voters

If Quincy is any barometer there should be a big vote in this year's Presidential election many of them first timers.

The Quincy Election Department did a brisk business registering new voters between the primary election Sept. 18 and the Oct. 10 deadline for the Presidential election Nov. 6.

The exact figure is not yet known, but City Clerk John Gillis estimates that "about 4,000" new voters were registered.

That would put Quincy's total registration at or just over the 50,000 mark.

"There were a lot of new people registering," says Gillis. "We may have had as many as 1,500 on the final day."

Among them were many women but he didn't know whether that should be attributed to Geraldine Ferraro. "There were a lot registering as Democrats but there were quite a few Independents as well as Republicans," he said.

The registration was one of the heaviest in recent years — one of the heaviest since 1960 — the year John F. Kennedy ran for President.

The last official count (Aug. 21) showed Quincy with 46,297 registered voters and Democrats far outnumbering Republicans and Independents combined:

Democrats, 30,802. Independents, 9,304. Republicans, 6,191.

Of the 46,297, female voters outnumbered male voters by 6,474 — 26,387 to 19,913.

The count before then (July 1) showed 45,136 registered voters: Democrats, 30,438. Independents, 8,664. Republicans, 6,034. Female, 25,698. Male, 19,438.

LOOKING AHEAD to Quincy's city election next year, the registration figures should be encouraging to City Councilor Joanne Condon.

Fingerprinting For Ward 2 Children

Children of Ward 2, with the permission of their parents, will be fingerprinted Tuesday, Oct. 23, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and Wednesday, Oct. 24, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. in the Ward 2 Community Center in the Fore River Clubhouse.

Other printing sessions will be held Tuesday, Oct. 30, and Wednesday, Oct. 31, at the same times and there will be a Saturday makeup day in November, date and time to be announced.

The fingerprinting is aimed at a child who is kidnapped or lost. Only youngsters over the age of 4 will be printed. Parents will keep the cards in a safe place at home.

Children who attend the Point-Webster School complex will be printed at the school. Permission slips will be sent home from the school with the pupils.

Other slips are available at the Fore River Clubhouse. All children must have signed permission slips from a parent or guardian before printing can be done.

Local Foliage Worth A Look, Too

Residents are reminded that the local foliage season should peak in a week. Those with health problems or unable to travel distance to observe the scenic fall colors may view the beauty of the change in tree colors within the confines of Quincy and the South Shore.

Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Park-Forestry and Cemetery Departments notes

Quincy has some ideal locations including Pageant Field in Merrymount Park, Faxon Park in South Quincy, Squaw Rock in Squantum or Forbes Hill Playground on Summitt Ave.

Within a short driving distance is the Blue Hills area with hundreds of acres of autumn colors. Quincy Shore Drive provides a spectacular view of Boston skyline and changing colors.

The first United States coast to coast airplane flight was completed in 1911. It took 49 days (with stops).

CONDON

continue to hold a strong lead in numbers and that she is a Democrat still has to be a big plus.

And, the fact that she is a woman and female voters continue to outnumber male voters by nearly, 6,500 should help, too.

Condon, however, will not be running as a Democrat, even though McCauley is a Republican. Nor, for that matter, as a woman against McCauley as a man.

She'll be running on a challenger's platform, nailed with differences in political philosophy she hopes will convince the voter that after two terms for McCauley, it's time for a change.

Asst. City Clerk Thomas Burke is on the campaign trail for the first time in a quarter-century.

Burke, is a candidate for the Quincy Retirement Board in the election Nov. 20.

He last ran for state representative in the 1950's when Republicans were as deeply entrenched as Democrats are today.

In fact, just about every city, county and state office was held by a Republican and Democrats hardly had a chance.

In those days they used to laugh that Democrats could hold a rally in a telephone booth, there were so few of them.

But that all changed when John F. Kennedy ran first for Congress, then Senate and President, spearheading voter registration drives that put Democrats numerically on top and ousted Republican from most of the offices they had virtually owned for many years.

YOU MIGHT SAY that Senator Paul Harold really knows what's cooking with Walter Mondale.

He recently received a copy of the "Mondale Family Cookbook," sent to him by Mondale's wife, Joan.

It contains the family's favorite recipes which range from exotic French dishes down to hotdogs and Tab.

The book was sent to Harold as a "thank you" to him for holding a fundraiser for Mondale during the convention.

INCIDENTALLY, although Harold supports Mondale, he also has a friend in Gary Hart.

Hart sent him a letter and telephoned him the other night to thank him for letting him use Harold's place on Martha's Vineyard in August. Hart was in Massachusetts and wanted to get away from campaigning for a few days. One of his advance men knew Harold had the place on the Vineyard and Hart wanted to go to the Vineyard. He was willing to rent Harold's place but Harold volunteered it to him.

Quincy High Host To College Fair

The Guidance staffs of the Quincy Public Schools under the direction of Edward Nankin, Head Counselor of Quincy High School, will sponsor the eighth annual College Fair Tuesday, Oct. 23, from 6 to 9 p.m. for students, parents and interested citizens from Quincy, Milton, and Weymouth.

Admissions Directors from more than fifty New England schools and colleges will be available to students and parents to discuss financial aid, academic programs, and admissions requirements at their respective schools.

The Fair will be held in the Method Center at Quincy High School.

The College Fair provides students and their parents an opportunity to explore possible avenues of further education before the choice becomes immediate and critical.

Seniors can review their current selections and finalize their plans before making formal applications in November.

Printed programs listing room locations of the schools will be available in the lobby of the high school.

FR Bridge Tender Retires After 38 Years

By TOM HENSHAW

William F. McCourt has retired after 38 years as tender on the Fore River Bridge.

But the bridge remains in good, experienced hands. His brother, Bernard McCourt, is still tending to the span after 37 years.

"We feel like we own it," said Bernie McCourt the other day, recalling the brothers' 75 years of combined experience on the bridge, which observes the 50th year since its construction in 1985.

The McCourts started tending bridges after World War II. Bill filled in for vacations. "They told me it wouldn't last," he said. Bernie took an exam for police, fire, any job that was available.

The bridge job was the first opening," he said. "Christmas Eve, 1947, I started on the Charles River Bridge."

Actually, Bill and Bernie were two of eight tenders who man the bridge in shifts of two and three for 24 hours a day. They also do minor maintenance chores.

On the job, their home is in one of the four bridge towers, five floors high, which contains a kitchen, refrigerator, sink, television set, bathroom, but no sleeping quarters.

The bridge is opened between 700 and 800 times a year. About 90 percent of the commercial traffic comes from the Cigo terminal in Braintree. Pleasure craft with tall masts contribute heavily in the summer.

Bridge openings are requested either by ship-to-shore radio or by two blavis, one short and one long, of the ship's horn.

Auto Club Bail Bond Now $500

Guaranteed arrest bond certificates issued by auto associations to their members must now cover bail up to $500. Sen. Paul D. Harold reports.

Under new legislation now in effect, the $200 limit on the certificates has been raised to $500.

"Sometimes a boat will get behind one of the towers and blow the horn and we can't see them," said Bernie. "One guy actually tied up to the Boston Edison dock, came up on the bridge and knocked on the door to get the bridge opened."

The McCourts recall a series of incidents that have happened on the bridge, some funny, some tragic, over the past 38 years.

"We get a lot of jumpers," said Bernie. The bridge is 60 feet up. "One guy from Wollaston parked on the bridge, set his brakes, locked the car and jumped. He hit his head on the way down. He didn't come up."

"The next day," said Bill. "I was shaving and looking out the window and saw his body pop up out of the water."

The biggest vessels to go through the bridge were the Texas Towers that were floated out to sea in the early 1950s and planted on Georges Bank as an early warning radar system.

"They almost scraped both sides of the bridge," said Bill McCourt. There is 175 feet six inches clearance between shores. "We opened for them at 2 or 3 a.m. so it wouldn't bother traffic. The bridge was opened for a half to three quarters of an hour, the longest for any vessel."

But the bridge has been open for much longer than that.

A few years ago, the bridge planking was torn up to replace the deck. The span is carefully balanced so that it takes as much power to raise as to lower it. One night the contractor forgot to counterbalance for the missing planking.

"His men went home at 4 o'clock," said Bill. "We had to open the bridge and we couldn't get it closed. Rush hour traffic was tied up for about two hours until we could get the men back to fix it."

One night, Bernie McCourt had the unusual experience of seeing a house float through the bridge.

"They were building St. Boniface Church in Germantown," he said, "and they had to move the house to Braintree. The easiest way to go was by river. I watched a two-story house pass through the bridge."

The McCourts can also recall opening the bridge for a boat at 2 or 3 a.m. and then going down on the bridge to wake up drivers who had fallen asleep in their cars while waiting for the bridge to come down.

No vessel has ever gotten stuck in the bridge but Bill McCourt remembers the day 20 years ago when a tanker called the Corn-husker Mariner went through the opening successfully but it was so long that it ran aground in Germantown before clearing the bridge.

And Bernie remembers the day he was fishing at the foot of the ladder on the operating tower when an object with a lot of wires floated by. It turned out to be a live, homemade bomb that had to be taken away and defused.

Both Bill, who is 63 and lives at 78 Bird St., Houghs Neck, and Bernie, 62, of 17 Sea Ave., also Houghs Neck, have long since given up waiting for a new Fore River Bridge to be built.

"They were going to put up a new bridge when I came there," said Bill. "I'm still waiting."

Sloop Stolen By Pirates, Wrecked In Europe

The sloop Duffer II, stolen in Quincy last summer, was found wrecked on the shores of the North Sea in Europe and police believed that the pirates who heisted the vessel also were implicated in the slaying of a New York yachtman on Long Island Sound.

Duffer II, owned by Clark Saville of 34 Greenwood St., Wollaston, was stolen from its moorings off the Quincy Yacht Club July 29. The wreckage was found in the North Sea nearly three months later and the three men aboard were presumed to have perished.

In the meantime, Benjamin P. Collings was drowned when he was thrown overboard by two strange men who boarded his yacht, Penguin, while it was anchored off Oyster Bay, N.Y. Collings wife, Lillian, was abducted and assaulted.

PARKING PROPOSAL

Reuben Grossman, head of the Hia Pearl Corp., proposed that the city purchase the 107,000 square foot Edwards Meadow on the east side of the Hancock St. business area for use as a parking area. The offer was referred to the City Council's Finance Committee.

Councillor William M. Edmonston, chairman of the Council's Traffic Committee, said that inasmuch as the city was already paying a rental fee of $2,000 a year for the land it was time that something be voted on the matter.

"Let's get rid of it or do something with it," he said.

STREET CAR MISHAP

Four men were injured, one seriously, when a Houghs Neck-bound street car struck a city truck in front of 305 Sea St., Adams Shore, dragged the vehicle about 80 feet and crushed it against a utility pole.

Patrick Connolly, 55, of 240 South St., Quincy Point, a passenger on the bus headed for work at the Metropolitan sewer plant in Houghs Neck, suffered a fractured spine and internal injuries.

Local 444 Pneumatic Scale Presents Scholarship Awards

The Mechanical and Allied Production Workers Union, Local 444 at Pneumatic Scale, announces the recipients of three student scholarships.

The Dennis Burns Memorial Scholarship for $1,000 was awarded to Elizabeth Bojarzynski who is a graduate of Brockton High School and is attending Bridgewater State College.

The Pneumatic Scale Employees Scholarship for $800 was awarded to Jean Pinkham who is a graduate of Braintree High School and is attending New England Deaconess Hospital of Nursing.

Ron Jacobucci Awarded the North Quincy Community Scholarship for $200 to Jennifer McCauley who is a graduate of North Quincy High School and is attending American University in Washington, D.C.

The program is administered by the union scholarship committee. Students eligible to participate must have a parent that works at Pneumatic Scale and receive the highest score on the AFL-CIO exam.

Local 444 and Pneumatic Scale Management this year introduced a payroll deduction plan for the scholarship fund.

Participation by employees this year has been great, said Charles Colby, union official, and with the establishment of a trust fund our goal in five years is to self perpetuate the scholarships.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

There is just a slight difference in spelling between BOOST and BOAST. But, what a difference is involved! And what a reaction the one causes - against the other!

D. Scott Deware

"No sooner said than done" - but BOASTING often means, "no sooner done than said". Boasting is egotism. It benefits no one, especially the boaster. The Bible actually warns against boasting: "Do not boast and be false to the truth... as it is you boast in your..."

A boast in human relationships would be seen if there was more complimentary upgrading instead of critical downgrading. No one is perfect even the boaster. Improvement is always needed. It is always possible. And, it is attained more quickly if a boast is given - instead of a boast. People like benefits. A boast IS a benefit. A boast is most certainly not!

A funeral Mass for Alfred DiTullio, 71, of Quincy, known as "Al the Barber," was held yesterday (Wednesday) in St. Joseph's Church.

Mr. DiTullio died Sunday at Carney Hospital, Dorchester.

He was born in Quincy and was a lifelong resident of the city.

Mr. DiTullio operated a barbershop on Quincy Ave., East Braintree, for 42 years before retiring eight years ago. He was presented a plaque from the town of Braintree upon his retirement.

He had been in the barbering business for 50 years.

After he retired, he cut hair for shut-ins, residents of nursing homes and for others in their homes by appointment.

Former member of the Order of Moose and the Sons of Italy, he had also served as secretary of the barber's union on the South Shore.

He is survived by his wife, Josephine M. (Iacovello) DiTullio; a son, David DiTullio of Braintree; a daughter, Joyce A. Knowles of Quincy; a brother, Edward DiTullio of Hyannis and five grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Donations may be sent to the American Cancer Society.

The United Way:

Rita Found Help Just A Call Away

What do local residents do when they have a personal problem and then don't know where to get help? In Quincy last year, 150 people called the United Way's Information and Referral (I&R) Service at 482-1454.

"It's ironic," says Mabel Woo, I&R coordinator. "Most of these people called us as a last resort. Actually, it's best to call us first because we are a good clearinghouse for information on different options."

Woo says that about half of the local callers needed fuel, housing, or medical care. Rita was one of them.

Rita, who lives in Quincy, has a 64-year-old husband who had been receiving Social Security benefits and pension payments totalling $800 per month. But because he had serious medical problems, monthly medication costs exceeded $100. This—coupled with high rent and a gas bill that had reached $900—forced Rita to look for help.

After a few hit-and-miss attempts to get help, Rita called the United Way's I&R. A trained specialist put her in touch with a local United Way agency, which paid part of the gas bill and counseled Rita and her husband about managing their limited income as effectively as possible.

Woo stresses that money for emergencies such as Rita's is limited. But she says that "creative solutions"—involving public and private agencies—can be found to solve critical problems. One serious problem affecting local residents in the colder weather, according to Woo, is paying for fuel.

Many local residents, whose income can't meet basic needs, have accrued large utility bills that date back to last year. Utility companies are not allowed to shut off residents' utilities because of a moratorium that lasts from Nov. 15 to March 15. Now, however, in the autumn, some families that can't pay their delinquent bills face a disruption of service.

"In the winter months," says Woo, "some people have to decide between fuel and food. It's a cruel choice to make."

Finding money for fuel assistance is not easy. But the problem of shelter is even more difficult to solve.

Families face a crisis when their apartment building has been condemned, when they have been displaced, or when they can't keep up with the rent. Often, they can't afford the down payment of one month's rent plus a security deposit. So they are forced to move in with friends or relatives. But sometimes they're forced onto the streets.

"There is a severe housing shortage in Greater Boston," says Woo. "Since long-term solutions are seldom available, the best we can do is help some people find emergency shelter."

Woo expects the demand for shelter and other basic services to remain high—especially this winter. "The demand for human services is rising throughout our community," says Woo. "Calls to I&R are up 31 percent the first eight months of this year compared to the same period last year."

On a larger scale, Woo says that more than one million people in the eastern Massachusetts area are counting on a successful United Way campaign. This year's fund-raising drive lasts until Nov. 20, right before Thanksgiving.

With the help of the United Way agencies and I&R, many local residents will have more reasons to be thankful.

Albert Cronin, 64, State Youth Dept. Supervisor

A funeral Mass for Albert E. Cronin, 64, a field supervisor for the state Department of Youth, was held Saturday in St. Monica's Church, South Boston.

Mr. Cronin died Oct. 10 in Boston City Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Boston, he lived in Milton before moving to Wollaston where he lived the past 30 years.

He had been a social worker for the City of Quincy for many years before joining the Commonwealth's Department of Youth Services. He retired six years ago.

He was a lector at St. Monica's Church in South Boston for 10 years. He was stricken while speaking at the church in September and had been ill since that time.

He was a World War II Army veteran.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Donations may be made to St. Monica's Church, 331 Old Colony Ave., South Boston, 02127.

Wesley G. Mitchell, 70, Retired Truck Driver

A funeral for Wesley G. Mitchell, 70, of Quincy, a retired truck driver who worked for T.F. Kinneale Meat Company of Roxbury, was held Monday in Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave.

Mr. Mitchell died Oct. 11 in Quincy City Hospital.

He was born and educated in Quincy, and was a lifelong resident of the city.

A Navy veteran of World War II, he was a member of the Bryan VFW Post of Quincy.

Husband of the late Isabel M. Wheeler and brother of the late Robert Mitchell, he is survived by his friend, Thelma Kenney of Quincy.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be made to the American Heart Association, 357 West Elm St., Brockton, 02401.

Two Injured In Car-Van Accident

Two men were injured Saturday when their cars collided at Quincy Ave. and Southern Artery near Eddie's Diner and Motel.

Charles J. Rizzi, 59, of Hingham and Jeffrey J. Albrecht, 19, of Hillsdale, N.J., were treated at Quincy City Hospital and released.

Police said Rizzi was traveling north on Quincy Ave. when Albrecht's van made a left turn and they collided.

MBTA Reduced Fare Cards For Seniors

A registration team from the MBTA will be at the Senior Drop-In Center on Oct. 30, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. to issue cards permitting senior citizens and handicapped to ride at reduced rates.

With the cards, seniors may ride rapid transit lines and local buses for 10 cents at all times.

Special needs cards are valid during off-peak hours only and allow the bearer to ride any 60-cent subway route or 50-cents bus route for 10 cents. If the fare exceeds that amount, the cardholders may half fare.

To be eligible for a senior citizen card, applicants must bring proof of age, 65 years or older, proof of residency, and a 50-cent cash fee. Medicare cards will not be accepted as proof of age.

The MBTA stressed that seniors who already have a reduced fare identification card do not need to register again.

Handicapped individuals must present proof of their disability or complete an MBTA form to be approved and signed by a physician or agency serving the handicapped.

Why more family protection plans now cover funeral planning, in addition to wills and life insurance.

All three—funeral planning, wills and life insurance—are designed to help the family deal with the emotional and financial trauma that occurs when a family member dies.

Pre-planning spares the family any additional anxiety when the inevitable actually happens. It gives positive assurance that the arrangements will represent the personal wishes of the deceased. It also relieves family members of any financial stress, assuring them that funds will be available when needed to offset or completely cover funeral expenses.

For more information on pre-arrangement or pre-financing write for our free booklet, "No Greater Kindness For Those You Love." If you have any questions, give us a call or stop in.

SOME OF THE MOST IMPORTANT WORK FOR CANCER IS BEING DONE OUTSIDE THE LAB.

It's being done in automobiles and living rooms. Over coffee and cake. By people like Madeline Milza and Theresa Barbieri.

They met when Madeline was in treatment for breast cancer and Theresa was the volunteer who drove her to her therapy appointments. Now like Theresa, Madeline is bringing help and hope to other women as a Reach to Recovery volunteer.

Madeline and Theresa are living proof that it's people who give people the will to live. The work in the lab must continue. And so must the work outside. We need your help.

United Nations Sunday At First Parish

United First Parish Church, 1306 Hancock St., Quincy Center, will celebrate United Nations Sunday Oct. 21, at the 10:30 a.m. worship service.

Nancy Wright, co-executive director of the Greater Boston U.N. Association, will be guest speaker.

Members of the church's Social Concerns Committee will lead the service, which begins with the U.N.A. Consensus on the United Nations delivered by Brenda Powers.

Barbara Wiggins will lead a Unison Affirmation of Human Oneness; Mary Orr will present a reading from Adlai Stevenson's address to UNESCO, Mary Vallier will lead the responsive reading, which includes thoughts from Lao Tse, Buddha, Isaiah, Jesus of Nazareth, and Eleanor Roosevelt.

Bernadette Davidson will guide the congregation through an ancient Metta meditation shared at a recent U.N. seminar and designed to extend thoughts to the entire human community.

Music includes "Song of Joy" and "Let There Be Peace on Earth."

Edith Howlett, U.N. Council representative, will greet friends and members at the door. The community is invited to attend.

Openings Available At St. Chrysostom's Care Center

There are still openings in St. Chrysostom's Day Care Center, Wollaston, for this fall.

The center operates from October to June, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

This is a full program which includes free play, work with basic skills, experimentation with arts, crafts, cooking and music, with special emphasis on working with children in small groups within a caring context.

The center also has a new outside play area for the children this fall.

For more information, call the Church Office, 472-0737, Tuesdays, Wednesdays or Thursdays from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

'Baptism As Answering Love' Bethany Sermon

There will be two worship services Sunday, Oct. 21, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both services on "Baptism as Answering Love," based on scriptural texts from The Acts of the Apostles 2:37-42 and the Gospel of Mark 10:13-16.

Lay scripture readers will be Alice M. Greene for the early service and Dr. Donald C. MacLeod for the late service. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will assist in leading the worship at both hours.

During the 10 a.m. service, the Sacrament of Christian Baptism will be given to Julia Tompkins Fernald Huntington, daughter of Rev. Huntington and Tora (Fernald) Huntington. The mother will name the child and the father will officiate at her baptism.

A special Baptismal song, "Child of Promise," will be sung as part of the ceremony by Margaret Fernald and Mrs. Huntington.

At the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing the anthem "O Holy Father, Infinite in Mercy" composed by Palestrina. The Children's Choir will sing as the offertory, "Sing a New Song" by Dan Schutte.

The service will also be broadcast over station WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through 8th grade. The Senior Class, 9th - 12th grades, meets at 9 a.m. and is taught by Robert R. Peoples, Jr.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

At 11 a.m., there will be a coffee hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

An adult forum will be held in Bethany Chapel from 11:30 to 12:30. A 27-minute film, "Unfinished Business" will be shown followed by open discussion led by Bob Peoples. The film deals with caring about and caring for an aging parent, and developing deeper relationships of love before it is too late.

A membership class, for persons who are considering becoming members of Bethany, will be held on three consecutive Thursday evenings beginning Oct. 25. The group will meet at the church, 7:30 to 9 p.m. and will be taught jointly by Rev. Arnold and Rev. Huntington.

For information about Bethany and its ministry and programs contact the church, 479-7300.

'Word Beyond Words' Squantum Topic

Church pastor, The Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin of the First Church of Squantum preached on the topic "The Word Beyond the Words" Sunday at both morning services.

It was the first of a series of three sermons on the subject, "Our Protestant Heritage." This one was about the Protestant commitment to the Bible as the rule of faith for the Christian life. The two subsequent sermons will be about grace and faith.

Four persons, who convalesced with the church last week, were welcomed into the church with the right hand of fellowship on Sunday.

They were Pat Corey, Audrey O'Brien, Janet and Lewis Townsend, A fifth, Pamela Johnston, will be received at a later date.

Assisting the pastor with this part of the service were Stewart Scott, Board of Deacons; Richard Hendry, Board of Trustees; Gloria Lester, Board of Benevolence; and Donald Frazer, Board of Christian Education.

Greeters for the morning were Leon and Edna MacIntyre, Ushers were Harry Holmes and Tore Wallin. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Lorraine Josselyn and Gloria Lester.

There will be two services next Sunday, the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

ELECTRICAL APPLIANCE FIRE

When an electric appliance catches fire or smells as though it is burning, try to unplug it. Unless you see the insulation of the appliance's wiring hanging, it is usually safe to pull out the plug with your hand. If the sure is smoldering or you do not want to touch it, you may be able to pull out the plug by twisting the wire around a broom or mop handle. If you cannot unplug it, shut off the electricity at the fuse box by throwing the switch or removing the fuse.

Use a carbon dioxide (CO2) or dry chemical extinguisher. If neither is available and you are sure the electricity is shut off, you can use water to extinguish the fire. Caution - never use water to douse an electrical fire where the current is still active to the source. Always call the fire department when a fire involves an electrical appliance or electric wiring. If the wires in the wall have overheated, they may be smoldering. A CO2 or dry chemical extinguisher should be kept in the kitchen area where electrical or grease fires are most common.

date for getting out the tax bills, which have to be paid 30 days later.

The Mayor also said he was unable to tell at present whether there would be enough money in the budget to provide raises for city employees since there are a number of financial orders pending before the Council and abatements and the overlay deficit have not been calculated.

"I don't know today where we will be in excess funds," he said. "I'll know just before Oct. 29 how much we will have in reserve for appropriation to meet unforeseen expenses, including raises."

Sheets met with the Mayor last week to discuss classification and he said they did not talk about what money would be available for pay raises or for the Council's pet project, increased public safety.

"We are convinced that there is enough money there now to hire additional firemen," said Sheets. "The Fire Department is grossly understaffed."

McCauley said the state gave Quincy a minimum residential factor of 80.9768 per cent of full valuation and he is recommending 88.5680 per cent to the Council, an increase over last year's 88.8007 per cent.

The commercial and industrial factor will be 130 per cent, same as last year.

The city tax levy will go up in fiscal 1985 for the first time since Proposition 2½ went into effect four years ago. The city hit bottom in its three-year tax cutting effort last year and is permitted to raise the levy 2.5 per cent this year.

Last year's tax levy was $45,919,517, this year's is $47,067,504.

"The fact that we can cut taxes while values are rising shows that Proposition 2½ is working," he said.

The total value of the city went up 16 per cent based on a study of property sales between Jan. 1, 1983 and Jan. 1, 1984.

"The strong demand for housing is driving up the prices faster than the taxes," said McCauley. "It shows that Quincy is a desirable place in which to live."

Bishop Field Fix-Up To Cost $45,000

City Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. has announced that plans have been finalized for refurbishing the Bishop Playground athletic field on Holbrook Rd., Montclair, at an estimated cost of $45,000.

Plans call for the resodding of the baseball and softball diamonds and leveling and topdressing the remainder of the playing field.

Lydon said he has been advised that upon completion of the work, if funds are available, the chain-link backdrop could be renovated.

"Our community has waited a long time for this refurbishing program," he said, "however, once the work has been completed it will have been worth the wait and will enhance the aesthetic quality of our neighborhood."

Powered log splitters aid the energy-conscious homeowner

For many homeowners, splitting firewood with an axe or wedge is a thing of the past. Increasing numbers of energy-conscious families are using powered log splitters to split wood efficiently and rapidly, without the backache and blisters of hand tools.

It normally takes the better part of a day to split a cord of wood the old-fashioned way, but a modern log splitter can do the job in as little as 90 minutes.

Wood is today's fastest-growing fuel source, with more than a half-million families using it to heat their homes. A Gallup survey reveals that more than 50-million cords are burned each year in American homes.

While many homeowners still buy firewood split and quartered, more and more are balking at the premium of as much as $70 or more over the cost of unsplit logs. Until recently, their primary alternatives were the good old axe and wedge or heavy, costly commercial splitters.

To meet this growing need a year ago, Flowtron introduced the Electric Log Splitter, designed and priced for the homeowner market. With a splitting force of over seven tons, it runs on ordinary household current in the backyard, garage or basement.

"A family burning two cords of wood during a heating season pays back their investment in our Electric Log Splitter in as little as three years," Jim Mahoney, Flowtron's Director of Marketing, said.

Encouraged by this popular acceptance of this backyard electric model, Flowtron is introducing a full line of economically priced gasoline models for use in the woods and other locations where electric power is unavailable.

"These three new models, with splitting power from 10 to 15 tons, are designed and equipped to be brought to the woodpile no matter where it is," Mahoney said.

An additional model, powered by a tractor hydraulic system, offers a splitting force of 15 tons.

Proper usage is the key to appliance energy savings

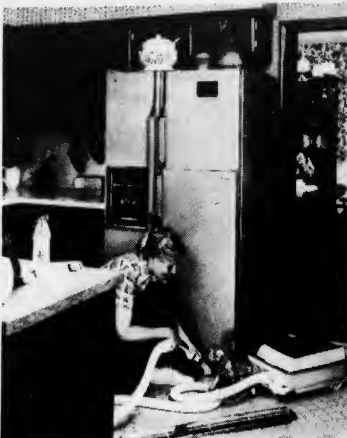

Some models of the "new generation" of energy-efficient home appliances actually use less than half the energy required to operate their 1972 counterparts.

All major home appliances of the 1980s are considerably more efficient than the 10 or more year old products they replace. But, warn home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, not every consumer who buys a high efficiency appliance will get the maximum energy savings possible.

manufacturer can save with redesign.

The National Bureau of Standards (NBS) documented the major effect user practices have on the energy efficiency of an appliance. These observation studies revealed that different people using the same range to prepare an identical menu can differ in their use of energy by as much as 33 percent.

Poor practices with a new appliance can wipe out the product's total energy efficiency improvements.

IMPROVEMENTS IN DESIGN AND CONSTRUCTION of newer refrigerator/freezers have resulted in substantial savings in the energy they use. According to home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, regular removal of accumulated dust from the condenser coils also helps save energy and prevents possible compressor (motor) failure. They recommend cleaning the condenser every two to three months, using a bottle brush or the crevice tool attachment of your vacuum cleaner.

The reason: Energy saving (or wasting) with an appliance is more dependent on the installation and consumer's use practices than it is on the high efficiency motors, compressors, heating elements or other design factors.

Habits (the way we have always done things) are difficult to change... and poor ones in the use of an appliance can waste more energy than a

Here are some suggestions from Whirlpool Corporation to help you use your appliance more energy efficiently to trim your energy tab while continuing to enjoy the convenience of modern appliances.

• Range — Saving energy in the oven can mean helping to keep heat inside. Resist the temptation to open the door while food is cooking. Don't preheat your oven any longer than necessary and plan "whole oven" meals on top of the range. You should always use the lowest setting that will do the job and make sure the drip bowls beneath the heating units are clean.

• Refrigerator/Freezer — Take energy-saving care of both the inside and outside of this appliance. Keep the inside filled to capacity and use and replace the contents often. Remove frost from manual and partial defrost models before it becomes more than 1/4" thick.

On the outside, make sure the door seal is tight and that you clean the condenser coils regularly. As with the oven, avoid opening the door as much as possible.

The refrigerator/freezer should not be placed next to a range or indirect sunlight. The heat generated by these two sources will increase the running time of the compressor and consume more energy which will increase operating cost.

• Automatic Dishwasher — To save on hot water, wash only full loads and use the shortest cycle for the amount of soil. Save drying time by using the air dry cycle.

• Automatic Washer — Avoid wasting hot water by using lower water level settings for smaller loads, using warm or cold water for lightly soiled items, and using all cold rinses.

• Automatic Dryer — Improve energy efficiency from this appliance by first sorting your clothes into light and heavy fabrics and then setting the dryer cycle and temperature accordingly.

A warm dryer can shorten drying time, so plan your washing and drying so that dryer loads can run almost continuously.

A clogged lint screen reduces dryer efficiency so it is important to clean the screen after each load.

Smoke detector placement key to adequate protection

You've cleaned the gutters, put up the storm windows and checked the furnace. You're ready for the perils of winter, right? Wrong — not unless you've included smoke detector installation in your "winterizing" plans, say the experts at Pitway Corporation, manufacturers of First Alert smoke detectors.

Most home fires occur during the winter, when furnaces are going full blast and portable heaters are scattered throughout the house. Smoke detectors can provide a crucial warning when heating systems go awry.

Ten second test

If you already have a smoke detector, include a quick check-up in your fall home improvement plans. Depress the test button for ten seconds. If a horn sounds, your unit is in good working order.

However, fire safety experts agree that one smoke detector is not enough. For true life safety protection, detectors should be located on every level of a residence — basement, first floor, second floor and attic if it is furnished — and in every separate sleeping area.

Expert advice

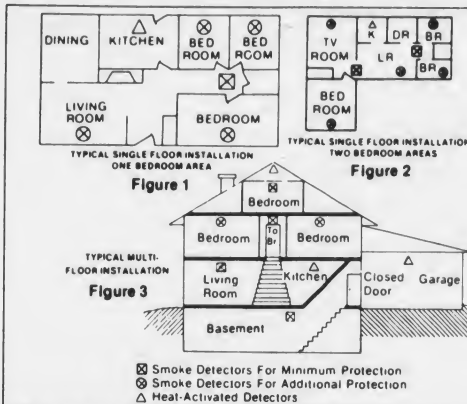

Pittway has prepared the following guidelines to assist homeowners in developing their own smoke detector placement plan:

- Locate detectors between sleeping areas and potential fire sources, such as the kitchen, garage, basement or utility room.

- In single story homes, locate detectors outside each sleeping area (see figures 1 and 2).

- In multi-story homes, place detectors in bedroom areas and at every finished level of the home (see figure 3). Locate basement detectors at the bottom of the stairwell. Locate first floor detectors in the living area and second floor detectors at the top of the first-to-second floor stairwell.

Some manufacturers like First Alert make a smoke detector with an Escape Light® that automatically illuminates the area when the smoke detector is activated to assist in a quick escape.

- If there's a smoker in the house, equip his or her room with a smoke detector. This should be in addition to the hallway detectors.

- Place smoke detectors inside bedrooms of people who sleep with the door closed.

- If the hallway leading to the bedrooms is longer than 40 feet, place a smoke detector at each end of the hall.

Smoke detectors are not recommended or even desirable for every room of the house. For example, units in the kitchen or bathroom might be set off by cooking fires or steam.

Smoke detectors also should not be placed near forced air ducts, since the movement might prevent smoke from reaching the detector.

This fall, don't neglect the inside of your house when closing up for the winter. The time you spend installing smoke detectors may someday keep your other home improvements from "going up in smoke."

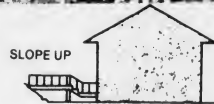

WITH THE RETURN OF FALL, it's time to think about indoor redecorating projects. Today's do-it-yourself and professional decorators are using contemporary motifs, yet retaining the period in which the homes were designed. The wide open florals, stripes and geometrics in Astor Walcover's Upbeat collection are suitable for a variety of decors from contemporary to traditional, with specially formulated colors to blend with existing tile and flooring found in older homes. Here, Sweet Marie (adjoining room walls, couch fabric) blends with companion Confetti (fabric, seats near fireplace) and Bravo Plaid (living room walls, chair and sofa fabric).

Smile . . . It's Ceramic Tile!

Ceramic tile in your home saves a very important source of energy — yours! Beautiful to look at, ceramic tile is beautiful to live with because it's the original "no wax" surface and never requires your strong elbow-grease or expensive professional cleaning or refurbishing. A swipe of a sponge restores counters, backsplashes and walls to their "beautiful as new" good looks and a damp mop maintains the floors. Wear patterns won't develop in the entry or halls and slipperiness is no problem with the selection of slip-resistant ceramic tile available today.

Hot pot to counter top is no problem when the counter is ceramic tile because the tile won't blister, scorch or break down from the heat.

If these wet muddy boots could ruin the floor, it could ruin your reputation but you can smile when it's ceramic tile because a quick damp mopping will bring this entry back to its ready-for-company beauty.

Just one application covers everything.

Wherever you live, you probably have some home improvement plans in mind. Whether it's repainting, inside or out, adding a new room or furnishings, such plans often add up to a lot of money.

That's where Quincy Savings Bank can help.

Because with one simple home improvement loan application you may be able to cover everything you're planning to do. If you qualify, you may borrow up to $15,000 at our competitive rate, and take up to 84 months to repay.

QUARTERBACK Dave Zuroms runs behind Mike Barry for a gain against Weymouth North. (Quincy Sun photos by Charles Flagg)

Raiders Won't Take Somerville Lightly

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy football team could have folded up after trailing by two touchdowns with 2:41 left in the first half last Saturday, but the Raiders showed character as they bounced back to edge Weymouth North, 14-13, at Veterans Memorial Stadium and improve their record to 3-2.

Coach Ken McPhee hopes the momentum resulting from this comeback carried over into Saturday's 1:30 p.m. game against Somerville of the Greater Boston League at the stadium.

Somerville is having a rough season (1-4) but has always played the Raiders tough. Somerville has only a victory over Brookline, while bowing to Winchester, Everett, Revere and Medford. North won, 14-6, last season.

"We can't take them lightly, as they always give us trouble," said McPhee. "I think the boys took Weymouth North a bit too lightly today and it almost cost us. They should have been ready after last year's game when they beat us with a long kickoff return in the final seconds, but I don't think they were ready."

"We had a good week of practice after beating Newton North but I think maybe we were a little bit too loose. The boys realized they were in for a real battle when Weymouth took a 13-0 lead and they showed they have the character I knew they had the way they came back."

"When Weymouth scored its second touchdown, I called the team together and said we had to return the kickoff if we hoped to get back in the game and that is just what they did (Steve Kelly returned the kickoff 84 yards to leave the Raiders trailing, 13-6, at halftime)." Then the Raiders scored on their first possession of the second half to pull out the hard-fought victory.

Kelly, who ran for 158 yards, the previous week against Newton North and scored twice, had another big day as he ran for 82 yards, had a 44-yard touchdown run nullified by a penalty and another 20-yard run voided by a penalty, and scored both touchdowns.

Mike Barry, who had 117 yards rushing against Newton, rushed for 73 yards, and Joe Bangs also had a fine day rushing. Dave Zuroms had another good day at quarterback, directing the team well.

"Kelly, Barry and Bangs all were outstanding," said McPhee. "And Zuroms ran the offense well. Don't bother with statistics, he runs the team and does a fine job. We didn't worry about passing the last two games the way we were running, but Dave handles the ball well and is a fine leader."

Ken Runge and Mike Russell, two seniors playing their first year of football, were superb at defensive end. Runge had two sacks and made several tackles, while Russell had a key fumble recovery, a sack and also had a number of tackles. The two were outstanding all morning.

The offensive line again was outstanding and McPhee singled out Jerry Coughlin, Al DiBella, Jack Hannan ("the best guard in the area," McPhee), Larry Nalezl, Bill Doherty, John Reney, Ed Kennedy and Rich Brooks, who again punted well.

On defense the Raider coach had good words for Barry, Kelly, Bangs, Tim Sullivan, DiBella, Steve Dever, Joe Morrissey, Steve Miller and Hannan.

Weymouth, which took a 3-1 record into the game and had bombed Hingham, 30-8, the previous week, drove 73 yards for its first touchdown following a Brooks punt.

Led by the running of speedsters Glen Boudreaull and Mike Shaw, the Maroons clicked off four first downs and Boudreaull raced 33 yards for the score. Jim Cavallo kicked the extra point.

North gambled on fourth down and failed as Weymouth took over on its 39 and went on to its second touchdown. After the Maroons had reached North's 32, Runge apparently halted the drive by sacking quarterback Lars Lambros, but on the next play Lambros and Cavallo combined on a 46-yard scoring play. Cavallo's kick for the point was wide.

Then came the electrifying 84-yard kickoff return by Kelly, which put North back in the game. He escaped several would-be tacklers, cut to the right and raced down the sidelines. Zuroms was sacked on the try for point.

Kelly returned the second half kickoff 30 yards to midfield and Barry raced 35 yards for a first down on the 10. Kelly went around left end from the six to score and Zuroms, back to pass but unable to find a receiver, skirted left end himself for the game-winning two-point conversion.

Bangs came up with a big play later in the quarter when he leaped to knock down a Weymouth pass just as the receiver was about to catch it.

In the fourth quarter Russell halted a Weymouth drive by recovering a fumble but North handed the ball right back with a fumble of its own.

The Maroons drove from their 12 to North's 37, making four first downs, but Runge and Russell sacked Lambros with time running out to stop the threat.

North Quincy had a net of 157 yards on the ground to 119 for Weymouth. Zuroms failed to complete any of his three passes, while Lambros passed for 97 yards on five for 12, and Weymouth had 11 first downs to seven for the Raiders.

North Girls Win Division Title In N.Y. Meet

The undefeated North Quincy girls' cross-country team traveled to New York City last Saturday and won the C Division championship in the Manhattan College Interscholastic meet.

The Raiderettes, 4-0 in the Suburban League, won with 98 points as it defeated 39 other schools. Warrick Valley, N.Y. was second with 145 points. There were 250 starters and North's Tricia Barrett finished second to Cindy Burger of Smithstown, N.Y. Barrett covered the 2.5 mile course in 15:33. Burger won in 15:24.

North's Meg Leary finished 12th, Mary Ann Kelleher 16th, Leanne Fitzgerald 33rd and Tricia Leary 35th for the Raiderettes' points. Each received a medal. Sharon Barrett and Ann Toland also ran but didn't score.

"This was an excellent performance by these girls," said Coach Lou Tozzi. "This is a terrific group of girls and winning this race was a fine achievement."

Brown Shines As Quincy Beats Lynn English 6-0

Johnny Brown booted two goals to bring his season's total to 14 in four games as the undefeated Quincy High School soccer team walloped Lynn English, 6-0, at Fore River Field in preparation for its uggest game of the year with New Bedford Vocational.

Alex Mitchelson and Carlton Jepson also had two goals apiece and Coach Tommy Fleming's two new fullbacks, Al ("The Tarzan") Paine and Bob Sullivan, held off their wings and continued the team's remarkable record of having allowed only one shot on Goalie Wilson in four games.

QUINCY LOSES

Allan Swartz combined with Reilly on a 31 yard pass play for the only Quincy touchdown as Coach Jimmy LeCain's football team bowed to powerful Newton, 20-7. The Quincy touchdown was the first scored against Newton from scrimmage all season.

Swartz, Cahoon, Dahlquist, Asnes, Pease, Craig, McMillan, Noyes, MacLachlan, Ellis, Reilly, backs.

MIRACLE CATCH

Red Fenno caught a pass from Johnny Iovanna while lying on his back in the end zone for the game's only score as the Manet AC of South Quincy recorded an upset 7-0 victory over the Atlantic AC in a City League football game at Pfaffman's Oval.

The Manet lineup included: Graglia, Slavuici, Ash, Behan, ends; Malvestiti, Campello, Russo, Ferdinand, tackles; D. Coletti, Cerrilla, Pantano, O'Regan, guards; Mathieson, Stati, centers; Fenno, Ciano, Simontachi, Iovanna, Leone, Tapella, J. Coletti, backs.

LOU WINS TITLE

Lou Brouillard, who trained for the fight in Boston's Gym in Quincy, knocked down Young Jack Thompson four times and won 13 of the 15 rounds on some cards, to win the world's welterweight boxing championship before 20,000 screaming fans in Boston Gardens.

ST. PIUS BEATEN

Bub Walsh scored all three touchdowns on runs of two, five and 25 yards to hand St. Pius of Lynn its first defeat in three years by a score of 19-6 in favor of the Quincy Trojan-Wanderers. It was also the first time this season that St. Pius had been scored on.

5 GOALS FOR GREER

Freddy Greer kicked all five goals to lead the Clan MacGregor soccer team, champions of the Boston and District Soccer League, to a 5-2 victory over Hyde Park at Faxon Field. Hyde Park scored the first two goals of the game.

SPORTS BITS '31

Lou Tellegan, the great lover of stage and screen, played a round of golf at Stoney Brae Golf Club with Charley MacAndrew, the New England Open champion, Jack Curley of Stoney Brae and Patrolman Edward S. Bryan. . . McAlpine scored two goals as the Fore River Junior soccer team whipped the Irish-Americans of Dorchester, 3-1, in a Bay State League game. . . Fred Murch scored on a pass as the Squantum AC handed the Quincy Pirates a 7-0 defeat in its first City League football game. . . City Councillor Eddie D. Carson and Lawrence J. Mattie led a group of members of the Quincy Rod and Gun Club on a hunting trip on Cape Cod. . . Johnny Mulhall, Frank Delear and Smith tied for first place as the Quincy High School cross country team recorded its second perfect score of the season 15-50 over Newton. . . The St. Moritz Horseshoe Club turned back the Dexter Club of North Attleboro, 14-4, on the Bunker Hill Ave. courts. . . Sam Asnes and Walter Seppala scored the touchdowns as the Quincy High School junior varsity football team belted Braintree 12-6 on Hollis Field, Braintree. . . Robert Muir, former Quincy High School captain, was a member of the soccer team at Ithaca College in upstate New York. . . The Blessed Sacrament Lyceum football team downed the Rosindale Town Team, 13-0, at Houghs Neck Play ground with Morris passing to Martin for the first score and Martin passing to Olimto for the second. . . Ed Kirkland, the former Quincy High School track star, was assistant manager of the soccer team at Northeastern.

The lowest recorded golf score on any 18-hole course with a par of 70 or more was achieved by Alfred Edward Smith. On January 1, 1936, in England, Smith shot a record-breaking 55.

Presidents Take High Hopes To Revere

The Quincy football team's chances of ending a three-game losing streak didn't look good last Saturday when it faced Everett at Veterans Memorial Stadium with three starting backs and other players out of action with injuries.

But, with quarterback Bill Shaughnessy turning in the finest performance of his career, the injury-riddled Presidents came up with an excellent two-way effort to defeat Everett, 17-0, and improve their record to 2-3.

Coch Jack Raymer, elated with the win, hopes some of his casualties will be back in action Saturday when the Presidents go to Revere for a 1:30 p.m. game, their third straight against a Greater Boston League foe.

Revere, which lost to Quincy, 9-0, a year ago, has a 2-2 mark with wins over Cambridge and Somerville and losses to Medford and Peabody.

"This is truly a great victory with so many of our players out of action," said Raymer. "Shaughnessy is as good as any quarterback I've seen and today he was superb. He was our only veteran back, with Joe Cullen, Daron Tucker and Gerry Frazier sidelined.

"He was just outstanding both ways as was Joe Conti (the two scored all of the Quincy points), and Ted McCall, who had seen just a little action in our previous game, came through with a great running game. The entire team played an inspired game and I'm very proud of every one of them."

Shaughnessy ran for 82 yards, passed for 61 more, including a touchdown, scored a touchdown and set up his score with a key pass interception. Conti scored the other touchdown and kicked a 24-yard field goal and the two extra points.

McCall ran for 71 yards and caught a pass for 21 more.

"I told Shaughnessy he had to pick up the slack and he certainly did as he gave the performance of his life," Raymer said.

Quincy's offensive line was outstanding as Raymer praised Steve Perfetuo, P. J. Duggan, Pat Calabro, who had another big day both ways, John O'Callaghan, Rich Pettinelli, Kevin Burke, Conti and Don Parry. He also had good words for Mark Porzio, who ran well.

Conti remarkably got off two good punts after the passes from center went far over his head. One went 50 yards to the Everett six-yard line. "I don't know

QUINCY quarterback Bill Shaughnessy, who had a fantastic day, picks up some of his yardage against Everett as Ted McCall runs interference.

Later Rollins again intercepted a pass on Everett's 27 to set up the second touchdown. Shaughnessy going around left end for 21 yards and the score. Conti again kicked the point with just 44 seconds left in the game.

Quincy had a net of 157 yards on the ground and Everett had 153. Shaughnessy was six for 10 passing, while Jim Perrotti was four of 12 for Everett for 8 yards and had four passes intercepted. Everett had 13 first downs and Quincy 12.

Britt Gets Game Ball

Quincy's football players voted after last week's big win over Everett to give the game ball to teammate Dave Britt, who suffered a broken ankle in the game at Malden the previous week.

Britt, a junior getting his first chance with the varsity, suffered the injury in the early minutes of the Malden game. He spent several days at Malden Hospital and returned home last week.

"The team displays the dynamic spirit and enthusiasm so characteristic of North Quincy High," said Coach Bill Walker. "This spirit is evident at every meet and in the daily workouts."

The North girls will host Waltham Friday at 3:30 at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool and Tuesday will be at Newton North at 3:30.

The Quincy girls will be home to Brookline Friday at 6 p.m. at the Lincoln-Hancock pool.

The annual Quincy-North Quincy meet will be held at the Lincoln-Hancock pool Friday, Oct. 26, at 6 o'clock.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Dudek Breaks TD, Rushing Records

He's only a junior but North Quincy's Joe Dudek has already broken the New England small college career rushing record and touchdown record.

In leading the unbeaten Plymouth, N.H., State College football team to its sixth win in a row, 42-0 over Framingham State last week, Dudek rushed for 116 yards and scored three touchdowns. He has 48 career touchdowns and broke the N.E. record two weeks ago and he has 3,373 career yards rushing, breaking the old mark of 3,318 set by Peter Gorniewicz of Colby.

And he still has five games to go this year and another season to not only add to his N.E. small college records, but to possibly break the NCAA Div. 3 records in both categories.

Dudek, who led North

Quincy to successive wins over Quincy in 1980 and 1981, broke all the Plymouth State rushing and scoring records a year ago and was named an All-American.

Another former North Quincy star, Glen Segalla, a Plymouth co-captain, intercepted a pass and returned it 32 yards for a touchdown last week.

Meanwhile, sophomore quarterback Bob Barrett of Quincy led unbeaten Curry (5-0) to a 21-10 win over Bridgewater State as he threw for one touchdown and scored another.

Big Ed Mackey, one of Quincy High's better defensive linemen in recent years, continues to play outstanding ball for Worcester Tech and turned in another top performance last week in a 17-14 win over Fordham.

Playing his fourth season for WPI, the 6-4, 235-pound defensive end and tri-captain has sparked the Engineers' defense all season long and is a candidate for All-American honors.

A year ago WPI went 8-0 but was not selected for the Div. 3 playoffs as Union was picked with an 8-1 record.

WPI's lone loss this fall was to Union, ranked No. 3 in the nation, two weeks ago and the defeat may have eliminated the Engineers, ranked 13th in the nation, from playoff consideration.

Another former Quincy standout, Sean Burke, is seeing a good deal of action at defensive end for Boston University and was outstanding in last week's 24-3 loss to William & Mary; the Terriers' first loss of the season.

Quincy Freshmen Bow But Encouraged

The Quincy High freshman football team dropped its opening game last Friday to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 29-6, but despite the loss, the team was encouraged by its performance.

"Overall, we were pleased with our performance," said Coach Mitch Finnegan. "Offensively we performed well despite some injuries. Defensively we left a bit to be desired, but it is still very early in our season."

The freshman team was forced to postpone its first two games due to the absence of a full-time coach. Practicing with the varsity and junior varsity team could not prepare for a game until two weeks ago, when Finnegan was appointed. Cambridge was playing its third game.

"The boys on the team deserve a lot of credit," praised Finnegan. "Some of them have been out for the team since double-sessions in August, and have persevered under extremely adverse conditions. They have shown that they really want to play football for Quincy High School, and should be admired for their dedication. For a program only in its second year, we can be quite proud of it."

Finnegan, a Quincy graduate, also serves as the freshmen boys' basketball coach. He is being assisted by Bob Quist.

Injuries plagued the young Presidents in Friday's game. On the first play from scrimmage, defensive end Craig Bowen came out of the game with an injured shoulder. Two plays later starting quarterback and defensive half-back Gerard Dennett went down with a twisted ankle.

Both were able to return to the game later, but in the meantime starting guard Tom Bjork moved into the quarterback slot. "Tom did a great job in a very difficult situation," said Finnegan. "He stepped in at quarterback after having taken only a few snaps in practice. But he was able to keep us in the game until Gerard returned."

Strong performances were turned in by running backs Steve Frecl and Tom Tegen. "Steve and Tom looked very strong carrying the ball," said Finnegan. "They also played well at the cornerback spots on defense."

Bowlen and Tight end Frank Calabro also played well. Their strong blocking allowed the Presidents to run several successful sweeps, including the lone Quincy score of the game, a nine-yard bootleg by Dennett. Center Karl Stashyng had a strong game, handling the defensive pressure well and contributing several tackles from the linebacker slot with Calabro on defense.

Bill Copson, who served as one of the game captains with Dennett and Bowlen, played well in the slotback and defensive halfback positions. "Bill is one of our hardest workers," praised Finnegan. "He took quite a hit from behind that knocked the wind out of him, but as soon as he got a breather he was ready to go back in."

Finnegan also praised Bob Hatfield, who saw action in the noseguard position. "Bob has worked very hard in practice," commented Finnegan, "and he will be seeing a lot of playing time."

The Presidents' offensive line was rounded out by tackles Mike Madden and Glen Foster, and guards Paul Taylor and Mike Merlino. "The offensive line opened some nice holes for us, and we'll expect more of the same in the future," said Finnegan. "Other Presidents seeing action were slotbacks Dave Gustin and Scott Salvatore, back Jim Thomas, and linemen Bob Buttomer and Eric Walorz."

"The improvement in just two weeks has been substantial," stated Finnegan. "We'll look forward to some good games the rest of the season."

The Presidents' next game is against Everett Friday at 3:30 p.m. at Veteran's Memorial Stadium.

Roman Gardens Wins Merchants Softball Crown

Roman Gardens defeated defending champion Martin's Plumbing, four games to one, to win the championship of the Quincy Merchants Softball League.

Roman Gardens finished its first season in the league with a 20-2 record in the National League but suffered both losses at the hands of Martin's, which also was 20-2, finishing first in the American League.

Roman Gardens bottled up Martin's offense throughout the final series as the defending champions stranded many runners. Every time Martin's threatened, Roman's defense came through.

Roger Hohmann pitched the entire series for Roman Gardens, allowing 19 runs in the five games, while Romans scored 50 runs off three Martin's pitches. Hohmann also played excellent defense as well as hitting two home runs and sparking his club in late rallies.

Martin's had the home field advantage, but found itself down three games to none before winning the fourth game, 8-2. It also had the chance to win the fifth game, leading, 8-7, going into the seventh inning, but Roman Gardens exploded for six runs to clinch the series and the title.

Roman Gardens won by scores of 10-5, 8-1, 11-3, and 13-8.

Quincy Golfers Shine In Dixie Classic

The Quincy delegation has returned home from the 16th annual Dixie Classic held at the Deerwood Country Club in Jacksonville, Fla.

The week got off to a good start for Quincy when Richard Corner made a hole-in-one during the practice round on the Par 3, 156-yard 17th hole. The week ended with Mike Gaudiano of West Quincy and Robert Triglia (Bob formerly from West Quincy and now a resident of Jacksonville) winning the second flight.

Jim Triglia of West Quincy had his tee shot go in and out of the hole on the Par 3, 193-yard 6th hole on the last day of the tournament. If the ball had stayed in the cup for a hole-in-one, Triglia would have had to drive back to Quincy in a new Lincoln Town Car.

Other participants from the South Shore were Pete Ricciuti, Peter Valle, Robert Shallow, Dick Storella and Rick Ward.

Broadbent, Guarente Pace Little Loop Roll-Offs

John Broadbent's 301 high three and Dan Guarente's 129 single were tops in the Quincy Bowling Little Loop's first week of roll-offs last Saturday at the Wollaston Bowladrome.

A final session of roll-offs to determine team selections will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. Boys 10 through 16 years of age wishing to join are asked to register at that time.

The 31st season of the league will start officially Saturday, Oct. 27 at 10 a.m.

The league, in its 30th season, bowls Mondays at 7 p.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Alleys, Broad St., Quincy. Spare bowlers are still welcome as participants and will be assigned to a permanent team when a vacancy occurs.

Faiella, Guerriero Teams Tied For St. John's Lead

Lou Faiella's team and Dick Guerriero's team are tied for first place in St. John's Holy Name Bowling League with 18-6 records.

The rest of the standings: Tom Darcy, 16-8; Mike Panarelli, 10-14; Jim Mastrantonio, 8-16; Bob Saluti, 2-22.

Dick Guerriero rolled the weekly high individual single of 141 and Panarelli had 129. Guerriero also had the high three of 349 and Panarelli rolled 339.

Panarelli's team had the high team single of 519 and Guerriero had 513. Panarelli's team also had the high three of 1493 and Guerriero had 1475.

The Top Ten: Dick Guerriero, 117.6; Panarelli, 110.2; Saluti, 107.8; Faiella, 107.8; Joe Matarazzo, 104.8; Len McLennan, 102.4; Mastrantonio, 101.8; Art DiTullio, 100.5; John O'Donnell, 99.4; Mike Guerriero, 98.9.

McGue, Broadbent Teams Tied In Koch Men's League

Larry McGue and Jim Broadbent have their teams tied for the top spot in the standings of the Koch Club

Men's Bowling League with six wins and two losses.

The Joe Keenan, Mike Doyle, Steve Mancuso and Tony Monti teams are bunched with 4-4 records. Mike Martinelli and Dave Mancuso are in cellar with two wins and six losses.

Joe Keenan led the weekly "320 Club" scores with a 340. Mike Martinelli and Steve Mancuso fired a 329 each and Broadbent and Tom Koch scoring identical 323 marks.

Keenan remains the top individual scorer with high average of 114.4, high three string total of 367 and high single string of 144 while his team has the best three string total of 1494 and the best single string of 518.

Others sharing the top 10 average honors are Mario Scorra, 106.0; Jim Broadbent, 104.9; Mike Doyle, 104; Tony Monti, 104; Mike Martinelli, 102.2; Tom Koch, 101.3; Russ Melanson, 100.9; Jim Moody, 100.2; and Mark Hart, 99.5.

The league, in its 35th season, meets Tuesdays at 7 p.m. at the Wollaston Bowladrome.

Panthers On Rebound, Breeze By Manets

The defending champion Quincy Point Panthers rebounded from their loss to the North Quincy Apaches by breezing past the Houghs Neck Manets, 28-8, in Quincy Youth Football League action Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium. The win improved the Panthers' record to 4-1.

A pass interference call gave the Panthers the ball on the Manets six early in the second quarter and on second down Vinny Digiacomo picked up five. On the next play he scored. A pass for the extra points was incomplete.

Tim Brillo kicked off to the Manets' Robert Lingoes, who carried to the 34, the Manets were stopped and were forced to punt due to the defensive play of Tommy Mayo and Monte Baker.

Brian Taylor returned the punt to the Panther 46. Quarterback Brillo rolled upfield to the Manet 37 and three plays later Brillo passed to Digiacomo for the second touchdown. Brillo rushed for the two-point conversion.

Led by Joe Dennett's running, the Manets drove to the Panther 35, but Joe Taylor and Mayo didn't allow them to get any further and the Manets punted.

In the fourth quarter Joe Taylor, the Panthers' leading scorer, hauled in a Brillo pass and went to the Manet 16. Brillo then connected with Wayne Chambers, who went untouched into the end zone and the Panthers led, 20-0.

The Panthers regained possession on their own 43 and on the first play Brillo passed to Charlie Freeman, who scampered up the right sideline for the final score. Danny Crespi added the two-point conversion with two minutes left.

The jayvees entered the game and held the Manets until the final seconds when they drove 45 yards and Lingoes scored from the two. They added the two-point conversion as time ran out.

Sunday the Panthers will play the West Quincy Elks at 1 o'clock and the unbeaten Apaches will face the Squantum Sailors at 2:30.

Arts/Entertainment

Olmsted Historical Society Topic

Susan Rigney, chief of visitor services at the Frederic Law Olmsted National Historic Site in Brookline, will be the speaker Thursday, Oct. 25 at the monthly meeting of the Quincy Historical Society.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Adams Academy Building, 8 Adams St., Quincy Center.

Miss Rigney's illustrated lecture will concern Olmsted's works and contributions to the city park movement, preservation, and urban planning.

Frederic Law Olmsted is known as a pioneer in the field of landscape architecture, and an early champion of the national park system.

He has left a legacy of nearly 100 parks and recreation areas including Boston's Emerald Necklace and Central Park in New York City.

He was also an observer and critic of 19th century American society. His writing reflect the full range of religious, political and artistic issues and trends that shaped his age.

Miss Rigney, prior to her present position, was a Park Ranger at Gettysburg, and at Colonial National Historical Park, Virginia. She worked as a Vista volunteer after being graduated from college in North Carolina.

The meeting is free of charge and open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

PETER PAN, portrayed by Duane Hespell, describes the wonders of Neverland to Wendy Darling, played by Liz Jarvis, in the production to be presented by Eastern Nazarene College Oct. 18-23.

Benefit Concert Nov. 4 For Crisis Center

A benefit concert for the Quincy Crisis Center will be held Sunday, Nov. 4 at 3 p.m. at Covenant Congregational Church, Granite and Whitwell Sts., Quincy. The concert will feature the Wollaston Strings and Kim Blancy, Lambert Brandes, Luisa Dano, Paul Frazier, Robert Howard, Ralph Marple, Charles Seifert and Dorothy Tarrant.

For tickets, call 471-7075 or 773-0168.

Weymouth Rotary Big Band Night

Musical recollections of the Big Band era of 40 years ago will be in the air Friday, Nov. 2 when Weymouth Rotary Club holds its annual Big Band Night at the Lantana in Randolph.

The music will be provided by a real big band, John Shea's Big Band-Ballroom Orchestra, which has been featured at Moseley's on the Charles for the past 29 years.

Shea's eight men will be augmented by other musicians to bring the total of a full-size big band of 15 pieces.

The book will feature 15 or 16 numbers, made famous by the Dorsey brothers, Duke Ellington, Harry James, Count Basie, Glenn Miller, Benny Goodman, Stan Kenton and Les Brown.

The band will also serve up some of the smooth ballroom-type dance music featured at Moseley's and will include a line-dance, hustle, Latin American music and melodic waltzes.

Saxman Dave Chapman will lead the reed section along with Jim Mosher, Mike Monaghan, Marty Takki and Tommy Feranti.

The brass section will have trombonist Tak Tavorian, formerly with Tommy Dorsey and Woody Herman, and in the lead trumpet seat Dave Burdett, formerly of the Buddy Rich Band.

The rhythm section will consist of Kevin Shea on drums, Bill Hern on piano and Howard Garrison on bass.

All money raised at Big Band Night will go to various community projects and civic groups.

Craft Fair At Houghs Neck Post

A craft fair and flea market will be held Saturday, Oct. 27 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Houghs Neck Legion Post, 1116 Sea St.

Along with flea market items, there will be tables of handmade items and new small toys.

All proceeds will be used for the West Roxbury V.A. Hospital patients. Patients will be able to select gifts for their loved ones, have them wrapped and mailed with a card - all free of charge.

Marge Hirtle, president of Unit #380, reports that 50 gifts will be delivered to the hospital before Thanksgiving.

Christmas Fair Nov. 3 At Pagnano Towers

The Pagnano Towers Tenant Association will hold its Christmas fair Saturday, Nov. 3, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Pagnano Towers, 109 Curtis Ave., Quincy Point.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Partnership activities are spotlighted, but determine clearly the areas of responsibility. Family expectations are more realistic than they've been. Neighbor is especially supportive.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Thursday-Sunday accent the light side of friendship and romance. Monday-Wednesday focus on family matters. Legal question needs in-depth review; watch tendency to rush matters.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Your interests are unusually varied this week, thanks to the inspiration of a new friend. Some financial cutbacks may be required. Academic accomplishment is noteworthy.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Your reliability wins you the respect of higherups and colleagues. Financial news may need clarification. Older friends look to you for encouragement and praise.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

You gain insight into a difficult family situation and can decide on the route to take. Friend may ask for an unusual favor. Steady financial gains punctuate the week.

LEO - July 23-August 22

A better week for dreaming up plans than for putting them into action. You're in the limelight through the weekend. News from faraway requires prompt clarification.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

You're better than you think in expressing your feelings - this is not the week to be shy. Financial road is a little rocky, you can't afford to be an "ostrich" this week.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

In money matters, opt for a more conservative approach. In friendship, the keyword is "spontaneity." Ideas about career changes should be discussed before making a major move.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Fellow Scorpio figures prominently in financial picture - this may be the week to discuss partnership arrangements. Planning in general is favored through this period.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Relatives are demanding of your time and/or wallet. Important new friendship is in the offing. You succeed now in the role of romantic advisor.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

A lighthearted, capricious week - romantically speaking - for Capricorn people. Long-term planning is accented. Surprise gift may arrive by Wednesday.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're highly regarded for your sincerity, your drive, and for the support that you provide so generously. Your wit can be too stinging, though. Branching out is the theme of the next twelve months - you'll be learning new things, meeting unusual new people.

BORN THIS WEEK

$250,000 Rehab Revives Once-Condemned Building

A downtown retail and office building that was condemned only two years ago has become a jewel of Quincy Square, thanks to a $250,000 rehabilitation by the new owners.

The building at the corner of Temple and Washington Sts., the most prominent tenant of which is Sher Drug Store, has been renamed the Stewart Building as it was at the turn of the century.

The two-story structure, with eight retail stores on the ground floor and 9,000 square feet of office space on the second, was condemned by the Quincy Building Department in 1982.

It was purchased by the 37 Washington Realty

STEWART BUILDING at Temple and Washington Sts. has been modernized while retaining the 19th Century look thanks to a $250,000 rehabilitation by the new owners, the 37 Washington Realty Trust.

Trust, Arnold Feinerman, Bruce J. Roberts, Stephen M. Roberts and Gary I. Widett, principals, who set about a comprehensive modernization program.

The renovation consisted of new store fronts, new signs, exterior and interior lighting, exterior painting and interior landscaping on the upper office level.

The new owners worked closely with the Quincy Historic District Commission to preserve the integrity of the 19th Century building in design and color coordination.

Pearce Represents U.S. At Savings Banks Meeting In Sweden

Charles A. Pearce, CEO and Chairman of the Board of Quincy Savings Bank, recently returned from Stockholm, Sweden, where he was United States representative at the 53rd annual meeting of the Consultative Committee of the International Savings Bank Institute.

Pearce was one of 15 representatives from around the world who met in Sweden from Sept. 30 to Oct. 4, to discuss and exchange ideas on topics of particular significance to the thrift industry.

Among the topics covered in this year's conference were: examining what venture capital services savings banks could provide; refining systems for management decision-making in savings banks; and implementing international programs to support World Thrift Day, the "Forum Humanum" project of the Club of Rome and other national efforts.

CHARLES PEARCE

While in Stockholm, the international banking group also visited the host bank, Forsta Sparbanken and the International Savings Banks Institute Learning Center in Skepparholmen.

Established in 1931, the ISBI has members in 150 countries around the world, including many of the developing nations.

CITY OF QUINCY IN COUNCIL

ORDER NO. 323 September 4, 1984
ORDERED:

The Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant is accessible only by travelling through residential areas of the City; and vehicles travelling to this Plant must pass directly by schools and routes used by school children; and soon to be completed renovations to the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant include a new chlorine plant which will necessitate the delivery of tank trucks full of chlorine to this facility; and chlorine is a very dangerous substance;

be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, as amended, are further amended by adding in Chapter 13, Miscellaneous Offenses, the following new section:

Section 54 - Transportation of Liquid Chlorine in School Zones

No person shall transport more than 1,000 pounds of liquid chlorine in any school zone within one-half hour of the beginning time or release time of that school. The provisions of this ordinance shall also be applicable to vehicles which have discharged a cargo of more than 1,000 pounds of chlorine. During other times, more than 1,000 pounds of liquid chlorine may be transported in a school zone only when accompanied by a police detail. Whoever violates the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined up to Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00).

LOOKING? KEEP A RECORD

QUESTION: I'm house-hunting and get confused when I try to remember the details of each one. Any advice?

ANSWER: Once your Realtor takes you house-hunting, he or she will probably show you several. Therefore, it's important to take notes on what you have seen or you may forget which home is where, how big it is, what shape it's in, and how much it costs.

Your Realtor can provide you with a checklist to make this task easier. This way, you can instantly recall the location, price, construction, number of rooms, heat, fuel, taxes, and financial requirements. If you take a Polaroid picture of the house to go with the notes - so much the better.

Neighborhood Housing Gets $8,750 For Revitalization

Jane B. Ford, executive director of Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services, has announced that the organization has been awarded a grant of $8,750 to continue neighborhood revitalization work. "In the next two years," she said, "we will be working with the residents to develop a self-reliant neighborhood organization which will maintain the work done in the past few years."

The program phases include a neighborhood fun festival to generate community enthusiasm and improvement of the two small parks which mark the entrances to the community.

The announcement was made at a bulb-planting ceremony in Abigail Adams

Park last week as part of the celebration for National Neighborhood Housing Services Week.

James L. Kimmell, president of Quincy NHS, said the bulbs were symbols of the work which will be done in the spring "and as the flowers bloom, so will Southwest Quincy."

The grant was made by the Neighborhood Investment Corp.

Cranch Condos Become Apartments

Members of the City Council learned Monday night that the controversial sale and development of the Cranch School will result in 17 condominiums in name only.

Dan Driscoll, vice president of Boen Development Corp., told councilors that individuals who are involved in the corporation will hold title to the condos and rent them out to tenants.

"After five years," he said, "they will be placed on the market. This is being done to get investment credits on income tax."

Driscoll appeared before the Council's Downtown and Economic Development Committee, which was intrigued by the fact that the school had been sold by the city to a developer who resold it for a profit.

The building on White-well St. was sold last Jan. 17 to Housing Organization Realty Trust for $150,000 and resold by the trust to Boen Corp. some seven months later at a $100,000 profit.

"There is no legal prohibition that the city could have proposed that would have prevented the developer from selling the property," City Solicitor Dean Nicastrò told the councilors.

"The City Council was disturbed when we found out that a new purchaser took over the property and threw the proposal into suspension," said Committee Chairman Joseph J. LaRaia.

"It makes me angry," said Councillor John J. Lydon Jr.

The Cranch School issue was back before the Council because the new developer is asking for an extension of a Jan. 14 landscaping deadline and a change in the number of parking spaces from 31 to 26.

The 26 spaces is the minimum allowed under the zoning code.

Driscoll denied a report that some of the apartments in the building will be low income housing.

"We have no intention of applying for a subsidy for low income housing," he said. "We are willing to give that guarantee. The rent level is not designed to appeal to the bulk of the rental market in Quincy. We are looking at the cream of the crop."

Driscoll said his firm hopes to be ready to market apartments in the converted building by spring.

A number of nearby residents appeared at the committee meeting to register their protests of any changes in the development plan. Many of them had opposed the sale of the building in the first place.

"I am offended by the politicking I see here tonight," said Joseph N. Linehan of 56 Monroe Rd. "The City Council sold the land that never should have been sold."

Youths Grab $1,000 Deposit

An employee of Foley Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., of North Quincy was robbed of nearly $1,000 in cash Monday as he walked down Hancock St. to make a deposit at the Hancock Bank.

Thomas O'Connor told police that two youths, about 18 years old, came up on either side of him as he walked, forced him into an alley between the Hancock and South Shore Banks and took the deposit.

The envelope contained $948.44 in cash and some $275 in checks.

One of the youths was described as wearing a brown jacket, dungarees and white sneakers. The second youth wore a red shirt, white pants and had black hair.

Enrollment Declining

Middle School Closing Possible By Next Year

By TOM HENSHAW

There is a distinct possibility that school closings are not over in Quincy, that a middle school may join the 12 elementary that have been shut down, possibly as early as next year.

"There will be no closings this year," said School Supt. John Osterman, "but I'm not ruling out next year."

"There is a serious question, based on declining enrollment and 12 less elementary schools, whether we really do need all five middle schools," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley, who also chairs the School Committee.

Neither Osterman nor McCauley would speculate as to which middle school would get the axe but three years ago the Committee talked of closing Central before deciding against it.

"There has been no formal talk about closing any middle school," said McCauley, "but the School Committee will have to take a hard look at the feasibility of keeping all five open."

Osterman, who just took over as superintendent last month, said he has current enrollment figures under study "and when I've analyzed them I'll make a recommendation to the School Committee."

"The middle school population is declining, following the trend in the elementary schools, but it has not reached alarming proportions at this time," he added.

In the past three years, since the Quincy school system converted the old junior high schools to the middle school concept, the Grades 6, 7 and 8 population has dropped from 2,464 to 2,013.

Prior to the school year starting in September, 1982, the junior high schools held Grades 7, 8 and 9. Their population was 2,967 in 1980.

The population of the entire system stood at 9,101 on Oct. 2, 1984, little more than half the peak population of 17,080 in 1971.

The possibility of closing a middle school was mentioned briefly at a meeting of the City Council's Downtown and Economic Development Committee Monday night.

Planning Director James Lydon listed for the councilors the disposition of the closed elementary schools as part of the overall development picture in the city.

He gave this update on the status of nine of the abandoned schools:

Gridley Bryant, sold for $151,000 for conversion into office space at a cost of $753,000.

Willard sold for $916,500 for conversion into office space at a cost of $1,096,000.

Adams, sold for $350,000 for conversion into 50 condominium units at a cost of $2.7 million.

Cranch, sold for $150,000 conversion into 17 condo units at a cost of $850,000. The building was later sold to another developer for a reported $250,000.

Quincy, sold for $150,000 for conversion into 49 condo units at a cost of $1 million.

Mass. Fields, sold for $247,440 for conversion into 28 condo units at a cost of $814,000.

Pollard, sold for $252,000 for conversion into 30 condo units at a cost of $900,000. The deal has not yet been closed.

Hunting, sold for $165,606 for subdivision into six single family lots.

Great Hill, demolished and the land rezoned open space for parkland.

In all, Lydon reported, the city received $2,382,546 for the nine schools, added 174 condo living units to the city's inventory and created 250 jobs at the Gridley Bryant and Willard Schools.

Gunman Holds Up Sea St. Station

A man with a blue hand gun held up the Discount Gas Station on Sea St. Saturday night and escaped with $350.

The station attendant told police he was reading the pumps preparatory to closing for the night when the man appeared, showed him the hand gun and demanded money.

He was described as about 26 years old, 150 pounds, dark complexion, medium length hair and wearing a dungaree jacket, blue jeans and white sneakers.

Pastor's Desk Looted

The Rev. Lewis Mitchell, pastor of the Fort Square Presbyterian Church, reported to police Sunday that airline tickets, insurance policies and title to his automobile were stolen from a desk drawer in his study.

By TOM HENSHAW

There probably will be no shortage of oil with which to heat homes in Quincy and the South Shore this winter despite the closing of the Mobil Oil Co. terminal in Quincy Point.

That's the word that came out of a meeting Monday at the South Shore Chamber of Commerce of an ad hoc committee of oil dealers, Chamber officials and Sharon M. Pollard, secretary of energy resources.

"All the dealers I have contacted told me that no South Shore homes will be without fuel this winter," said Pollard.

"There isn't any energy shortage," said Alvin O. Bicknell of Alvin Hollis and Co., oil dealers. "The other oil terminals on the South Shore can fill the gap."

The Mobil Oil Corp. closed its Quincy terminal Aug. 1 leaving the area to be served by the Quinail Terminal in Quincy, the Sprague Terminal in Weymouth and the Citgo Terminal in Braintree.

However, it was disclosed at the meeting that the Mobil Terminal, which had a capacity of 539,000 barrels, was operating at about 12 per cent of capacity, about 65,000 barrels, when it closed.

"We believe we can handle any spillover caused by the Mobil closing," said William G. Kiniry, vice president and general manager of Quinail Industries.

The Quinail Terminal has a capacity of 750,000 barrels and operates at 50 per cent capacity. Sprague 150,000 barrels at 60 per cent capacity and Citgo 550,000 barrels at an unspecified capacity.

Bicknell said that only 28 of the 90 fuel oil dealers on the South Shore went to Mobil for their supplies and they are not very concerned about the closing.

"They're saying, 'So What?', there is plenty of the product around," he said.

The reasons given by Mobil for closing the terminal included a 60 per cent dropoff in heating oil sales volume since 1979 plus the rising cost of operating the terminal.

"Mobil does not believe the sales outlook on the South Shore is favorable to justify keeping the terminal open," said Pollard.

In spite of the lack of concern, however, the group decided to go ahead with its plans to study market trends on the South Shore and the logistics of the infrastructure of the industry.

One concern was expressed that added transportation costs of bringing oil in from a new outlying terminal might raise the price of oil to consumers.

Bicknell said that dealers who switch their source of supply to the Mobil Terminal in East Providence, R.I., might have to raise their price a penny and a fraction a gallon.

"I would absorb the penny," he said, "because I would have to remain competitive with the dealers who obtain their supplies from Quinail."

The Frontside Market Granted CV License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board voted Tuesday to grant a common victualer take-out only license for the Frontside Market, 308 Willard St., West Quincy, formerly Phil's Superette.

The license was granted to Claudia and Steven DiCicco and Gail and Stephen L.

Conroy, Jr., all of Quincy.

The Superette had been operated by Phil McDonald.

City Clerk John Gillis said the new owners plan to continue the same type of operation.

Mrs. DiCicco said they plan to offer such items as sandwiches, coffee, donuts, and soups, with hours of 5 a.m. to 8 p.m.

She also said they would like to attract more business people to the establishment.

Ward Councill James Sheets sent a letter to the board stating that he strongly supported granting of the license.

Quantum Man Cut

In No. Quincy Robbery

A 55-year-old Quantum man was slashed with a knife and robbed of $340 as he got in his car after leaving a North Quincy restaurant about midnight Sunday.

Joseph Concannon of Trevore St. suffered a cut on his neck. He was treated at Quincy City Hospital and released.

Concannon told police he had left Walsh's Restaurant on Billings Rd. and was getting into his car on Holmes St. when a man appeared, held a knife to his throat and demanded money.

Concannon gave him the $340 but when the man demanded his watch Concannon refused and a struggle ensued in which the Quantum man was slashed on the throat.

His assailant was described as about 27 years old, six feet tall, 180 pounds with a dark neatly trimmed beard and mustache. He fled toward the Boston Gear Works.

Lydon: Building For 21st Century

"In the early 1980s," said Planning Director James Lydon, "we are determining what Quincy will be in the 21st century."

Already it's a pretty vibrant place, according to the report of economic development over the past five years that Lydon delivered to the City Council's Downtown and Economic Development Committee Monday night.

"The past five years, from 1979 to the present, have been the most significant growth period in Quincy history, particularly in the commercial sector," he said.

"Five years ago, Quincy had an unemployment rate of more than 10 per cent. There were three major employers, General Dynamics, Pneumatic Scale and Boston Gear. Quincy was primarily a blue collar, one industry town."

"There were two new office buildings, State Street South and Kemper Insurance, but there was no major white collar employer in the city. State Street South was underdeveloped."

"The downtown was ravaged by South Shore Plaza. There were five acres of vacant retail space. Business was leaving the city and the burden of taxes was shifting to the homeowners."

Right now, he said, the unemployment rate is down to 5.2 per cent, one of the lowest in the history of the city. Hundreds of jobs have been created in the downtown alone. Quincy is no longer a one industry town.

Since 1979, said Lydon, 3,870,640 square feet of office space has been added at a construction cost of $304,100,000 with the addition of 15,419 jobs and eventual tax payments of $6.5 million a year.

But some of the city councillors added a word of caution to Lydon's glowing report. Councillor Patricia Toland offered some criticism of what she called "exploding development."

"When do we reach a point where enough is enough?" she asked. "What does the Planning Board or the Planning Department feel about continuing development?"

Lydon said he does not feel that development has been "rampant."

"This is quality development, finely thought out," he said. "We have had projects try to come in that we did not feel were projects."

"Someday," said Toland, "we are going to wake up and find (traffic) gridlock in this city. The lines are backing up farther and farther. Where are we going to put the cars?"

Lydon acknowledged that development has brought more care to the city, adding that "we may have been responding in 1979 fashion. There are roadways being designed to remedy that."

He noted that traffic lights in the city will be synchronized for the first time, starting next year.

Food, Sleep Stolen

The person who broke into apartments on Southern Artery and Water St. Monday apparently wanted nothing but a little nap and something to nibble on.

Margaret Aiken of Presidential Estates reported to police that nothing was taken but the intruder had stopped to cook some food.

Stephanie Ahlstedt, who lives in a different building in the Presidential Estates, said nothing was taken from her place either but that the bed was messed up.

Arlene Brooks of Water St., South Quincy, reported that nothing was missing from her apartment but that the bed had been slept in.

Reader's Forum Kerry, Not Globe Shamie's Opponent

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As both an activist within the Republican Party and as the author of a political column in several Boston weeklies, I find Republican Ray Shamie's declared war against the Boston Globe to be counterproductive in his campaign for the U.S. Senate. John Kerry is the Democratic opponent not the Globe.

The Senate race this year is a classic one with two distinct choices. These candidates do not blur on the issues. Kerry is an ultra-liberal without question and Shamie is a New Right economic conservative.

Bringing the Globe in is a political mistake for the Shamie people. People already either love or hate that newspaper but regardless, the Globe is the most influential newspaper in the state and maybe even New England.

Shamie should hammer away at Kerry's liberal positions on raising taxes as a first alternative and not waste time velling at or ignoring Globe reporters.

Since Columbus Day, the news media has gotten on Shamie's case and right that they should. The Globe got on his case over those secret 1981 internal memos just acknowledged by the campaign committee and published them. I believe the Globe had a duty to publish them.

The Herald has also taken Shamie to task (even though they've endorsed him) for association with the John Birch Society which apparently may still be continuing.

Questions are arising over what should be non-issues (The Globe and the Birch Society) and the Shamie Campaign creates both non-issues.

As a Republican activist, I urge Ray Shamie to clear up the Birch connection once and for all and open up his campaign to complete Globe coverage. Don't make the Globe an issue because this strategy can only backfire.

The issue should be who will make a better replacement for Sen. Paul Tsongas, will it be Lt. Gov. Kerry or will it be Ray Shamie? Infusing anger over the Globe draws away from the real issues: electing a U.S. Senator.

ON SUICIDE

Suicide is ranked as the tenth leading cause of death overall in this country. In the 15-19 year age group, it is ranked third, and it is the second most common cause of death on college campuses.

A suicide threat should always be taken seriously! There is a common misconception that a person who threatens to commit suicide, never does. Doctors say quite the contrary is true. People who do commit suicide usually signal their intentions before they take their lives. Doctors list as high-risk potential suicides: severely depressed patients, chronically ill or isolated persons, bereaved people, people who have threatened suicide or have attempted it before.

Doctors agree that the most dangerous period may be when a depressed person who has threatened suicide suddenly becomes cheerful even though nothing has changed to warrant it. It may mean that he has finally made up his mind to take his life.

If you suspect a potential suicide, contact your physician or suicide prevention center. Trying to handle a suicidal patient yourself is folly. Professional help is needed—immediately.

Campaigning At City Hall

Raymond Shamie dropped into City Hall the other day on a campaign visit.

He got a smile from most but a frown from City Councillor Patricia Toland.

She doesn't mind partisan candidates strolling through City Hall.

"There's nothing wrong with a handshake or a hello," she says.

But, it isn't right, she feels, for a partisan candidate to use neutral ground like City Hall for a press interview.

"It's improper," she says. "We all pay taxes there. It is not the place to give one candidate an advantage over another. City Hall should not be used for a political promotion."

TOLAND

McCAULEY

Shamie had been invited to stop in by Mayor Francis McCauley who is both a Republican and Shamie supporter.

The Quincy Sun's Ch. 8 TV news crew was there. And so was Ch. 5 doing a segment for its Chronicles program showing a campaign day with Shamie. It is also doing one with Lt. Gov. John Kerry, his Democratic opponent for U.S. Senate.

McCauley had told the Ch. 8 team not to bring their camera into his office while Shamie was there.

"We don't want to have the appearance of partisan politics in the mayor's office," he said.

He suggested that a downstairs conference room be used if Ch. 8 wanted to talk with Shamie.

When the Ch. 5 team arrived, they barged into the mayor's office to shoot McCauley greeting Shamie.

Later, they went down to the conference room to film Ch. 8 cameraman Bob Gohl and reporter John Noonan doing the interview with Shamie.

Councillor Toland, a Democrat and supporter of Kerry, objected to the use of the City Hall conference room for the interview that benefited Shamie.

Toland also doesn't think city employees should wear campaign buttons during working hours. She thinks they should look and act neutral from 9 to 4:30 p.m. because City Hall belongs to everyone—not any candidate or political party.

It apparently doesn't bother McCauley. When he greeted Shamie in his office, His Honor was sporting a Shamie button on one lapel and a Reagan-Bush button on the other.

Anyway, Toland plans to look into the use of non-partisan's City Hall as a political forum for visiting partisan candidates.

SPEAKING of Mayor McCauley, he not only gets work out of his official family—but their blood, too.

McCauley recently donated his 26th pint of blood to the Red Cross over a six and a half-year period and expects to reach the four-gallon mark in 1985.

Since becoming mayor he doesn't go to the bloodmobile alone. He takes part of City Hall with him.

On his last visit, joining him in donating a pint of blood were: Administrative Assistant Arthur Foley, Executive Secretary Peter Kenney, Planning Director James Lydon, Assistant City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie, Personal Director Don Hansen, and David Colton, Assistant Public Works Commissioner.

WHETHER President Ronald Reagan or challenger Walter Mondale won Sunday night's debate could get you another debate. But one definite winner was the Quincy Democratic City Committee. Members raised about $500 for the committee at a $10 per head Debate Party at its Quincy headquarters.

ARCHBISHOP Bernard Law made quite a hit at the 60th anniversary dinner of Quincy Sons of Italy Lodge 1295 Sunday night.

The Archbishop who wasn't expected until 9 p.m., arrived at 8 p.m. explaining he thought he would like to have dinner and "I love pastry."

He stayed until 11:30 p.m., spending the final hour graciously autographing the dinner programs which had his photo in it and chatting with just about everyone. (The programs, incidentally, were printed by the Quincy Sun).

Toastmaster A. Mario Salvatore probably best said what the Sons of Italy and this country are all about when introducing the Archbishop, he said: "Only in America could the son of an immigrant shoemaker, sit side by side and break with someone like the Archbishop of Boston."

The Archbishop stood up and embraced Salvatore.

Wreath Laying Ceremony To Honor John Adams

A delegation of officers, wardroom men and enlisted personnel from the navy ship USS Connelle, will arrive in Quincy Tuesday, Oct. 30, at 10:30 a.m. to attend wreath laying ceremonies at United First Parish Church marking John Adams' birthday.

They will be making their first public appearance since the ship docked in Boston.

The delegation will be ushered into the church by members of the ROTC of both Quincy and North Quincy High Schools who will form a color and an honor guard.

Also attending the festivities will be members of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts and officers and enlisted personnel stationed at the Weymouth Naval Air Station.

The Rev. Keith C. Munson, minister of the church, also announced that the Madrigal Singers of Quincy High School, under the direction of Catherine R. Carnabuci, will render two selections during the ceremony.

Captain L. L. Manderfield of the U.S. Naval Reserve Training Center in Quincy and his attendants will present the wreath to be placed on the sarcophagus of John Adams.

Judge Paul Reardon, will address the assembly.

Reardon, resident of Hingham, is a retired Associate Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court for Massachusetts.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, will receive the wreath on behalf of the city. Forrest I. Neal, Jr., president of the church, will receive the wreath on behalf of the church.

Members of the City Council, School Committee, and city officials and employees, will be in attendance. Representatives from the National Park Service have been invited along with members of the Abigail Adams Historical Society and the Quincy Historical Society.

The public is invited to attend.

Won't Moderate Voice On Issues, Says Abp. Law

The Most Rev. Bernard Law, archbishop of Boston, says he feels no compulsion to moderate his voice on issues that some people see as a religious invasion of the political arena.

"I am not going to be reined in on the issues of racism, war and peace and abortion," he told Quincy Sun Channel 8 reporter John Noonan in an interview Sunday night.

Law was in Quincy to speak at the 60th anniversary dinner of Quincy Sons of Italy Lodge 1295.

"The problem is this," he said, "some Catholics feel that it is inappropriate for the church to be involved in politics. I agree. But the church should be involved in moral issues."

"There are those of us who view abortion as a human rights issue. We don't expect to impose our religious views on others."

We have to build on other evidence like the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

"That is what I am trying to say. To say that the church is trying to impose its views politically is not to listen."

"The difficulty is on the part of those who are disturbed by what is being said. They want to get some issues off the front burner. They want to reign them in."

In his talk at the Sons of Italy dinner, Law urged the Italian community to greet newcomers to America and "help in making them feel welcome and a part of this church."

This, he said, "would be a sign for the whole world that all men and all women are called to live in unity as God's children because we believe Jesus meant it when he said, 'Whatever you do for the least of these my brethren you do for me.'"

"I speak of those who come from the islands of the Caribbean and other places in Central and South America and those who come from Asia and those who come from wherever."

Law said he recently spoke at the Harvard Law School on the subject of "Racially Inspired Violence."

"At the end of the talk," he said, "there was a question and answer period. This very attractive woman stood and said she had a fear in her heart and wanted to know what I could do about it."

"I said, 'What is your fear?' She said, 'I fear for my son and I fear for all young black males.'"

"I told her that I can share her fears because there are other mothers and there are other fathers who would understand."

"It is my hope and conviction that all of us who understand that kind of fear, whatever our ethnic or religious background, can work together so that future generations will not have to undergo the fear and the violence that so often mark our society today."

"It's a word that weighs heavily in my heart and I look to people like this group for the understanding and the cooperation to make our society an even better one."

Archbishop Law was high in his praise of Bishop Thomas Daily, former pastor of St. Ann's Church in Wollaston, who is leaving to become the first bishop of the new diocese of Palm Beach, Fla.

"Losing him is a tremendous loss to the archdiocese," he said.

Laid Off FR Workers Face Tough Job Hunt

James F. McGonnigal, executive secretary of the Shipbuilders' Union Local 5, said that laid off workers at the Fore River Shipyard are having difficulty finding jobs because prospective employers believe they will be called back to work at the yard within a few months.

By the end of November, he said, employment at the shipyard will be down to 800 hourly workers and prospects for the entire year of 1955 are that there will be no more than 1,000.

Still, he said, unemployed union members have been coming to him with reports that employers will not hire them because Fore River has contracts to build five destroyers with work staggered over a period of four to five years. First delivery date is November, 1956.

Meanwhile, the Atomic Energy Commission announced that Bethlehem Steel Corp.'s central technical department at Fore River will undertake a one-year study of the use of atomic power to drive commercial ships.

OUTLAW DRINKS

The Rev. Robert L. Treese, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church and chairman of the Social Action Committee of the Quincy Council of Churches, urged voters in the November election to outlaw all liquor establishments in the city that serve beverages to be drunk on premises.

"We are asking that voters close the open saloon and the tap room but retain the package store," he said. "Quincy is not yet a bad city but there are definite signs of decay because of the open saloon."

WESTACRES FOR SALE

State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley issued a reminder that the 36-unit Westacres housing project, built in 1948 and owned by the city, must be offered for sale not later than November under the terms of enabling legislation that said it must be offered between five and six years after completion.

$60 TAX RATE

The Quincy Taxpayers Association predicted that the city will be faced with a $60 tax rate in five years "unless a miracle appears." City Manager William J. Deegan, on the other hand, forecast an increase of only $5 over the current tax rate of $52 by 1960.

BOYS' TOWN OPPOSED

The Squantum Community Association voted to oppose a proposal to construct a Boys' Town of Massachusetts on the site of the former Squantum Naval Air Station. President Harry W. Chandler said the vote was unanimous.

Wider use of dental sealants could cut in half the incidence of tooth decay in children, says the National Institute of Dental Research. Sealants should be applied to permanent molars at age 6 or 7, and then to the second molars when they come in, usually around age 13.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Manager

HOME - A BLUE CHIP INVESTMENT

QUESTION: One normally refers to stocks and bonds as blue chip investments. Shouldn't real estate be included in this category?

ANSWER: A well-built home in a good neighborhood is, indeed, a blue chip investment. In fact, real estate values have consistently increased far more than the value of stocks and bonds. And housing values have always more than kept abreast of the general rise in consumer prices.

There is no reason to believe that this situation will change in the future. There is an increasing demand for homes. Also, real estate tax breaks allow you to keep more of what you earn. It's a blue chip investment - plus!

Emblem Club Donates To Food Center

A large assortment of paper goods was recently donated by members of the Quincy Emblem Club to the Quincy Community Action Emergency Food Center.

The donation was delivered by club members Maxine Eames, president; Sue McGregor, past president; Gertrude Keating, chaplain, and Hazel Sheehan, press.

Center director Mary Brelsford and coordinator Carolyn Remy accepted the donation and spoke about the Thanksgiving dinner the center gives for the city's needy.

The Emblem Club offered to give financial and material help.

At the club's October meeting, plans were discussed for the following upcoming events: a pot luck supper and turkey drawing on Past Presidents night Nov. 14, a 60th dinner-dance Nov. 17 and a mini Christmas bazaar in December.

Two new members, Janice Mellane and Louise Ficarro were initiated.

Anyone related to an Elks Club member, either as a wife, mother, sister or daughter, is welcome to join the Emblem Club.

For more information on the events, or on becoming a member of the club, call Maxine Eames, 472-2017, Charlotte Wilson, chairperson, 587-3582 or Sue McGregor, 472-1620.

ETERNAL DIAMOND

The diamond has been called "crystallized lightning." It was once said that its heart was actually a spark struck from the sword of Mars, the god of war. This was a belief that attributed the invincibility of the ancient divinity to the diamond. Its sparkling hues have been likened to the rainbow as well. As the rainbow was considered an expression of God's eternal covenant with man, so the diamond sealed man's eternal covenant with woman. To the ancients, the diamond was possessed of infinity. Sun god, lightning or rainbow, the diamond was at the heart of life and, as such, would persist. When we say that a diamond is forever, it is literally true. The diamond, the hardest natural substance in the world, is practically eternal.

Diamonds come in many shapes and sizes, and of course prices. But of great importance in determining value in color, clarity, cut and carat. These qualities are what make a diamond endure. The knowledgeable people at TODDIE'S FINE JEWELRY will be able to explain diamonds to you, what their current market is and will be here for you for service and advice. When you purchase a diamond at 1163 Hancock St. you are making an investment in love, beauty and prestige. So stop in Mon. - Fri. 10 - 6, Sat. 11 - 4. Red Cross Board Members Meet With Bill Cosby Thirty Red Cross board members and staff accompanied by spouses or friends met backstage with comedian Bill Cosby following a recent performance at the South Shore Music Circus.

The group was among a theater party of 150 who supported the South Shore Chapter's successful fund raiser, "Red Cross Night at the Music Circus".

The chapter's board chairman, Mrs. Daniel F. Shea of Quincy, presented Cosby with a book on the history of the American National Red Cross and acknowledged his support of the organization through his TV and radio spots during a past nationwide membership and fund raising campaign.

Flea Market Nets

$125 For Ward 5 GOP

More than 80 people turned out recently for a flea market sponsored by the Ward 5 Republican Committee which raised more than $125 for the committee treasury.

"The flea market was a tremendous public relations, as well as financial success," said Committee Chairman Richard Lockhead. Among those attending was Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

Lockhead said that while many came to browse through the items for sale, some came to talk about the Republican party with flea market organizers.

"As a rebuilding tool, the flea market was just the beginning of something new in Ward 5," he said, adding that future events are planned to make the public aware of the GOP.

Heat Back On At Woodward School

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The heating system is back to normal at the Woodward School.

Fourteen of the 147 students at the school in Quincy Center staged a walkout last Thursday to protest "chilly" temperatures in the building.

Headmaster Robert L. Johnston remained at the school that day until 9:30 p.m. to ensure that the heating problem was solved.

According to Johnston, the walkout occurred after a problem with installation of five new boilers for the school at a cost of $55,000.

"It's been chilly," said Johnston, who explained that the lowest temperature recorded was 57 degrees at 9:30 a.m. in a lab.

By the end of the day, it was 63 degrees, he said.

Normally heat in the building is turned on from Oct. 15 to April 15, said Johnston. This year's problem with installation of the boilers resulted in the school missing that deadline by four days, he said.

Johnston said he informed the students of the delay. He encouraged them to dress appropriately and most did he said.

"Complaints were minimal," said Johnston, "no representatives of the students talked to me."

"There were three phone calls from concerned parents. I received no letters."

The day of the walkout, the 11 seniors and three sophomores left at 9 a.m., said Johnston.

Students who hadn't left as yet were told they very possibly could be suspended if they walked out, said Johnston.

Parents of the students who walked out were called, said Johnston, and those students must make up in detention the five hours they missed from school.

Johnston said he stayed until 9:30 p.m. that night to see that the boiler installation was completed.

"I don't consider it to have been a significant problem," said Johnston.

"Students have a right to protest anything as long as they realize the consequences that come with it."

"It's not to say that I'm not sympathetic, but it wasn't bitter cold."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Someone once said that there is nothing in the world so hard to live with as a troubled conscience. There are many people today who are sick, distraught, and unhappy in this state because down in the bottom of their hearts they know that their lives are not right with God and man.

George Washington once said: "I do not recollect that is the course of my life I have ever forfeited my word or broke a promise made to anyone." This knowledge showed itself in his demeanor. All who met him remarked about his calmness, self-possession and quiet sense of purpose. It is down in the depths of people's lives that either quiet or chaos originates.

The choice which conscience imposes upon us is often hard to endure. It is easy to do evil and frequently very hard to do right. No matter what effort or self-deception is made, sooner or later the inner conflict of conscience must be faced.

A troubled conscience is not always convenient, but it is often the only element in life which absolutely guarantees rescue from despair. Sometimes conscience speaks in a whisper... at other times it yells loud and clear.

A sensitive conscience is a friend, not an enemy...

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

CITY OF QUINCY IN COUNCIL

ORDER NO. 397
ORDERED:

October 15, 1984

That the Quincy City Council conduct a public hearing, in accordance with Mass. G.L. Chapter 40, Section 56 and applicable guidelines of the Massachusetts Department of Revenue, on Monday, October 29, 1984 at 7:30 P.M. in the Quincy City Council Chamber (Harry W. Tirell Hall), Quincy City Hall, 1305 Hancock Street, Quincy, Massachusetts, 02169 on the question of the adoption of the percentages of the local tax levy to be borne by each class of real and personal property for fiscal year 1985 (July 1, 1984 - June 30, 1985), including in connection therewith the question of the adoption of a residential factor.

That by this notice the general public be advised that the policy decisions available with respect to the aforesaid questions are as follows:

Pursuant to Mass. G.L. Ch. 59, s. 2A the Board of Assessors is to classify real property according to four (4) uses:

Class One, Residential;
Class Two, Open-Space;
Class Three, Commercial;
Class Four, Industrial.

Pursuant to Mass. G.L. Ch. 40, s. 56 the City Council, subject to the Mayor's approval, is to determine the percentages of the local tax levy to be borne by each of the above four classes of real property and by personal property for fiscal year 1985 (July 1, 1984 - June 30, 1985).

In determining such percentages, the City Council, subject to the Mayor's approval, shall first adopt a "residential factor," i.e., the key number which is used as a multiplier to calculate the classification percentages. The residential factor may not be less than the minimum residential factor determined for the City of Quincy by the Massachusetts Commissioner of Revenue. The Commissioner has determined that the minimum residential factor for the City of Quincy for fiscal year 1985 is 80.9768.

The residential factor adopted by the City Council will govern the percentage of the tax levy to be borne by Class One, Residential property. A residential factor of "1" will result in the taxation of all classes of property at the same rate. If the City Council adopts a low residential factor, Class One, Residential property will bear a proportionately lower share of the total tax levy. The City Council is permitted to adopt a residential factor greater than "1", which would have the effect of favoring commercial, industrial and personal property, and taxing residential property and open space at a higher rate.

In addition, when determining the residential factor, the City Council is permitted to select a classification percentage for Class Two, Open Space, which may not be less than 75% of its full and fair cash value percentage. If this were done, Class One, Residential alone would absorb any discount applied to the open space class.

Once the residential factor has been determined and a decision made as to the classification percentage to be used for open space, the formulas for calculating the classification percentages for the five classes of property are set forth by statute as follows:

Class One, Residential - The full and fair cash valuation of the Class One property divided by the full and fair cash valuation of all real and property in the City multiplied by the residential factor;

Class Two, Open-Space - The full and fair cash valuation of the Class Two property divided by the full and fair cash valuation of all real and personal property in the City multiplied by not less than 75% of the residential factor;

Class Three, Commercial - The full and fair cash valuation of the Class Three property divided by the sum of full and fair cash valuation of Class Three and Class Four real property and personal property in the City multiplied by the difference between 100% and the sum of the Class One and Class Two percentages;

Class Four, Industrial - The full and fair cash valuation of the Class Four property divided by the sum of the full and fair cash valuation of the Class Three and Class Four real property and personal property in the City multiplied by the difference between 100% and the sum of the Class One and Class Two percentages; and Personal Property - The full and fair cash valuation of the personal property in the City divided by the sum of the full and fair cash valuation of the Class Three and Class Four real property and the personal property in the City multiplied by the difference between 100% and the sum of the Class One and Class Two percentages.

For purposes of these formulas, the "full and fair cash valuation" amounts are those amounts as determined by the Commissioner of Revenue. The Commissioner has determined these amounts for the City of Quincy for fiscal year 1985 as follows:

Class One, Residential - $1,436,368,251
Class Two, Open Space - No valuation; vacant land in Quincy has been classified with the other classes, as applicable.

Class Three, Commercial - $345,923,939
Class Four, Industrial - $149,722,960
Personal Property - $ 50,838,444

That at such public hearing reasonable opportunity be given to the Board of Assessors to provide all information and data relevant to making the determinations on the aforesaid questions, including the fiscal effect of the available alternatives.

That the following agenda and procedures be adopted to govern the conduct of such public hearing:

- 1) Presentation by the Mayor of his views, comments, plans, proposals or recommendations concerning the aforesaid questions, without limitation of time;

- 2) Questions and comments by the City Council as to the Mayor's presentation, without limitation of time;

- 3) Presentation of views, comments, plans, proposals, and recommendations by members of the general public concerning the aforesaid questions, with time limitations as follows:

- (a) ten (10) minutes per speaker as to whom views, comments, plans, proposals or recommendations have been received in writing in accordance with the deadline and place of receipt hereinafter indicated.
- (b) five (5) minutes per speaker as to whom no such views, comments, plans, proposals, or recommendations have been so received in writing.

The City Council reserves the right to pose questions and make comments upon presentations made under this paragraph No. 3 immediately following each speaker's presentation.

- 4) Questions, comments, views, plans, proposals, and recommendations by members of the City Council, without limitation of time; and
- 5) Such other items and procedures as may be required by law.

That the foregoing agenda and procedures may, consistently with law, be varied or amended as may be reasonable, useful and proper in order to further the intent of state law to provide an open forum for the discussions of local property tax policy on the aforesaid questions at such public hearing.

That, pursuant to Rule 23 of the Rules of the Quincy City Council, said Rules be suspended for the conduct of such public hearing, but only to the extent the same are inconsistent with the procedures set forth herein.

That, in connection with such public hearing, written views, comments, plans, proposals and recommendations on the aforesaid questions may be presented to the City Council by members of the general public, provided such written views, comments, plans, proposals, and recommendations are received in the City Clerk's Office, Quincy City Hall, 1305 Hancock Street, Quincy, MA 02169 by 3:00 P.M. on Friday, October 26, 1984; but that no one shall be required to make a presentation of views, comments, plans, proposals and recommendations in writing in order to be permitted to speak at such public hearing.

That this notice be adopted by the City Council.

'Functions Of Faith' Bethany Sermon Topic

There will be two worship services Sunday, Oct. 28, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both services on "Functions of Faith", based on scriptural texts from Hebrews 11:1-3, 8-10; 12:1-2 and the Gospel of Mark 2:1-12.

Lay scriptures readers will be Lois Nordstrom for the early service and Helene Crofts for the late service. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will assist in leading the worship at both services.

At the sanctuary service, the Chancel Choir under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory "All My Hope On God Is Founded" by Herbert Howells, and as the second anthem "What Wondrous Love Is This".

The service will also be broadcast over station WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The Senior High Class, ninth to twelfth grades meets at 9 a.m. and is taught by Robert R. Peoples, Jr.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

A membership class for persons who are considering becoming members of Bethany, will be held on three consecutive Thursday evenings beginning Oct. 25, and continuing Nov. 1 and 8. The group will meet at the church, 7:30 to 9 p.m. and will be taught jointly by Rev. Arnold and Rev. Huntington.

The Harvest Fest Fair, sponsored by the Bethany Churchwomen, will be held Friday, Oct. 26, 7:30 to 9 p.m. and Sat., Oct. 27, 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., and is open to the public.

For information about Bethany's ministry and programs, contact the church office, 479-7300.

HONORED AT CARNEY—Nancy Borden, R.N., of Quincy, was recently honored for 20 years of service to Carney Hospital as an Ostomy Clinician. Borden and other hospital employees enjoyed a dinner dance at Lantana, where they received pins for years of service.

'Discovered By Grace' Squantum Church Topic

"Discovered By Grace" was the title of the sermon preached by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin during the second service of the First Church of Squantum Sunday.

It was second of three sermons on the subject, "Our Protestant Heritage".

The Chancel Choir sang "Psalm 29" by Heinrich Schutz. The Junior Choir sang and danced the anthem "Father, I Adore You" to a traditional tune. Mary Ruth Scott directs both choirs.

Hymns sung during the service were "God of Grace and God of Glory", "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken", "Amazing Grace" and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again".

Greeters for the morning were Jennie and Isabelle Preston, a mother and daughter-in-law. Ushers were Cliff Mason and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Pat Sorensen and Barbara Walter.

During the earlier guitar service, Dr. Langevin spoke on the subject, "Martin Luther: Man of Faith", and illustrated his talk with cartoons.

Melissa Stamos and Marci Hurd were ushers. Susan Scott was in charge of the fellowship table. The Junior Choir sang for this early service, too.

This week, church members are continuing to wash dishes throughout the day and every night to get the three carloads of dishes given to the church ready for sale Saturday, Oct. 27. Dishes will be sold to the public from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

There will be a Pre-Fair Chicken Dinner at the church Friday, Oct. 28, at 6:30 p.m. with after-dinner entertainment by Sweet Adelines. Reservations can be made by calling Barbara Frazer at 328-0502.

The congregation will observe Reformation Sunday Oct. 28, with a breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and a special Reformation Sunday service at 10:30 a.m. There will be only one service that day for everyone in the church. Three choirs will sing.

The breakfast menu will include orange juice, scrambled eggs, sausages, hash browns, toast and beverage. Reservations can be made by calling Hazel Mayne at 328-4367.

Nursery and Sunday School for babies and children through the third grade is held Sunday during the second service. Older children and teenagers attend various groups throughout the week including Orange Crush, Mello Yellow, Ramblin' Roots, Pepsi Challenge, Pepsi Free-ks, Pepper Too and Seven-Up.

United First Parish Launches UNICEF Drive

United First Parish Unitarian Church, Quincy Center, will begin a two-month effort to raise funds for UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, Sunday, Oct. 28.

There will be a Plant-Baked Goods Sale at 11:30 a.m. during Social Hour.

The church's Teen Group is sponsoring the sale, which will feature baked goods contributed by parishioners as well as more than 100 plants from home gardens.

UNICEF greeting cards, stationery, and wrapping paper will also be on sale beginning Oct. 28 and every Sunday until Christmas.

The congregation hopes that by Christmas they will have raised enough money to stock 30 ponds with baby fish, guaranteeing future protein supplies for at least 30 villages.

Good Shepherd Church To Hold Biennial Christmas Fair

The Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, W. Squantum St. and Harvard St., North Quincy, will hold its Biennial Christmas Fair Saturday, Nov. 3, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Items to be sold include handcrafts, needlework, holiday decorations, homemade food, cabbage patch doll clothes, soft sculpture, magnets, woodwork.

Special items include a button maker (fair-goers may bring favorite pictures), face painting and a special visit from an inhabitant of the North Pole.

Fair revenues will be used for the special needs fund and church projects. Funds are going to be matched up to $250 by the Lutheran Brotherhood Bay State Branch No. 8247.

Refreshments will be sold.

Concert At First United Presbyterian Church

The Youth Fellowships of the First United Presbyterian Church, 270 Franklin St., Quincy will present the David Coate Group in concert, Friday Oct. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

A progressive rock band with an evangelical message, the David Coate Group will be joined by Bob and Sue Moulton.

Tickets may be reserved by calling 773-5575, or purchased at the door.

The public is invited to this Halloween weekend event, being held as part of the Church's centennial celebration.

For further information, contact Rev. Larry Baskin at 773-5575.

Auction Nov. 3 At Point Congregational

Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., will hold an auction as a post-fair event, Saturday, Nov. 3, at 7 p.m.

Many items, old and new, will be auctioned including antique quilts, furniture, televisions, cameras, hand-made articles, Cabbage Patch Kids, plus gift certificates to restaurants and shops.

Doors will be open at 6 p.m. Articles to be auctioned may be viewed.

A snack-bar will be available during the auctioneering. The event will benefit the recent Centennial Fair and is under the direction of Carol and Bill Harding. Bill is Associate Pastor of Quincy Point Congregational Church.

Admission is free; ample parking facilities are available.

Call 773-6424 or 331-3364 to make donations to the sale.

'Winter Wonderland' Fair At Squantum Church

"Winter Wonderland" will be the theme of the annual church fair of the First Church of Squantum Saturday, Nov. 3, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The fair will include a coffee shop, a luncheon, books, crafts, knitting, antiques, a country store, a white elephant table, cabbage patch doll clothes, Christmas decorations, home made apple pies, baked goods, aprons, an all-blue table and games for the children.

Co-chairmen for the fair are Evelyn Ahearn and Ruth Swenson.

'Turkey Whist' At St. Joseph's

President John Tamasco:

'A Milestone In Our Proud Heritage'

Following are the remarks of John Tamasco, president of Quincy Lodge 1295, Sons of Italy at the lodge's 60th anniversary dinner.

"This evening marks a milestone in the proud heritage of the Quincy Lodge. Sixty years is a long way from the first home Roma intangible to the present Quincy Lodge 1295 here on Quarry St.

"Yes, it was in 1924 that a group of men headed by Gaetano Carpano were discussing the idea that men of Italian ancestry who have so much in common in the new land should join together to help one another and to enjoy one another's company socially.

"After finding enough men who thought this was a good idea, they decided to organize under the national order Son's of Italy in America. A short while later they were presented with a charter under the name of Loggia Intangible with the number 1295 granted by the supreme lodge. Brother Gaetano Carpano became our first Venerable.

"I am quite sure that brother Gaetano Carpano would say that from a humble beginning that started back in 1924 to our present home here on Quarry St. is a dream come true.

"In the grandest of terms there are those who would say we are celebrating the Diamond Jubilee of our lodge.

"In the skein of time eternal, 60 years is but a blink of the eye and yet... time is but one measure of our history.

"The fellowship and sharing, the wish to help those in need and the valor of that accomplishment, the learning and growth are further measures of the dream and ideal that was started here in Quincy in 1924.

"I know that all my brothers share my feeling of gratitude for those gallant founders of the Roma Intangible 1295.

"We can indeed be justly proud of all that has been made possible in the past and in our own time. With good will and determination of those founding brothers behind us, there is no limit to what we can accomplish in the service of those less fortunate than we.

"The future is not an open book, yet, we know that together with cooperation and empathy, courage and fortitude, we will uphold the ideals that gave birth to the Quincy Lodge just six short decades ago.

"Looking back from this night to the time I first came among you as a lodge member, it is with mixed emotions -- both humility and pride -- that, I express my thanks for having been made, and permitted to serve as President of this wonderful lodge.

"To the celebration of our 60th Anniversary, on behalf of my lodge brothers past and present I welcome you one and all."

Abp. Law In Tribute To Sons Of Italy Charitable Endeavors

The Most Rev. Bernard Law, Archbishop of Boston, paid tribute to members of Quincy Lodge 1295, Sons of Italy, for their charitable work.

Keynote speaker at the lodge's 60th anniversary dinner Sunday night, the Archbishop noted that the Quincy lodge will contribute some $120,000 to various charities this year.

"That's a remarkable record," he said. "If every group of comparable size would do that, we would certainly help make this a much better world for a lot of people.

"It would have been very easy for that group of persons who gathered together 60 years ago to have started something that looked in upon themselves and their families and provided them with a little consolation and recreation and let it go at that.

"But that wasn't their vision and that isn't your dream."

The Archbishop was presented with a $1,000 check from the lodge for his own charitable fund. He was also presented with a set of gold cufflinks with the emblem of Quincy Lodge 1295 imprinted on each.

Archbishop Law said in an interview with John

Congratulations

for your many outstanding achievements in this past 60 years and best wishes for the future as you start your next 60 years.

From A Humble Beginning . . .

. . . To This And Much More.

By HENRY BOSWORTH
Publisher, The Quincy Sun and Member Quincy Lodge 1295

Calvin Coolidge was president, Jack Dempsey the champ, and Babe Ruth the Sultan of Swat.

World War I had been over for almost six years and the country had comfortably settled into an era of peace and prosperity.

That was the war to end all wars. A depression on the way? Never, laughed the experts along Wall St. Times were pretty good. You couldn't even hold $10 worth of groceries.

In Quincy, Gustave Bates was mayor. The population hovered around 54,000 and the tax rate was $27. There were trolley car tracks down Hancock and Washington Sts. The granite quarries were still active. And for a dime you could take your best girl to see Lon Chaney in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" at one of the local silent movie houses.

The year was 1924 and it was only a few weeks old. Snow was on the ground.

Coal and wood burned in kitchen stoves. Friends got together to talk.

In Boston, a group of men sat around a table talking about the new hockey team they were forming. They decided to call the team the Bruins.

In a cellar in Quincy Gaetano Carpano was sitting with a group of friends discussing his idea: men of Italian ancestry who have so much in common in their new land should join together to help one another and to enjoy one another's company socially.

Francesco DiVecchio, Luigi DiGravio, Gaetano Principe and Vincenzo Moscardelli agreed. They and Carpano decided to canvas the city and try out the idea on their friends. Their friends liked it, too.

By March 31, the had found 60 men who wanted to organize under the national Order Sons of Italy in America.

And the following month April 22 to be exact—they were presented with a charter under the name of Loggia Roma Intangibile with the number 1295 granted by the Supreme Lodge.

It was only fitting that Gaetano Carpano become the first Venerable, Luigi DiGravio was Assistant Venerable. The other charter officers:

Pasquale Principe, Orator; Vincenzo Moscardelli, Financial Secretary; Nichola Principe, Recording secretary; Francesco DiVecchio, Treasurer; Antonio Pestilli, Matteo Cordone, Vittorio Salvaggio, Frederic Mannani, and Luciani Luciani, Trustees; Nichola Emanuele and Alfredo Moscone, Master of Ceremonies and Gaetano Principe, Sentinel.

Well, they really started something—something big. But it took a little while to realize just how big.

Monthly meetings were held in rented quarters in Franklin Hall, Phipps St. Hall and in 1942, back in Franklin Hall. During this time, membership increased to approximately 150.

Meanwhile, mothers, wives and sisters wanted to become active, too. So in October, 1927 Loggia Roma Intangibile sponsored a ladies lodge in Quincy. Stella del Nord No. 1436.

The lodge was growing and getting more and more active as the 1930's arrived. There was a proud honor in August, 1930: the Grand Convention was held here in Quincy. And, beginning that year, the annual Grand Ball was held at the Neighborhood Club.

In 1940, the Lodge hosted a Sports Night honoring the Boston Red Sox. And that same year had Sibby Sisti and Phil Masi of the Boston Bees (remember when the Braves became the Bees?) at a Father and Sons Night.

Who could forget the 1950's? Plenty doing then, too. Like in 1951 when the Lodge hosted the Italian cadets from aboard the Amerigo Vespucci while the vessel was visiting Boston.

In 1955 the Lodge's first newsletter in English and Italian appeared under the direction of Larry Scarnici, Editor.

Two years later, the Lodge purchased the South Quincy Bocce Club. In 1958, Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa proclaimed Columbus Day a holiday in Quincy and named Scarnici chairman of the city-wide celebration.

And, on Nov. 18, 1958 the name of the Lodge was changed to Quincy Lodge No. 1295.

They called the next decade the Turbulent 60's and—it was. John and Robert Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King fell at the hands of assassins in Texas, California and Memphis.

Credo of the Order Sons Of Italy

TO UNITE in one social entity people of Italian descent residing in North America without prejudice as to religious or political faith, who believe in the fundamental conceptions of a society based upon law and order, and a government founded on principles of country and nation;

TO SPONSOR the civic and social education of its members in harmony with their duties as citizens of this great nation, and promote the fundamental conceptions of Americanism based upon the respect of the Constitution, obedience to the law, devotion to the government of the republic, and defense of its institutions;

TO ENCOURAGE the diffusion of the Italian culture and language as an effective medium of the appreciation of the race; to keep alive in the youth the spiritual admiration for the land of their fathers, with the knowledge that the cultural, historical, and traditional patrimony constitutes the greatest contribution that they can make to the progress of America;

TO PROMOTE the moral intellectual, and material advancement of the members; to initiate and support causes for the defense, affirmation and exaltation of the Italian name in America; to encourage and promote to positions or responsibility, for the service of this nation, people and members within the Italian group, who give proof of ability and political integrity, and who possess all the qualifications necessary to represent the Italian race in the civic life of America;

TO ORGANIZE institutions of charitable assistance and social welfare for the mutual protection of the needy, widows, and orphans; to give benefits, subsidies, and help as material examples of the solidarity of the Italian people; and to encourage and instill in the hearts of the members of the sense of traditional independence, dignity, and pride of our people.

From A Humble Beginning...

They were sad years for many.

But time marched on and for the Lodge it was a period of tremendous progress and accomplishment.

A Junior League was proposed in Quincy May 21, 1962 for our youth. Our Lodge played a major role in defeating legislation that would have revoked Columbus Day as a full holiday.

There was a "Mortgage Burning" dinner dance for the Furnace Avenue quarters in January, 1968.

But even before that, members were talking about a new home. Not just talking—but doing something about it: a fund-raising, a membership drive, site hunting, architect's plans, etc. And finally—reality.

The first business meeting was held in the new home at 120 Quarry St., Nov. 8, 1971. A gala official two-evenings grand opening preceded it, Nov. 6-7. The first night was for visiting dignitaries and the second for members.

For members it was a proud night.

Gaetano Carpano and his friends would have been proud to be there that night, too. And, 10 years later, this past Sunday night.

The Lodge they humbly founded in a cellar sixty years ago now is in a handsome, modern home—one of the finest anywhere. The building, in a sense, is a tribute to them.

Now their sons and sons of others are working together helping one another and making significant contributions to their community, state and nation.

And, today, Gaetano Carpano, Luigi DiGravio and those other first few members would be pleased to know that today's membership is over 500.

Many of the names they would recognize. Names like: Antonelli, Allegrini, Bersani, Bolea, Buonvicino, Capone, Cardarelli, Carini, D'Arcangelo, DiBona, DelVecchio, DeNicola, DiTullio, DeCarli, Fantucchio, LaRosa, Marella, Marini, Mastrantonio, Montilio, Papile, Paluzzi, Papagno, Panico, Rocuzzo, Realini, Salvatore, Tomasco, Rossi, Santangelo, etc. etc.

And they would smile to learn that today's members include such names as Anderson, Kelly, Hamel, McCarthy, Flaherty, MacDonald, Quinn, Bosworth, Reardon, Smith.

But, that's what it was all about 60 years ago. The sons of Italy then and now are also the sons of America.

If Gaetano Carpano and his friends were here today, they would surely say: "This is our dream come true."

JOHN FANTUCCHIO, chairman of the Board of Trust announces that the board has commissioned the creation of a special purple and gold lodge flag which will be presented to Quincy Lodge 1295.

STATE DEPUTY Frank Manzella brings a greeting from the Grand Lodge.

Raiders Face Waltham, And Penalty Hex

By TOM SULLIVAN

The first half of last week's game with Somerville was complete frustration for the North Quincy football team.

The Raiders pushed the Highlanders all over the field but it appeared they would be in a scoreless tie at halftime. But, they scored on the last play of the half, then went on to score three second half touchdowns for a 27-0 win, their third in a row to improve their record to 4-2.

Penalties killed the Raiders all day as they were hit with 120 yards and Coach Ken McPhee is hopeful this won't happen Saturday when they host tough Waltham at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Waltham comes in with a 4-2 record, having topped Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 24-0, last week. The Hawks also have wins over Quincy, Peabody and Brookline, while losing to Lexington and Arlington.

"We definitely have to cut way down on our penalties against Waltham," said McPhee. "We never moved the ball better but those penalties really killed us. We wasted several good scoring opportunities because of them. Waltham is a far stronger team than Somerville and we can't afford penalties like those if we hope to win."

Waltham topped North, 12-7, a year ago.

The statistics show North's complete domination of Somerville. The Raiders had 311 yards on the ground and 54 yards passing, while Somerville's total offense amounted to just 83 yards, all on the ground, including a 43-yard run. North had 20 first downs to just two, both in the first half, for Somerville. North also had a big edge where it didn't want it, penalties, as it lost 120 yards while Somerville was penalized 50 yards.

For the second time in three weeks Steve Kelly and Mike Barry each ran for well over 100 yards, Kelly having 125 yards and Barry 122. Joe Bangs also ran well and in the late stages, with the reserves in action, North's Rob Bradley ran twice for 35 yards and Gary McNamara ran twice for 18 yards.

Dave Zuroms turned in his usual steady game at quarterback and ran the team well. He completed four of nine for 39 yards, while backup quarterback Chris Gray had a 15-yard touchdown pass.

"We were just flat in the first half but I'm delighted at the way we moved the ball," McPhee said. "I say again this is the best offensive line I've ever seen at North and I consider Jack Hannan the best offensive lineman I've seen."

McPhee had good words for Hannan, Jerry Coughlin, Al DiBella, Bill Doherty, Larry Nioletz, John Reney, Rich Brooks, Ed Kennedy and Rich Horrigan.

On defense the North coach praised Dave Cooke, playing only his third game at linebacker, who ran back a pass interception 35 yards to give the Raiders some breathing room. He also nailed the defensive performances of DiBella, Bangs, Kelly, Tim Sullivan, who had one of his best games, Reney and Barry.

"In our previous game Ken Runge was just unbelievable but today they ran away from him and Horrigan," McPhee said.

In the first half Somerville had only 11 plays as North controlled the ball from the start. Its only big scoring chance came when Alex Weston broke up the middle and raced 43 yards to the North two, where Bangs brought him down. But the Highlanders fumbled and Cooke recovered on the two. North marched up and down the field but to no avail as penalties continually halted drives. One long drive was stopped by a pass interception on Somerville's 25.

North's Steve Dever fell on a Somerville fumble on the Highlanders' 30 and a few plays later Zuroms apparently lateraled to Brooks, who passed to Bangs in the end zone but the officials rightly ruled Zuroms had thrown a forward pass rather than a lateral and called back the score.

Somerville again was stopped cold and the Raiders drove from their 40, led by Kelly and Barry and three passes from Zuroms to Bangs, Brooks and Kelly. With a first down on the three and time for only one play, Zuroms struck left end for the touchdown. Cooke's kick for the point was blocked.

North received the second half kickoff and drove for its second score. Kelly took a pitchout and went around left end for 18 yards and his sixth TD of the year. Zuroms passed to Kelly for the two-point conversion.

The Raiders scored twice in the fourth quarter, Cooke intercepting a pass and running it back for a score and also kicking the point, and Gray passing to Coughlin for 15 yards and the final score of the day. Prior to this play Barry had a 35-yard run to the two called back by a penalty. Earlier Kelly had a 20-yard run voided by still another infraction.

Teammates Dedicate North Win To Brooks' Mother

The North Quincy football team dedicated its victory last Saturday to the mother of teammate Rich Brooks, who is recuperating from a serious operation.

The players presented Mrs. Brooks with a bouquet of flowers.

"This was a nice thing for the boys to do," said Coach Ken McPhee. "Mrs. Brooks has worked very hard and has given a lot of support to our program."

Kelley, Swan Touchdowns Win For Mayo's

Fred Kelley ran short yardage for two touchdowns and John Swan added a third on an end-around as Mayo's All Stars walloped the Houghs Neck Manets at Veterans Memorial Stadium to win their third Quincy Little Football League title.

The safety recorded by the Manets in the final period marked the first time that the All Stars had been scored on all season.

The Mayo's lineup included: Mullaney, Swan, O'Dell, ends; J. Swan, Kennedy, Buc, Mahoney, tackles; McGee, Burgess, Blinn, guards; Appleton, center; Mayo, Bruce, Kelley, Bassarni, Smith, backs.

RAIDERS LOSE

Vin Penzo, the Raiders' big fullback, ran for the 45 of his team's 102 yards on the ground and scored its only touchdown as the North Quincy High School football team fell before New Bedford, 13-6, for its second straight loss.

"Vinnie played a great game," said Coach Jack Donahue. "I thought our line as a whole did very well. Our best lineman by far was Bill Menslage. And Bill Wanless did pretty well at end, too."

QUINCY BOWS

Jim Colclough passed 48 yards to big end Ron Dearden for a touchdown and almost ran two kickoff back for scores as the Quincy High School football team dropped a 14-6 Greater Boston League decision to Malden at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Quincy lineup included: Dearden, Kelley ends; Fanara, Hedlund, Volpe, tackles; Buccella, Peterson, Stewart, Kingston, guards; Doyle, Primavera, MacDonald, centers; Derbes, O'Donnell, Russo, Leone, Colclough, Moscardelli, DiMartinis, backs.

SOUTH IN UPSET

Noel Balducci passed 40 yards to Lou Magnarelli for a touchdown in the last minute and Magnarelli plunged over for the extra point as South surprised previously undefeated North, 21-20, to move into second place in the Junior High School Football League.

Only moments before, Joe Kupperman plunged over to North an apparent 20-14 victory.

UNUSUAL TIE

Quincy's Bill Savonen captured first place and teammates Bill Freel and Dick Keelon finished fourth and sixth respectively as the Quincy High School cross country team battled New Bedford Vocational to a 27 1/2 to 27 1/2 tie, a rarity in the sport.

Quincy Girls Swim To Win Over Weymouth S.

The Quincy girls' swim team captured its first win of the season last week, defeating Weymouth South, 84-64, at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

The First Ladies were paced by victories from Janet Morrell in the 200-yard freestyle, Colleen Craig in the 500 freestyle and Renee Gaura in diving as they jumped out to an early lead.

The 400 freestyle relay team of Gail Rollins, Morrell, Colleen Craig and Karen Craig edged Weymouth in the final event to clinch the victory.

Quincy is in the midst of a rebuilding year under new head coach Janet Keyes.

"With eight freshmen, one junior and only two seniors, we have the nucleus for a strong team next year," Keyes said. "I'm really proud of what these girls have done in such a short time. Hopefully, this enthusiasm will carry over to next year and we'll get more girls interested in our program and have a turnout comparable to some of the other teams in our league."

With the south sectional championships coming up

Nov. 9 and 10 Quincy's 400 freestyle and 200 medley relay teams have their work cut out for them if they hope to win a medal.

"Whatever the outcome, they have been a breath of fresh air in our program," Keyes said.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Presidents Need Rest, Welcome Day Off

Quincy's football team, which had upset Everett with three starting backs and other players sidelined the previous week, welcomed some of the casualties back last Saturday and, scoring three touchdowns in the second quarter, rolled to a 28-6 win at Revere to even its record at 3-3.

The Presidents still have several ailing players and Coach Jack Raymer welcomes this week's open date to give them a chance to recover in time for the next game Nov. 3 against Newton North at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Daron Tucker and Joe Cullen, two of the starting backs who missed the Everett game, returned at Revere and played prominent roles in the win. Tucker ran for 155 yards, had two touchdowns and intercepted a pass to set up the third score. Cullen ran for 64 yards.

Also playing outstanding games were quarterback Bill Shaughnessy, who completed three of four passes for 76 yards and two touchdowns and ran for 35 yards, and Joe Conti, who punted four times for a better than 40 yard average, caught a touchdown pass and kicked all four extra points.

The Presidents rushed for over 200 yards and had 14 first downs.

"Everyone played well today and it was an impressive win," said a happy Raymer. "Tucker and Cullen came back with strong games and Shaughnessy, as usual, was outstanding both ways. The offensive line did a great job and the defense again was tremendous."

"I think we can use the day off this week as several players are still hampered by injuries and the rest should put us in good shape for our next game with a tough Newton North team."

In the offensive line

Steve Perfetuo, P. J. Duggan, Pat Calabro, John O'Callaghan, Rich Pettinelli, Kevin Burke and Conti were outstanding. Ted McCall also had a good day offensively.

On defense Raymer had good words for Mark Callahan, Burke, Pete Gangi, O'Callaghan, Paul Lally, Calabro, Walter Rollins, Mark Porzio, Conti, Don Parry, Shaughnessy and Duggan.

Early in the second quarter Tucker raced 28 yards for the first touchdown and Conti kicked the extra point.

A few minutes later Shaughnessy hit Parry with a 14-yard touchdown pass and Conti again added the point.

Shaughnessy then passed to Conti for a 16-yard scoring pass and Conti's extra point kick made it 2-0.

In the third quarter the Presidents drove 80 yards and Tucker scored from the four. Conti kicked the last of his four points.

Revere averted a shut-out late in the game when Shawn Veire passed to Mike Passanisi for 30 yards and a score.

Quincy Freshmen Bow To Revere, 18-0

The Quincy High freshman football team suffered its second loss of the season bowing to Revere 18-0.

Two fumbles and a blocked punt were too much to overcome for the young Presidents, who had other wise shown great improvement over their first outing a week ago.

"We were very disappointed to lose this one," said Coach Milt Finnegan. "We played a much better game this week, but those two or three critical errors were very costly."

The Quincy defense held Revere on the first series, and as it took over the ball, Quincy came out throwing.

Gerard Dennett hit split end Craig Bowlen on the first play for a 10 yard completion. Backs Jim Thomas and Steve Freeland carried the ball to another first down, but after three unsuccessful plays, the Presidents had to turn the ball over.

The Quincy defense took over and held Revere to a few small gains. Quincy and Revere traded possessions, and as the first period neared a close, Quincy was forced to punt from its own 30. Bowlen, punting for the first time this season, booted the ball 59 yards, as the ball was downed on the Revere 11.

"Craig had an outstanding game," said Finnegan. "Aside from the 59-yard punt, he had a 30-yard punt and three big receptions, and played very well at defensive end. Unfortunately, we couldn't capitalize on some of his contributions."

After an exchange of possessions, the Presidents were not as fortunate on their next punt, which was blocked. Revere recovered on the Quincy 13-yard line, setting up the first score two plays later. The point after kick was blocked by the Quincy line.

Quincy's Dave Gustin took the kickoff return 14 yards to the Quincy 24. The Presidents then churned out three first downs behind the running of Freeland and Tom Tegen, who carried the ball three times for 22 yards during the drive.

Dennett also hit slot back Bill Copson for a five-yard pass and ran for five yards himself. Once again the Revere defense stopped Quincy, and the Presidents gave up the ball. The half ended with Quincy trailing 6-0.

"We played very well in the first half," praised Finnegan. "Our defensive line controlled Revere's running game, and even got to the quarterback with a couple of sacks. Gerard also ran the offense very well."

Quincy dug itself into a hole early in the second half, however, fumbling on its own 28. Revere capitalized on that error, scoring a touchdown three plays later.

"That fumble was very costly, but we're proud that we didn't give up after that," said Finnegan. "We stayed right in the game."

A 33-yard Dennett to Bowlen pass brought the ball to the 50 midway through the third period. The Quincy drive continued to the Revere 27 on a reception by tight end Frank Calabro. Once again Quincy was stopped, though, and had to give up the ball.

After exchanging possessions several times, Revere broke an inside play 50 yards for the final score of the game. The Presidents fought back but were not able to connect on several pass attempts late in the game.

"The team was greatly improved over last week," Finnegan said. "Mike Merlino had a great game at nose guard and at offensive tackle. Game captains Steve Freeland, Tom Bjork, and Karl Stashyng also played well both ways. If we continue to work as hard in practice as we have this past week, we will win our share of games."

North Girls Seek 29th Straight Track Win

The North Quincy girls' track team, winner of 28 straight meets, ends its Suburban League season today (Thursday), hosting Waltham at 3:30.

The Raiderettes, 5-0 this season, will compete in the Suburban League all-league meet next Tuesday.

The North girls won their fifth in a row last week, 18-44 over Newton North.

Sophomore Tricia Barrett and senior Meg Leary crossed the finish line together to tie for first place for North over the 2.35-mile course.

Sharon Barrett, Tricia Leary and Leanne Fitzgerald all tied for fourth place to complete the Raiderettes' scoring. Lisa Fitzgerald was seventh, Patti Feeney ninth and Stacey Welch 10th.

Point Panthers Down Elks, 20-8

The Quincy Point Panthers improved their record to 5-1 by defeating the West Quincy Elks, 20-8, in Quincy Youth Football League action last Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Panthers received the opening kickoff, with Joe Taylor, Charlie Freeman and Vinny DiGiacomo driving to the Elks' 40 in three plays. Taylor, the team's leading scorer, carried for the touchdown on the next play.

Penalties are up the rest of the quarter, with an Elks fumble ending the quarter. DiGiacomo recovered, setting the Panthers up on their own 35.

Mike Lomanno and

Wayne Chambers hauled in passes from Tim Brillo placing the Panthers on the 18, from where Taylor scored his second touchdown.

The Elks drove deep into Panther territory with Ernie Light and Scan Munroe doing the bulk of the groundwork. Dennis Plant took a 40-yard pass from Chris Noble, but the Elks' drive was stopped by the outstanding defense of Danny Crespi, Steve Slicis and Tommy Mayo.

The Elks received the second half kickoff and were forced to give up the ball. Starting at the 50, the Panthers went to the 30 with Freeman and Crespi leading the attack.

On third down and seven from the 11, Brillo called his own number and rammed into the end zone for the third touchdown and he also ran for the two-point conversion.

After an exchange of downs, the Panthers fumbled on their own 30. Chris Standing recovering for the Elks, Light caught a pass and went to the three and Noble rushed for the touchdown. Munroe added the two-point conversion.

The Panthers will meet the Squantum Sailors Sunday at 2:30. In the 1 o'clock opener the undefeated North Quincy Apaches will take on the Houghs Neck Manets.

North Jayvees Roll By Weymouth N., 22-6

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team defeated Weymouth North, 22-6, last week at Veterans Memorial Stadium. A well-orchestrated 61-yard march produced the first North Quincy score in the opening quarter, with Leo LeMay going in from two yards out. Vin Capone added the two-point conversion.

An 11-yard run by Matt McNamara put the ball on the Weymouth 11 from where Capone circled his right side for the touchdown in the second quarter.

It was here that Weymouth set up a beautiful kickoff return, as Jackie O'Toole raced 82 yards through the entire North Quincy team for the visitors' only score.

The final Raider touchdown came in the third quarter, mainly through the hard running of McNamara. Successive runs of 21 and 25 yards by the big fullback put the ball on Weymouth's 13 and he went the remaining distance. John Pacino added the final two points of the game.

Coaches Mark Mulvaney and Ted Sadowski had good words for Ed Bagley and Kevin McCarthy for their two-way performances. Steve Miller, Chuck McGrail, Mike Cicerone, Mike Hugvo, Mark Bilton, Scott Chansky, Tim Sullivan, Dave Levine and Larry Downing.

Also, John Rodphele, Kevin and Keith Scaglia, Chris Gray, Tom Casey, Steve Brooks, Brian Callow, Paul Hanscom, Todd Maynard, Tom Dolan, Steve Happs, Dan Conway, Mark Simonelli and Chris Malloy.

Youth Hockey Players Invited To Austria

Last February a group of young hockey players, along with 12 adults, traveled from Klagenfurt, Austria to visit with and to take part in the Quincy Kiwanis International Hockey Tournament held at Quincy Youth Arena.

The foreign visitors were housed by the Quincy parents during their nine day stay in Quincy. Mayor Francis McCauley took the visitors on a tour of city hall and made each one feel very welcome.

An invitation for the Quincy boys to make an exchange trip to Klagenfurt, Austria was extended. The trip is planned for the first week of January, 1985.

Quincy Youth Arena has decided that a trip of this magnitude would not only be recreational but environmental, educational and would provide the boys with a lifetime of cultural experiences.

A huge fund raising project is about to be undertaken to offset the extreme high cost of this endeavor.

The Quincy Youth Arena hockey players, all Quincy residents, will solicit for the next six weeks for the support of all the Quincy businesses as well as residents. All donations are tax deductible.

Those wishing to help are asked to send a donation to Quincy Youth Arena, 60 Murphy Memorial Drive, Quincy, Massachusetts 02169, c/o Beverly Reinhardt.

For further information call 479-8371.

For about 20 minutes the receiving dishes are looking directly into the sun picking up all the sun's radiation. The brief periods of sparkly interference will occur each afternoon around 4:30 p.m. The problem lasts about a week until the sun's altitude changes, according to the engineer.

Cable Systems Experiences Radiation Interferences

Cable television systems in the Northeast are currently experiencing temporary radiation interference on their satellite channels from an unlikely source, the sun.
According to Quincy Cablesystems Director of Engineering, William Snowling, the semiannual phenomenon occurs when the satellites which transmit programming to cable operators' receiving dishes line up directly with the sun.

"It's a sort of mini-eclipse," explained Snowling. "Each Spring and Fall when the sun is at a specific altitude above the horizon, it lines up directly with telecommunications satellites that are in fixed orbits

Osterman Guest On 'Cabletalk'

John Osterman, newly appointed Superintendent of the Quincy Public Schools, is this week's guest on Quincy Community Television's "Cabletalk" on Ch. 3.
Program host John Noonan and Osterman discusses a wide range of topics including: Osterman's background, the transition of one administration to another, the success of the Middle Schools, the effects of Proposition 2½ and Osterman's program ideas for the next three years.

Cabletalk is an all volunteer production effort by community access users. The program is produced by Bob Gohl.
This segment was provided to Ch. 3 by Quincy Sun Ch. 8.

Children's TV Viewing 'Cable Update' Topic

What are children watching on television?
Are the hours spent in front of the set harming them? What can parents do to make children's viewing experience more positive?
These are some of the questions under discussion this month on Quincy Community Television's "Cable Update" program. The show will air on cable Ch. 3, Tuesday, Oct. 30 at 7:30 p.m.

Joining Quincy Cablesystems General Manager John King for the discussion will be Janet DiTullio, Coordinator of Language Arts for the Quincy Public Schools, Jane Granstrom, Supervisor of Children's Services at the Thomas Crane Public Library, and Rene' Hobbs, representing Action for Children's Television.

Viewers are encouraged to call in their questions about children's television.

One Life To Live Stars To Appear On 'Soapscene'

Two of daytime television's popular stars, Shelly Burch and Jeff Fahey, are this week's special guests on the Quincy Community

Television series, "Soapscene."
Host Mary Travers interviewed the two actors recently at the Westgate

Mall in Brockton, where they were making a personal appearance to help celebrate the mall's 25th anniversary.
In the interview, Miss Burch, who plays Delia Buchanan, talks about her character's recent personality change and career. Fahey, who plays Gary Corelli, tells Miss Travers about his early years as a professional dancer, and his tenure on the soap.
The show airs every Monday at 9:30 p.m. and Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. on Quincy Cablesystems Channel 3.

Read between all the lines of legal and other documents. Business and pleasure mix surprisingly well this week. Weekend travel plans are rearranged more than once.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Although the methods are different, you and partner are seeking similar goals. Last-minute delays work to your advantage. Aggressive friend benefits from your advice.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Relationships remain on an even keel; this is not the week to rock any boats. Recently postponed event proves well worth the wait. Intuition is keen on Monday.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Gift-giving brings unusual satisfaction this week. Diet ideas may be more offbeat than practical. In areas of friendship and romance, you're surprisingly realistic.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Make an effort to collect outstanding debts and to catch up on your own outstanding correspondence. You respond well to challenges - and some large ones are looming this week.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Keyword this week is "simply." Keep explanations brief, say no more than necessary, and celebrate autumn with a major spring cleanup. Romance, by the way, is encouraging.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Conferences, travel, and family powwows are all spotlighted. A financial dispute may be resolved by the end of this period. Your wit wins an important admirer.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Financial news-brightener arrives by Wednesday. Music is likely on the week's agenda; you may be attending a concert with a favorite friend - new or old.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Mysterious, secretive, passionate, intense, and sincere - all these adjectives apply to you. The key to a recent mystery is revealed during the next three months. Partnerships and independence are both spotlighted through the mid-1985 period.

Track Club Girls Shine

The Quincy Track Club girls made an outstanding showing in the Eastern Regional Cross-Country invitational meet at Mt. Misery in Lincoln, sponsored by the Liberty A.C.

Quincy's Karen Cashman won the 3000-meter race in 12:42, receiving a large trophy and a rain suit, courtesy of Moving Comfort Running Apparel.

Placing fifth and also receiving an award was Liz Renda. Sherrin Quintiliani took sixth place. Amy Janus eighth, Nancy Sheehy ninth, Lindsey McGovern 12th, Kim Gaus-tella 13th, Katie O'Shea 15th, Amanda Young 17th, Susan Curtis 18th, Regina Murphy 20th, Fran Rogers 23rd and Tricia Driscoll 27th. More than 50 girls finished the race.

This race served as a tune-up for the New England Junior Olympics Nov. 4 in Dracut and Coach Jeff Hennessy was proud of the girls' showing. "We have a real hard working, dedicated bunch of kids this fall," he said. "Over 80 signed up for the cross-country program, a new record, and the talent is tremendous."

"I'd like to point out that individuals like Nancy Sheehy, Liz Renda and Sherrin Quintiliani have come a long way and haven't really been winners until this year, and Kara Cashman ran with her hand in a cast and out-sprinted two other girls over the final 100 yards to win."

The North Quincy boys' and girls' cross-country teams are made up almost entirely of graduates of the QTC program and several are running in college as well.

State Funds Refuel City Mortgage Program

The city of Quincy has received additional state funds for the Neighborhood Revitalization Component of the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency's low interest mortgage program.

The interest rate is fixed at 11.25 per cent over a period of 30 years.

To qualify for the program, one must be a first time home buyer, which is defined as one who has not owned a home in the preceding three years.

There are also the following income guidelines: A family of one, $29,000; a family of two, $35,000; a family of three, $38,000; a family of four, $41,000. Larger family incomes increase by increments of $3,000 per member.

Prospective property must be purchased in one of three neighborhoods -- Ward 2, South West and Atlantic -- and a minimum of $3,000 in rehabilitation to the property must take place.

The cost of acquisition and rehabilitation to existing properties cannot exceed $86,000 for one family, $97,000 for two family, $117,000 for three family and $136,000 for four family.

Those interested in the program should obtain an information packet at the Planning Department at City Hall or call 773-1380 and a package will be mailed.

For further information call Elizabeth A. McLaney at 773-1380, extension 444.

Cash, Watch Taken

A little over $200 in cash and a gold wrist watch were reported stolen Tuesday from a room at the Quincy Bay Inn, North Quincy, while the occupants of the room, two Connecticut men, were asleep. James Olson, 24, asleep in the room with Lee Donohue, 28, said he awoke to see a man climbing out the window at about 3:30 a.m.

Thank you!

The Quincy Department of Planning and Community Development would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every one of the 88 young Quincy artists who submitted their illustrations into our SUMMERTIME! Art Search '84.

We truly appreciate the efforts they took to explore what Summertime means to them and cordially invite everyone to come view their works. The display is located in the lobby of the Quincy City Hall from October 22 through November 2 and is open to the public.

McCauley's Classification Plan Wins Tax Rate Possible This Week

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he expects action by the State Revenue Department before the end of the week or early next week on Quincy's classification plan, thus clearing the last hurdle to an official property tax rate for fiscal 1985.

The City Council Monday night, by a vote of 6-3, approved McCauley's classification plan that will give the city's residential taxpayers a rate of $21.03 per thousand valuation and owners of business property a rate of $30.86.

The Mayor's plan was enacted after the Council, by a vote of 7-2, rejected a plan advanced by Councilor Stephen J. McGrath that would have established the residential tax rate at $20.13 and the rate for commercial, industrial and personal

STEPHEN GILLIG, president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association: "Business people realize that we do owe something to the community and I feel 130 per cent recognizes that."

ARTHUR CHANDLER, president of the Quincy Citizens Association: "My suggestion is to stay at the categories we now have; the only way to reduce taxes is to reduce spending."

RON ZOOLECK, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce: "...a lot of things go into a decision whether or not a business locates in a community."

RICHARD CRESPI, homeowner: "This is a good city to do business in. Business comes here to make money. We should stay with the status quo on assessments."

BRENDAN GALLAGHER, "If you adopt this plan you are going to drive the little guys out of business."

property at $33.24.

McGrath could attract only the support of Councilor Michael Cheney for his amended plan, which had been characterized as "tucking it to business," and Councilor Joanne Condon joined them in voting against McCauley's plan.

The official Council vote came at a special meeting called following a public hearing attended mostly by Quincy business people who were there to protest McGrath's plan.

The order that was acted on established a "residential factor" of 88.5860 per cent of full value for residential property and 130 per cent of CIPP. The figures for fiscal 1984 were 87.8007 per cent and 130 per cent for tax rates of $21.95 and $32.50.

Under the McGrath plan, the residential factor would have been 84.7815 per cent and the CIPP factor 140 per cent. State law permits business to be classified up to 150 per cent and the State Revenue Department set a

82% Turnout Forecast Here For Election

A very large turnout of Quincy voters is expected next Tuesday for a general election that will feature only three local contests, none of them for the glamor offices.

"The presidential thing will bring them out," said City Clerk John Gillis. "People who don't ordinarily vote like to say they voted in a presidential election."

Gillis forecasts that 82 per cent of the estimated 49,735 registered voters in Quincy will show up at the polls. Four years ago, the "presidential thing" drew 81.8 per cent of the vote.

"We have had a big registration of new voters, about 4,000 of them," said Gillis. "And there has been a great demand for absentee ballots, about 1,400. That usually can tell you."

The big draws on the ballot will be the presidential race between Republican Ronald Reagan and Walter Mondale and the senatorial battle between Democrat John F. Kerry of Boston and Raymond Shamie of Walpole.

Four years ago, Reagan captured normally Democratic Quincy by a margin of 18,038 to 17,977 for then-President Jimmy Carter.

Two years ago, Shamie was soundly trounced in Quincy by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy but the Republican businessman's 13,000 votes was higher than expected. Kennedy had 20,312.

The most interesting of the local contests pits County Treasurer James M. Collins of Milton, a Democrat, against a Republican challenger.

Michael S. Selib of Brookline.

Collins has been under investigation for alleged irregularities in his conduct of the office and Selib was given his spot on the ballot, not by voters in a primary, but by officials of his party.

A Republican, Auburn J. Perry Jr. of Canton, is challenging the Democratic incumbents, George B. McDonald of Quincy and James J. Collins of Milton for county commissioner.

Governor's Councilor Peter L. Eley of Quincy is facing opposition for reelection from Patricia A.

Ruskiewicz of Brockton.

Unopposed are Cong. Brian J. Donnelly of Boston, Sen. Paul D.

Harold of Quincy, Reps. Michael W. Morrissey, Robert A. Cerasoli and

Foley To Act For Ailing Denvir

Arthur Foley, the Mayor's administrative assistant, has been named acting purchasing agent parking clerk while Robert Denvir is in the hospital recovering from a heart attack.

Denvir, 54, suffered the attack Saturday morning and was in satisfactory condition in the Intensive Care Unit at City Hospital Tuesday.

Foley was in the hospital this week, too—to be with his wife, Mary, who gave birth to their third child, first girl, at 7:37 p.m. Monday. Kathleen Foley weighed in at six pounds, nine ounces.

It's Reagan-Bush At St. Joseph's School

The outcome of the presidential election won't be known until next week, but at one Quincy school votes have already been tabulated and President Ronald Reagan and Vice President George Bush were the clear winners.

In a mock election held at St. Joseph's School, Quincy Point, the Reagan/Bush defeated Mondale/Ferraro by a vote of 164 to 73.

The program, under the direction of instructor Nancy Kroeger, was sponsored by the eighth grade students.

Ballots were prepared by Paul McDonnell. Ballot box by William Hutton, Voting Booth by Kerry Connor and Jennifer Mazzini and Poll Workers were Rebecca Chicino and Roberta DiTullio.

Ballots were counted by James McLarnon, James Sugrue, George Moran, Christine Kraunelis, Robert Ford, Carmine Oliva, Kellie Foley and Dino Confalone. Posters for the election were done by Sarah Hussey, and Donna McBride was program coordinator.

Students who represented the candidates in the school were: Mondale: Jeanette Zupkofska and Justin Haddad; Reagan: James Tolson and Brian Taylor; Bush: David Deskins and James McCarthy; Ferraro: Sandra Doherty and Christine Kraunelis.

Those doing interviews were Shawn Shinkwin and Lauren Morgan.

The day was organized to help students come to a greater understanding and appreciation of the democratic way of life as well as the responsibility Americans have to exercise their right to vote for the leadership they feel can best serve the nation.

City Council Refuses $50,000 For Personal Property Revaluation

The City Council Monday night refused to appropriate $50,000 so that the assessors could update personal property values which Chief Assessor Elmer Fagerlund said were 18 years behind.

When the councillors heard that corporations were exempt from personal property taxes and the burden would fall on small businessmen, all but two of the councillors decided against it.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro even withdrew his second of the original motion, saying he did not want to see "the little guy get it in the neck."

The two votes for the appropriation came from Council President James A. Sheets and Councillor Richard J. Koch.

Councillors noted that the value of personal property in Quincy had gone down from $67,770, 015 in fiscal 1984 to $50,838,444 in fiscal 1985.

Fagerlund explained that the city, in settling a tax case with Mass Electric and other utilities, was forced to cut their personal property valuations from $35 million to $17 million.

He said the last time personal properties were updated was in 1966.

Spending the $50,000 to update the values would be cost effective, he said, because "there is a sizeable amount of money out there and we are not taxing it to full potential."

CITY COUNCILLOR Stephen J. McGrath: "The issue is simple; my plan lowers the tax increase on residents and increases it for business."

MAYOR FRANCIS X. McCAULEY: "Business people were not happy with classification but they realized something had to be done for the homeowner."

(Quincy Sun photos by Charles Flogg)

Tax Rate O.K. Possible This Week

minimum residential factor of 80.9768 per cent for Quincy.

The business people who attended the hearing called the McCauley plan "fair."

"Last year we took a close look at classification and we thought it was fair to both homeowners and businessmen," said Stephen Gillig, president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

"Business people realized that they do owe something to the community. We feel that 130 per cent does that. To place 140 per cent on our members would hurt a lot of small businessmen, a lot of whom are just scraping by."

McCauley said the fact that not many homeowners appeared at the hearing indicated that they, too, felt his plan was fair.

"No large number of residents came out to criticize my point," he said. "The bulk of those at the hearing were business people. Homeowners saw that the Mayor and the City Council were fair and provided them with a good cushion."

"The businessmen thought that the McGrath plan went too far."

Ron Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, said he was not suggesting that business might leave Quincy or close its doors if the McGrath plan were adopted.

"That would be blackmail," he said. "But a lot of things go into a decision whether or not a business locates in a community."

"If you pass the McGrath plan you will be sending a message to Mr. and Mrs. Businessperson. 'You are going to pay more because there is not enough of you out there to make a difference.'"

He noted that the town of Weymouth recently lowered its CIPP classification from 137.5 per cent to 125 per cent.

"That is a positive message," he said.

The McGrath plan, said North Quincy businessman Brandon Gallagher, "will drive little guys like us out and 90 per cent of businessmen in Quincy are little guys."

"The profit margin for a small businessman in Quincy is nothing to write home about," said Andy Walsh of Walsh's Restaurant in North Quincy, who said he has been paying taxes on the business for 51 years.

"Quincy is not a healthy environment for small business. You would be creating an atmosphere that would make it intolerable. Pitting residential against commercial is discrimination of the rankiest sort."

Arthur Chandler, president of the Quincy Citizens Association, said people in Quincy are not happy with the way the city is going.

"No matter what happens in the city, our tax rate goes up," he said. "That's the feeling I'm getting. My suggestion is that we stay at the categories we have now. The only way to reduce taxes is to reduce spending."

Richard Crespi of Ruggles St., Quincy Point, also recommended the status quo.

"Business comes here to make money," he said. "We are a city with a large population. People spend money. This is a good city to do business in."

McGrath called the reaction of business people to his plan "overstated."

"They say I am 'tucking it' to business," he said. "We are taxing business now at 130 per cent and business is paying 7.8 per cent of the taxes. That's hardly 'tucking it' to business."

"The issue is simple. My plan lowers the tax increase to residents and increases it for business."

Palmer Pub Request Continued By Board

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to Nov. 6 a request from Michael J. O'Neill of South Boston for licenses for the Palmer Pub, 520 Sea St.

The matter was continued so that Ward Councilor Michael Cheney could be informed of the request.

The common victualer-all alcoholic licenses for the pub are currently held by John W. Smith of Weymouth.

Atty. Henry S. Levin told the board that Smith is selling the business and property because of poor health.

O'Neill said that he plans to totally upgrade the property, change the clientele and enforce a strict management policy.

City Clerk John Gillis and Police Chief Francis Finn told O'Neill that there have been problems with youths congregating on the corner for many years.

"The people you want to go in the pub won't go past the kids," said Finn.

"It's time for the board to take a hard look at that place," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald.

Parade Soliciting Questioned By Committee

Christmas Festival Committee doesn't think that soliciting for funds and the annual Quincy Christmas Parade go together.

And the committee has requested that the License Board reconsider granting permission for two local groups to conduct such an activity during the event Nov. 25.

The matter will be discussed at the Nov. 6 License Board meeting at City Hall.

George F. White, general chairman of the Christmas Festival Committee, wrote to the board asking that the tag day dates granted last week to the North Quincy High School Boosters and Quincy High School Parents Club be changed.

White said that over the years, the committee has received many requests from various organizations seeking to collect funds and has turned them down.

"We feel this is a day of family enjoyment and people just do not want to be harassed or embarrassed through the soliciting of funds," stated White.

White said the only exception occurred when the Quincy or North Quincy High Schools needed to raise funds for hand trips.

Before saying that the matter would be discussed by the board next week, City Clerk John Gillis commented, "peddlers can come from outside the city. Why not our own?"

MBTA To Monitor Bus Speeding In Wollaston

The MBTA has informed City Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. that it has taken steps to halt the alleged use of excessive speed by MBTA buses in the vicinity of Amesbury St. and Wilson Ave., Wollaston.

MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary told Lydon that a notice has been posted in the Quincy garage regarding the speed limit in the thickly settled area.

"Also," he said, "the Safety and Training Department has been requested to monitor this area to insure that operators are complying with the speed limit. Violators will be disciplined."

O'Leary suggested that if Lydon heard any further complaints about speeding, he should get the date, time, bus number and location so corrective action can be taken against a specific driver.

City Hall Neutral Ground

Well, it appears City Hall will remain neutral political ground.

City Councillor Patricia Toland kicked up a bit of a ruckus here last week when she said she didn't think it was right for partisan candidates to use City Hall for a press conference or interview.

Her complaint followed the appearance of U.S. Senate candidate Raymond Shamie at City Hall.

This column reported that Shamie was invited to stop in by Mayor Francis McCauley, a Republican and Shamie supporter.

"Not so," says McCauley, "I didn't invite him. Shamie called me and asked if he could stop by and say hello."

Toland, a Democrat and supporter of Lt. Gov. John Kerry, Shamie's opponent said she didn't think Shamie should have used a City Hall conference room to be interviewed by Quincy Sun Ch. 8 and taped by Ch. 5 which was doing a special segment on him for their "Chronicles" program.

"We didn't want Chronicles in the mayor's office and suggested the conference room" says McCauley. We want to keep the mayor's office non-partisan."

McCauley noted that in the past he has welcomed to City Hall a number of political candidates including Democrats Edward King, David Bartley, James Shannon, Sam Rotondi and — Kerry.

"Pat was in with Shannon and brought Shannon in to see me," he recalled.

"If she brings Kerry in, there would be no problem. I would be happy to take him through City Hall."

Toland also said she didn't think City employees should be wearing campaign buttons during working hours. They should look and act neutral, she said.

We reported that McCauley was wearing two buttons when he greeted Shamie: a Reagan-Bush button on one lapel and a Shamie button on the other.

"That's no so," says His Honor, "I was not wearing any buttons."

He's right. Apparently our source who thought he saw buttons on McCauley, should have an eye check. McCauley wasn't wearing buttons. His wife, Sandra, was, according to another source.

Toland says she just hopes that in the future candidates not hold press conferences in City Hall. But she doesn't mind them walking through shaking a hand or two, smiling, and saying hello.

SHAMIE

APPARENTLY THERE ARE no hard feelings over the matter.

Toland is director of the Democratic City Committee headquarters at Hancock and School Streets.

And the other day, who should drop in? Mayor McCauley, along with administrative assistant Arthur Foley and executive secretary Peter Kenney.

Then along came Asst. City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie, a Reagan-Bush coordinator and City Purchasing Agent Robert Denvir.

"We came by to break the spell," said McCauley.

He was referring to the fact that the space has served as the headquarters of winning candidates Brian Donnelly, Michael Dukakis, Paul Harold and — McCauley.

THOMAS GILMARTIN, who batted only .500 in his predictions for the September primary election, isn't giving up.

He picks for the Nov. 6 election:

Ronald Reagan will win big. He gives Walter Mondale six states at the most — all small ones. Reagan will take Massachusetts by 20,000 votes.

John Kerry will defeat Raymond Shamie for the U.S. Senate. He gives Kerry 51-51½ percent of the vote to 49-49½ percent for Shamie.

Gerry Studts over Lew Crampton in the 10th Congressional District. He gives Studts 53 percent to 47 percent for Crampton.

He gives the nod to Edward Markey over Lester Ralph in the 5th Congressional District and to Chester Atkins over Gregory Hyatt in the 7th District.

Gilmartin also picks George Keverian to defeat Thomas McGee as Speaker of the House in January.

KELLY

YOU MIGHT SAY last week was "Love Leo Week." Former City Councillor Leo Kelly was presented two special awards of appreciation: one from the Houghs Neck Community Council and the other from Quincy Police Mutual Aid Associations.

Kelly has picked up so many awards since stepping down as Ward 1 councillor they say you can't see the wallpaper in one of his rooms.

Church Clock Controversy Continues

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

In his response to my letter objecting to the City Council appropriation of $6,800 to paint the city-owned clock in the steeple of the United First Parish Church, Rev. Keith Munson has made a spirited reply. Specifically, he has claimed that I have "condemned the City fathers (and mothers)" and challenged their integrity in voting as they did.

First, let me say that I am truly sorry that Rev. Munson, minister of the church, interpreted my objection in that way. I was seeking to raise a principle, not to condemn persons.

Indeed, those that I mentioned in my letter — Richard K. Donnas of the Planning Department, City Solicitor Dean Nigro, and the City Council — were mentioned only because they were the persons named in the newspaper article which I was citing. Whatever I said about them was taken word for word from the article.

These people — and the Mayor, whom Rev. Munson would add as well — are all honorable persons. They do not need me or even Rev. Munson) to affirm their moral integrity. That was never in question. I spoke to raise a principle, not to condemn persons.

That, in fact, is why I hand-carried a copy of my letter to their offices in the City Hall and to Rev. Munson's study in his church before the letter even appeared in the paper. It seemed the only courteous thing to do.

My reason for visiting Rev. Munson, in particular, was to assure him that I meant no ill will to him or his congregation but that there was a principle here that was in danger of being overlooked. I specifically asked Rev. Munson to respond to my letter in print so that all of us could understand why this was not a violation of "the separation of church and state."

Perhaps that is why I was puzzled by these words of his response:

"I wonder if the reverend from Squantum would care to explain or comment about a situation some Squantum residents, Quincy taxpayers, and even City employees have asked me about. Would he care to explain the new sidewalks installed by the City around his church and even down in front of his dwelling. This has raised some eyebrows, especially when so many of the public streets in Squantum are in serious need of repair."

Yes, I will comment. So far as I know, the city replaced the sidewalks around our church in Squantum because city snow plows had done so much damage to them over the past few years that they were becoming quite dangerous. Recently, one of our church members took a serious fall on the uneven walk. I think it was prudent for city officials to take the action that they did.

But I certainly did not ask for the new sidewalk. I was as surprised as Rev. Munson to find out that we in the First Church of Squantum were to receive a new walk around our church. (Incidentally, the city crew did a beautiful job for which we are all grateful.)

On the other hand, sidewalks, like sewers or city water, are benefits in which all churches and synagogues in our city share equally. Even Rev. Munson's church has a city sidewalk around it. That is hardly the same thing as a grant to a particular church to maintain a steeple or a clock or a bell.

You see, I am not challenging the legality of the appropriation or the moral integrity of those who made it. I am trying to speak for a principle. No other church in town dips into "the City coffers" (Rev. Munson's words, not mine) to make repairs to its building. Why then should the United First Parish Church be any different?

In answering that question, Rev. Munson takes us back to the history of New England. That is very appropriate for he and I are dealing with a difference of opinion here that goes back at least 350 years in what is now Quincy.

The Church Clock Controversy Continues

Rev. Munson had not even written a complete sentence of response before he took special note of the fact that I am a Baptist. That may be the nub of the problem. In the early years of Massachusetts, there was a sharp difference of opinion between the Puritans in Boston (such as those who founded Rev. Munson's church in 1636 and 1639) and the Separatists down in Plymouth, particularly those Pilgrims of a Baptist persuasion.

The Puritans thought that there could be a merging of church and state when it came to matters like supporting the ministry and (please note these words) maintaining the buildings of local congregations. The Separatists (particularly the Baptists) were convinced that church and state really should be separate so that, among other things, no one would ever have to support a church which was not his or her own. That was an important element in what they meant by "religious liberty."

It is a matter of historical record that Rev. Munson's spiritual ancestors gave my own a hard time over the years on this very point. In 1636, for example, Baptist Roger Williams was harried out of the colony by the Boston Puritans (who founded Rev. Munson's church) because he thought and said that church and state were too closely joined in the Massachusetts of that time, particularly in matters of taxes and church real estate.

But the Puritans won out. They had the political clout to make everyone else pay for their "established" churches. Rev. Munson's congregation was one of these. In 1680, for example, when the authorities were building the Old Ship Church in Hingham (now, like the first United Parish Church, also Unitarian), taxpayers of all religious persuasions were forcibly compelled to contribute to its building. Baptists protested but to no avail.

A century later, at the time of the writing of the American constitution, Baptists like Isaac Backus of Massachusetts journeyed to Philadelphia to lobby for a provision in the constitution (the First Amendment) that would guarantee the separation of church and state, in part so that non-Puritans would not be compelled to support the ministry and the buildings of what had been the established church in Massachusetts.

Yet in the 19th century, when the separation of church and state had firmly been established in our country, legislators in Massachusetts did enact the statute to which Rev. Munson refers, enabling clocks and bells to be placed on private property if for the benefit of the whole community. One wonders if this were not just another way to circumvent the "impasse" of the separation of church and state.

It is in that light that I am concerned when Rev. Munson writes:

"Many Quincy residents love the old clock and feel that it adds beauty and dignity to the center as it graces Quincy Square. The few dollars a year that it takes to keep it in repair seem reasonable and worthwhile for the City coffers to bear."

Yes, the clock and the steeple of his church are a lovely addition to the Square. No one would deny that. But that alone should not qualify Rev. Munson's church for governmental funds at any level: city, state or federal. It is still a denominational church - and so long as there is a worshipping congregation within those walls - the rest of us should not be taxed to support it in any way.

It might be argued that the city money is being expended for a clock or a steeple that is religiously neutral. Yet the tax money given to the United First Parish Church means that that congregation has $6,800 more in its budget to spend on its religious education programs and pastoral ministry than any other church or synagogue in the city.

If these words offend Rev. Munson or his congregation, let me say that they are not spoken with animosity. I would even ask him to consider again the words that he wrote about "the City coffers" (which I have quoted above) and ask if it does not really sound like special pleading, a request to treat one church - his church - differently from every other church and synagogue in our city.

If the principle of "separation of church and state" is to work, it must cut equally all ways. It is very easy to gloss over the principle when we are on the receiving end of the money but the day may come when the funds of those in the First United Parish Church too may be used to support points of view that are not their own.

So long as there is a worshipping congregation in the First United Parish Church, it seems inappropriate for governmental funds at any level - city, state or federal - to be used. And this objection should and will come up every single time this church or any church is treated differently from all the rest.

Rev. Munson has done us all a service in helping us to understand why city funds are being directed to his church. The question is not whether such funding is legal but whether or not it is right. Some of us believe that it is not right. And never has been.

On the other hand, I also understand what Rev. Munson means when he refers to his congregation as "victims of circumstance." This particular mixing of city and church - that is, housing a city-owned clock in the steeple of Rev. Munson's church - is a difficult practical problem. Certainly any damage to the church structure due to the clock should be a matter of concern to all of us since it is our clock.

One solution might be for the city to give the clock to the church outright, perhaps with a grant of $6,800 in appreciation for having been allowed to house the clock there all these years. That would terminate the city's responsibility to maintain the clock and the steeple from this point on.

Then Rev. Munson, his congregation and other persons interested in the history of the city (of which I am one) could appeal for voluntary contributions to maintain the old clock, the bell and the steeple. For the sake of separating church from state, I would be the first to contribute.

Upset With 'Hindsight'

Statements On Cranch School Sale

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I am writing to ask you to make a correction on a quote appearing in this past week's Quincy Sun. In your story about the hearing on the development of the Cranch School property, you attributed a statement to Joseph N. Lenehan when it was myself, Ruth M. Lenehan, who made the statement.

My husband was not even present at the hearing and was rather upset at having that statement attributed to him. I, in turn, was rather upset because the statement was taken out of context and did not give a clear picture of what I really said.

I do feel that the Cranch School site should never have been sold. I do feel that the land should have been retained as an "open space" area. However, let's face the facts! The Cranch School was sold last year because the City Council wanted to sell it. The people of the neighborhood and the members of the City Council have no legal right to place restrictions on the owners of private property unless that person is requesting a variance or is in violation of the laws of the city.

I was particularly upset with the "hindsight" statements that I heard.

I feel the elected officials and various department heads of the City should show enough fortitude to be able to say "we possibly made a mistake" rather than try to "pass the buck" and place the blame on someone else.

Mackay Leads Republican Sweep Here

Republican Sen. John D. Mackay, who did not make a campaign speech and spent only $92.50 on the election, scored a landslide victory over City Councillor Carl W. Anderson to win re-election and lead a GOP sweep of Quincy.

Mackay had 24,522 votes to 13,653 for Anderson.

Reps. Avery W. Gilkerson, and Alfred B. Keith and ex-Rep. Charles W. Hedges had little trouble keeping the three seats in the First Norfolk District in the Republican party. Rep. William W. Jenness was unopposed in the Third District.

Quincy voters also went along with the rest of the state in electing Henry Cabot Lodge to the U.S. Senate over David I. Walsh and choosing Robert F. Bradford governor over Maurice Tobin. Both Democrats failed in re-election bids.

VETS HOMES PUSHED

The City Council passed a resolution urging Mayor Charles A. Ross to investigate the feasibility of establishing the so-called Rochester plan for veterans' housing in Quincy, once the state determines that a housing emergency exists.

Councillor John B. O'Connor, who introduced the resolution, explained that under the Rochester plan the banks, instead of the city, would finance a non-profit organization to sponsor a building program for veterans' housing.

LOCAL 5 PRESIDENT

James MacGonnigal was elected president of the Shipbuilding Workers Local 5 at the Fore River Shipyard by a narrow margin over Frank Luongo. MacGonnigal had 1,519 votes to 1,370 for Luongo. Arthur Batson did not run for re-election.

RUTH GORDON DAY

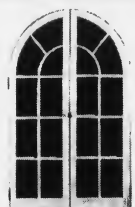

The Quincy Chamber of Commerce, the Quincy High School Class of 1914 and the city administration were planning a testimonial Nov. 19 for actress-author Ruth Gordon, 32 years after she left her Wollaston home to seek fame and fortune on the stage.

FIRE CHIEF TO RETIRE

The City Council accepted new state legislation lowering the mandatory retirement age for police officers and firemen from 70 to 65, meaning that seven veterans of the Police and Fire Departments, including Fire Chief William J. Sands, would have to retire Dec. 31.

Elections Nov. 6 For Student Government Day

Elections for the annual Student Government Day program will be held in Quincy high schools Tuesday, Nov. 6, the Quincy legislative delegation has announced.

State Sen. Paul D. Harold and Reps. Thomas F. Brownell, Robert A. Cerasoli, and Michael W. Morrissey said the elections at Quincy High School North Quincy High School, and Quincy Vocational Technical School will select each school's delegate to the 38th annual program.

The program, established in 1947 by the state legislature, provides secondary school students with three series of workshops on aspects of state government and the legislative process.

Highlight of the program is Student Government Day in which student participants are chosen by lottery to act as governor, other constitutional officers, and Supreme Court justices.

A second drawing is held to select those who will serve as governor's councilors, heads of state departments, cabinet secretaries, and state senators and representatives.

The workshops will include participation by Gov. Michael Dukakis and other state officials, as well as judicial officials, legislators, and members of interest and lobbying groups.

Each secondary school is eligible to send one delegate to the program. Delegates must be at least 16 years old on or before May 31, 1985, and be selected by election in their school.

Donald Russell, 82.

WW II Veteran

A memorial service for Donald Russell, 82, of Wollaston, a disabled World War II veteran, was held Monday in Christ Episcopal Church, Quincy.

Mr. Russell died Oct. 24, in Quincy City Hospital.

He was a lifelong resident of Wollaston.

A World War II veteran, he was disabled in the Battle of Midway on Midway Island in the Pacific Ocean.

Mr. Russell had been employed as a delivery man for White Brothers Co. before entering the Navy.

He was a pitcher on the Atlantic Athletic Association baseball team in the former City League.

A member of the Rural Masonic Lodge of Quincy, he was also a member of the Most Westerly Masonic Lodge of Midway Island, American Legion Post No. 95 of Conway, N.H. and the Midway Square and Compass Club.

He is survived by a sister, E. Dorothy Russell of Quincy; and three cousins, Howard C. Russell and Leslie W. Russell, both of Barre, Vt. and Donald J. Essen of Boston.

Funeral arrangements were by Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

Burial will be private. Donations in his memory may be made to the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, 44 Binney St., Boston, Mass. 02101 or to Christ Episcopal Church Memorial Fund, 12 Quincy Ave., Quincy, Mass. 02169.

Walter A. McDonough, 70, Retired College Professor

A funeral Mass for Walter A. McDonough, 70, of Quincy, a retired college professor and dean, was held Friday at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

Mr. McDonough died at Cambridge Hospital, Oct. 23, the same day as his sister, Sarah D. Grogan of Quincy.

He had lived in Quincy most of his life.

Born in Boston, he was a graduate of Boston Latin School and Boston College, and earned his master's degree at the University of Indiana.

A World War II veteran, he was a staff sergeant in the Army Air Corps.

Mr. McDonough taught English and American history at Andrews Junior High School, Boston, and started his doctorate in American studies at the University of Minnesota where he served as a teacher associate.

In 1951, he joined the Minnesota School of Art where he taught composition and literature, and became head of the English Department and dean of students.

He also taught at Wimbledom School of Art in London through the faculty exchange program, and retired in 1979 as associate professor.

Son of the late Walter and Catherine (Flaherty) McDonough, he is survived by two sisters, Mary E. Flaherty of Quincy and Evelyn Hughes of Harwichport; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements were by Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 326 Copeland St., Quincy. Burial was in Massachusetts National Cemetery, Bourne.

Donations may be made to Youville Hospital, 1575 Cambridge St., Cambridge, 02238.

Business Machines Owner

A funeral Mass for Sarah D. "Sally" (McDonough) Grogan, 67, of West Quincy, wife of the late Edmund T. Grogan, Sr., former owner of Grogan's Business Machines, was held Saturday in St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

Mrs. Grogan died Oct. 23 at Brigham and Women's Hospital.

Her brother, Walter A. McDonough of Quincy, also died the same day.

She had lived in Quincy for many years.

Born in Boston, she was a member of the ladies Auxiliary of the Morrisette Legion Post.

She is survived by three sons, Edmund T. Grogan Jr., Kevin P. Grogan, and Michael J. Grogan, all of Quincy; four daughters, Kathleen A. Grogan, Mary Ellen Grogan, Noreen V. Grogan and Sarah T. Grogan, all of Quincy; two sisters, Mary E. Flaherty of Quincy and Evelyn Hughes of Harwichport; and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 326 Copeland St.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations may be made to Citizens Organization Assisting Mental Patients, Box 582, Milton, Mass. 02186.

Dr. Kenneth Kurtzman, 54,

Funeral services were held Oct. 25 in Binghamton, N.Y., for Dr. Kenneth Kurtzman of Binghamton, formerly of Quincy, who died Oct. 23 at the age of 54.

He was the son of Stella (Schurgin) Kurtzman of Quincy.

A native of Quincy, he was graduated from Quincy High School and Syracuse University and he was director of pupil personnel services for Vesta Central School District at the time of his death.

He joined the Vesta schools in 1955 as a school psychologist directed programs for handicapped children, children with special needs and gifted children.

Dr. Kurtzman started the district's alternative high school for alienated students and set up a program of standardized testing.

He was a trustee and officer of Temple Israel.

In addition to his mother, he leaves his wife, Donna (Lyvne) Kurtzman, and two sons, Jeffrey and Steven, all of Binghamton.

Joseph V. Crispo, 82,

Retired Machinist

A funeral Mass was said in Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, for Joseph V. Crispo of Quincy, a retired machinist for the Tubular Rivet and Stud Co.

Mr. Crispo died Sunday at Quincy City Hospital at the age of 82.

A native of Nova Scotia, he was a Quincy resident most of his life. He was a former member of the Montclair Men's Club and the Quarter Century Club of Tubular Rivet and Stud.

He leaves his wife, Blanche (Ready) Crispo; two sisters, Josephine Anderson of Ottawa, Ont., and Irene Crispo of Nova Scotia; a niece, Eleanor Carnall of Wollaston.

Funeral arrangements were by Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 326 Copeland St. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

R. Florence Kelly, 75

A funeral Mass for R. Florence Kelly, 75, of Quincy, was held yesterday (Wednesday) at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount.

Miss Kelly died Sunday at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

She had lived in Quincy for 14 years.

Born in Boston, she had also lived in Jamaica Plain.

Daughter of the late Neil and Margaret (Ryan) Kelly, she is survived by four sisters, Mary Hohn of Wilmington, Sarah H. Griffin of Quincy, Gertrude Cunningham of Holbrook, and Rita Paul of Bellingham; a brother, S. Francis Kelly of Winchester and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements were by Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Newspapers, radio and TV, candidates and many others are again urging voters to exercise one of their basic freedoms, to vote for people and the issues of their choice.

D. Scott Deware

Yet it is a sad fact that in virtually every presidential election since 1920 the winning candidate was the choice of the second largest group of eligible voters. The largest group didn't vote! More people didn't vote than voted for the winner.

The Ballot Box is the best instrument to attack the problems of our time... when then it is a presidential election or a local election. The Ballot Box is the best way to legislate and clarify issues.

The right to vote is the most fundamental of all our rights because the behavior and performance of our holders, at every level of government, is dictated by the knowledge that periodically they must come before the bar of public opinion in the polling booths. The caliber of our public life is a direct reflection of the wisdom and judgment exercised by the voters.

It is our right to vote... us it... Remember that if that right is refused or taken away, we would have anarchy at its worst.

Stay Alive!

FIRE IN APARTMENT OR OFFICE BUILDING

Because multi-story buildings create special hazards when fires occur, all members of your family or office staff should know where the fire exits are and how to reach them in the dark. Periodically, everyone should walk to exits in a fire drill. They should also be able to recognize the alarm signal in the building.

The moment an alarm is sounded, get your family or fellow workers out of the building. Never stop to take clothing or valuables. Also, it is not wise to take an elevator during a fire. The power may fail and you could be trapped. Take the stairs, or use the fire escapes.

Feel doors before opening them. If the door feels cool, open it cautiously, placing your hip or foot against it and tilting your head to the side in order to take a quick look. Be ready to slam the door shut if smoke or heat rush in.

If the hallway is clear, proceed. Shout the alarm on your way out so other occupants will be alerted that there is a fire.

'Reformation Sunday' Observed At Squantum Church

Oct. 31, 1517 was the date upon which the reformer Martin Luther nailed his 95 theses to the door of a Wittenberg church in an effort to provoke a public debate upon conditions in the church of this day.

That event, which stands as a symbol of the Protestant Reformation of the Christian Church, was celebrated Sunday morning at the First Church of Squantum in a special Reformation Sunday worship service.

The morning began with an all-church breakfast sponsored by the young people of the church. Hazel Mayne, Jan and Lew Townsend, Ruth Swanson and Dianne Ahearn supervised. Monsters and goblins roamed the halls of the church as the children of the Sunday School came dressed in their Halloween costumes.

In the Reformation service, church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the topic, "Lay Hold of God's Power by Faith!" It was the third of three sermons on the general subject, "Our Protestant Heritage."

The Chancel Choir sang Henry Purcell's anthem, "O Sing Unto the Lord". The Junior Choir sang and danced the anthem "Father, I Adore You" to a traditional tune. Mary Ruth Scott directs both choirs.

Hymns sung during the service included Martin Luther's hymn "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God", "Faith of Our Fathers", and "He Leadeth Me, O Blessed Thought". The Chancel Choir sang Peter C. Laikin's "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" as a choral response after the benediction.

Greeters for the morning were Jan and Bud Sumner. Ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Millie Johnson and Ginny Galarneau.

During the month of November, Dr. Langevin will preach a series of sermons on the theme "The Pilgrim Faith". Each week, he will develop his sermon in connection with the biography of one of the Pilgrims and a spiritual principle which that particular person represents.

The sermons will include John Robinson, "The Magnanimous Vision", Nov. 4; William Brewster and William Bradford, "Publish the Truth!", Nov. 11; Edward Winslow, "Remembering with Thanks", Nov. 18; and Roger Williams, "The Necessity of the Separation of Church and State", Nov. 25.

There will be two services next Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. The pastor will preach on the same topic at both services.

MAYOR FRANCIS X. McAuley recently proclaimed Lupus Awareness Week in Quincy. With him are Arnold Levine of Quincy, executive director of the Massachusetts Chapter of the Lupus Foundation of America, and Helen Cook, also of Quincy, vice president of the chapter, located at 88 Tremont St., Boston.

Holy Communion At Bethany Sunday

Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday, Nov. 4, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre, at both the 9 a.m. chapel service and 10 a.m. sanctuary service.

The associate minister, The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will preach the Communion meditation entitled, "Are You Serious?" based on the Gospel of John 6:41 - 59, at both services.

Reading the scriptures at the chapel service will be Helen C. Cole, and at the sanctuary service, Bruce Byorkman. Deacons and Deaconesses serving the Communion will be Robert L. Lockwood in the chapel, and Clifford W. Evers, Olive Hodgkins, Russell D. Hodgkins, Grace Toy and Alfred M. Toy during the sanctuary service.

At 10 a.m. service the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing the anthem, "O God, Whose Will Is Life" composed by Thomas Tallis.

The service will also be broadcast over station WJDA, 1300 kc at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape. Giving the Communion commentary during the radio broadcast will be Deacon Kinya Mikami.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. The Senior High Class, ninth to twelfth grades, meets at 9 a.m. and is taught by Robert R. Peoples, Jr.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

A membership class for persons who are considering becoming members of Bethany is being held Thursday evening, Nov. 1, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. The group will meet at the church and will be taught jointly by Rev. Arnold and Rev. Huntington.

On the weekend, from Saturday morning to late Sunday afternoon, Nov. 3 and 4, Pastor Arnold will lead a spiritual retreat at the Craigville Conference Center on Cape Cod, for members and friends of Bethany. Reservations are required for the retreat.

For information about Bethany's ministry and programs, contact the church office, 479-7300.

'Modern Science' Topic At W.Q. Congregational

The public is invited to a meeting at West Quincy Congregational Church, 47 Buckley St., at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 13.

Featured speaker will be William I. Thompson III, a creationist, who will give a talk on the topic, "Modern Science and the Historic Christian Faith".

Thompson is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Creation Research Society.

He has a B.A. degree in physics from Clark University as well as an M.A. degree in astrogeophysics from the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Thompson has spoken at more than 30 churches and colleges in the New England area. He is currently a communications consultant for G.T.E. Sylvania at Westborough.

There will be refreshments following the meeting. Everyone is welcome.

Handicapped Affairs Committee

The Quincy Commission on Handicapped Affairs will meet Monday, Nov. 5 at 7 p.m. in the second floor conference room, Quincy City Hall.

Edward Kelly of the MASSACHUSETTS Architectural Barriers Board will make a presentation to the commission and all those in attendance on the regulation of his board and their enforcement.

The monthly business meeting of the Quincy Commission will follow.

The public is invited to attend.

Rolling Raiders Eye 6th At Cambridge

By TOM SULLIVAN

The North Quincy football team is on a roll.

Since the Raiders were bombed by Brockton in their third game of the season, they have been red hot.

Last Saturday, they put on their finest two-way performance of the year to turn what looked like their toughest test since Brockton, into a rout as they defeated Waltham by a surprising 28-0 score at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The win was North's fourth in a row and improved its record to 5-2, while Waltham, coming in with a four-game win streak and an unbeaten Suburban League record, fell to 4-3.

Saturday the Raiders will be overwhelming favorites to defeat 1-6 Cambridge Rindge and Latin in their 2 p.m. game at Cambridge and Coach Ken McPhee is not worried about overconfidence.

"These kids are playing outstanding ball and I know they won't be overconfident at Cambridge," he said. "They want to go the rest of the way unbeaten and they'll be playing just as hard in that game as they have in every game."

"This has to be one of my biggest wins. I was really worried as Waltham has a fine team and had been really hot. I didn't sleep the night before the game worrying about them but I'll certainly sleep tonight."

"After a slow start we dominated the game and their coach (Paul McGovern) said it was his most devastating defeat. I've said all along this is the best offensive line I've seen at North and it was just tremendous again. And the defense was at its best. We haven't given up a point in the last 10 quarters and that is something."

McPhee had words of praise for his assistant coaches following the big win.

"Kevin Cobban spots for me in the hoth and he does a fantastic job. I call about 90 per cent of the plays he calls. And Mark Mulvaney has to be the best line coach around. What a job he does. I am blessed with terrific assistants. Ted Sadowski and Pete Zoia also do a bang-up job."

North's secondary was strong last week as the Raiders came up with four pass interceptions. The first by Rich Horrigan set up North's first touchdown and it was all North for the rest of the game.

Fullback Mike Barry had another outstanding day as he rushed for 115 yards, his third 100-plus game in four weeks, and scored eight points. Steve Kelly, not carrying as much as usual, gained 43 yards and scored his second TD. Joe Bangs had 32 yards and eight points and, with the reserves in action late in the game, sophomore Mark Simonelli had a 28-yard run.

Dave Zuroms had another fine day at quarterback, running the team well and completing four of seven passes, two for touchdowns.

The offensive line was amazing. McPhee praised Gerry Coughlin, who scored his second touchdown in two games. Al DiBella, Jack Hannan, Larry Naciulz, who had one of his best games, Billy Doherty, John Rency ('our stabilizing force'—McPhee), Ed Kennedy and Rich Brooks.

The defense was never better and the North coach singled out Rency, Ken Runge, Mike Russell, Steve Dever, who had one of his best games, DiBella, Steve Miller, Dave Cooke, Barry, Kevin Sullivan, Kelly, Bangs, Horrigan and Tim Sullivan.

Kelly, Chris Costello and Tony Lio also came up with key pass interceptions.

North Quincy had a net of 207 yards on the ground to just 57 for Waltham. Waltham had 71 yards on 6 for 20 via the air and North had 15 first downs to nine.

Another bright spot for the Raiders was cutting down the penalties, which haunted them the previous week against Somerville (120 yards). They were penalized only 35 yards last week.

The game didn't start auspiciously for North. After Kelly made a fine kickoff return to midfield, the Raiders were penalized five yards, lost four yards and Zuroms was sacked for a 19-yard loss. With fourth down and 41, Brooks' kick went to North's 45 and was returned to the 36.

But the Raider defense stopped the Hawks cold and from then on it was all North Quincy.

Horrigan intercepted a pass late in the first quarter on his 45 and went all the way to Waltham's 32. On the second play Zuroms threw a perfect pass to Coughlin, who scored, completing a 30-yard play. Cooke's kick for the extra point failed.

In the second quarter North went 42 yards for a score. Zuroms going 17 yards to the 12, Barry picking up five and Kelly going the rest of the way for the touchdown. Zuroms passed to Bangs for the two-point conversion and it was 14-0 at halftime.

The Raiders drove 60 yards for their third score in the third quarter, picking up four first downs. Zuroms passed to Bangs in the end zone for the final five yards. Barry rushed for the extra points.

North wrapped up the scoring in the fourth quarter when Barry capped a 68-yard march by going over from the two. Cooke's kick for the extra point was wide.

North Girls Win Third Undeclared Title

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team won its third successive undeclared Suburban League championship and stretched its unbeaten streak to 29 straight meets last week with a 20-42 victory over Waltham.

The last time the Raiderettes lost was in October of 1981.

In finishing 6-0 in the league and 7-0 overall, the North girls swept the second through seventh places.

Waltham's Judith Linehan won the meet, covering the 2.35-mile Quincy course in 14:15, followed by North's Mary Ann Kelleher, Sharon Barrett, Ann Toland, Patricia Leahy and Leanne Fitzgerald, completing the scoring, while Lisa Fitzgerald was seventh, Stacey Welch ninth and Karyn Collings 10th.

The Raiderettes will compete in the state coaches meet Saturday.

Using only freshmen and sophomores, the North girls recently topped Fontbonne Academy, 20-35.

Sophomore Toland finished second, freshmen Parti Feeney, Welch and Colleen Toland third, fourth and fifth respectively and sophomore Stacey Cochran sixth.

"We're very pleased with the progress of our younger runners and much of the credit must go to my assistant, John Furey, who 'is doing a superb job,'" Coach Lou Tozzi said.

Luchini's 3 TDs Leads Raiders Over Milton

Capt. Leo Luchini, the South Shore's leading schoolboy scorer, tallied three touchdowns on runs of 32, 31 and 10 yards and kicked three extra points to lead the North Quincy High School football team to a 33-6 triumph over Milton at Municipal Stadium.

The most spectacular touchdown of the day came in the first period when the Raiders' end Lou DiBona plucked a lateral pass out of the hands of Milton Capt. Joe Morrisette and raced untouced into the end zone.

The North Quincy lineup included: Carroll, FiBona, H. Collins, McGuigan, Riley, Duval, Clark, Finneran, Hines, ends; Smith, Bernardi, Stratton, Bell, Moynihan, Chambers, Erickson, J. Collins, guards; R. Doherty, Bohannon, Sullivan, centers.

Luchini, Lindbom, Shaughnessey, Richards, Nelson, Barrett, Bowen, G. Doherty, Greer, Mullin, Armstrong, Gilbody, backs.

QUINCY TOPS RINDGE

Bob Buckley and Carl Leone scored the touchdowns that enable the Quincy High School football team to ring up a 13-0 victory over Rindge Tech at Cambridge. The Presidents gained 117 yards on the ground and Leone completed nine of 15 passes for 157 yards.

The Quincy lineup included: Lundin, Cugini, Mullin, Pasqualucci, Cramond, Williams, Ned Brandt, Pappas, ends; Bergman, Stewart, McMahon, Carlson, R. Cugini, Delforno, Tackles; Sullivan, Russo, Buckley, Ricciuti, Lancaster, Belezos, guards; Marini, Kennedy, Granville, centers.

Leone, O'Brien, Buckley, Doherty, Halloran, DiNardo, Tait, Saluti, MacLean, Montani, Bregoli, DiAntonio, Salvaggio, Conway, Knuuti, Rogers.

SCORELESS TIE

The underdog North Quincy City Club, winless in two games, waged an epic defensive battle with the undefeated Quincy Varsity Club and emerged with a 0-0 tie in a City League football game at Municipal Stadium.

The North Quincy lineup included: Joyce, Cronin, Robbins, Rich, ends; Kelly, B. Colligan, Bohannon, T. O'Brien, tackles; Redman, D. Colligan, guards; Shea, P. O'Brien, centers; Wallace, Braun, Pendergast, Hughes, Duggan, Gosselin, Connolly, Williams, backs.

The Quincy lineup included: Erickson, Brennan, H. DiBona, ends; R. DiBona, Zalatoris, Balchunis, Pohlson, tackles; W. Pece, A. Cedrone, Sommotes, Hakkala, Quintilliani, Twyman, guards; B. Cedrone, center; K. Tocci, Franchuk, Lints, D. Buckley, Hamilton, S. Buckley, backs.

SACCHETTI SPARKS SOUTH

Big Charlie Sacchetti made a field day as he scored all three touchdowns and chipped in several long runs to lead undefeated South to a 21-13 victory over Central in a Junior High School Football League game at Municipal Stadium.

The South lineup included: Curtin, Sartori, ends; Plattiano, McKenzie, tackles; Johnson, Williams, guards; Purcells, center; Lombardi, Rinelli, Detroit, Sacchetti, backs; Balducci, Kenneally, Robbins, Bando, Bernell, Simpson, Gosselin, Chivarioli, Ramponi, Cochrane, substitutes.

MARVELS WIN

Bill McCarthy and Paul Kendrick scored 16 points between them to pace the Montclair Marvels to a 23-17 victory over the Atlantic Shamrocks in a Sacred Heart Junior Basketball League game. Jack McNally had seven points for Atlantic.

Quincy Girls Close In On Another Suburban Title

The Quincy girls' volleyball team closed in on another Suburban League title last Friday when it swept Newton North, 15-6, 15-4, for its 12th win in a row, improving its record to 13-1 and qualifying for the state tournament.

Senior Terri McLaughlin played well and set up the First Ladies' multiple offense, and senior setter Karen Marnell played a strong game on defense.

Earlier in the week

Quincy easily swept Waltham, 15-0, 15-3, as senior middle blocker Leanne Dondoro paced the victory and sophomore twins Ginny and Terry Duggan and Marlo Levangi also turned in excellent offensive performances.

In their previous game the First Ladies had to go three games to defeat Brookline.

The Quincy girls displayed strong defense thanks to great digs by sophomore Pam Austin. Senior tri-captain Beth Veneto was a standout with her wide range of shots and also playing well were tri-captains Colleen Dunn and Marnell. Levangi also had a strong game.

Quincy will wind up its regular season Friday at Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

North Winds Up With Impressive 4-1 Record

The North Quincy boys' cross-country team finished its Suburban League season with a 4-1 record, its best in years, when it romped over Waltham, 16-47, last week.

Cochs Bart Petracca's Raiders led only to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, always one of the league's powerhouses, while defeating Brockton and Brookline for the first time in several years.

Tom Wildes finished first last week for the Raiders in 12:18 over the 2.4-mile course and North also took the next three places with Heath Petracca second, Harry Morash third and Scott Coyne fourth. Andy Barrett was sixth to complete the Raider scoring and Kirk Highfield placed seventh and John Burr eighth.

"This was a most satisfying season, especially considering we had only nine runners while some of the other teams had as many as 30," Petracca said. "The boys did a tremendous job all season long."

The Raiders will compete Saturday in the state coaches' meet.

North Girls Again Outswim Quincy

The North Quincy girls' swim team continued its domination of Quincy last week, defeating the undermanned Quincy girls, 107-51.

The North girls' and boys' teams have never lost to Quincy.

The Raiderettes won every event except the 100 freestyle, won by Quincy's Kerri Mortimer.

North's winners were Kristine McCready in the 200 freestyle, Donna King, 200 individual medley, and 100 butterfly; Georgia Traficante, 50 freestyle; Robin Killian, diving; Stacey Quintiliani, 500 freestyle; Caroline Krantz, 100 backstroke; Liz Harrington, 100 breaststroke; the 200 yard relay team of Krantz, Harrington, Jean Boudreau and Stephanie Francis, and the 400 freestyle relay team of King, Susan Fennell, Beth Dunker and Quintiliani.

Taking second places for North were Diane Mullen, 200 freestyle; Harrington, 200 individual medley; Kathy Koski, diving; Jennifer Rafferty, 100 freestyle; McCready, 500 freestyle; and Lisa Rodriguez, 100 breaststroke.

Finishing third were Rodriguez, 200 individual medley; Kathy Hooley, 50 freestyle; Boudreau, 100 butterfly; Francis, 100 freestyle; and Michelle Casey, 100 backstroke.

Finishing second for the First Ladies were Karen Craig, 100 butterfly and Janet Morrell, 100 backstroke.

Placing third were Janet Morrell, 200 freestyle; Colleen Craig, 500 freestyle; and Patti Morrell, 100 breaststroke.

Taylor Leads Panthers Over Sailors, 40-22

Joe Taylor exploded for three first-half touchdowns to lead the Quincy Point Panthers to a 40-22 victory over the Squantum Sailors last Sunday and set the stage for Sunday's return meeting with the North Quincy Apaches at 2:30 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Apaches handed the defending champion Panthers (6-1) their only setback. In the 1 o'clock opener Sunday the Houghs Neck Manets will face the West Quincy Elks.

The Panthers kicked off to open last week's game, with the Sailors being pushed back deep into their own territory to the five. They were forced to punt and four plays later, on first and 10 from the 12, Taylor took Tim Brillo's handoff and scored his first touchdown. Brillo rushed for the two-point conversion.

Following an unsuccessful Sailor drive, the Panthers took over on their own 30. On second down a Brillo pass was intercepted by Billy Wysocki on the 50. The Sailors were stopped again and, on fourth down, they fumbled on a punt attempt and Danny Crespi recovered, giving the Panthers excellent field position.

On second down Taylor ran 19 yards for his second touchdown and Crespi took a pass for the two extra points.

In four pass plays the Sailors couldn't connect and again were forced to punt. On the first play from scrimmage Crespi hauled in a Brillo pass to complete a 55-yard scoring play. Wayne Chambers rushed for the two-point conversion and the Panthers led, 24-0.

The Panthers' junior varsity went into the game and the Sailors were able to put their first points on the board and the two-point conversion was good.

Following the kick-off, the Panthers set up on their own 43. Brillo attempted a pass put again it was picked off by Wysocki.

The Panthers' Mark Gunther recovered a Sailor fumble and Taylor completed a 70-yard pass play for his third score and Muke Lomanno added the conversion.

The jayvees again entered the game and the Sailors drove deep into Panther territory, due to the running of Dan Pimental and Dave Hutchins. Two first downs put the Sailors on the five and they scored, adding the conversion and at the half the Panthers led, 32-16.

Three plays into the second half Brian Taylor scampered 40 yards for the final Panther touchdown and Lomanno rushed the conversion.

The jayvees played the rest of the game and held the Sailors until the final seconds. Ralph Bevilacqua and Bobby Crespi did a fine job, but Squantum's Lance Mirkin set up the final Sailor score, a 43-yard pass play.

After School Saturday Recreation Program Starts

Barry Welch, city recreation director, announces that the 25-week after school and Saturday recreation program supervised at 11 school locations will begin Saturday.

Activities are scheduled at various days and times for boys and girls age 8 through high school. Elementary, middle, and senior high school age groups attend at different times. The program includes gym activities such as relay races, floor hockey, basketball and games and contests. Weather permitting, out of door activities such as touch football, slug and soccer are also played.

The program is open free to all Quincy residents who may attend the location of their choice—registration is done at the program. The specific schedule varies at each site and will be posted in each school gym or can be obtained by calling the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, extension 204.

FUTURE SHOCK

QUESTION: How can I protect my future financial situation through investing in real estate?

ANSWER: The cost of housing has doubled in the past ten years. But this can work FOR a homeowner. If the cost of living increased at only six percent a year compounded (low by today's standards) a home that cost $70,000 today would cost $224,500 in 20 years and almost unbelievable $402,044 in 30 years.

Whatever your age, you must find a way to create an income in addition to your pay check. There is no such thing as the perfect investment, but real estate may be the nearest thing to it. It can be an income producer, a shelter from high taxes, and an ideal protection from the ravages of inflation.

A HOME THAT COST $70,000 in 1980 will cost $224,000 in the year 2000. Real estate is a good inflation hedge.

Pilgrims Topic In Historical Society Series

The Quincy Historical Society's "Quincy Remembers" series will continue today (Thursday) at 1:30 p.m. with an illustrated lecture, "Before 1620: The Pilgrims in New England and Holland".

The lecture will be given by Marion Rawson Vuilleumier, a Mayflower descendant and a co-maker on historical subjects.

Actively involved in a number of literary areas, she is the author of 12 books, most of which are about New England. She is also a book reviewer for the Cape Cod Times, editor of "Transformation", a quarterly inspirational magazine, and Executive Secretary of the Cape Cod Writer's Conference.

The program is free and the public is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served before and after the program.

The Quincy Remembers Series is supported in part by a grant from the Massachusetts Arts Lottery as administered by the Quincy Arts Council.

S. S. Camera Club Planning Novice Photographer's Series

The South Shore Camera Club, 65 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, will hold a two part Novice Photographer's Education Series and New Member's Orientation for 1984 beginning Tuesday, Nov. 6.

The program Nov. 6 will begin at 8 p.m. with an introduction to the club. It will cover club competition rules and how to enter the competitions.

A Kodak Series 35 slide program, "An Introduction", will follow. It will cover how to handle a camera properly and how to take advantage of the versatility of your camera.

Interchangeable lenses, built-in exposure meters, adjustable shutter speeds and lens openings will also be discussed.

Included with the program will be a booklet covering the same subjects as the slide show.

The program Dec. 4, at 8 p.m. will begin with a further introduction to the club, its officers, activities and programs.

"Effective Use of Lenses", another Kodak Series 35 slide program, will follow.

The program will show how photographers, with a critical eye, some imagination and technical know-how, can produce photos that make a personal statement.

The program will also show some techniques that you can use with a variety of lenses available for the camera.

A booklet, covering the same subjects as the slide show, will be included with the program.

The programs are open to the public.

'Alice in Blunderland' At Memorial Congregational

"Alice in Blunderland: Reflections of a Nuclear Age", will be presented Friday and Saturday, Nov. 2-3, at 8 p.m. at Memorial Congregational Church, North Quincy.

The performance is sponsored by the Missionary Committee of Memorial Congregational Church of Atlantic, Sagamore St. and Newbury Ave.

The original musical allegory, originating in Northeast Ohio, has been performed since February 1982.

The satirical wit of the Blunderland characters turns "Alice in Wonderland" into a modern morality play.

The plot directs Alice, who represents the audience, to search for the truth by entering a fantasy land called Blunderland. As she travels through this land, she meets many characters who represent the components of the nuclear age.

In Blunderland, the Rabbit is the only one aware that making "fairly dust" will kill the population. Tweedledum and Tweedledumber are two unnamed superpowers who build bigger and bigger stockpiles of fairy dust in fierce competition. When asked which is "dumber", each points to the other.

As fairy dust salesmen, Biggie Rat and the Mad Hatter push its use to make greater profits. The Walrus represents big business. He doesn't care whether Tweedledum or Tweedledumber is ahead.

"What I sell to one, I sell to the other," he says.

The Prime Minister, who has perfected the art of sounding important while saying nothing, is so in love with his own career that he is not in touch with the people around him.

There is the Cheshire Cat, a newspaper journalist who "sees all" but prints only what sells. There is Dr. Carpenter the scientist and there are the Oysters. The fairy dust factory is to be built near their community, but they are just nice folks who don't want to make a fuss.

The script, music and lyrics of the play were written by two brothers, Tim and Tom DeFrance.

Art Assn. Works At Plaza Exhibit

The annual fall Art Exhibit today (Thursday) until Sunday at Braintree's South Shore Plaza will feature a display of works by Quincy Art Association members.

The works of art have been done in various medias.

Paintings in all categories will be judged today at 10 a.m.

O.A.A.'s guest judge this year will be Sis Kramer, of the "Sis Kramer Galleries" in Newton.

Throughout the exhibit, demonstrations in various medias will take place.

For more information on the exhibit, call Lena Gullins at 773-8510.

Ruth Simon To Present Violin Recital

Ruth Simon, a senior at Quincy High School, will present a violin recital Sunday, Nov. 4, at 4 p.m., at the First Armenian Church, Concord Ave., Belmont.

Miss Simon will be accompanied by Tanya Filiczian on piano.

She has been playing the violin for 10 years under the direction of Rouben Gregorian.

A member of the Quincy Symphony, she has been performing with the Greater Boston Youth Symphony for two years.

Miss Simon has received a scholarship to the Boston Youth Symphony summer workshop. In addition, she has performed for many church organizations and community groups.

This summer, Miss Simon was selected to represent Massachusetts for the Odd Fellows at the United Nations. She plans to further her education in music and enter the field of communication and TV broadcasting.

City-Wide Parents To Meet Nov. 5

The Quincy City-Wide Parents Council will meet Monday, Nov. 5, at 7:30 p.m. at Central Middle School, Hancock St., Quincy.

Interested parents and community members are welcomed to attend.

S. S. Craft Expo '84 To Hold Premier Show

The South Shore Craft Expo '84 will hold its premier show at Florian Hall Saturday and Sunday.

The show will feature work by 55 New England craftspeople and artisans.

An assortment of crafts will be prizes in a drawing with proceeds contributed to Boston Children's Hospital.

Florian Hall is located one-half mile off Exit 21 of the Southeast Expressway (Milton-Neponset line).

Motor Homes Needed For Christmas Parade Judges

The Quincy Christmas Parade needs two motor homes for the judging area of this year's parade to be held Sunday, Nov. 25 beginning at 12:30 p.m.

The motor homes will be needed from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Those that donate the homes may watch the parade with the judges.

Anyone interested in donating a motor home for the day should call parade director Bill Morrill at 773-1439, after 6 p.m.

WEEK OF: NOVEMBER 1

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Don't feel pressured to be creative, original, or flamboyant. An old-fashioned, tried and true approach leads to key accomplishments in realms of romance, career, and education.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

This is a transition week, with much activity happening behind the scenes. A decision of significance may have to be made by Monday. Friend is not as reliable as you think.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Short trips become longer than planned - and short cuts prove more trouble than they're worth. Hunches are strong after the weekend. Relationships are on the swing.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Conservative friend or colleague is surprisingly open-minded. Your ideas are clever, but don't divulge them until they're solidified. Popularity is at a new high by the weekend.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Conservative friend or colleague is surprisingly open-minded. Your ideas are clever, but don't divulge them until they're solidified. Popularity is at a new high by the weekend.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

The week favors evenings that accent taste and elegance. If planning to host an event, you do so with a memorable talent. Some changes in home setting are indicated after the weekend.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Financial picture brightens and some interesting opportunities open up for career expansion. Fitness and health are themes of this period. In romance, tact is crucial.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Wit is crackling and wins admirers in high places. Financial ups and downs punctuate the week; by Wednesday, you're seeing fewer "downs." Love life too is upward bound.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

On the homefront, tensions are easing. In areas of career or education, new challenges inspire you to make a major contribution. Platonic friendship deepens through the week.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Financial news-brightener arrives after the weekend, but don't make a major announcement. New relationship requires more time than you initially believe is necessary.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

The week marks the start of a cycle that features new friendship and renewed romantic commitment. Budgetary review is a must, especially where shared finances are concerned.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Compliments come your way; the key is to appreciate the sincere ones. Partnership arrangements benefit from a frank discussion. At work, be sure to avoid any conflict of interest.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're known to be intense and passionate, dedicated to causes and always persevering. Your secretive side makes you something of a mystery. This year finds you meeting someone quite like yourself. Chances to learn new skills abound through 1985.

BORN THIS WEEK

November 1st, actress Betsy Palmer; 2nd, actor Burt Lancaster; 3rd, writer Stefan Bernhardt; 4th, actress Kate Reid; 5th, actress Elke Sommer; 6th, director Mike Nichols; 7th, singer Joni Mitchell.

Seminar On Nautilus Exercise At YMCA

The South Shore YMCA will hold a one-hour seminar on the beneficial effects of Nautilus exercise tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 and tours of the new, fully equipped Nautilus Fitness Center will be given at 7:30.

Dr. Wayne Westcott, director of Nautilus Training, will present his research findings on the following topics:

Effects of Nautilus training on muscle strength.

Effects of Nautilus training on cardiovascular endurance.

Effects of Nautilus training on bodyweight, body composition, and physical appearance.

He will discuss proper training techniques for achieving optimal results in a safe, efficient manner, and share relevant training principles from his book, Strength Fitness.

Immediately following the seminar, the Nautilus staff will teach interested persons how to train on the 21 Nautilus machines and three bicycles available in the spacious Nautilus Fitness Center.

In order to provide personal attention to the seminar participants, registration will be limited to 30 people. Reservations may be made by calling the South Shore YMCA Nautilus Fitness Center at 479-8500. There is no charge for the seminar.

The License Board visited the Litre and Wedge in Quincy Point Tuesday and will discuss its findings at the Nov. 6 meeting.

The inspection took place after this week's meeting when abutter 1 Paul Marini complained about conditions at the rear of the store at 230 Washington St.

Marini said that the license for the business was issued in December, 1982, for a six month probationary period with the stipulation that such conditions be improved.

He said the stipulation has not been met and complained of fill dumped on his property which has not been removed, a change in grade of the business' land which has resulted in a drainage problem, and a bamboo-type growth which has been removed and thrown in the street.

Marini said that he has talked to Robert Kelley of the Quincy Fire Department about the problem.

City Clerk John Gillis suggested the board inspect the premises.

Nicholas Trifone, who operates the business, said he welcomed the board.

Your home is a natural resource.

If you need extra money for college tuition, home improvements, investments or other purposes, one of the best places to find it is right in your own home.

That's because the market value of your home today may be considerably more than it was only a few years ago.

Your equity undoubtedly has increased, and is a valuable resource you now can convert into cash, with our new Equity Line of Credit.

It's an affordable, simple way to borrow the money you need at a lower interest rate than most other kinds of credit.

The amount of money available to you as an Equity Line of Credit depends on how much your home is worth on the market today and what your current mortgage balance is.

The difference between those amounts is your equity. Your line of credit may be as much as 80% of that equity.

Once approved, your Equity Line of Credit works like a checking account, one you may use for ten years when and as you choose.

You pay a variable rate of interest only on the amount you actually borrow, a rate just 1½% above the prime rate in effect the first day of your monthly billing cycle.

An Equity Line of Credit at Quincy Savings Bank can replace many other types of credit.

In fact, you may never have to apply for a loan again because, as you pay back the money you borrow, your cash reserve builds back up again, just like a revolving line of credit at retail stores.

To learn how to convert the increased value of your home into cash, please see the manager at our nearest office or call 471-3500. A consumer lending representative will be pleased to discuss your needs and to answer any questions you may have.

City Council Approves $980,546 Reserve Fund

The City Council Monday night appropriated $980,546 to the city's "reserve" for appropriation fund" for fiscal 1985, overriding an effort by Councilor Joanne Condon to cut the sum in half.

The fund is used to meet unexpected expenses during the year and Mayor Francis X. McCauley has indicated that he will use at least part of it to meet negotiated raises in new union contracts.

"I am not against pay raises for city employees," said Condon, "but a million dollar slush fund is a large amount of money."

She proposed that the appropriation be amended to $490,273, half the sum requested by Mayor Francis X. McCauley, but the motion failed to get a second.

The full appropriation was passed by a 7-2 vote with Council President James A. Sheets joining Condon in voting against it.

Condon said she saw "no clear direction for this $980,000. If it is used for pay raises it will amount to about 2 per cent for each employee. The cost of living is up in excess of that."

She said she wanted to cut the "slush fund" in half and look for vacancies in city departments to make up the difference and provide pay hikes.

Board Denies Antiques Request

A request from Kenneth T. Wasil of Dorchester for a secondhand license for Antique Wholesales of New England, 1246 Hancock St., Quincy was denied on a 4-0 vote by the License Board Tuesday.

The license was denied after board members said that Wasil's store had been open without a license since July 15.

Police Chief Francis Finn abstained from voting and said he did not believe there was enough reason to deny the license.

At the beginning of the hearing, the board recessed and went into executive session for about 15 minutes to discuss the applicant's criminal history, according to City Clerk John Gillis.

After the board was back in session, Gillis said that Wasil had been operating the business without a license and recommended that board members deny the license.

In a somewhat heated exchange with Gillis and other board members, Wasil said that he rented the store in July but has done no business.

Board members contended the business was open without a license and denied the request.

It's Reagan, Bush, Kerry

By TOM HENSHAW
President Ronald Reagan captured Quincy's vote Tuesday enroute to his smashing election victory over Democrat Walter Mondale that saw him capture all 50 states, except possibly Mondale's home state of Minnesota.

But Reagan's coattails were not sufficient to carry Raymond Shamie of Walpole into the U.S. Senate. Democrat John F. Kerry of Boston won the seat and took Quincy, too.

A hefty 79.4 per cent of Quincy's 49,735 registered voters turned out for the balloting, something less than the 82 per cent forecast by City Clerk John M. Gillis.

In the lesser contested races, James M. Collins won re-election as county treasurer over Republican Michael S. Selib of Brookline despite charges of irregularities in his office.

Democrats James J. Collins of Milton and George B. McDonald of Quincy were re-elected over Republican Auburn J. Perry Jr. of Canton; and Peter L. Eleey of Quincy easily turned back a challenge from Patricia A. Ruskiewicz of Brockton for governor's councillor.

The voter turnout in Quincy was 39.495.

Reagan and Vice President George Bush obviously caught the eye of Democratic and unenrolled voters as well as Republicans in his sweep of all six Quincy wards.

Reagan's total in the city was 20,118 to 18,962 for Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro, the first woman ever to run for vice president. Four years ago, against President Jimmy Carter, Reagan took the city, 18,038 to 17,977.

Shamie, the self-made millionaire businessman seeking the Senate seat for the second time, ran strongly in Quincy but it was not enough to overcome Kerry, the lieutenant governor.

Kerry's total was 21,006 and Shamie's 17,918 in Quincy. Around the rest of the state Kerry won handily with about 55 per cent of the vote.

Selib, whose name was placed on the ballot by the Republican State Committee rather than primary voters, made a strong showing against the embattled Collins for county treasurer.

Collins' vote in Quincy was 20,617 to 13,653 for Selib. With only the town of Plainville and its some 2,000 voters missing, Collins had 137,331 and Selib 121,080.

In the county commissioner's race, with only Brookline and Sharon missing, McDonald had 219,596 votes, Collins 121,399 and Perry 102,048. In Quincy, it was McDonald 24,544, Collins 19,338 and Perry 10,607.

Treasurer Collins and Commissioner Collins, both of Milton, are not related.

Eleey easily won a third term in the governor's council over Ruskiewicz, marching through his home city of Quincy with 27,215 votes to 7,890 for Ruskiewicz.

Winning re-election unopposed were Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, Sen. Paul D. Harold, Reps. Thomas F. Brownell, Robert A. Cera-

State Approves City's $21.03 And $30.86 Tax Rates

The State Revenue Department has approved the fiscal 1985 tax rates for Quincy and Mayor Francis X. McCauley said fall tax bills should be in the mail shortly.

$21.03 per thousand and for commercial, industrial and personal property (CIPP) will be $30.86.

The rates were submitted for state approval last week following City Council approval of a "residential factor" of 88.5860 per cent of full value and 130 per cent for CIPP.

McCauley said the assessors were asked to submit some letters to back up certain estimated receipts on Tuesday morning and Tuesday afternoon the state approved the rates.

"We have never had a problem with receipts," said the Mayor.

In days before the state cracked down on the practice, it was possible to keep the tax rate low in a given year by over-estimating receipts and paying the piper the following year.

Taxpayers will have 30 days from the date of the mailing in which to pay one half of their tax for the year.

The rate for residential taxpayers in the city will be

Parking Hours Extended On Some Downtown Streets

The City Council voted Monday night to extend parking limits on some side streets in downtown Quincy from a half hour to an hour.

The streets are Elm, Maple, Foster, Temple and Washington Sts. and Revere Rd.

Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia said there was "a clamor for the change. Small businessmen feel they are losing trade, that the meters were victimizing them and their customers."

The vote for the parking extension passed by 7-1 with Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro in opposition.

"I'm not opposed to doing this on some streets but I think the time should be the same in all areas," he said.

Council Clears Way For Hotel

A zoning ordinance change that would clear the way for construction of a 300-room hotel in West Quincy was passed by the City Council Monday night.

The hotel would be part of the planned $200 million Crown Colony Place on the site of the Old Colony Crushed Stone Co. quarries at Routes 3 and 128.

The zoning change permits hotels or motels to be constructed in areas that are zoned Industrial A or light industry.

Ground was broken for the 170-acre Crown Colony Place Sept. 26. Target date for completion is 15 years with 75 per cent of the development finished in five years.

Planning Director James Lydon estimated that the project, the largest single development in the city's history, will produce up to $4 million annually in taxes and employ 7,000 to 10,000 people.

Owner-developer is MSS Management Group Inc. of Boston, a subsidiary of Musaad Al-Saleh and Sons of Kuwait. The agent is Meredith and Grew of Boston.

The zoning change was supported strongly by city officials who feared the loss of more Quincy business to Braintree and Randolph, where there are major hotels and motels.

The ordinance was first introduced at the Oct. 1 Council meeting but was held up in committee by councillors who wanted an explanation of development in Quincy before voting.

Old Quincy Savings Bank Building Sold, To Be Converted To Condos

The Quincy Savings Bank former main building at 1372-1374 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., has been sold and will be converted to office condominiums.

The 89-year old downtown landmark has been purchased by Frank A. Evans, Quincy businessman and Paul Gill.

Announcement was made jointly by Charles A. Pearce, Chairman of the Board and Chief Officer of the Quincy Savings Bank and Evans.

The purchase price was not disclosed.

The bank will retain its downtown branch at the present location and The Quincy Sun is purchasing its present space.

Flavin & Flavin Realtors of 1085 Hancock St. Quincy is handling the marketing of the condominiums.

"As the bank continues to grow and prosper it was a management decision that we should remove ourselves from the tenant-landlord relationship that existed in our main office building," said Pearce.

"The time needed to manage the building, we felt, could be better used in maintaining our position as one of the strongest savings banks in the state."

The four-story building has approximately 23,000 square feet of office space. In addition to the Quincy Savings Bank and The Quincy Sun on the street floor a number of attorneys are located on the upper floors.

Edward Flavin of Flavin & Flavin said the interior of the building will be completely renovated. The building's name will re-

'Complete' Traffic Study Sought On Newport Ave.

The City Council Monday night asked the Traffic Commission to conduct a "complete and thorough" study of traffic on Newport Ave. from Furnace Brook Parkway to West Squantum St.

Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. said he was prompted to request the study after receipt of a letter from Kathleen Butler of 12 Homer Rd., Merrymount, who works in the State Street South complex.

She said she has discussed the issue at length with other people employed in the area and found that "with the traffic situation we are unable to support the stores in the Quincy area."

"We are unable to get to these areas in the time allowed for lunch and at night after sitting on Newport Ave. or West Squantum St. for one half hour, you no longer have a desire to go shopping," she said.

She suggested that Newport Ave. might have three lanes of traffic going north in the morning and three lanes going south at night; and that more side streets be opened on a temporary basis.

The Council also had these suggestions for the Traffic Commission:

- Conduct a traffic survey on Wilson Ave. and study the feasibility of installing additional Stop signs to reduce speed on the roadway.

- Study the feasibility of installing a Yield sign at the corner of Woodbine and Greenwood Sts.

- Study the feasibility of banning commercial vehicles on Clay St., Wollaston, between Hancock St. and Merrill Ave. and establishing a One Way traffic on that section between 3:30 p.m. and 5 p.m.
- Study the traffic and parking situation on Oval Rd., Wollaston, in light of the construction work on the MBTA barn.

GRAVESITE SALE in Mount Wollaston Cemetery, the first in 11 years, drew long lines of prospective purchasers, some of whom waited all night.

317 Mt. Wollaston Grave Sites Sold Fast

The City Cemetery Department sold 317 grave sites in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery Thursday, some of them to Quincy residents who waited in line all night.

The sale opened at 8 a.m. and the last grave was purchased at 3:15 p.m.

"We gave out numbers like they do in a bakery," said Cemetery Supt. J. Vincent Smythe. "I must say that everyone was patient and understanding. We were able to process the sales without delay."

The sale included 167 single grave sites at $602 each and 75 double grave sites at $1,202 apiece for a total of $190,834, which will be apportioned to cemetery expenses.

There are two graves in a single site and four in a double.

It was the first time the city had sold graves in Mt. Wollaston in 11 years.

Suspicious Fire Destroys Houghs Neck House

A $65,000 fire that destroyed a one-family home at 34 Sea Ave., Houghs Neck, early Monday morning has been labelled suspicious by the Quincy Fire Prevention Bureau.

Fire Investigator William

Smith said the blaze apparently started in two different locations, one on a side porch and the other inside the living room.

No one was reported injured. The owner of the house, Melvin Nelson, got out before the fire spread.

Smith said the first alarm was turned in shortly after midnight and the all out was given at 2:32 a.m.

Deputy Carl Valenti, the State Fire Marshal's Office and the Fire Prevention Bureau are investigating.

Indoor Flea Market Request Continued

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to Nov. 13 a request from Birjinder Singh, M.D., to conduct an indoor flea market Saturdays at 50 East Squantum St., formerly Atlantic Methodist Church.

Proposed hours for the event are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays during November and December. Admission is free.

According to the letter of application, the church is owned by Dr. Singh for the New England Sikh Study Circle.

Money will be used for New England Sikh Study.

City Clerk John Gillis said there is a parking problem in the area.

Gillis suggested the applicant discuss the request with Ward Councillor Joanne Condon.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from the North Quincy High School Track Boosters Club to conduct tag days Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and 31, with no soliciting at intersections.

• Postponed to Nov. 20, a request from California, 70 Parkway, for use of the basement as a function room, pending presentation of architectural plans.

• Voted to allow the owners of the Lire & Wedge, 230 Washington St., to have until Nov. 27 to correct conditions at the rear of the building. Board members inspected the premises after last week's meeting.

• Continued to Nov. 20 a hearing on conditions at School St. Sunoco, 51

School St., until an assessment can be made of the problem.

• Continued to Nov. 20 a hearing on alleged violations at a lodging house at 25 Shaw St.

The board will inform owner Robert McManus that all work must be completed within two weeks or the lodgers must be removed from house.

• Granted a request from Panagiotis Papadopoulos of Rosindale for a common victualer license for Olympic Restaurant, 423 Hancock St., formerly held by Sam's Restaurant.

Signs must be approved by the Building Inspector.

Fort Square Church Damaged By Fire

A fire apparently started by vandals caused $25,000 damage to the Christadelphian Church at 139 School St. in the Fort Square area Saturday.

Fire Investigator William

Smith said it was believed that a grass fire started by youngsters spread to the church building. No one was in the building at the time.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments, the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Meeting Set On Pub Transfer

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney is "strongly urging" residents to attend a meeting tonight (Thursday) regarding the proposed transfer of ownership of the Palmer Pub, 520 Sea St.

The meeting, being held by the Adams Shore Civic Association, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

Michael J. O'Neill, who is applying for the common victualer-all alcoholic licenses for the pub, will make a presentation at the meeting according to Cheney.

The License Board is scheduled to vote on the request Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

Cheney requested that the License Board hold that meeting at night, rather than during the morning as it usually does, so that citizens who work during the day can attend.

The licenses for the pub are currently held by John W. Smith of Weymouth. Atty. Henry S. Levin told the board recently that Smith is selling the business and property because of poor health.

O'Neill told the board that he plans to totally upgrade the property, change the clientele and enforce a strict management policy.

City Clerk John Gillis and Police Chief Francis Finn noted that there have been problems with youths congregating on the corner for many years.

"The Palmer Pub has been a deep concern of residents of the area for many years," agreed Cheney.

"There have been a number of arrests over a period of time outside of the pub."

"A number of complaints have gone through the police department rather than through the License Board, so that not all incidents are on the board's record."

"I've had a lot of comments and calls regarding the pub, and everyone expressed deep concern about the corner and particularly the Palmer Pub," Cheney said.

Cheney urged residents of the area to attend the meeting tonight and voice their opinions as to the final disposition of the Palmer Pub.

The Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre in Merrymount Park, more than seven years in the building, will be rededicated Saturday, Nov. 10, at 11 a.m. with the Wollaston-born actress herself as the honored guest.

The event is being co-sponsored by Mayor Francis X. McCauley and the Quincy South Shore Cultural Commission, of which City Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia is chairman.

The festivities will start at 10 a.m. with coffee and pastries in the Mayor's office for a small group of guests and Miss Gordon. Then the party will proceed to the amphitheatre.

The public is invited to the rededication ceremonies at the amphitheatre and to the collation that follows in the conference room of the nearby Park and Recreation Commission complex.

Signs will be posted to direct the public to the amphitheatre and police officers and Civil Defense personnel will be on hand to direct traffic and coordinate related functions.

An extra 200 seats will be set up in the amphitheatre in addition to the 1,000 permanent seats in the facility.

After the rededication ceremonies, at about 12 noon, there will be a luncheon in Miss Gordon's honor for invited guests at the California Restaurant, after which Miss Gordon will return to San Francisco to resume movie work.

The amphitheatre, which was constructed with more than a half million dollars in federal funds, is situated in a natural cavity that provides a stage at the bottom surrounded by ascending rows of seats.

It was first dedicated Dec. 31, 1977 as the last official act of former Mayor LaRaia. At the time it was about 75 per cent completed. Repair and maintenance work was done in later years.

About 2½ months ago, the Quincy South Shore Cultural Commission set out to complete the open air theatre.

It was accomplished with the aid of the Public Works Department, carpentry students from Quincy Vo-Tech School and several labor unions. The work was directed by John Bonomi and Chris Arone of West Quincy.

License Board To Discuss Parade Soliciting Issue

The License Board will ask George White, general chairman of the Quincy Christmas Festival Committee to appear at next Tuesday's meeting to discuss soliciting for funds at the Christmas Parade.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

The committee has requested that the License Board reconsider granting permission for the North Quincy High School Boosters and Quincy High School Parents Club to collect funds at the parade

Nov. 25.

White said that the committee has turned down such requests in the past because the parade is "a day of family enjoyment and people just do want to be harassed or embarrassed through the soliciting of funds."

At this week's meeting, Police Chief Francis Finn said that he met with the city solicitors for an hour and a half to research the hawker and peddlers laws and found them very general.

"The police would not be able to stop hawkers and peddlers licensed in Massachusetts, and I certainly don't want to stop two schools from soliciting," said Finn.

Finn said that Asst. City Solicitor Laurence Cowley has been placed in charge of a committee to research the city ordinances regarding the matter and rewrite them so that they can be suitably enforced.

He said that he was giving his opinion on the matter this week because he will not be present at next week's meeting.

Hospital Seeks $2M Loan For Equipment

Quincy City Hospital is seeking to borrow $2 million to purchase new equipment, including a $375,000 CAT scanner and $740,000 worth of renovations to the Radiology Department.

Approval for the loan came before the City Council Monday night and was sent to the Finance Committee for hearing. Hospital Director Mark J. Mundy said that terms of the bond issue are "well within the hospital's financial capabilities during the repayment periods."

"As you know," he said in an accompanying letter,

"the hospital has demonstrated an excellent track record for repayment with the last bond issue in 1980."

"This equipment may be used, in part, as a credit toward the larger bond anticipated for the upcoming building project."

Council To Study Landfill Again

The City Council has decided once again to take up the seemingly endless problem of the sanitary landfill in West Quincy, which is calculated to have a remaining life of four to seven years.

Council President James A. Sheets filed a resolve that the Disposal and Sanitary Problems Committee study the life of the landfill and explore alternative solutions for disposal of solid waste.

Sheets said he filed the resolve to give Councillor Michael T. Cheney, who succeeded Leo J. Kelly as chairman of the committee, a chance to get his feet wet in the problem.

"It's time to do some serious planning," said Sheets.

"From what I hear from different sources there is anywhere from four to seven years of life left in the landfill. It's getting higher and higher, which is not a plus for anyone who wants to develop there.

"We have to make a decision. If we're not going to take our solid waste to the landfill in Lakeville and pay exorbitant prices then we're going to have to start making other plans right now."

Sheets said there is a possibility that the city could get in on some regional solid waste reclamation facility but it would have to be done quickly since it would take four or five years to get such a facility off the ground.

"If we don't make a decision pretty soon we may wind up paying $2 million a year just to transport waste to Lakeville," he said.

Open House Nov. 27 At Quincy Junior College

Quincy Junior College will hold an open house Nov. 27 from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Representatives from all the programs offered by the junior college will be on hand to answer questions and to contribute information. There will also be advisors present to help people in making decisions about courses in which they are interested.

During the day, there will be demonstrations to let the community see what is being done at the junior college. Free refreshments prepared by the Hotel/Restaurant Management Department, will be available.

"This is an excellent opportunity for people interested in returning to school to see what QJC has available," said Mary Sagan, coordinator of the Open House. "It is further an occasion for members of the community to see how the junior college benefits the community, academically."

North Quincy Band To Lead Christmas Parade

The North Quincy High School band will step off No. 1 among 25 high school bands in the Christmas Festival Parade Sunday, Nov. 25. The order of march was drawn at the City Council meeting Monday night.

The second band will be Chicopee Comprehensive followed by Agawam. Fair-

Zoning Variances May Be Extended

Local zoning boards now have authority to extend the time for using variances for up to six months, Sen. Paul D. Harold reports.

Under new legislation now in effect, the former law requiring the rights authorized under a variance to be exercised within one year may be extended for an additional six months.

The extension is at the discretion of the local zoning board, and can be granted only if the applicant files the request for extension before the initial year expires, Harold noted.

Ted Draws A Crowd

Whether you're a Ted Kennedy fan or not, there's one thing you'll have to admit:

He sure can draw a crowd.

The Senator was in Quincy last Friday to make a few visits, one of them to The QuinCY Sun.

While strolling around the corner from Temple St. to The Sun office, he collected a number of passersby.

And while he was inside The Sun, the crowd continued to grow outside waiting for him to come out.

When he finally emerged, he got an enthusiastic reception, including shouts of "We'll be with you, Ted, in '88" and "Please run in '88".

That got a big smile out of Kennedy as he waved, asked a few "How are you?", climbed into a limousine and was off to Boston to meet Walter Mondale.

KENNEDY

WHILE at The Sun, Kennedy was interviewed on Sun Ch.8 but quickly shutdown any speculation about him running again in 1988 for President or who he thought would be the Democratic front runner then.

If Mondale lost, he was asked, who would he think would be the leading contenders for the 1988 Democratic nomination.

"The election isn't over yet," he replied, sidestepping the question.

The follow-up question was to have been: Would Ted Kennedy consider running four years from now? Or 1992?

THE ASSASSINATION of India Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and the recent attempt on British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher prompted a question to Kennedy on political killing.

The murder of his two brothers, John and Robert Kennedy, Martin Luther King and Indira Gandhi, attempts on President Reagan and Pope John Paul were cited and Kennedy was asked if political assassination had become a way of life.

"We cannot yield to terrorist activities," he said. "We have to learn to live with it and be more aware of the nature of the danger."

INCIDENTALLY, it seemed that the Senator had more Secret Servicemen guarding him during this visit to Quincy than he has had in many previous visits.

And, they checked out everybody and everything. They looked through desk drawers and examined The Sun's television camera, which was going to be aimed at the Senator.

And, they even stopped and checked out Sun photographer Charlie Flagg coming through the door to take Kennedy's picture. They also gave his camera a lookover.

GOT A QUESTION for Mayor Francis McCauley? He will be the guest tonight (Thursday), at 7 p.m. on WUMB FM's (91.9) live public affairs talk show, "From the Source."

McCauley will discuss Quincy issues and problems for an hour and take telephone calls. Call-in number is 929-7930.

MILESTONE: Arthur Foley, Mayor McCauley's administrative aide, and his wife, Mary, are parents of a daughter, Kathleen Mary, born Oct. 29 at Quincy City Hospital. They have two other children, Christopher, 8 and Matthew, 5.

"Another conservative Democrat," says proud Pop.

AN UNIDENTIFIED poll warden, commenting on the early call of election winners by the television networks:

"It's demoralizing. At 8:05 p.m. someone walks in and announces who won and you've still got five hours of counting ahead of you. I feel like I'm wasting my time."

Koch Club 29th Annual Christmas Programs Underway

turkeys and fresh fruits and vegetables for the food baskets. Checks may be made payable to the Koch Club Christmas Fund and mailed to Thomas F. Nestor, Treasurer, 241 Newbury Ave., Quincy, 02171.

The food baskets are delivered through local charitable, community and social service organizations in the Quincy area and the coordination effort is conducted with a number of agencies to avoid duplication.

Since 1971, the Koch Club has collected and distributed new and used toys for distribution to children in the Quincy, South Shore and Boston area where the need is the greatest.

The items are channeled through church, community and social agencies serving the locations and persons in need of assistance during the Holiday Season.

In the 14 years of sponsoring the toys program, over 20,000 items have been collected and dispersed to children in need of remembrance at Christmas.

Richard J. Koch, executive director said the success of the program could never have been accomplished without the generosity of the families and individuals from Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree, and Milton who have responded to the appeal each year.

The Dress-A-Doll project is in its 12th year. Women and girls are invited to take one or more of the used dolls and clean, groom and dress them for presentation to a needy child at Christmas.

Mrs. Simone Koch and Mrs. Ginny Derringer are coordinating the collection of new and used dolls and will have dolls available for refurbishing in the immediate future.

Mrs. Rita Kelleher of Weymouth has directed the efforts for the past several years but has been restricted from activity following surgery. However, she will assist the committee in an advisory capacity.

We Must Learn To Live With Terror, Says Kennedy

By TOM HENSHAW

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has called the assassination of Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi "a deplorable expression of violence that serves no useful purpose."

Kennedy, who lost two brothers to assassins' bullets, told interviewers on the Quincy Sun's All-News Channel 8 that "we cannot yield to terrorist activities."

"We have to learn to live with it and be more aware of the nature of the danger," he said.

Kennedy was in Quincy last week on a final campaign swing in the interests of Democratic candidates in Tuesday's election. His own Senate term is not up until 1988.

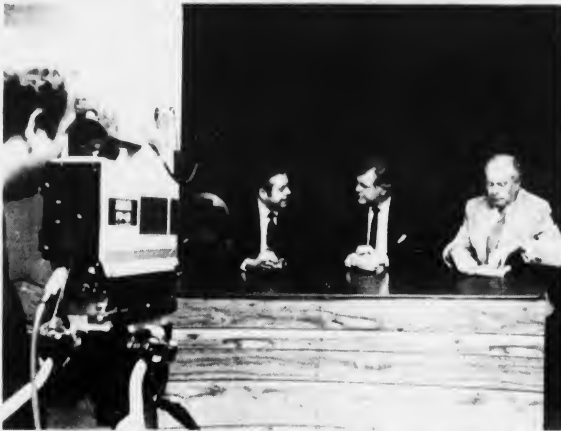

He noted that, if President Reagan were re-elected, he would perhaps have an opportunity to appoint two or three new justices to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"I am on the Senate Judiciary Committee and I will be in close touch with that," he said.

He said he feels that the chief qualifications for a Supreme Court justice is "the basic issue of integrity, an understanding of the law and some sense of what's happening in the country."

"He should not live in an ivory tower," he said. "He should understand Main St., not Wall St. He should be in touch with the needs, hopes and dreams of society."

On other subjects in the wide-ranging interview with Channel 8 Newscaster John Noonan and Quincy

Sun Publisher Henry Bosworth, Kennedy made these points:

- Archbishop Bernard Law was "quite right when he said that the church ought to speak out on moral issues. But speaking out for government action is a different matter."

"We are a religious nation and people. Prayer is important to me and my family. It should be in the family, the church and a religious atmosphere."

"But there is also a clear separation of church and state. I don't want to see the church or any group making unilateral decisions."

Earlier, in a talk at Quincy High School, Kennedy urged students to become involved in issues because in the recent past "young people have had a profound impact on national politics."

"In the early 60s," he said, "young people were very concerned about the failure of our country to meet its obligations to its citizens on the important issue of the right to vote."

"Young people played a very important role in awakening the conscience of the nation of that issue."

"In the mid and latter 1960s, young people were very concerned about the direction of our country in Southeast Asia, in Vietnam."

"It was the young people in the 1968 campaign that basically turned both political parties away from supporting our policies in Southeast Asia."

"The early 1970s saw the awakening of this country to the importance of our environment. Young people were very much involved in insuring that our rich resources are passed on to future generations."

"The issues today are no less important than when your older brothers and sisters were going to high school and very much involved in what Oliver Wendell Holmes called the actions and passions of our times."

"It isn't something that can just end when we are studying government in school."

Youngsters Asthma Program At YMCA Nov. 14

The Norfolk County-Norfolk Lung Association announces that registration has begun for a 12 week asthma program intended for youngsters ages six through 13.

Since 1975, the Lung Association in cooperation with the South Shore YMCA has conducted the program designed to improve the child's attitude toward asthma, increase self-confidence, and enable the child to manage the asthmatic condition.

The program includes physical conditioning exercises, group recreational activities, and 12 swimming lessons taught by YMCA physical education instructors.

A therapist will also be on hand to teach diaphragmatic breathing, relaxation and daily coping skills.

The sessions begin Wednesday, Nov. 14, from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m., and will be held at the South Shore YMCA, 79 Coddington St., Quincy Center.

To learn more about the program, contact Joe Stone at the Norfolk County-Norfolk Lung Association, tel. 668-6729.

City Awarded $49,080 In Rental Assistance

Quincy has been awarded a total of 10 units of rental assistance housing by the state, representing a maximum annual commitment of $49,080 to place income eligible families in privately owned rental units.

Mavor Francis X. McCristofaro Proposes $200 Litter Fine

City Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro proposed Monday night that the city raise the fine for littering from $50 to $200.

"Maybe we can stop some of the littering on our streets," said DeCristofaro.

The proposal was sent to the Ordinance Committee for consideration.

Cautley said the award from the Office of Communities and Development will help city housing agencies to meet the needs of low income individuals, families, elderly and handicapped. The award will also be used to support ongoing neighborhood revitalization efforts through the rehabilitation of existing units in need of improvements.

Locals 5, 90 Accept New 3-Year Contract

Members of Local 5 and 90 of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipworkers of America at the Fore River Shipyard voted to accept a new three-year contract with provisions for a full union shop as well as pay raises and fringe benefits.

James McGonnigal, executive secretary of Local 5, said the meeting of the membership was spirited but orderly and he denied reports that fisticuffs had broken out at the meeting in the Quincy High School Auditorium.

"We had two police officers on duty and they told me afterward that it was one of the most orderly meetings of its type they had covered," said McGonnigal, who chaired the meeting in the absence of ailing President Donald Edmonston.

Meanwhile, picket lines were still maintained at the shipyard as negotiators from Local 151 of the Draftsmen's Union and Bethlehem Steel Co. continued contract talks at the Hotel Statler in Boston.

CRACKDOWN ON SPEEDERS

Police Chief William Ferrazzi announced a general crackdown on speeders in Quincy, including the enforcement of the 20-mile-an-hour speed limit in thickly settled areas, following an auto death on Upland Rd. and a serious injury on Willard St.

City manager Edward T. Lewis told members of the City Council that some 300 or 400 policemen would be needed to enforce all traffic regulations in the city. A flurry of resolutions were introduced in the Council calling for studies of new regulations.

NEWSSTAND TORN DOWN

The newsstand operated by blind Sam Gray at the side of City Hall for more than 20 years was demolished following the death of the newsdealer when his widow told the city she was unable to carry on the business.

RESTORE 'KETTLE HOLE'

City Manager Lewis said he will take immediate action to clean up rubbish and underbrush that marred the world-renowned "kettle hole" in North Quincy, which came under the jurisdiction of the Park Department following the death of owner Dr. Walter G. Kendall.

Norfolk County Secretaries To Meet Nov. 27

The Norfolk County Legal Secretaries Association will meet at Albert's Restaurant, Stoughton, Tuesday, Nov. 27.

Friendship hour begins at 5:45 p.m. with dinner at 6:30 p.m. followed by a business meeting and program.

Susan Small, PLS. of the law office of Kafka & Kaufman, P.C., Sharon, will review and critique the Professional Legal Secretary Examination answers and discuss common errors made during the examination.

The seven part examination is given twice each year by the National Association of Legal Secretaries through the cooperation of colleges and universities across the United States and in Canada.

In order to be eligible to take the exam, applicants must have five years' legal experience.

Membership in the association is not required.

Six members of the Norfolk County Chapter have earned their PLS certification to date.

Those attending the meeting are requested to bring mittens and or scarfs which will be used to decorate a holiday tree for donation to the children at the New England Home for Little Wanderers.

This is the second year the association has sponsored this special holiday project.

Following the meeting, Ways and Means Chairman, Gertrude Clermont, will conduct a mini-bazaar with items donated by members and friends of the association.

For more information, call Mrs. Sandra Johansen at the office of Atty. Frederick G. Talabach in Walpole, 668-4275.

THE ACID TEST

Today, modern methods of production make gold jewelry even more beautiful than in the past. Gold can be alloyed with other metals for use in jewelry that is intended to receive considerable wear. This makes it harder and can alter its color. The addition of silver to gold makes it paler. Copper makes it reddish white.

cadmium and silver make it greenish. Iron makes it bluish and nickel or palladium make it white. A goldsmith can determine whether a metal is actually gold by rubbing some on his touchstone and adding a drop of nitric acid ("the acid test"). Whatever is not gold will bubble away.

Gold, just the mention of it makes your senses reel because you know it means beauty and quality. Whether it be a gold watch, bracelet, ring, chain or earrings, it will be expertly crafted and artistically designed. And best of all you'll be able to purchase it at TODIE'S FINE JEWELRY. We carry the finest in all jewelry pieces plus we give you the personal service that means so much when selecting a special gift. When you buy gold, it says something meaningful now and will keep saying it 25 years from now. See what we mean at 1163 Hancock St. Mon-Fri, 10-5, Sat til 4 Tel 479-9464

Come in and see our fine original designs. Just in time for Christmas. We guarantee the lowest prices anywhere!

The different metals that are alloyed with gold create today's popular multi-colored gold jewelry.

Acid Rain Issue At U.N. Meeting

"Environmental Perspectives in the Acid Rain Issue" will be the topic at a meeting of the United Nations Council of the South Shore Thursday, Nov. 8.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall of the Church of the Presidents, Quincy Sq. Admission is free.

Before the meeting, there will be a catered supper at 6:30 p.m. For reservations and information on the charge, call Mrs. Viola Ellis at 773-5019 or Rachel Grover, 472-2334.

Speaker will be Dr. John H. Fitch, director and senior scientist of the Environmental Science Department of the Massachusetts Audubon Society.

Dr. Fitch assumed his Directorship role at Massachusetts Audubon in 1980. He teaches at Tufts, has an appointment to the Massachusetts Governor's Acid Rain Work Group, the Massachusetts Nongame Advisory Committee, and the M.I.T. Sea Grant Citizens' Advisory Board.

He also serves as chairman of the Bedford, Massachusetts Conversation Commission.

Dr. Fitch directs the work of four Ph.D.-level researchers, advising Massachusetts Audubon on scientific technical aspects of environmental problems including acid rain, and doing research in this field.

Dr. Fitch's professional interest in acid rain developed during a graduate limnology course that examined acid rain problems in Norway and Sweden and that predicted problems in North America.

PHARMACY TOPICS

New emergency procedure stops a heart attack as it starts to happen. "Retrograde perfusion" calls for chilling the blood so that wounded heart cells can get along on less oxygen until the normal blood flow is restored.

Anti-influenza drug, Amantadine, is effective only against Type A. To reduce severity of illness, it should be given within 48 hours of onset. Drug can also be used as a preventive for those who cannot get a flu shot.

Cryosurgery is reported highly successful against skin cancer. The freezing procedure is said to offer good cosmetic results as well. Such was reported by a Yale Medical School doctor.

Mouth guards are being recommended for other sports besides football, such as boxing, soccer, water polo, even weight lifting. The guards protect against damage to the teeth, broken jaw, even concussion.

When your doctor's prescription says "b.i.d.," that means medication is to be taken twice a day. "T.i.d." means 3 times a day, "q.i.d.," 4 times.

When your doctor prescribes the best, be do the best. You can depend on the expert pharmacists at

Retirement Board Election

The Quincy Retirement Board will hold an election for employee representative on the board Tuesday, Nov. 20, from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the conference room at the new City Hall.

Last week, the board turned down a bid by Fire Capt. George McCray, one of the candidates, to have a second voting place established at City Hospital.

Auditor Robert Foy said the proposal was rejected because there were only three people available in the office to monitor the election and the 10-hour day would be too much.

McCray noted that nearly 1,200 members of the retirement system work at the hospital and they would create an impossible traffic situation at City Hall when they came to vote.

"There are no candidates from among the hospital employees which makes the hospital a neutral polling place," he said.

He said the hospital union offered to provide personnel to monitor the polling place.

The Retirement Board is composed of three members, Auditor Foy, the employees' representative and a third member chosen by the first two.

Christmas Committee Meeting

The Quincy Christmas Festival Committee was scheduled to hold an important meeting of the full committee last night (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at Civil Defense Headquarters, 55 Sea St., Quincy.

Final plans for the Nov. 25 parade were to be completed at the meeting, according to chairman George F. White.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

What does Veteran's Day mean to you? To a number of youth, it simply means a day off from school; to many a day off from work; to others a special meeting or dinner to attend. But to every red-blooded "American," this Veteran's Day, should represent pride, sadness and a great responsibility...

PRIDE for the deeds of all the men and women, who when needed, put on uniforms and did what had to be done for their country.

SADNESS for those who never came back from the battlefield; sadness for those who came back maimed and ill; sadness for mothers, fathers, wives and children who will never see their loved ones again.

RESPONSIBILITY - this is the greatest request that they could leave us... the responsibility of seeing that they didn't fight and die for nothing.

So on this Veteran's Day, let us all count our blessings and thank God that there were those willing to be called "Veterans"...

'Salute To Wilma Shields' At Sheraton Tara

A retirement dinner and program will be held Friday Nov. 16, in honor of Wilma Shields who gave 42 years of service to students at North Quincy High School. She spent the last 26 years as science department head.

The dinner will begin at 6 p.m. at the Sheraton-Tara Hotel Ballroom, Braintree.

Featured will be a reunion with friends and retired teachers, a scrapbook of correspondence, signature board and pictures.

The event is being organized by members of the science department, promoters of math and science and administration of North Quincy High School.

A scholarship is being established in her honor for a student interested in pursuing a career in science. Contributions would be greatly appreciated and are tax deductible.

The committee is interested in illustrating Miss Shields' career in pictures and would like to borrow any pictures or slides that could be used on picture boards or for a slide presentation.

The committee plans to return the photos.

Those who live too far away to attend the event are invited to send letters, cards or telegrams to be included in a scrapbook of correspondence.

All correspondence should be sent to Mrs. Mary H. Young, North Quincy High School, 316 Hancock St., North Quincy, Ma. 02171.

For more information during school hours, call Barbara McNaghy or Mrs. Young at 786-8745.

After 5 p.m., call Mrs. Young at 834-7102 or Miss McNaghy at 328-9327.

Atlantic Advisory Council To Meet Nov. 14

The Atlantic Middle School Advisory Council will meet Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 7:30 p.m., in the Media Center of the school. All parents are welcome to attend.

Waste Disposal Topic At Citizens Meeting

The rising problem of waste disposal in many communities, including Quincy, was scheduled to be the topic at a meeting of the Quincy Citizens Association yesterday (Wednesday) at 8 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Club.

The speakers were to be Joan Gardner of the State Waste Disposal Board and Peter Watson, an official of Browning-Ferris Industries, which handles Quincy's waste disposal.

Your home is a natural resource.

If you need extra money for college tuition, home improvements, investments or other purposes, one of the best places to find it is right in your own home.

That's because the market value of your home today may be considerably more than it was only a few years ago.

Your equity undoubtedly has increased, and is a valuable resource you now can convert into cash, with our new Equity Line of Credit.

It's an affordable, simple way to borrow the money you need at a lower interest rate than most other kinds of credit.

The amount of money available to you as an Equity Line of Credit depends on how much your home is worth on the market today and what your current mortgage balance is.

The difference between those amounts is your equity. Your line of credit may be as much as 80% of that equity.

Once approved, your Equity Line of Credit works like a checking account, one you may use for ten years when and as you choose.

You pay a variable rate of interest only on the amount you actually borrow, a rate just 1½% above the prime rate in effect the first day of your monthly billing cycle.

An Equity Line of Credit at Quincy Savings Bank can replace many other types of credit.

In fact, you may never have to apply for a loan again because, as you pay back the money you borrow, your cash reserve builds back up again, just like a revolving line of credit at retail stores.

To learn how to convert the increased value of your home into cash, please see the manager at our nearest office or call 471-3500. A consumer lending representative will be pleased to discuss your needs and to answer any questions you may have.

'The Magnanimous Vision' Squantum Church Topic

Members and friends of the First Church of Squantum heard the pastor preach Sunday on "The Magnanimous Vision", a tribute to the vision and faith of John Robinson, pastor to the Pilgrims.

In his sermon, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin told the story of Robinson's life and vision of the Christian Church and related it to that of the apostle Paul in his first letter to the Corinthians.

Texts for the sermon were taken from Paul, "For we are God's fellow workers; you are God's field, God's building" (1 Corinthians 3:9) and from the "Farewell Address" given by Robinson to the Pilgrims before they left on their voyage to America in 1620. "...the Lord has more truth and light yet to break forth out of his Holy Word."

Although it was Robinson's vision that motivated and sustained the Pilgrims in all their hardships, he never had the opportunity of coming to the New World.

That was the hope of the Pilgrims when they arrived here but it was never to be. A sudden illness claimed the life of their pastor in March, 1625.

During November, Dr. Langevin will preach a series of sermons on the theme, "The Pilgrim Faith."

Each week, he will develop his sermon in connection with the biography of one of the Pilgrims and explain a spiritual principle which that particular person represents.

The remaining sermons will include William Brewster and William Bradford, "Publish the Truth!"; Nov. 11; Edward Winslow, "Remembering with Thanks"; Nov. 18; and Roger Williams, "The Necessity of the Separation of Church and State"; Nov. 25.

Dr. Langevin spoke on the same topic at both of the morning services.

During the second service, the Lord's Supper was observed. Seated at the Lord's Table with the pastor were Deacons Steven Williams, Katherine Hansen, Tom Williamson, Hazel Mayne and Stewart Scott.

The Chancel Choir sang "O Hold Thou Me Up" by Marcello-Wienhorst. Hymns included "We Gather Together", "The Church's One Foundation" and "We Limit Not the Truth of God."

This last hymn was sung to the same tune used by the Pilgrims in their day.

Greeters for the morning were Henry and Pat Sorenson and their daughter, Karen. Ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott.

The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Barbara Walter and Sandra Stohberg.

There will be two services next Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

The pastor will preach on the same topic at both services. The Youth Choir and the Chancel Choir will combine to sing at the second service.

'The Tragedy Of Holding Back' Sermon Topic At Bethany

Stewardship Sunday will be observed Sunday, Nov. 11, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre.

There will be only one service at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon titled "The Tragedy of Holding Back," based on the text in the Book of Acts 4:32-5:11.

Richard E. Sprague will be lay scripture reader. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist.

The Chancel Choir under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing two selections. The offertory will be "The Prayers I Make" by Jean M. Marshall, and the second anthem will be "Sanctus" by Gabriel Faure.

The annual stewardship campaign, to obtain pledges to underwrite the 1985 Bethany budget, is modeled this year on the old west "Pony Express," relying on team work and a relay system.

Mr. and Mrs. Win and Jean Bettinson are serving as general managers. Assisting them will be six Station Agents responsible for a territory, and 45 "Trail Bosses" and "Outriders" who will be in charge of some 30 routes and follow-up.

This is designated "Run Sunday," when the Pony Express riders hit the trail and the drive begins. Saddlebags are delivered to the home of each member and friend of Bethany, and individuals make their pledge, place it in the saddlebag and "ride-it-on" to the next house on the route. The campaign is scheduled to be completed within two weeks by Nov. 25.

There will be a breakfast in the Bethany social hall for all of the Pony Express workers Sunday, Nov. 11, at 8:30 a.m. The Chief Cook Ken Fernald and his "hands" will prepare the western-style breakfast, and all the Agents and Trail Bosses will receive their instructions.

The workers will also come forward during the 10 a.m. service for a ceremony of consecration.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through 8th grade. The Senior High class, 9th through 12th grades, meets at 9 a.m. and is taught by Robert R. Peoples, Jr. Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor and light refreshments will be served. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

The service will also be broadcast over station WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

A membership class, for persons who are considering becoming members of Bethany, will be held Thursday, Nov. 8. The group will meet at the church, 7:30 to 9 p.m. and will be taught jointly by Rev. Arnold and Rev. Huntington.

For information about Bethany and its ministry and programs, contact the church office, 479-7300.

JWV, Brotherhood To Hold Joint Service

The Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post and Beth Israel Brotherhood will hold its annual joint worship and service breakfast Sunday, Nov. 18, in commemoration of Veteran's Day.

The worship-memorial will begin at 8:30 a.m. at Beth Israel Synagogue, 33 Gratton St., Quincy Point.

Morning services will include sermon, memorial, closing hymn and comrades ritual.

There will also be presentation of colors, honor roll call, lighting of memorial lights and kaddish. Breakfast and social will be held in the Morris Silverman Social Hall.

There will be the National Anthem, Invocation and breaking bread-Hamotzie.

Following the Davenen and the Memorial, those attending will be served the traditional meal.

Speaker of the day will be Rabbi Col. Alvin I. Lieberman, a native of New York who is a member of the U.S. Army Reserve.

He supervises 30 chaplains of all religious denominations throughout

New England and has been national chaplain of the Jewish War Veterans for the past 12 years.

Lieberman has also been the Department of Massachusetts Jewish War Veterans chaplain.

'Clown Capers Bazaar' At Memorial Congregational

A "Clown Capers Bazaar" will be held Saturday, Nov. 10, from 10 a.m. through the supper hour at Memorial Congregational Church, Sagamore St. and Newbury Ave., No. Quincy.

There will be a snack and pizza bar at noon, and a roast turkey dinner at 5:30 p.m., by reservation only.

Tables will include Christmas gifts, knitted goods, a variety of foods, white elephant items and candy.

Chairmen are Mrs. Ruth Matthews and Mrs. Gwen McLeod.

For reservations for the turkey dinner, call 328-7961, 328-7852 or the church office at 328-5240.

Bus For Healing Service

A bus will leave the Quincy Vocational Technical School parking lot Sunday at 1 p.m. for the ninth anniversary celebration healing service at the Providence Civic Center, Rhode Island.

The service will begin at 2:30 p.m.

For Quincy bus reservations, call 472-0120.

The Rev. Larry Baskin, Assistant Pastor at First Presbyterian Church, gave the call to worship at the Sunday 11 A.M. service.

The senior choir, under the direction of Lambert Brandes, sang "Take My Life, and Let It Be" by D. Williams.

Dr. Roger Alden Kvam's sermon theme was "When Will Armageddon Come?" based upon Jesus' response to His disciples' question, "tell us, when will this be, and what will be the sign of your coming and of the close of the age?"

Jesus replied in Matthew 24:36 and 42, "But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels of heaven, nor the Son, but the Father only.... Watch therefore, for you do not know on what day your Lord is coming!"

Pastor Kvam explained in his sermon how the Lord is telling us to keep a constant watchfulness by looking at the basic direction of our lives and the meaning of our days. "We should set our lives in the direction of the Kingdom of God" Dr. Kvam concluded.

Holy Communion was served by Elders Abram Blanken, Donald Butman, William Horie, John Shuster, Deborah Kvam, Richard Harris, Sherry Dalton and Douglas Degelman. A coffee hour in Fellowship Hall followed the service.

St. Joseph Students Celebrate Halloween

St. Joseph School students celebrated Halloween by a number of Reach Out activities.

The day began with the first and second graders visiting the older Sisters at St. Joseph Convent.

The children, dressed in their costumes, brought cookies to the Sisters and entertained them with song.

At 12:30 p.m., students in Grade 5 visited the Merrymount Manor Nursing Home and they also brought treats and entertained the patients there.

Grades 3 and 4 visited Pagnano Towers, a residence for senior citizens in Quincy Point, and again supplied treats and entertainment in their costumes.

The children later attended a special Liturgy dressed in their costumes in honor of the feast of all saints celebrated Nov. 1.

The Liturgy was under the direction of Rev. Joseph Racke; Mrs. Betty Bennett led the music.

This was followed by a Halloween Party at the Fore River Club House, sponsored by St. Joseph CYO and Ward 2.

Thomas Saltonstall To Speak At S.S. Coalition Meeting

Thomas Saltonstall, director of the Boston Area Office of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, will be guest speaker tonight (Thursday) at a meeting of the South Shore Coalition for Human Rights.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at Quincy Community United Methodist Church, 40 Beale St., Wollaston.

Discussion during the program will center on the issue of affirmative action in employment practices in the South Shore area.

The public is invited to attend.

Ciampa Keynote Speaker

Veterans Day Parade, Ceremonies Sunday

Retired Air Force Lt. Col. Joseph J. Ciampa, an aerospace instructor and head of the Air Force Junior ROTC in the Quincy schools, will be the speaker of the day at Quincy's Veterans Day exercises Sunday.

Ciampa will deliver the annual address at 11 a.m. in front of the Adams Academy building.

The parade will step off on School St. at 10:30 a.m., headed by Chief Marshal Paul Eldridge, commander of the Quincy Veterans Council, and move down Hancock St. to Adams Academy.

In case of inclement weather, the ceremonies will be held in the Quincy High School Auditorium. Official instructions will be broadcast on WJDA.

The reviewing stand will be set up in front of the Quincy Masonic Temple on Hancock St.

The Rev. Keith Munson of United First Parish Church will give the invocation. Parade chairman John Gillis will introduce the invited guests. Commander Eldridge will extend the welcome and Mayor Francis X. McCauley will give the greetings from the city.

Following Ciampa's address, wreaths will be placed on war memorials.

The Rev. John J. McMahon of St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, will offer the prayer, the Bryan VFW Post will fire the volley; and the 215th Army Band of the National Guard will sound taps.

The National Anthem will be played by the same band after which Rabbi Jacob Mann of Congregation Beth Israel will deliver the benediction and the line of march will be reformed by Officer of the Day Thomas McDonald, past commander QVC.

The parade roster will include Chief Marshal Eldridge, Ralph Paull, senior vice commander, QVC, aide to commander; Joseph Zona, junior vice commander, QVC.

Tourism Assn. Annual Meeting Nov. 13

The Quincy Tourism Association will hold its fourth annual meeting Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room of the city hall annex, second floor.

The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

There will be a few brief reports or committees, a brief president's report on the past year, some plans for next year, and election of officers for 1985.

High point of the meeting will be the presentation of merit awards by Mayor Francis McCauley to volunteers who staffed the tourist information center in city hall this past summer.

Following the awards presentations, the Mayor will comment on the cooperation between the city of Quincy and the Quincy Tourism Association in the promotion of tourism for Quincy, Massachusetts.

Homecoming Dance For QHS Football, Cheerleaders Nov. 16

The Quincy High School Student Council and the Quincy Parents Club will sponsor a Homecoming dance Friday, Nov. 16, to honor the football team and cheerleaders.

The dance will be held in the Voc-Tech gymnasium from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Student Council president Patricia Tellier and her committee, co-chaired by William Jolly and Amy Carolan, have been busy planning the event.

Music will be provided by a disc-jockey. Refreshments will be served.

A Homecoming Queen

from the senior class will be crowned and a Mr. Touchdown will be honored during the evening.

Tickets will go on sale Nov. 5, and may be purchased from members of the student council at Quincy High School.

Mental Health Units Harvest Bazaar Saturday

The parents and staff of South Shore Mental Health Center's early intervention program will hold their annual Harvest Bazaar Saturday, at the Quincy Elks Home, 440 East Squantum St., Squantum.

The bazaar begins at 8:30 a.m. and closes at 3 p.m. A 99-cent breakfast buffet will be served in the morning.

Sponsored by the Step 1 program, which serves special needs children from birth to age three and their families, the bazaar will feature a drawing for a cabbage patch doll and a handmade quilt. There will also be baked goods, crafts, holiday gifts, a white elephant table, paintings, and an auction.

Proceeds from the auction will provide special classroom equipment for the infants in the program at the Hilda Mahoney Learning Center in Squantum. Those in the program come from Quincy, Milton and Randolph.

'Traditions Of Christmas' Poster Contest Theme

The deadline for submitting entries to the 1984 Christmas Festival Poster Contest is Friday, Nov. 16, at 4:30 p.m.

Posters should be delivered to the Quincy Park Department Office, 100 Southern Artery, Merry-mount Park.

It has been suggested to the grammar schools participating in the contest that a preliminary judging be conducted with the teacher or classroom students selecting the outstanding entry from the classroom for final judging.

The winners will be announced at the Christmas Lighting Ceremony Friday, Nov. 23, at 7 p.m. at Quincy Center.

A first and second prize winner will be chosen in Grades one through three and four through six with the top prize of $100 United States Savings Bond and a $50 Savings Bond to the second place finisher.

Quincy public and parochial school students have been invited to participate with the theme of the contest "Traditions of Christmas."

Richard J. Koch is chairman of the program, one in a series of holiday events sponsored by the Quincy Christmas Festival Committee and the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

George White is general chairman of the Christmas Festival Committee.

Quincy Savings Bank Building Sold, To Be Converted To Condos

main the same.

The condominium unit prices will begin at $85 per square foot, Flavin said.

Evans sees the acquisition and conversion to condominiums as a natural investment since his firm is the successful developer of the recently completed condominium at Dimmock Office Park at Hancock, Dimmock and Adams Sts., Quincy Center.

Evans says he is convinced that the strong demand and favorable climate for downtown office condominiums will continue.

Both he and Flavin see an active marketing program for the Quincy Savings Bank building expect to have a complete sellout of the units within a couple of months.

Flavin said several law firms located in the building have indicated a strong interest in purchasing their present office units and additional space for investment and future expansion.

Work is expected to begin shortly. The front entrance hall, elevator and common areas will be upgraded immediately, Flavin said.

Each office unit is expected to be self contained with the unit owner having separate control of its individual heat, air conditioning and utilities.

Evans and Flavin noted that the bank building is located in the heart of the Quincy Center business and financial district where other nearby renovations and development are planned.

Parking, they said, can be arranged with Kinney Systems in the nearby Hancock Parking lot.

Selling of the units will begin immediately by Flavin & Flavin.

Quincy City Hospital has expanded its blood donor program to include evening hours for donor convenience Monday through Thursday, 6 to 9 p.m.

The hospital is also seeking groups and individuals to join the blood donor program.

The first group to come to the hospital's assistance was the Quincy Division of Baystate Ambulance Service.

Donors were William Ryan, James Bertram, Ernest Gray, Harry Hall, Marlys Litchfield and Thomas Smith.

The blood bank uses over 6,000 pints of blood a year to meet the needs of patients.

Anyone who would like to donate blood should call the hospital blood bank at 773-6100, ext. 438.

Day hours are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Services For Those Over 60 At Beechwood Center

Persons age 60 and over are invited to take advantage of new services available in the Wollaston area through the Beechwood Community Life Center.

One of the purposes of the center when it was established in 1981 was to provide services to all ages including older citizens.

The newly inaugurated Elder Action Program provides physical exercises and conditioning each Friday at 10:30 a.m. led by Barbara Winters, a physical fitness instructor.

A volleyball group for both men and women has been formed, including participants who were active in the Senior Olympics. Complete facilities are available for Senior Olympics practice.

Those wishing less strenuous activity may engage in handicrafts or games or take walks around the marsh or the beach.

These activities are open to any resident of Quincy 60 and over. There is no charge, although voluntary donations are accepted.

Services addressed primarily to the Wollaston area include a hot lunch each Friday at noon with reservations necessary by Wednesday noon.

Minor home repairs are available through a team of retired skilled workmen.

An Elder Services coordinator, Ann English, has been employed to work part-time providing help to older persons needing personal assistance.

Friday after lunch activities include old-time music with Dan Vodola at the piano, film programs, games and speakers on issues of current concern.

The Elder Action program, directed by Don Strong, will work in cooperation with the Quincy Council on Aging and the Neighborhood Centers.

For information or reservations, interested persons may call 471-5712.

Second Time Around Thrift Shop Opens At New Location

COMMANDER Robert Manning of the Bryan V.F.W. Post accepts a special award from the South Shore Mental Health Center for the post's financial contribution to the agency's Step I early intervention program. The award was presented at the recent annual meeting of the South Shore Mental Health Center at Kemper Insurance.

4 Quincy Principals To Attend Convention

Four Quincy principals will be among those attending the fall convention of the Elementary School Principals Association of the Archdiocese of Boston today (Thursday) 9 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. at Fontbonne Academy, Framingham.

"Sharing Vision, Teaching Values," is the theme of the convention. Local principals attending will be Sr. Anne Judge, SND, St. Joseph School principal and secretary of the AESPA; Sr. Georgianna Berry, St. Ann School, Wollaston; Sr. Ann Marie Ghiloni, Sacred Heart School, North Quincy; and Mrs. Irene Marcoux, St. Mary School, West Quincy.

The Second Time Around Thrift Shop formerly on Temple St. sponsored by Wollaston II, the day treatment program of South Shore Mental Health Center, is now located at 22 Cottage Ave., Quincy Sq. will open today (Thursday).

"In some ways, the shop is a social center," said Cecilia Ross, Wollaston II director. "Many of the customers have been coming since the store first opened. They drop in regularly even if they are not looking to buy clothes. 'If they take a vacation, they send us cards.' Some older people fix a bag lunch and drop in to eat and chat."

"But many parents count on clothes from the thrift shop for their kids. 'We can never keep enough on hand'."

There is another trend. Students are coming to the store for their clothes, too. "It isn't that they can't afford other stores," says Ross. "It's just the in thing to do today."

With the move to Cottage Ave., the shop is featuring what it calls its "Spring Line." At the end of a season, the clothes remaining are packed up and picked up by the Salvation Army. Then the workers begin putting out clothes for the coming season.

Those working at the Second Time Around Shop include day treatment clients from Wollaston II.

There are also volunteers, including those from R.S.V.P., the program for senior citizens sponsored by the Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc. Each Saturday, R.S.V.P. volunteers operate the store and the proceeds from the day's sales go to their organization. "With many funding cutbacks, this is helpful to us," reports Normand Grenier, R.S.V.P. program director. As a result of its effort, R.S.V.P. receives about $2,500 a year.

The cooperative effort between the two agencies has been particularly beneficial. "It shows what can happen when groups work together," said Grenier. But the most important benefit from R.S.V.P.'s viewpoint is that the store affords a group of senior citizens an opportunity to render service. "They take working there seriously. It's a good feeling to know that you are really needed," Grenier adds.

Ross indicates the store "covers expenses." Sales are about $8,000 a year.

Some of the clothing is actually given away. Patients leaving Medfield State Hospital can pick out clothes from the store. And just before Wollaston II's annual Christmas Party at the Neighborhood Club, Medfield patients are taken to the store to choose clothing. "Everyone goes with something nice to wear," says Ross.

QUEST

Quincy Encourages Sound Thinking

The Quincy Sun, in cooperation with the Quincy Public Schools, is featuring an article each week highlighting critical thinking activities and related topics. These activities and suggestions are intended to entertain as well as enlighten people of all ages and backgrounds.

EARLY THINKING SKILLS

Children are born with all their senses operational but are limited to a small space around them. As they grow they become increasingly aware of people and objects at a greater distance from them. Each stage in a child's physical development brings increased opportunity to interact with the environment. As children interact, they use their senses (touch, taste, smell, sound, and sight) to gain information about the world. This sensory input perceived by the child is stored for future use.

Classification

With a variety of experiences, children begin to see similarities and differences; they begin to develop the skill of classification. Children become able to sort and group objects which have things in common—for example, finding all the blue blocks.

Also around this time, the child begins to understand the concept of belonging—"put your shoes where they belong," says mother, and the child goes to the closet. The child makes associations and sees relationships even though he is unable to verbalize what is known or understood.

The skill of classification can be enhanced by providing for the child a variety of stimulating experiences. A trip to the grocery store provides such an experience. As parents talk while shopping, they provide labels for groups and group members—"Oh, here are the fruits and vegetables. I need cucumbers, lettuce, apples, and oranges."—"We need meat. Do you want hot dogs or hamburgers?"

The following also provide experience with classification: sorting the groceries at home with parents or siblings; seeing how their clothing has been sorted into different drawers; taking trips to zoos, farms, and aquariums.

As children develop their classification skills, they become able to classify within groups. For example, they can identify all the big animals or all the funny TV shows. They begin to make comparisons and to see other differences. They can identify bigger and smaller objects, more than or less than.

Concept Development

The understanding of concepts like these marks the development of quantitative and qualitative thinking. This enables the child to perform tasks like putting things "in order" or "in a row" by size or quantity. Stacking and nested toys provide early experience in this kind of thinking.

Another concept developed during the early years is one-to-one correspondence, a prerequisite skill for future mathematical success. As a child sets the table, he/she sees a plate matched to each person—a fork for each, a glass for each, etc. When mother passes out cookies and milk, correspondence is also being learned. This matching process and the talking between parent and child encourages development of these concepts and the vocabulary that goes with them.

The key to developing early thinking skills is to provide a wide variety of experiences and play opportunities for your child. Pencil and paper tasks can wait for school. Talking about events and answering unending streams of questions from your child may become tiresome, but it encourages your child to think.

The ability to classify, make associations, and understand "connectedness" (what things have to do with one another) should be fostered in all young people. Those that have these abilities are better prepared for school.

QUINCY quarterback Bill Shaughnessy, who had one of his best days, goes around left end to pick up good yardage against Newton North.

DARON TUCKER, who ran for over 100 yards despite suffering a cut hand requiring 12 stitches, scores Quincy's first touchdown in last week's win over Newton North.

Quincy 24, Newton North 21

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quarterback Bill Shaughnessy, who has had an outstanding season, wasn't supposed to play for Quincy last week against Newton North.

X-rays had shown he had suffered cracked ribs against Revere three weeks ago. It was reported he was definitely out of the Newton game but, after the Presidents enjoyed a day off two weeks ago, it was shown the ribs were both bruised and last week the doctor gave him the green light to play last Saturday.

Coach Jack Raymer couldn't have been happier. Shaughnessy, one of the best quarterbacks in the Suburban League, enjoyed one of his best days as he led the Presidents to their third win in a row, 24-21, improving their record to 4-3.

This Saturday Quincy faces the unenviable task of playing Brockton's undefeated Div. I leaders at 1:30 p.m. at Brockton's Marjano Stadium.

Brockton has rolled to eight straight wins, the latest a 55-0 breeze last week over Brookline.

"It was certainly good news when I heard Billy could play and he had another great day," Raymer said. "I didn't want to use him on defense, but when we lost some key defensive players, I felt I had to use him. He is just a great ball player and I've said all season long he is one of the best quarterbacks around."

Shaughnessy, looking like Doug Flutie, gave a great scrambling performance as he continually got away when apparently hemmed in, scrambled his way around the field and still got passes away. He completed seven of 10 for 136 yards and two touchdowns, ran for good yardage himself and, when Joe Conti suffered a broken rib early and spent the rest of the game on the bench, did the punting. And again he was strong defensively. Conti will sit out Saturday's Brockton game but hopefully will face North Quincy.

Daron Tucker, who rushed for 128 yards and scored once, suffered a hand cut that required 12 stitches and was out of the lineup for a long spell. He returned after getting the stitches and continued his fine running and defensive play.

Joe Cullen, big fullback, had his best game as he rushed for 97 yards, ran 50 yards on the receiving end of a screen pass to set up a touchdown and again was a standout on defense.

When Conti and Tucker, two fine defensive players, went out and several other defensive players (including Pat Calabro and Mark Porzio) suffered injuries, I had to do some shuffling and put some boys in at new positions and our defense suffered for a while." Raymer said. "But the defense again proved its mettle when it held Newton twice when they had four down and inches to go."

The game was filled with penalties and they hurt both teams considerably. Quincy was hit with 110 yards and Newton 90.

Don Parry played the finest game of his career as he caught four passes, one for a touchdown, and sparked on defense with a pass interception and a key fumble recovery.

Raymer again praised the offensive line and had good words for Mark Callanan, Steve Perfetto, Pat Calabro, P. J. Duggan, Conti, John O'Callaghan and Kevin Burke. Gerry Frazier, who returned after missing three games, also turned in a fine effort.

On defense Peter Gangi, O'Callaghan, Paul Lally, Perfetto, Shaughnessy, Callahan, Burke and Duggan played well. John Wholey and Mark Walsh, filling in at the corners, played excellent games.

Quincy had a net of 215 yards rushing and Newton had 211. Quincy was 136 yards through the air to 99 for Newton and the Presidents had 17 first downs to Quincy's 14.

•Cross Country North Girls Win Suburban Meet

The North Quincy girls' cross country team, which recently completed its third straight undefeated Suburban League season and extended its undefeated dual meet streak to 32 straight meets, last week won the Suburban League meet for the third year in a row over the Franklin Park course.

Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes won the all-league meet with 32 points, followed by Cambridge Rindge and Latin with 47. Waltham had 80 points, Newton North 110, Brockton 140 and Quincy and Brookline were scoreless.

Cambridge's Frances Jarvis won the meet in 19:35, with North's Tricia Barrett second at 19:42. The Raiderettes' other scorers were Mary Ann Kelleher, fourth; Leanne Fitzgerald fifth; Tricia Leary, eighth, and Sharon Barrett, 13th. Also finishing for North among the 49 starters were Lisa Fitzgerald, 16th; Ann Toland, 17th; Stacey Welch, 21st, and Karen Collings, 27th.

In the state coaches' meet last Saturday at Franklin Park Tozzi ran only his freshmen and sophomores.

Tricia Barrett finished sixth and also running were Welch, Collings, Stacy Cochrane and Colleen Toland.

Presidents Face Tough Task

(Cont'd from Page 17)

Things didn't start out well for Quincy as it fumbled on the second play from scrimmage and Newton's Alex DeNucci, son of state Rep. Joe DeNucci, recovered on Quincy's 35. However, on the next play Parry intercepted a pass on Quincy's eight and the Presidents proceeded to drive 92 yards for a touchdown. Tucker and Cullen sparked the drive and Tucker scored from the eight-yard line. A pass was no good on the conversion try.

Newton came right back and drove 64 yards after the kickoff and quarterback John Halloran scored from the one to tie the score. Dave Redmond's kick for the point was no good.

Newton had fourth down and inches on Quincy's 47 but the Presidents held and went on to their second touchdown. Shaughnessy fumbled the snap, had to scramble and got off a pass to Callahan in the end zone to tie it 12-6. Again a pass for the two-point conversion was no good.

It didn't take Newton long to take the lead as it marched 57 yards after the kickoff. Mark Adams scored from the two and Redmond's kick put the Tigers ahead, 13-12.

It took Quincy exactly 25 seconds to regain the lead. Cullen took a screen pass from Shaughnessy and raced 50 yards to the Newton 25 and, after a Newton penalty, Shaughnessy passed to Parry, who juggled the ball but held on for the touchdown. Conti's kick was wide.

In the third quarter Parry fell on a Newton fumble on the Tigers' 37 and eight plays later Cullen drove over from the one with the seconds left in the quarter. This time Conti's kick for point was blocked.

Newton wasn't through yet and midway in the final quarter DeNucci made a great leaping catch between two Quincy defenders and scored, completing a 47-yard pass play for a touchdown. Halloran passed to Rich Claffin for the two-point conversion and it was 24-21 with 5:07 remaining. A Quincy drive was halted and Newton took over on its own 38 with 59 seconds left. The Presidents held and regained possession with 32 seconds left and ran out the clock.

Quincy Frosh Bow To Newton N.

The Quincy High freshman football team suffered its fourth straight loss on Friday, bowing to Newton North, 28-0.

The loss to Newton came in the wake of another disappointing loss to Acton-Boxboro, 26-6, two weeks ago.

"We've been very disappointed with our efforts the last two weeks," said coach Mitch Finnegan. Newton North simply wanted to play, and we did not. We didn't have any of the intensity or enthusiasm that is needed to play well."

The Presidents were scored on early, as Newton connected on several pass plays to score twice in the first period. "We were not ready to hit on defense," said Finnegan. "We allowed Newton to control the line, and let them beat us long. Nobody can win playing like that."

Quincy did show some hope in the second period, as Tom Bjork came in at quarterback. "We had to move Tom in from the guard position, and he once again did an outstanding job running the offense. Tom Tegen and Steve Freely also played well in our running back slots."

The Presidents mounted one drive, marching from their own 30-yard line to the Newton 28. But an injury to Tegen and the clock caught up with Quincy, as time ran out with Newton leading, 14-0.

The second half was almost a mirror of the first, as Newton once again combined a powerful running game with an effective passing attack. One of the few bright spots was the play of cornerback Dave Gustin. "Dave had an exceptional game," praised Finnegan. "He hasn't seen much action this year, but he put together a good game this week. He had some great tackles at the corner, singlehandedly stopping a few Newton sweeps. He also had two very good runbacks on kick-off returns."

The Quincy offense could only mount one sustained drive during the second half, highlighted by a 15-yard run by punter Craig Bowlen. The Newton offense controlled the ball for most of the rest of the half, though, and put two more tallies on the board, leaving a final score of 28-0.

"The final two weeks of the season will tell us the true character of this team," said Finnegan.

"We have to decide whether or not we want to be winners, and that will be determined by how hard we work each day in practice. We know what we have to do to improve, and hopefully every member of this team will be willing to pay that price."

The Presidents play at Brockton Friday at 3:15 p.m.

Mahoney Run Sparks N.Q. 25-0 Victory

Quarterback Kevin Mahoney ran 72 yards on a sneak off tackle for a touchdown on the fourth play from scrimmage and the North Quincy High School football team went on to a 25-0 victory over Dedham for its fourth victory of the season.

Mahoney passed to Doug Grutchfield for the second score: Jack Cooke romped through a wide hole from the two for the third; and George Doring bucked over from the one for the fourth as the Raiders ate up most of the fourth quarter with an 81-yard drive.

The North Quincy lineup included: Grutchfield, Flanagan, Baldwin, ends; Polvere, Yacubias, Murphy, Kenny, tackles; Robbins, Frazier, Ashe, Destephano, guards; Sweeney, center; Mahoney, Doring, Cooke, Quintiliani, Morrissey, Kelly, Mattson, Gillis, McGee, backs.

QUINCY TOPS MEDFORD

Running backs Ronnie Ivil, who averaged five yards per carry, Noel Balducci and Wally Seppala amassed 266 yards on the ground and Tommy Connors turned in another fine all around performance at quarterback as the Quincy High School football team walloped Medford, 27-7.

"We haven't played a finer game all year," said Coach Bill Sullivan. "This was a good rough club we played and it was a great one to win. The rougher the going gets the better these boys like it."

The Quincy lineup included: Alsop, Larsen, Edmond, Osborne, Devine, ends; Gelsomini, Cavanaugh, Parker, Wainio, tackles; Claire, Lennon, Heap, Riccarelli, Pierce, guards; Chase, Marzocca, centers; Connors, Salvaggio, Balducci, Ivil, Powers, Seppala, Kelley, Derbes, Reardon, Loud, Bilofchi, backs.

NORTH JUNIORS CLINCH

Dick Riley went 25 yards around left end and 35 yards on a reverse for two touchdowns as North avenged its only defeat of the seasons and clinched the Junior High School football championship with a 21-7 victory over Point.

The North lineup included: Holmberg, Lebrucque, ends; Crofts, Walker, tackles; Swirbalus, Conarty, guards; Pierce, center; Conroy, Cooke, Riley, Sadlier, Van Meter, backs.

NORTH HARRIERS WIN

Sophomore Charlie Seaman finished first over a rainswept course and six of his North Quincy High School teammates were among the next eight runners as the Red Raider cross country team toppled rival Quincy 18-37.

The finishers included: 1. Seaman, NQ; 2. Buckley, NQ; 3. O'Neill, Q; 4. Wood, NQ; 5. Olson, NQ; 6. Kenney, NQ; 7. Savonen, Q; 8. Davison, NQ; 9. Rutan, NQ; 10. Pepi, Q; 11. Holpainen, Q; 12. Smith, Q; 13. Jacobsen, Q; 14. Farley, Q; 15. Poulos, Q.

EDWARDS OLDEST

City Historian William C. Edwards won two tickets to the Quincy-North Quincy football game on Thanksgiving by being the oldest Quincy letterman to attend the Quincy-Medford game at the Stadium. Edwards played football for the 1908, 1909, and 1910 teams.

Raiders Seek 6th Straight Against Brookline

The North Quincy football team is rolling merrily along and, following its fifth straight victory last week at Cambridge, Coach Ken McPhee is hopeful of finishing his third year as head coach with a fine 8-2 record.

The Raiders had things their own way last Saturday as they took a 21-0 lead in the first quarter over Cambridge Rindge and Latin and went on to a 35-19 victory, improving their record to 6-2.

This Saturday North will be favored to make it six in a row when it hosts Brookline (2-6) at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Brookline has always been tough for the Raiders and will be trying to bounce back from a 55-0 bombing last week at the hands of Brookline.

"These kids are playing great ball and, thanks to our brilliant offensive line, we have really been moving the ball," McPhee said. "We were never in trouble at Cambridge and we would have scored more except for a couple of missed blocks and some dropped passes. They scored on some big pass plays but the defense again did a good job."

For the third time this season Mike Barry and Steve Kelly each ran for over 100 yards. Barry had

The Raiders rushed for over 300 yards and again did little passing as Dave Zuroms completed one of four passes. The North quarterback did his usual outstanding work and Joe Bangs again ran for good yardage. Bangs suffered a broken arm and will miss the last two games against Brookline and Quincy.

The offensive line, as usual, was superb with Larry Naletz, Al DiBella, Billy Doherty, John Reney, Rich Brooks, Ed Kennedy, Jack Hannan and Gerry Coughlin outstanding.

On defense DiBella, Steve Miller, Steve Dever, Reney, Mike Russell, Ken Runge and Kelly were excellent and Jim Martin, Kevin Sullivan, Tim Sullivan and John Ennis played fine games.

It didn't take long for North to score. With Cambridge deep in its own territory, the pass from center sailed into the end zone and Runge recovered for the touchdown. A pass for the conversion was no good.

A few minutes later Bangs scored from the five and Zuroms passed to Coughlin for the two-point conversion.

Later in the opening quarter Barry scored from the four and Dave Cooke kicked the first of his three points.

Early in the second quarter Cambridge quarterback Lance Dotin hit Mica Johnson with a screen pass and Johnson rambled 43 yards for a touchdown.

Runge made a nice runback of the kickoff to the 50. Kelly raced 35 yards to the two and Zuroms scored from the one. Cooke kicked the point.

Late in the quarter Dotin again passed to Johnson for a 43-yard scoring play.

In the fourth quarter Jamie Holloway took over at quarterback for the North Freshmen Battle To 0-0 Tie

The North Quincy freshman football team battled Cambridge Rindge and Latin to a scoreless tie last week.

Both teams had scoring opportunities but failed to capitalize.

The young Raiders, coached by Pete Zoia, held Cambridge on their five-yard line in the second quarter and the North team was on the Cambridge seven with a first down when time ran out.

The passing of Bob Sylva highlighted the North offense as he connected with several different receivers. Kevin Henry, Mike Kiley, Scott Collins, Lou Sasso and Paul McCormack.

McCormack was back after missing three games due to a knee injury. He sparked on defense, making several key tackles. Another returnee from the injured list, linebacker Jay Rodriguez, played well.

Game Co-Capt. Shawn Clancy and Matt DiMatteo were immense on defense along with Matt McNamara, Mark Rudnisky, Shawn Darcy, Bill Manning and Kevin McDonough. Jim Goslin, Jim McNeil came off the bench and played excellent defense.

The kicking of Bob Dixey kept Cambridge in its own territory and he had a great day defensively, making many tackles and protecting against Cambridge passes.

Saturday Nov. 17, the North and Quincy freshmen will clash at 9 a.m. and the sophomore-junior varsity teams of both schools will meet at 10:30 a.m.

Youth Soccer Final Games On Weekend

The Quincy Youth Soccer League's annual fall tournament enters its final weekend this Saturday and Sunday with championship games in all divisions.

Some teams play semi-final games Saturday, but all the final games will be played Sunday.

Girls under 14: In last Saturday's games, North Quincy Cab beat Sew-fistated Fabrics, 6-2, with Kristen Golden scoring two goals and Rebecca Chicino, Beth Hughes, Michelle Drury and Chris Kraunelis one each for North Quincy. Karen Miller and Deirdre Murphy scored for Sew-fistated.

In the other Saturday game That's Italian beat the Flower Loft, 1-0. Tara MacLean scored for That's Italian, assisted by Chris Gorman. The Flower Loft's entire team played well in a losing effort.

In Sunday's game, That's Italian topped The Kicks, 4-1, with Chris Gorman netting three goals and Tara MacLean one. Assists were credited to Erin McNaught, Julie Attardo, Kristen McLeod and Lisa Triandafilos. Beth Holt scored for the Kicks on a penalty shot.

That's Italian will play North Quincy Cab at 2 p.m. Sunday at O'Rourke Field.

In girls under 12, on Saturday, Roy Nelson Cleaners beat the Soccers, 1-0, with Tara Miles scoring unassisted. Jennifer Barbuto, Megan Bryan and Jennifer Murray played well for Roy Nelson.

Michelle Leonard was outstanding in goal and Karen Caiwsky and Erin Lydon scored well in a losing effort.

Alford & Bertrand topped Patriot Insurance, 8-0, with Heather O'Brien, Trician Hughes and Erin Duffy all scoring two goals and Lisa Gacicia and Jeanne Barron netting single tallies. Ann Murphy, Kerry Galligan and Amy Baker played well for Patriot.

Adams Cleaners topped Fleming & Langlois, 2-1, in a shootout. The game ended 1-1 and went into a 15 minute overtime with no goals. Scoring in regulation time were Christine Kelly, assisted by Kim Hearn for Adams Cleaners. Christine Barrett scored for Fleming on a penalty shot. In the shootout, Kim Hearn, Stacey Bonavita, Maureen Fewer and Chris Kelly scored for Adams, while Christine Barrett, Robin Praetich, and Stacey Quevillon scored for Fleming.

On Sunday Roy Nelson Cleaners drew a tie and Adams Cleaners defeated Alford and Bertrand, 2-1, to earn its way into Sunday's championship game. Christine Kelly and Kara Sullivan scored for Adams, while Tricia Hughes scored for Alford & Bertrand. Sunday's final game will be at noon at O'Rourke Field.

In the girls under 10 division, the Villa Rosa beat the Ink Spot, 3-1, with Stacey Flynn scoring twice and Jennifer Nulley once for the Villa Rosa. Heather Rendle scored once for the Ink Spot.

In the other game Marina Bay beat Bolca-Buonfiglio, 3-1. Meghan Barry, Melissa Johnson and Elizabeth McLean scored for Marina Bay while Noreen Fewer scored for Bolca-Buonfiglio. In Sunday's final at 11 a.m. at O'Rourke Field The Villa Rosa will play Marina Bay.

North Swimmers Keep 10-Year Win Streak Intact

When the North Quincy girls' swim team defeated Quincy, 118-51, recently, they continued unbeaten against the Quincy girls.

The North Quincy girls' and boys' teams have never lost to their rivals since the sport was introduced 10 years ago.

The most recent victory gave the Raiderettes a 4-4 Suburban League record. Coach Bill Walder used every one of his 44 athletes and won 10 of the 11 events.

"What was most pleasing was the progress of this young team which will return 30 underclassmen, 22 of whom are freshmen and sophomores," said Walker. "We have improved tremendously over the past few weeks, having had best career performances from every swimmer on the team."

These included two record-breaking performances in the 500-yard freestyle by Stacey Quintiliani (school record 6:14.4) and the qualifying of seven North swimmers and divers for the South Sectional state championships.

They are Quintiliani, Donna King, Julie Killion, Georgia Traficante, Liz Harrington, Caroline Drantz and Kathy Koski.

The Quincy-North Quincy meet, attended by more than 200 spectators, was videoed by the Quincy Public Schools and will be aired on cable channel 9.

In last weekend's Suburban League championships North finished fifth with 139 points, Quincy was last with 24 points. Brockton won the meet with 293 points.

The Raiderettes had one winner, Julie Killion in diving with 189.01 points. Kathy Koski was seventh with 138.73.

North's Quintiliani placed third in the 500 freestyle in 7:16.92 and Kristen McCready was 11th in 7:07.96. The 400 freestyle relay team of Georgia Traficante, Donna King, Killion and Quintiliani was third in 4:20.64.

Traficante placed fourth in the 50 freestyle in 28.62 with Killion fifth in 28.66.

Quintiliani was fifth in the 200 freestyle in 2:19.61. King was eighth in the 100 butterfly in 1:21.12 and Traficante was eighth in the 100 freestyle in 1:04.69.

The 200 medley relay team of Michelle Casey, Liz Harrington, Lisa Rodriguez and Stephanie Francis was sixth in 2:27.6.

King was 11th in the 200 individual medley in 2:51.36 and Harrington was 12th in 2:54.71. Harrington was 10th in the 100 breaststroke in 1:28.07 and Caroline Krantz was 12th in the 100 backstroke in 1:23.20.

Meet For Title Sunday

Apaches Defeat Panthers, Clinch First Place

The North Quincy Apaches clinched first place in the Quincy Youth Football League Sunday by defeating the defending champion Quincy Point Panthers for the second time, 22-8, at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Apaches, 7-0, and the Panthers, 6-2, will meet for the league championship Sunday, Nov. 18.

The Panthers, who have won 19 championships, are idle Sunday, while the Apaches face the West Quincy Elks at 2:30 and the Squantum Sailors meet the Houghs Neck Manets at 1 o'clock.

There was no scoring in the first quarter Sunday as both teams played excellent defense. A roughing the kicker penalty against the Panthers opened the second quarter and set up the first Apache touchdown. They drove to the Panther nine and, with less than two minutes in the half, quarterback Ryan Craig called his own number and scored. Billy McDougall took a Craig pass for the two-point conversion.

The Apaches had the ball to open the third quarter and were forced to punt due to the defensive work of Monte Baker.

The Panthers, playing without their top scorer, Joe Taylor, moved to mid-field but quarterback Tim Brillo was sacked by Mike Ainsley. Brillo returned the favor on the next set of downs and hit Craig from behind. On third and 16 at the Apache 40, McDougall saw daylight after being chased by two Panther defenders and broke free, going the 60 yards to score. Craig rushed for the two-point conversion.

The Panthers setup on their own 37. Three plays later they fumbled and the Apaches recovered, setting up their final touchdown. They drove to the 12 and Eddie Ryan scored. The conversion try failed.

The Panthers scored late in the game as they drove to the 22, aided by the running of Charlie Freeman. Brian Taylor hauled in a Brillo pass and ran to the four from where Freeman scored. Vinny DiGiacomo added the two-point conversion.

1000 out of 12,000 runners and was pleased with my time and finish," he said.

Quincy Girls Share Title With Brockton

The Quincy girls' volleyball team completed its regular season last week by sweeping Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 15-6, 15-3, for its 15th straight victory.

The First Ladies finished at 16-1 and share the Suburban League title with Brockton.

The Quincy girls, who won the state title two years ago and lost in the semi-finals a year ago, will start their quest for another state crown Saturday afternoon at Duffer High in Fall River.

Sophomores Susan Parre, Lauren Standing and twins Ginny and Terry

Duggan were outstanding in the Cambridge win, while Pam Austin played great defense and Mario Levangic and Stacie Nigro also played well.

In their previous match Quincy defeated Newton South in two straight games as Terry Duggan and Levangic led the way.

Earlier in the week the Quincy girls had to go three games to defeat Boston Latin, 15-1, 9-15, 15-7, in a non-league match. Beth Veneto's defense and Colleen Dunn's blocking sparked the win.

Meanwhile, the North Quincy girls finished up strong, winning two out of three meets last week, losing to Brockton's league co-champs, 15-6, 15-8.

The Raiderettes defeated Waltham in straight games as Ann Duggan and Valerie Tatapetros led the way. Duggan had eight points serving and Tatapetros had nine.

The North girls also defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 15-2, 9-15, 15-8, with Duggan turning in another excellent performance, serving seven straight points in the opening game victory.

In the loss to Brockton Duggan, Maureen Connolly and Stephanie Petrakas turned in fine performances.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

TAKE BATH, NOT TUMBLE

With slippery surfaces and soap slixers working against you, putting your best foot forward in the bathtub gets risky. Last year, 355 persons were killed and about 67,000 were injured in bathtubs and showers. Most injuries resulted from slips and falls. Although there is no guaranteed way to prevent accidents, some precautions can make you bathroom safer.

If your tub has a shiny or smooth surface, make it slip-resistant with a suction-cup mat or rough-surfaced adhesive strips placed inside the tub.

Grab bars securely mounted on the tub or shower stall can help prevent falls, particularly for the elderly and handicapped.

Since a falling person often grabs for the nearest available support, make sure towel racks, towel racks and shower curtain rods are securely fastened into the wall.

Sometimes a fall is caused by a piece of soap that has dropped unnoticed into the tub. Use a good built-in soap container.

Dudek, Leone Shine For Plymouth State, Maine

North Quincy's Joe Dudek saw only limited action last week as his Plymouth, N.H., State College football team bombed Western New England, 50-0, improving its record to 9-0 and winning its 15th straight game.

In his short period of action Dudek added two touchdowns to his record-breaking total, giving him 51 for his career.

The former North Quincy High star is just 15 touchdowns away from tying the great Walter Payton for the all-time NCAA all-division record of 66.

With another game this week and another year to go, there seems to be nothing, barring injuries, to keep him from a new all-division record.

Dudek, who had 3676 career yards rushing going into last week's game, has already broken the NCAA Div. 3 touchdown mark and the N.E. Div. 3 rushing and scoring records.

During the pre-season a member of the National Football League's scouting bureau visited Dudek to weigh, measure and time him in the 40-yard dash and watch him on film. The scout liked what he saw and told Dudek he'd keep in touch.

His two touchdowns last week gave him 18 for the season, breaking the New England small college record of 17 held by Norwich's Mark Crimmins.

At Orono, Me., North Quincy's Jack Leone, the school's record-breaking kicker, gave Maine a win for the second week in a row with a field goal.

Leone's 42-yarder with nine seconds left gave the Black Bears (4-5) a 20-17 decision over Northeastern. Earlier in the game he had an 18 yard field goal and two extra points.

Two weeks ago the former North Quincy star, who has pro scouts watching him, kicked a 25-yard field goal in overtime to give the Bears a win over Connecticut. A year ago he kicked a late field goal to give Maine a win over Northeastern.

Leone, in four years at Maine, has set NCAA Div. I-AA records for most consecutive extra points in a season, 45, and currently holds the record for best percentage of extra points in a season with Tim McMonagle of Idaho. He holds the school records for most extra points in a career and most field goals in a career.

This fall Leone has equaled a 73-year-old Maine record of 10 field goals (in 15 tries) established by Thomas Shepherd. He also is the Bears' top scorer with 40 points on 10 field goals and 10 extra points.

Curry, which meets Plymouth State Saturday at 1 pm at Curry, hoping for a share of the New England Conference crown, rebounded from its only loss to Walpole Nichols, 42-8, last Friday night and improves its record to 7-1.

Sophomore quarterback Bob Barrett of Quincy continued his outstanding play as he threw for three touchdowns in the romp.

QUINCY'S Maureen Walsh, a senior at Providence College, was named to the All-Tournament team at the Hofstra Volleyball Invitational tournament. Walsh led her team to the championship as Providence improved its record to 33-3-0. It was the sixth tournament title for Providence this year. The Lady Friars are ranked eighth in the MCAA Div. I mid-east region, the highest ranking of any team in New England, New York or New Jersey.

Track Club Team Win 2 Titles At Junior Olympics

The Quincy Track Club cross-country runners turned in their top performance of the year at the N.F. Junior Olympics at Dracut High School as two teams won division championships and several other runners also qualified for the regional championships Sunday at Lakeville.

Quincy's girls' 9-10 team won the title as expected with 38 points, easily outdistancing 50 other starters.

Quincy's Amy Janus placed fifth, Katie O'Shea sixth, Lindsey McGovern eighth, Regina Murphy ninth, Maureen Fewer 10th, Susan Carter 12th, Noreen Fewer 16th and Tricia Driscoll 19th.

The 11-12 girls also took the team championship with 109 points, defeating 11 other teams, as Sherrin Quintiliani finished 11th, Kim Guastella 14th, Elizabeth Renda 26th, Nancy Sheehy 27th, Rachel Marshall 31st and Amanda Young 35th.

In the 9-10 boys Brian Klier placed third.

In 13-14 boys Brian Barrett took fifth and in the girls' race Karen Cashman was 23rd.

The top three teams in each division and the top 25 finishers in each race qualified for the regionals.

"We work hard and pointed to this meet all season," said a happy coach Jeff Hennessy. "Remember, we only practice twice a week. Some people ran much better than they have all season and this is what helps out if someone doesn't have a good day. Winning the two team titles was our goal all year, but the credit goes to the kids, as most of them had perfect attendance all season."

The final results of the Brockton Kids Grand Prix showed 20 QTC athletics winning trophies. The top five in each division won awards.

In 13-14 boys Brian Barrett was first and Matt Scannell fifth. In the girls' race Francine Rogers placed third.

In 11-12 girls Sherrin Quintiliani was fifth.

In 9-10 boys Brian Klier was second and Ed Costello fifth. In the girls' race Amy Janus won, Amanda Young was second, Katie O'Shea third, Lindsey McGovern fourth and Maureen Fewer fifth.

In 7-8 boys Chris Klier was fifth. In the girls' race Susan Curtis was the winner, Tricia Driscoll second, Rachel Taylor third, Regina Murphy fourth and Noreen Fewer fifth.

In 6-under boys Brian O'Donnell and Mike Hannon finished 2-3 and in the girls' race Marcy Curtis took second.

Quincy-North Hall Of Fame Dinner At Elks Nov. 20

Thanks to the Quincy Elks, the Quincy-North Quincy pre-game dinner will be revived Tuesday, Nov. 20, as the Elks host the first annual Quincy-North Hall of Fame dinner at the Elks home on East Squamum Street at 6:30 p.m.

Until a few years ago the two squads, annually got together at an annual luncheon or dinner with Morrisette Legion Post hosting the final ones.

Five former Quincy players and five former North players will be inducted into the Hall of Fame and four special awards will be presented.

The Quincy inductees will be retiring athletic director Carl Leone, a former North head coach, who starred for the Presidents from 1944-46; former American International College coach Gaeton Salvucci (1944-45); former N. E. Patriot Jim Clough (1953-54); former City Councilor Dan Raymond (1962-63) and Jon Provost (1969-70).

North's inductees will be Pete Zoia, all-scholastic first on Jack Donahue's back three teams (1933-35); Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference (ECAC) Commissioner Bob "Scotty" Whitelaw (1943-44); former Northeastern University coach Bo Lyons (1951-53); Tom Kiley (1962-63) and Bill Curran (1962-63).

Special awards will be presented to Donahue, North's coach from 1933 through 1960; the late Quincy coach and athletic director Munroe McLean, whose award will be accepted by his daughter, Jean Ann McLean; LeRoy "Curly" Rogers, long-time

North coach and football official, and Frank Osborne, one of the organizers and long-time officer of the Quincy Fathers Club.

The seniors of both schools will be honored and all former North and Quincy coaches and alumni of both schools are invited. Tickets are limited to the first 240 guests and are priced at $5 per person. They can be purchased at the dean's offices at both schools and the Elks Home.

John "Butch" Mahoney, former North Quincy and American International star, will be the master of ceremonies.

Darcy Team Leads St. John's

Tom Darcy's team leads St. John's Holy Name Bowling League with a 32-10 record, followed by Lou Faiella's 26-16.

The rest of the standings: Dick Guerriero, 24-18; Mike Panarelli, 18-24; Jim Mastrantonio, 16-26, and Bob Saluti, 10-32.

Animal League Essay Contest

The Quincy Animal League Inc. is sponsoring an essay contest, open to all Quincy public school students from grades 1 through 12, on "How Can We Stop Abuse and Neglect of Animals?"

Deadline for entries is Tuesday, Nov. 20.

Essays by elementary students, grades 1-5 must be 50 to 100 words; by middle school students, grades 6-8, 100 to 200 words; and by high school students, grades 9-12, 250-400 words.

One winner will be selected from each group, and will receive a $100 U.S. Savings Bond and a Quincy Animal League Golden Paw Award Certificate.

Participation is voluntary, and students may deal with any aspect of the animal abuse issue they wish.

Essays will be judged by a panel to be named by the league's Board of Directors and their decision will be final.

All entries become the property of the Quincy

Animal League and none will be returned.

Essays must be submitted to the principal's office at each school by the close of the school day Nov. 20. Each entry must bear the name, age, grade and school of the student submitting it.

Essays should be preferably typed or printed, but may be neatly handwritten. They will be judged on sincerity, originality, aptness of thought, and neatness. Winners will be announced and prizes awarded within 30 days.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: NOVEMBER 8

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19

Postponements are a way of life through much of the week — fill in the gaps by writing letters, stories, poems, whatever. When it comes to the written word, you truly shine now.

PISCES — February 20-March 20

Relatives offer sound criticism; though their approach may leave something to be desired. Conferences keep you well occupied; don't hesitate to make some creative suggestions.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

Restraint is all important, as any conflict can lead to a showdown, complete with fireworks. There's a chance to increase earnings or prestige, be observant throughout the week.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22

New methods lead to a series of personal accomplishments. Romance demands more trust on your part. Surprise visits are scattered through the week. Overdue announcement arrives by Tuesday.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21

A fine week for launching new projects. Loved one is preoccupied, not neglectful. Creative energies run high, this is a good week for do-it-yourself holiday presents.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

Take a leisurely break from obligations and enjoy time alone — you can do some of your best thinking now. This is a good week for receiving as well as giving.

LEO — July 23-August 22

Partner is more open-minded and you're more optimistic. If shopping for household items, be more demanding than usual. Calculated risk may pay off after the weekend.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22

Business and pleasure blend quite nicely this week. Loved one is full of surprises. With some overtime, a major task can be completed by Tuesday or Wednesday.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22

Weekend is filled with surprises of a happy kind. Talents are varied, but the key this week is to focus on specific skills. News of a celebration may arrive by Tuesday.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21

The answer to a romance question comes when you least expect it. In family matters, compromise is all important. A delay may actually be a blessing in disguise.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22

A fine week for embarking on an all-new course of study, foreign languages, particularly, are accentuated. A friend repays an ancient debt. Career road is less rocky.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20

Watch tendency to edit-out information when retelling a story or preparing a report. New and bolder dress styles are accentuated. If traveling, prepare for unexpected weather.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You can be blunt and you can be outspoken — but you cannot be ignored. You see through people — and they know it. Use your intuitive gifts to make advances in realms of career and education. Family responsibilities require your attention through the spring.

BORN THIS WEEK

November 8th, actress Katharine Hepburn; 9th, singer Mary Travers; 10th, actress MacKenzie Phillips; 11th, actor Jonathan Winters; 12th, actress Stefanie Powers; 13th, actor Charles Bronson; 14th, actor Brian Keith.

SHOULD YOU PAY OFF MORTGAGE?

QUESTION: I have a mortgage loan that is fifteen years old and have now accumulated enough money to pay it off early. Do think this is wise or could I put my money to better use?

ANSWER: Chances are you might be better off to keep the mortgage and put the prepayment cash in savings or securities. With a mortgage that is old, the interest on the debt and the interest you'd get from the savings would probably be not too far apart. With the right investment, you might even get a higher rate of return. The advantage is that you have a cash reserve while still earning almost as much, if not more than you would save by paying off the debt.

THINK TWICE BEFORE paying off an old mortgage early. The money might better be invested at today's higher interest rates.

Youth Soccer Registration

The Quincy Youth Soccer League is holding registration for the spring season tonight (Thursday) from 7-9 p.m. at the Quincy Police Station.

Registration for boys and girls under 8 and under 10 years of age will be $5 if they played in the fall and they keep their fall uniform.

Players in all the other divisions will be assigned to teams playing in the South Shore Soccer League. They will be Quincy Youth Soccer League teams, but will play half their spring games in towns throughout the South Shore.

The season begins in early April and carries through mid-June.

Registration for these divisions is: Under 12-$21; under 14-$22; under 16-$23 and under 19-$25. Another registration session will be held next Thursday at the police station from 7-9 p.m.

Because the South Shore League requires rosters to be set at an early date, these will be the only registration sessions. Please plan to register tonight (Thursday) or next Thursday.

Ruth Gordon Comes Home On A Special Day

By HENRY BOSWORTH

Ruth Gordon and her husband, playwright Garson Kanin climbed out of a black limousine on Hancock St. and walked hand-in-hand up the stone paved plaza to City Hall.

Upstairs in Mayor Francis McCauley's third floor office where a group of guests had been invited to meet her, someone yelled: "She's coming!"

Some rushed to the windows and peered down. "She looks like a little doll," a woman said.

And, she did, dressed in a red down coat, a scarlet beret and pink boots and looking tiny.

The group applauded as she entered McCauley's office. He greeted her and started introducing her to some of the guests.

Former Mayor Thomas Burgin was there but needed no introduction. He and she are old friends. He got a hug and a squeeze and they were soon chatting about the old days.

This writer and she are also good friends and I was greeted with a hug and a kiss.

Ruth Gordon was home again and she was loving it.

And, Quincy was loving her. Before the day was over, she would wow her hometown with her reminiscing of her early days here.

At the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre in Merrymount park not far from where she used to watch the Fourth of July fireworks display as a little girl, she got a standing welcoming ovation.

During the rededication ceremony she tapped her foot in time as the Eastern Nazarene Barbershop quartet sang "Alexander's Ragtime Band," one of her favorites.

"You are one person who has not forgotten where you come from," Mayor McCauley said to her.

Emcee Ron Della Chiesa, Boston radio personality and nephew of late Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa, referred to her as "a lady who taught us to enjoy life and live it to its very fullest."

He noted that Quincy was now known as not only the birthplace of Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams but of Ruth Gordon, too.

She had the crowd applauding and smiling as she said:

As Negotiators Meet

School Job Action Threatened

By TOM HENSHAW

The School Committee and the Quincy Education Association, stalemated over a new teachers' contract, were scheduled to hold a bargaining session yesterday (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. with some form of job action by teachers a distinct possibility.

"We have asked every school building to send a contact person to the meeting at 9 p.m.," said Mary Curtin, president of the QEA.

"If negotiations are going better than they have been going then they will go back to their buildings empty handed. If not then they will be sent back with a written notice on what steps will be taken."

She refused to disclose what the notices will say.

"I hope I can throw them away," she said. "I know what action we will have recommended but I don't want to say."

Last week she indicated that some form of job action has been recommended, probably institution of a "work to rule" action in which teachers refuse to do extra jobs not specified in the contract.

Mayor Francis N. McCauley, who chairs the School Committee, said he hopes the teachers who are forbidden by state law to strike, will not resort to job action.

"I hope we can avoid a work to rule," he said. "That hasn't solved contract problems in the past and it won't in the future."

Wednesday's meeting was originally scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 20, but some 250 school personnel demonstrated at last week's School Committee meeting to have the session moved up.

The group marched and rode from Sons of Italy Hall on Quarry St. to the School Committee rooms carrying 100 signs and wearing badges that said: "Strike A New Deal."

MARY CURTIN, president of the Quincy Education Association, tells School Committee that teachers and other school employees want zero percent wage offer removed from the table.

(Quincy Sun photos by Charles Flagg)

"You can interpret that any way you wish," said Curtin. "We are well aware that a strike is illegal under state law and our contract. What happens depends on progress in negotiations."

The teachers have been working without a contract since the old one expired Aug. 31. The School Committee reportedly has offered a new one with no raise in pay for the first year and 5 percent hikes in each of the next two years.

"The members want the zero per cent removed from the table," said Curtin. "They have given us a week to get it off the table or they will start a job action."

Some three dozen of the demonstrators were permitted to speak at the School Committee meeting, the first time that members of the QEA have been able to confront committee members, said Curtin.

"They indicated that unless the zero per cent offer is removed there will be zero attendance at afternoon and evening meetings and conferences," she said.

Palmer Pub License Transfer Turned Down

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board unanimously turned down the requested transfer of the Palmer Pub, Sea and Palmer Sits. license at a special evening meeting Tuesday.

Ward 1 City Councillor Michael Cheney told the board that he and residents opposed the transfer. Some 50 residents attended the meeting.

Cheney said he will later go before the board to seek revocation of the license.

"It's evident that the Palmer Pub has been a problem for many of the area residents," Cheney told the Quincy Sun at press time.

"I believe that the License Board should permanently remove the license at that location. There's no doubt in my mind, the Palmer Pub should be closed."

Cheney's views represented those of area residents who attended a meeting on the transfer held at City Hall last week by the Adams Shore Civic Association.

Among those attending were representatives of the Germantown Community Council, Houghs Neck Community Council, Merrymount Association and Adams Shore Civic Association as well as residents of the area.

During the two-hour meeting, Michael J. O'Neill of South Boston, applicant for the license for the business at 250 Sea St., addressed the crowd of about 100 people.

O'Neill discussed what he intended to do with the Palmer Pub, such as eventually make some improvements on the building, possibly even expand the pub at a later date, said Cheney.

But O'Neill's presentation apparently failed to convince the area residents who unanimously voted "no confidence" in the applicant. O'Neill made no presentation, said Cheney, on changes he would make regarding kids hanging around, alleged drug trafficking around the pub, and in general, how he would improve the pub so that it is no longer a nuisance to the community.

The residents also unanimously voted to ask the License Board to remove the license for the pub.

Residents cited a number of problems relating to the pub, said Cheney.

"Some people won't send their kids to Curtis Farms because they have to past the youths on the corner (in front of the pub)," Cheney said.

As recently as Oct. 29, three men were arrested on the corner in front of the pub for possession of a controlled substance, according to Cheney.

Warren E. Watson, director of the Thomas Crane Public Library which has a branch near the pub, sent a letter to the board stating that problems of vandalism and rowdiness would be reduced if the pub were closed.

"What the area wants is not for O'Neill to take over the business, but a more permanent solution — removal of the license," Cheney said.

Early News Deadline For Next Week's Sun

Because of Thanksgiving there will be an early news deadline for next week's Quincy Sun which will be printed one day earlier.

All news and sports releases, legal advertising, should be in The Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq. by tomorrow (Friday) at noon.

Auto Accidents Cause 2 Deaths

A West Quincy boy and a Germantown man died as a result of two separate car accidents in the city.

Richard Gormley, 8, of 52 Gardiner Rd., West Quincy, died Monday night at Children's Hospital, Boston, of injuries suffered in a two-car accident Sunday night.

He was thrown from a car being driven by his mother, Kathleen Gormley, 36, when it was in collision with another vehicle on Furnace Brook Parkway near Quarry St.

Police said the driver of the other car, William P. Grogan, 23, of Milton, was cited for failure to stop for a red light and driving to endanger.

Grogan was treated and released from City Hospital. Mrs. Gormley was not injured.

William Cram, 40, of 75 Palmer St., Germantown, was killed and four youths were injured Monday when their car struck a tree and split apart at 300 Sea St., Merrymount.

The driver of the car, identified as Cram's son, William E. Cram, 18, of Marshfield, was cited for motor vehicle homicide, driving to endanger and operating under the influence.

Injured in the accident were young Cram, John Cronin, 17, Timothy LaRue, 17, Alfred LaRue, 20, all of Marshfield.

Bobby Orr Grand Marshall For Quincy Christmas Parade

Former Boston Bruins great Bobby Orr will be the grand marshal at the 33rd annual Quincy Christmas Festival Parade Sunday, Nov. 25.

General Chairman George White said the Hall of Famer will serve as grand marshal and ride in the parade.

The parade will start at 12:30 p.m. at School and Hancock Sts., Quincy Center and proceed the three-mile route down Hancock St. to East and West Squantum Sts., North Quincy.

White said the parade will feature 30 bands, 20 floats and 20 specialty units with Santa Claus the star.

He estimates the parade will take two hours.

RUTH GORDON is welcomed to a pre-ceremony reception in Mayor Francis McCauley's office by Councillor Joseph LaRaia and McCauley. Her husband, playwright Garson Kanin smiles in background.

"I am the first person in my family to have a theater named for her. It took a long time. I started toward this 88 years, 11 days and five and a half hours ago. I never face the facts, I never listen to good advice. I'm a slow starter, but I get there."

She recalled her father, Clinton Jones, a seaman, wanted her to become a physical education teacher. "But I hated all those serge bloomers and dumbbells and Indian clubs. I wanted to do something a little more sexy than that."

She remembered getting on a train at the old Wollaston station in 1915 heading for New York with a dream of becoming an actress, a year's tuition to the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, her father's old spyglass and $50 in spending money pinned to her corset for security.

"Poppa told me I could hock it if I needed money," she said. "He said if you're going to be an actress, you'll be in and out of hock shops all your life. Well, I hocked plenty of things, but never that spyglass."

"That corset wore out," she said. "You know what didn't wear out? Me. Plus I still have the $50."

Miss Gordon had two pleasant surprises for the hometown.

First, she said, she is going to return to Quincy June 25, 1985 for "An Evening With Ruth Gordon" on the amphitheatre stage.

The date will coincide with the 71st anniversary reunion of her Quincy High School class of 1914, the famed "worst class" so dubbed by a teacher because no one made the honor roll. But out of it came many successes in addition to an award winning actress of stage, movies and television.

Miss Gordon admits to having been a little ticked off at her surviving classmates who held the annual reunion last year while she was in Spain. She usually makes each reunion and thought they could have waited for her to come back last year.

But she apparently has gotten over it because, she smiles, "I was off making lots of money."

The second surprise was a special memento gift for Quincy.

She unwrapped a silver baby cup engraved with her name, Ruth Gordon Jones.

It was given to her by Dr. Alexander Gordon who delivered her at 41 Winthrop Ave., Wollaston on the morning of Oct. 30, 1896.

When she arrived at the house that morning, a neighbor told him her mother was "having a hard time." He rushed up the stairs, saying "I'll try to save the mother."

"He tossed me in a corner while he was doing that until I squealed," Miss Gordon said. "He then came over to give me three good slaps. I screamed so loud you could hear me at the Congregational Church (Wollaston) across the way."

When Dr. Gordon learned the baby was to be named Ruth Gordon Jones, he had the cup engraved and presented it to her.

"I am going to give this cup to the Quincy Historical Society," she said.

Doris Oberg, president of the Quincy Historical Society, was in the audience and just about leaped to her feet with excitement. Miss Gordon presented it to her and Mrs. Oberg clutched it affectionately the rest of the day as if it were a winning Megabucks ticket.

Miss Gordon was escorted to a public reception in the Park Recreation Department's building next to the amphitheatre where she chatted with her native city fans and signed autographs.

Then it was off to a luncheon reception at the California Restaurant.

"It was wonderful," she said, speaking of the rededication ceremony. "I loved it. This day has a great deal of meaning for me. This is where I got my start."

The Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre was a long time coming.

Construction started in 1977 during the administration of then Mayor Joseph LaRaia. More than $500,000 in federal funds were used to hire the unemployed under CEIA.

It wasn't finished until a few weeks ago.

Volunteers from unions and help from the Department of Works and other groups including LaRaia who pitched in to help pour cement, finally made the amphitheatre a complete reality.

HELLO QUINCY—Ruth Gordon waves to crowd from stage of Merrymount Park Amphitheatre named after her. At left is Mrs. Louise LaRaia and at right, architect T. Owen Trainor, who designed the amphitheatre.

Miss Gordon has been to Quincy on several occasions since 1977 but declined to visit the amphitheatre.

"I'll wait until it is completed," she had said.

LaRaia, as chairman of the Quincy South Shore Cultural Commission was determined it would be completed.

And when he knew it would be, he invited Miss Gordon to attend. And, she did, as she said she would.

LaRaia deserves a "well done" in bringing a "happy ending" to a project that for a long time looked like it wasn't going to have any ending at all.

"I'm happy," Miss Gordon said at the luncheon.

She had a big kiss for John Bonomi, a volunteer tradesman who directed the finish work, "spending 2½ months there and getting nothing done at home."

"You know," she later confided to this writer, "wouldn't it be nice if they could name something in Quincy for Howard Johnson?"

They were kids together.

"He helped make Quincy famous with those 28 flavors."

Miss Gordon still looks enthusiastically to the future, and there's definitely no rocking chair in it.

"I have made three movies which are not released yet," she told the crowd at the amphitheatre. "Watch for them. They are all just terrific."

She's making a new movie now called, "Free Spirit."

"On my 88th birthday," she laughed, "I was riding a motorcycle up Nob Hill in San Francisco for one of the scenes."

Then, it was off for Logan Airport for the flight back to New York and return to the West Coast to finish that movie.

Quincy's "ambassador of good will" and one-woman Chamber of Commerce, still has plenty of enthusiasm and energy.

I really think she could play the role of a high school cheerleader and get away with it.

See you next June 25th, Ruth.

Council Okays Pump To Drain Fallon's Quarry

The City Council voted 6-3 to purchase pumps with which to drain Fallon's Quarry for use as the next city dump. Councillors John J. Quinn, David S. McIntosh and George B. McDonald voted against the plan since the state had yet to approve the quarry as a landfill.

Mayor Amelia Della Chiesa told the Council that the current city dump, Hardwick's Quarry, had only a couple more months of life. Lower Fallon's Quarry, directly across Quincy St. from Hardwick's, was pumped out at a cost of $7,000, also for dumping purposes.

But the State Department of Public Health had never given specific approval for such a use, saying only that the use of old quarry holes as sanitary landfill was "technically feasible."

"We'd look awfully foolish if we purchased the pumps, pumped out the quarry and still did not get approval to use Lower Fallon's as a municipal dump," said Councillor McDonald.

DELLA CHIESA RETIRES

Mayor Della Chiesa, who was retiring after 12 years as the city's chief executive, was honored at a testimonial dinner attended by some 1,100 people, including Gov. John A. Volpe, at the Surl in Nantasket.

"Amelio Della Chiesa needs no monuments and wants none," said Volpe. "Nor does he even need this testimonial dinner tonight. For he has received his greatest testimonial time and again at the polls. We need more men with the character, dedication and integrity of Mel in public life."

Della Chiesa was retaining his post as a state representative for Quincy, at least through 1986.

REVAL UNDERWAY

The firm of Cole-Layer-Trumble Inc. established an office at 1359 Hancock St. from which it will direct the city's 18-month tax equalization program. Supervisor Willard Stewart said the firm planned to start the reval by measuring commercial property in Quincy Center.

Volunteers Rallied Together To Complete Amphitheatre

The completion of the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre was accomplished with the help of community minded volunteers.

The amphitheatre, which can accommodate up to 1,000 spectators, was dedicated Dec. 31, 1977 but incomplete.

The major work that remained included 10 rows of concrete seats and four rows of concrete footings.

This work was finished in the past two months by volunteers with back-up support from the City Public Works Department, the Park Department, Carpenters' Local Union 424, Laborers' Local Union 133 and the Quincy Building Trades Council.

The volunteer effort was headed by John Bonomi and Chris Aronow of West Quincy.

The amphitheatre was designed by architect T. Owen Trainor of Quincy.

The rededication of the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre Saturday was sponsored by the Quincy South Shore Cultural Commission.

Councillor Joseph LaRaia, under whose administration as mayor the amphitheatre was started in 1977, is president of the commission and Trainor is vice-president.

Open House Nov. 18 At Aquinas Jr.

Aquinas Junior College, 303 Adams St., Milton, will hold its annual Open House Sunday, Nov. 18, from 2-4 p.m.

High school juniors and seniors, parents, teachers, guidance counselors and friends are invited to tour the school. They may discuss with faculty, alumnae and students the opportunities for personal and professional education offered at Aquinas.

Continuing education counseling and financial aid counseling will also be available.

During its 29 years of existence, Aquinas has sought to meet the educational needs of its students by expanding its program offerings.

Prospective students have a choice of nine associate degree programs: accounting, business management, executive secretarial, legal secretarial, medical assisting, medical medical office management, public relations assistant, retail merchandising, and word data processing.

Aquinas Junior College at Milton is accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges.

For more information about Open House or the associate degree programs offered at the college, call the admissions office at 696-3100.

REFRIGERATOR DEATH TRAPS

An old, abandoned refrigerator on your back porch - or your neighbor's - could be a death trap for your child. Many children have climbed into these tempting cubby holes and closed the door only to be pulled out dead from suffocation after a long, heart-breaking search.

It doesn't take long for these tightly insulated refrigeration units to snuff out a life. A child becomes unconscious in ten minutes and dies within twenty-five minutes. And surviving even a short time without oxygen can cause permanent brain damage.

Advice: If you have an unused refrigerator, turn it around so the door is against the wall, padlock the door handle, or remove the doors altogether.

And don't assume that magnetic doors are child-proof. Many children will just curl up and go to sleep once inside.

John J. (Jack) Donahue, 79, NQHS First Football Coach

By TOM HENSHAW

For nearly three decades he was a familiar figure on the sidelines at North Quincy Football games, a great bear of a man in topcoat and three-piece suit, hand on hips, felt hat thrown back on his head, a stern look on his face.

"He was a disciplinarian," said his longtime friend, Pete Zia. "He was tough but fair. And he loved North. It bothered him very much that he would miss his first Quincy-North Quincy game on Thanksgiving Day. He cried when the subject came up."

In his 29 years as head coach at North, he became a legend and was credited with playing a major role in creating the famed Raider school spirit.

Jack Donahue, who coached the Raiders in the first Quincy-North Quincy game and 27 more, attended all 51 games in the series between the traditional rivals.

He died Saturday only 12 days before the 52nd at the age of 79. A funeral mass was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) at St. John's

JOHN (JACK) DONAHUE

A tribute to Mr. Donahue appears on Page 19.

Church. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

John J. Donahue, to use his given name, was the founder of football at North Quincy High School and coached the team from 1932 to 1960, winning 183 games, losing 101 and tying 24.

Perhaps his greatest victory came in 1933 when his underdog Raiders, only in their second year of varsity football, upset heavily favored Quincy, 6-0, in the opening game of what has become a great rivalry.

Thirty years later, he reminisced about another Quincy-North Quincy game in 1952, in which his Raiders ran up 460 yards to Quincy's 137, made 26 first downs to Quincy's five, and lost the game, 32-19.

"Give me the score any day," he said. "You can have the statistics."

His teams beat Quincy 10 times, lost 15 and tied three. Appropriately, his last North Quincy team in 1960 defeated the Presidents 28-20, scoring 28 points in his 28th coaching start against Quincy.

Mr. Donahue was born in Peabody and starred at guard at Boston College under the famed coach Frank Cavanaugh, who was called "the Iron Major." He captained the 1926 Eagles and reportedly played one game on a broken leg.

"He modeled his coaching style after Major Cavanaugh," said Zia, who was a running back on Mr. Donahue's teams in 1933-34-35, teams that never lost to Quincy.

He coached football at East Bridgewater High School for four years before moving to North Quincy in 1932. He taught history at the high school, retiring from that job in 1971.

Mr. Donahue was inducted in the Massachusetts Football Coaches Hall of Fame in 1966 and served a term as president of the Massachusetts High School Coaches Association in 1948.

He was a charter member of the Boston Gridiron Club and was elected president in 1958. He was also a member of the Quincy Retired Teachers Association.

He had been in failing health for some time and last September he fell in his Quincy home and fractured his right thigh. He had been a patient at Weymouth nursing home before being transferred to Quincy City Hospital.

Mr. Donahue leaves his wife, Sally M. (O'Hara) Donahue, and two brothers, Edward T. Donahue and Leo B. Donahue, both of Peabody. Another brother was the late Frank Donahue.

A moment of silence was observed in his memory at Saturday's North Quincy-Brookline game and the game ball, autographed by players and coaches, was presented to Mrs. Sally Donahue.

His memory is also perpetuated in the Jack Donahue Award given annually to the outstanding North Quincy player in the Quincy game by the North Quincy High School Football Boosters Club.

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- * Funeral and Interment Preferences
- * Vital Statistics and Data
- * Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- * Pre-Arrangement Information
- * Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It has been said that attitudes are more important than facts. Facts are facts, all right - there is no disputing that. But it is within our power to face up to these facts and to do something about it. One can say, "This is a fact!" But is not the big thing - what to do about it? A person with a negative attitude may say, "Here is a hard tough fact. You just can't get around a fact. It is a fact. That is it."

But a person with a positive attitude, on the other hand, says, "Yes, it is definitely a fact. There must be a way to deal with it. Do I go around it, over it, under it, or face it straight on? Is not this fact for solving?"

A person's attitude in the face of difficulty should be positive. If it is positive it will become creative. One accepts a tough fact as a challenge and goes to work to overcome it. Of course, there are some facts we can't change. But it is not true that our attitudes still determine how such unchangeable facts affect us? Of course it is. We can with a positive attitude control the effect a fact has on us...

McCauley Proclamation Commends Women Veterans

This is, among other things, National Women Veterans Recognition Week.

"During World War I, the service of women on active duty as nurses, shipyard personnel and battlefield telephone operators was indispensable," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley in his proclamation.

"In World War II, women served in support and cooperational capacities around the world and women have been fully integrated into the military services and today there are more than 1.2 million women veterans.

"I urge all residents to join me in saluting these patriotic and dedicated women and in expressing appreciation for their service."

Free Thanksgiving Dinner At Central Baptist

Central Baptist Church of Quincy will sponsor its 2nd annual Free Thanksgiving Dinner, Thursday Nov. 22, for area residents who may be hungry, homeless, or lonely, and have nowhere to go for the holiday.

A full, holiday meal will be served, in restaurant fashion, beginning at noon and continuing through 4 p.m.

The free dinner will be served in the church's newly renovated "center" at the corner of Washington and Foster Sts., downtown Quincy. Church members and friends will prepare and serve the meal.

Last year, over 123 people were served their Thanksgiving Dinner through this program. This year, because of the church's affiliation with the Quincy Free Restaurant, plans to serve at least 300 people are underway.

The Central Baptist Free Thanksgiving Dinner will take the place of the Quincy Free Restaurant on the holiday.

For more information, call the church office at 479-4932 or 479-6512.

United First Parish Thanksgiving Service Nov. 18

United First Parish Unitarian Church, 1306 Hancock St., Quincy Center, will hold its Thanksgiving service Sunday, Nov. 18th, at 10:30 a.m.

Rev. Keith Munson will lead the service, which will feature a cornbread and apple juice communion served by the Youth Group.

Children from the Church School will process with vegetables brought from home to donate to D.O.V.E. (Domestic Violence Ended), then remain to share in the communion service with their parents and teachers.

Social hour follows the service at 11:30 a.m. in the Parish Hall. The Church School children will distribute loaves of bread they've made, wrapped, and decorated, to members of the congregation.

Those attending the service are asked to bring non-perishable food items for the church's Thanksgiving Food Collection for the P.S.S.B.

Missionary Rally At Glad Tidings

Newly approved Assemblies of God missionaries George and Muriel Thomassen were scheduled to hold a missionary rally at Glad Tidings Assembly, 158 Washington St., Quincy, Wednesday, Nov. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

The Thomassens will be going to the People's Republic of Benin, West Africa, where they will be working with the Benin Assemblies of God in evangelism, church planting, and Bible training.

Benin, formerly Dohomey, is a French-speaking country in the tropics of West Africa between Nigeria and Igo. It is well known for its voodoo worship, lake cities with buildings set on bamboo poles, and its palm oil production.

A graduate of both North Central Bible College in Minneapolis and the Assemblies of God

Graduate School in Springfield, Missouri, Mr. Thomassen was an assistant pastor in both Massachusetts and New Jersey.

For the past four years the Thomassens were pastors of Lake Asbury in Powers Lake, N.D.

As a part of their services, the Thomassens sing as a family using tape background. Their 5½ year old daughter, Alicia, also sings.

Pastor Brandt Gillespie invites the public to attend.

Covenant Congregational Marks Sunday School's 100th Anniversary Friday

The Sunday School of the Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., Quincy, will celebrate the 100th Anniversary of its founding Friday, with a 100th Anniversary Buffet.

Rev. Gary Blume, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Weymouth will be the speaker. Rev. Blume attended Covenant Congregational Church, Sunday School and was confirmed in the church some years ago.

The Sunday School was founded on November 16, 1884 as a group of Swedish immigrants met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Svante Nilson.

This occasion will begin a year of celebration for the Covenant Congregational Church who will mark their 100th Anniversary with many special events during 1985. The climax of the year of celebration will be an Anniversary weekend in October 1985 with a banquet and anniversary service at which time the Rev. Robert Erickson, Superintendent of the East Coast Conference of Covenant Churches, and Dr. Milton Engbretson, President of the Evangelical Covenant Church of America will be present.

The Covenant Congregation built its first church on the top of Quarry St. hill, moved to Garfield St. in 1890; and in 1956 to the present location on Whitwell St.

Thanksgiving Eve Service At St. John's Church

St. John's church will be distributed in the species of both bread and wine for those prepared to receive the sacrament.

After the Mass, the Parish Activities Commission will host a reception in the lower church hall. Coffee, tea and cider will be served. Those planning to attend may bring desserts to share with other members of the parish community.

St. John's only other Thanksgiving Mass will be celebrated Thursday, Nov. 22, at 8:30 a.m.

St. John the Baptist Church, 44 School St., Quincy Center, invites parishioners and other area residents to participate in its festive annual Thanksgiving observance Wednesday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 p.m.

A special Mass of Thanksgiving will be celebrated by The Rev. William McCarthy, principal celebrant, and St. John's associate pastors, Fr. Joseph Byrne, Fr. Daniel Graham and Fr. Thomas Synan, with the Rev. Mr. Charles Sullivan.

Thanksgiving Celebration Sunday At Bethany Church

Thanksgiving will be celebrated at a special service Sunday, Nov. 18, at 10 a.m. in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center. There will not be an early Chapel service this Sunday.

The altar and chancel area will be decorated with cornucopia, fruits, vegetables, grains and flowers, as a symbol of God's goodness. A special committee chaired by Sandra Jones, will handle the design and arrangement.

Special music will be provided by Peter E. Krasinski, organist, and two trumpeters, Glenn DiBona and Andrew Levitsky, who will accompany the hymns and anthems.

The Chancel Choir will present as the offertory, "Praise the Lord With Joyful Cry," by Lawrence F. Bartlett, and as the second anthem, "From All That Dwell Below the Skies," by Calvin Hampton. The Children's Choir will also sing a composition by R. Vaughan Williams, "Come, My Way, My Truth, My Life."

Howard S. Willard, Sr., will read "Thanksgiving 1623" from the Journal of Gov. William Bradford, the second governor of Plymouth Colony.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon entitled, "Anxious About What?" based on the scriptural text in the Gospel of Luke 12:22-31. The lay scripture reader will be Gilbert I. Fitzgerald. Associate minister, the Rev. Joel F. Huntington will serve as liturgist.

Ten persons will be received as new members of the congregation: Agnes E. Berry, Richard E. and Linda J. Briggs, Katherine M. Buchanan, Catherine A. Burke, Walter E. and Gladys Christensen, Lori Ann Miller, and Merlyn and Judith C. Page.

All persons planning to attend the worship service are invited to bring a food offering up front at the altar during the service.

The children of the Sunday School will attend the first hall of the service in the sanctuary and then will go to their rooms for abbreviated class sessions, from 10:30 to 11 a.m. The Senior High Class, 9th-12th grades, meets at 9 a.m. and is taught by Robert R. Peoples, Jr.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

An emergency offering for "Ethiopian Famine Relief," will also be received to help provide food for the starving people in that country.

Envelopes will be provided in the sanctuary or persons can place their contributions in their own marked envelope and place it on the offering plate, or bring or mail it to the Bethany Church Office.

The Bethany Youth Fellowship will host a youth retreat at the church from Friday, Nov. 16, at 8 p.m. to Sunday at 1 p.m. Young people from the Congregational churches at Athol and Goshen, N.H. will share in this weekend retreat, which Rev. Huntington will lead.

At 11 a.m., Sunday, there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School or Youth Fellowship.

The service of worship will also be broadcast over station WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m. by delayed-tape.

For information about Bethany and its ministry and programs, contact either Pastor Arnold or the church office at 479-7300.

"The Church And I" St. Joseph's Topic

Fr. Joseph Racke, Associate Pastor of St. Joseph Church, Quincy Point, will discuss "The Church and I: Discernment of Involvement" Friday, Nov. 16, at 7:45 p.m.

The program is being presented by the Spiritual Development Program which is in its fifth year at St. Joseph's. It is under the direction of Frances McDonald. Fr. Racke continues as spiritual advisor to the program.

Christmas Fair, Luncheon At Fenno House

Fenno House will hold its annual Christmas fair and luncheon Saturday, Nov. 17, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Common Room of the complex, 540 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Tables will include home baked food and home made items. There will be a white elephant table as well as many other tables. Coffee and donuts may be purchased at any time. A sandwich luncheon will be available.

Pilgrim William Brewster Squantum Church Topic

The life of Pilgrim William Brewster was related Sunday morning at the First Church of Squantum in a sermon by the pastor entitled "Publish the Truth!"

The sermon was the second in a series being preached this month by the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin on "The Pilgrim Faith."

Each Sunday, Dr. Langevin has been developing his sermon in connection with the biography of one of the Pilgrims and explaining a spiritual principle which that particular person represents.

The remaining sermons will deal with Edward Winslow ("Remembering with Thanks," Nov. 18 and Roger Williams ("The Necessity of the Separation of Church and State," Nov. 25).

Dr. Langevin spoke Sunday on the same topic at both morning services. William Brewster was the chief lay leader of the Pilgrims as they organized at Scrooby, England, and then made their way to Holland and to the New World.

He was, in effect, the pastor of the Pilgrims during the early years of the settlement at Plymouth.

The service included readings from William Bradford's writings about William Brewster and the Pilgrim experience.

During the second service, the Chancel Choir combined with the Youth Choir to sing the anthem, "Prayer of Thanksgiving" by E. Kremser.

The organ prelude to the service included "Andante" by Von Spee (1591-1635) and "Moderato" by Voughtlander (1591-1643). The postlude was "Faint Me Not, O Holy Christ" by Samuel Scheidt (1587-1654). Mary Ruth Scott is the organist.

Greeters for the second service were Chill and Shirley Mason. Ushers were Marci Hurd and Kim Olsen for the first service, Lore Wallin and Steward Scott for the second. The Fellowship Hour after the second service was hosted by Dana and Pat Olsen.

This Sunday, there will be a Thanksgiving Sunday breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and a single service for the whole congregation at 10:30 a.m.

The breakfast will include orange juice, scrambled eggs, sausages, hash browns, muffins and a beverage. Three choirs will sing at the service.

The Inter-Church Council of North Quincy will sponsor a "Service of Thanksgiving" Wednesday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Church of Squantum. Participants will include pastors and members of the North Quincy and Wollaston churches.

The choir for the service will be that of the First Church of Squantum but members of the choirs of other local churches are invited to sing as well.

Choir Director Mary Ruth Scott asks that all persons planning to sing that night be in the church sanctuary at 6:30 p.m. with his or her own music, robe and music folder.

The anthem will be "Thanks Be to Thee" by George F. Handel (SATB, as arranged by Channing Lefebvre.)

Ecumenical Thanksgiving Service At St. Joseph's Church

A Thanksgiving Ecumenical Service will be held Tuesday, Nov. 20 at 8 p.m. at St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point.

The joint service will be held by Quincy Point

Congregational Church and St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

The Rev. Yvonne V. Schaudt of Quincy Point Congregational will be guest preacher.

Everyone from Quincy Point is invited to attend the annual service.

Committee members for the service are the Rev. Mr. John Jenette, Marcia Serrino, John Bissett and Jean Kane.

'Adopting Older Children' PSSB Meetings Topic

In celebration of National Adoption Week Nov. 18-24, the Protestant Social Service Bureau has planned meetings on "Questions and Answers on Adopting Older Children" Dec. 3 and 5.

The meeting Dec. 3 will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Marshfield Public Library.

Route 139.

On Dec. 5, the meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the PSSB, 774 Hancock St., Wollaston.

"Children Grow Better in Families" is the theme suggested by the North American Council on Adoptable Children for National Adoption Week.

The PSSB in Quincy is a family-oriented agency serving families and children of all denominations, providing counseling services, a foster home program and an adoption program.

Pack 14 Planning Holly-Day Fair

The parents of Cub Scout Pack 14 members invite the public to attend a Holly-Day Fair Friday and Saturday, Nov. 16 and 17, at Wollaston Congregational Church, Lincoln and Winthrop Aves.

Hours will be 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Friday and 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Fair tables will include white elephant, crafts, baked goods, plants and toys. There will also be a snack bar and children's area.

Some tables will have new items on Saturday.

There will also be drawings of items such as a twin size duck quilt, hand-crafted coffee table and a complete turkey dinner for eight people.

For more information, contact the cubmaster, Gus Oster, at 471-3121.

"Thank You" Election Day Sale At Beechwood

The neighbors and friends in Ward 5, Precinct 6 who vote at the Beechwood Community Life Center gave a special thank-you to the center recently.

Community members organized and ran a Bake and Craft Sale to benefit the center as a way of thanking the center for allowing voting once again to take place at Beechwood.

When the building was closed in June, 1981, the voting poll was moved out of the building.

Shirley Laing, a community resident, asked the center if the Polls could be returned to Beechwood.

When the polls were returned, Mrs. Laing began the organization of a thank-you.

5 Residents On Wentworth Dean's List

Five Quincy residents were named to the Dean's List for the summer semester for co-op education students at Wentworth Institute, Boston.

They are:
Gary Donaghey, 45 Wedgewood St., Civil Engineering Technology;
Joseph Haidul, 113 Upland

Rd., Electronic Engineering Technology; Robert B. Hirsch, 89 Brook Rd., Mechanical Engineering Technology; Veeraded Kridaratikorn, Newport Ave., Manufacturing Engineering Technology; and Paul E. Tevvaroski, 12 Arthur Ave., Electronic Engineering Technology.

'How To Wait' Sermon Topic At First Presbyterian

The Rev. Larry Baskin, assistant pastor at First Presbyterian Church gave the call to worship at the Sunday 11 a.m. service.

The Choral Anthem, "Draw Us in the Spirit's Tether" by H.W. Friedell, was sung by the Senior Choir under the direction of Lambert Brandes.

Dr. Roger Alden Kvam's sermon topic was "How to Wait" based on Matthew 25:1-13, the parable of the 10 maidens who took their lamps and went to meet the bridegroom.

Matthew 25:3,4 indicates "For when the foolish took their lamps, they took flasks of oil with their lamps."

QNHS Receives Energy Conservation Funds

Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services has been awarded two grants for their Residential Energy Conservation Program.

The Riley Foundation has given a one-time grant of $20,000 to establish a revolving loan fund for energy conservation. The Godfrey M. Hyams Trust awarded QNHS a $5,000

Pastor Kvam paralleled how it is easy to get wrapped up in life and how we must stop and take a moment to replenish the oil in our flasks through the Word of God. "The Waiting", Dr. Kvam says, "can be likened to a classical book, where we already know the ending. The joy is in the anticipation of knowing how we are going to get there."

A coffee hour followed the service in Fellowship Hall.

The congregation's annual Thanksgiving Dinner will be held this Sunday, November 18th after Morning Worship in Fellowship Hall.

Festive Holiday Fair At Quincy Art Center

The Quincy Art Association will hold a Festive Holiday Fair Dec. 1, 2, 3 and 4, at the association's art center, 26 High School Ave., Quincy Center.

Handmade craft items such as prints, pressed flowers, decorated wreaths, holiday ornaments and stenciled items will be among the things on sale.

Quincy Camp Fire Tours Almquist Greenhouses

Several Camp Fire clubs working for the Wise Willie Conservation emblem or Science Honor Beads recently toured the Almquist Greenhouses in Quincy.

The girls were shown through the 19 greenhouses by Scott Almquist, whose grandfather built the original greenhouse on the Hoover St. site 55 years ago.

Almquist showed the young people the 12,000 poinsettia plants which will be ready for the holidays, pansy beds straw for the winter, several greenhouses full of chrysanthemums, as well as those filled with various foliage houseplants.

He let the girls rub and smell to identify some of the herbs, and demonstrated the loam conveyor belt that brings loam up to be sifted, sterilized, and mixed with nutrients.

The different kinds of greenhouses and lighting systems were explained, as well as the automatic watering and temperature alarm.

The girls each received a coleus plant, courtesy of Almquist's, and were showed how to pinch back the leaves to increase foliage.

Christina Lee and Rebecca Chin, of the Furnace Brook Adventurers, presented Almquist with an award from Quincy Camp Fire for special volunteer service to Camp Fire youth during September and October.

PHARMACY TOPICS

Dramatic increase in the survival rate of children with cancer has been reported by the National Cancer Institute. New cases still occur at the same rate, but improved therapy has permitted more children to be cured.

Win compresses seem to heal the treatment-resistant skin ulcers of a number of patients. The report comes, appropriately, from Walnut Creek, near California's wine country.

A new mammography system is under development at the Harvard Medical School. It would reduce radiation exposure.

In a test at Fair Oaks Hospital in Summit, New Jersey, recovering cocaine addicts took tyrosine, an amino acid plus vitamins, to ease post-drug depression and help build up normal neurotransmission.

Diabetics with painful nerve damage noted improvement with a new drug now being tested. Sorbitol works by blocking the accumulation of a blood sugar that can collect in the nerve cells. Drug may be available in two to three years.

Diabetics depend on the fresh insulin and complete assortment of test products and syringes at

Rosemary Wahlberg Reelected Mass. Community Action President

Rosemary Wahlberg, executive director of Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc., was recently reelected to her third term as president of the Massachusetts Community Action Program Directors Association.

Mrs. Wahlberg announced that community action agencies across the state had a successful year in their campaign to improve services to low income populations.

This year, for the first time, the state legislature approved a $350,000 appropriation to supplement the federal community services block grant.

"We are very grateful to Governor Dukakis and the Massachusetts Legislature for stepping forward to help offset drastic federal cutbacks in community service block grant funds since 1981," stated Mrs. Wahlberg.

ROSEMARY WAHLBERG

The local share of the state community service block grant supplemental appropriation amounted to $18,000 and was awarded to Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc.

"These funds will be used to address the needs of the over 7,000 individuals living below the poverty level in Quincy."

"We will be expanding our advocacy project for low income women and our information and referral activities. We will develop a resource book for individuals and for local agencies. The Director of Community Programs, Mary Brelsford, and Debbie Eaton, the Associate Director of Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc. will be directing these activities" according to Mrs. Wahlberg.

Also announced at the Community Action program annual meeting was the appointment of Mrs. Wahlberg to the Governors Advisory Committee to the Executive Office of Energy Resources.

New Student Activities Director At QJC

Quincy Junior College announces the appointment of Lori Tomassetti as Director of Student Activities.

Miss Tomassetti is a graduate of the University of Virginia with a M.Ed. She focused on the areas of counseling and student personnel, while in school.

"I'm looking forward to the challenge of developing student activities at QJC," she said.

As well as developing new student activities, she will be working with students to enhance student life.

"I hope to develop new and diverse activities for all of the students attending QJC," she said.

Prior to coming to QJC, she did career counseling for college students and worked on student activity programming at a junior college in Virginia.

Revolutionary War Characters At Broad Meadows Nov. 20

Mary Hays, better known as Molly Pitcher, will visit Broad Meadows Middle School Tuesday, Nov. 20.

The program is being presented by "Characters" Educational Theater of Franklin.

Molly became known for her heroism during the American Revolutionary War when she took over her fallen husband's position at the cannon, reputedly turning the Battle of Monmouth into a colonial victory.

At least that's how Molly sees it as she brags her way through the visit, complete with slides, stories and impromptu asides to the audience.

Single Parents, Stress Program At Library

"Single Parents & Parenting Stress", a special free program will be presented by Dr. Richard C. Raynard and Karen Gardner at the Thomas Crane main library, Quincy Sq., today (Thursday) at 10:30 a.m.

Dr. Raynard, a clinical psychologist, is the director of Crossroads Counseling Center in Braintree and Miss Gardner is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker at Crossroads as a family therapy specialist.

Addressing the concerns of both divorced and married parents, the talk will explore the pressures parents face and options for dealing with them. Fewer than one out of three children under 18 live in an intact "nuclear" family; over 12 million adults are single parents, and another 25 million are step parents. For all parents, the problems of parenting, finances, day care, career, child abuse, latch key children, time management and stress are of concern.

The program is free, and the public is invited. Time will be provided for questions and discussion. More information may be obtained by calling Crossroads Counseling Center at 843-7550.

"Turkeyrama" Saturday At H.N. Legion Post

A "Turkeyrama" will be held by the Houghs Neck Legion Post Saturday, Nov. 17, starting at 9 p.m. at the post home, 1116 Sea St., Houghs Neck.

Proceeds will go for a Christmas party for area children, and to benefit the post's youth activities program.

Commander John Hirtle and Junior Vice Commander Martin O'Leary are co-chairmen.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Manager

INTEREST LOWER THAN STATED

QUESTION: Is it true that the ACTUAL interest I pay on my mortgage is much less than stated because it is all tax deductible?

ANSWER: You are absolutely right! Let's use a 10% mortgage interest rate as an example. If you are in the 25% bracket, your after-tax cost of interest is actually 7.5%. If you are in the 36% tax bracket, your actual interest cost will be 6.4%. If you happen to earn between $44,000 and $52,000 and are in the 50% bracket, a 10% mortgage interest rate will actually cost you only 5% after taxes. This is an extremely important deduction because, in the beginning years of the mortgage, almost all of the monthly payment consists of interest. Real estate is an excellent tax shelter.

DON'T FRET OVER MORTGAGE INTEREST RATE. It's all tax deductible which makes it lower than stated.

Raiders Warm Up For Quincy Game

By TOM SULLIVAN

A few weeks ago the North Quincy football team had a most frustrating game, especially in the first half, before it finally defeated Somerville as expected.

The Raiders pushed Somerville all over the field but couldn't score until the final play of the first half, then went on to win, 28-0.

Last Saturday was almost a duplicate at Veterans Memorial Stadium as the Raiders completely dominated the first half but it wasn't until the final eight seconds of the half they scored against Brookline. This time they went out to a 19-0 lead but had to hold on to pull out a 19-13 victory as Brookline scored on two late pass plays.

The statistics show the complete domination by North. The Raiders had 165 yards rushing while Brookline had a net loss of two yards. The Raiders added 101 yards through the air as Dave Zuroms hit on seven of 13 passes, one for a touchdown, while Brookline had no completions until the last two for touchdowns, covering 90 yards. The two pass plays, covering 68 and 22 yards, accounted for the Indians' only two first downs, while North clicked off 17.

North controlled the ball all day as it ran 68 plays to just 19 for Brookline.

The victory was the sixth in a row for North Quincy, which takes a 7-2 record, its best in several years, into the Thanksgiving game with Quincy.

"This is always our toughest game of the year, the one before Quincy," said Coach Ken McPhee. "The hype is already going for the Quincy game and it is hard for the players to concentrate on the game before. And this was a tough Brookline team, despite their record. Every one expects us to win but you can never take anything for granted. Their defensive line (including 275-pound Kevin Francis) gave us a tough time (Zuroms was sacked three times), but our defense was again outstanding and they couldn't do a thing on offense.

"Our attack was hurt by the loss of Joe Bangs, who has a broken arm, but Steve Kelly and Mike Barry continued their excellent running and Zuroms, as usual, was just immense at quarterback."

Kelly had his sixth 100-plus game rushing with 104 yards, while Barry, who has had four 100-plus games, had 66 hard-earned yards.

McPhee paid tribute to Brookline coach Bill McKeown, who has been hampered all year long by injuries and has many sophomores and juniors in his lineup.

"Dave Cooke played a fine game and Kenny Runge and John Roney at defensive end were outstanding," said McPhee. "Billy Doherty blocked awfully well and Gerry Coughlin made some excellent catches. He is an outstanding receiver. Rob Bradley did well filling in for Bangs and Rich Brooks did a good job passing to Kelly for our first touchdown on a fake field goal attempt."

The North coach hailed the defensive performances of Joe Morrissey, who tackled the quarterback in the end zone for a safety, Al DiBella, Steve Dever, Steve Miller, Runge, Roney, Kelly and Ed Kennedy.

North had a big edge in the opening quarter, but couldn't score. On the final play of the quarter Brookline's Rene Elysee, the Suburban League's top punter, got off a beauty that stopped on the North one-yard line.

In the second quarter the Raiders drove all the way downfield for their first score as they held the ball for nine minutes and 52 seconds.

Q-N Frosh, Sophomore Teams Square Off Saturday

The annual pre-Thanksgiving football games between the sophomore-junior varsity teams and the freshman teams of Quincy and North Quincy will be played Saturday morning at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The freshman game will start at 9 a.m., followed at 10:30 by the sophomore-jayvee contest.

The sophomore teams met for many years but when the sophomore programs were dropped, it was decided to have the sophomore-junior varsity teams clash as well as the freshman. The first freshman game last year resulted in a scoreless tie, while the North soph-jayvees won, 27-8.

Dudek Keeps Rolling Toward 4000-yd. Mark

North Quincy's Joe Dudek completed the regular season with another great performance last week and probably led the undefeated Plymouth, N.H., College football team into the NCAA playoffs.

Dudek, who has broken every school and New England record for scoring and rushing, ran for 201 yards and scored three touchdowns as the Panthers rolled over Curry, 43-14, to end up 10-0 and win the N.E.

Conference title for the fourth straight year. Curry finished at 7-2, its best record in 15 years.

Dudek, a junior, ran his record-breaking touchdown total to 54 for his career and he neared 4000 yards rushing. He is only 12 touchdowns away from tying the great Walter Payton for the all-time NCAA all-division record of 66.

Sophomore quarterback Bob Barrett of Quincy, who finished up another outstanding season for Curry, scored a touchdown for the Colonels.

The game before an overflow crowd at Curry's field had a distinct Quincy flavor.

Playing for Plymouth State were Dudek, Co-Capt. Glen Segalla and Neil Fisher of North Quincy and Scott Anson, Ed Iodice and Bob Mudge of Quincy. Playing for Curry were Barrett and Mike Donovan of Quincy and Jack Brown. Jerry Martin and Kevin Kelly of North Quincy.

North Quincy's Jack Leone, the University of Maine's record-breaking kicker, had no field goals last week but did add three extra points as the Black Bears came from behind to edge Howard, 27-23, for their fourth straight win, evening their record at 5-5. Leone leads Maine in scoring with 43 points on 10 field goals and 13 extra points.

Raiders Warm Up For Quincy

out the yards on the ground and Zuroms completed four passes, one to Kelly for 23 yards, one to Coughlin, who made a fine catch, for 14 and another to Kelly for only three.

It appeared that the Raiders would be stopped without scoring but, on fourth down, following a sack of Zuroms, they set up for a field goal. The holder, Brooks, took the ball and passed to Kelly, who barely made it into the zone for the touchdown. Cooke kicked the extra point.

Brookline had time for just one play, its only one of the quarter.

Brookline fumbled the second half kickoff and Mike Russell recovered on the Indians' 17. Following a loss, Zuroms hit Coughlin for 19 yards to the one from where Zuroms scored. Cooke again kicked the point. In just 1:23 of playing time North had scored two touchdowns.

A few plays later Phil Polishuk, Brookline's sophomore quarterback, completed a pass to Mike Martinez for what looked like the visitors' first good gain of the game but it was nullified by a penalty.

Brooks punted to Brookline's six-yard line and three plays later Morrissey tackled Polishuk in the end zone for another two points.

In the fourth quarter, Kelly went for 15 yards to Brookline's four, behind a fine block by Doherty, but the Raiders were held for three downs. On fourth down Cooke kicked his first field goal, a 22-yarder, to increase the Raiders' lead to 19-0.

It wasn't over, however, as Polishuk threw a bomb to Scott Gillis, who raced 35 yards to complete a 68-yard scoring play. A pass for the conversion failed.

A few plays later Brooks took a low pass from center and his punt went off the side of his foot, Brookline getting the ball on North's 22. On the first play Polishuk passed to John Islas for the touchdown and Elysee kicked the point.

North took the kickoff and ground out four first downs and ran out the clock to prevent the troublesome Indians from getting another chance.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1940's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Avitable, Rendle Score On 'Worst Football Day'

Steve Avitable and Jim Rendle each scored two touchdowns as the Quincy High School football team wallowed through the mud and rain at Veterans Memorial Stadium and emerged with a 26-0 victory over Medford.

"This was the worst football day we've had since I took the Quincy coaching job last year," said Henry Conroy. "But we felt it would be best to get the game out of the way so we could begin preparing for North Quincy."

Avitable scored the most spectacular of Quincy's four touchdowns when he took a pass from quarterback Bill Rogers on the Presidents' 12 yard line and slipped and slid 78 yards for the score. Earlier in the game, Avitable bucked over from the two.

The Quincy lineup included: Rendle, Bertrand, Morrell, Catto, Mahoney, Osborne, Jordan, Begle, ends: Iamasco, W. Dunn, K. Dunn, Melville, Zambruno, Rose, Mattes, Omar, Kolson, Russo, Jakins, tackles: McDonough, Craig, Cedrone, Pettiti, Fricksen, Sparks, Grasso, Hobbs, guards: Gold, Picarski, Perletuo, Pugliesi, Gosselin, centers:

Page, Vecchione, Lanata, Avitable, Brady, Curran, Prouty, DiFederico, Parry, Rinella, Malvesti, Crossman, Aucoin, Dixon, Flynn, Prouty, Rogers, Ferguson, Bogie, Hoav, backs.

NORTH SQUEEZES BY

Quarterback Richie Wanless laked a handoff to Pete Varney and scampered 29 yards around right end for the game's only touchdown as the North Quincy High School football team warmed up for the Thanksgiving Day clash with Quincy with an 8-0 victory over Somerville.

Members of the Quincy team, who had played Medford earlier in the day, sat in the stands to watch their rivals play and cheered loudly for Somerville.

It was apparent that the North Quincy ball carriers were taking no chances on the muddy field since they accounted for only 119 yards on both the ground and in the air and star halfback Varney, bothered with a leg injury, was used only sparingly.

The North Quincy lineup included: Trubiano, Zink, Nee, Merrill, ends: Lloyd, Magnarelli, McAdulff, Grazio, tackles: Lawlor, Langille, Tanofsky, McPhee, guards: Thomas, Waltman, centers: Wanless, Varney, Kelly, Campanale, DiPaulo, backs.

JUNIOR COLLEGE WINS

Mike Ennis scored 18 points and Bob Ayer added another 12 as the Quincy Junior College basketball team won its opening game of the season, 73-68, over Newton Junior College. Bob Crowley played an outstanding defensive game with 26 rebounds to his credit.

The Quincy Junior College lineup included: Flood, Devine, forwards: Ennis, center: Crowley, Robertson, McGeegan, Ayer, Ryan, Willy, guards.

ENC BURIED

Lloyd Shannon had 16 points and Ron Bartholomew chipped in 13 but the Eastern Nazarene College basketball team, playing without Co-Capt. Gary Jones who was out with a sprained knee ligament, bowed to Gordon College, 83-62.

KICKOFF TOUCHDOWNS

Steve Carerra and Mike Nye both raced for touchdowns with second half kickoffs as Sterling Junior High School football teams twice defeated Point, the ninth graders by a margin of 18-0 and the seventh graders emerging triumphant, 26-0.

SPORTS BITS '65

Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Koch Club, announced that his organization will sponsor a Quincy Pee Wee Hockey League to start boys "playing hockey at an earlier age in order to compete with cities and towns that have youth hockey programs" . . . The Eastern Nazarene basketball team listed three tournaments on its schedule, the Babson Invitational at Wellesley, the Malone tourney at Canton, Ohio, and the Kings College tournament at White Plains, N.Y. . . . Bill Russell had 22 rebounds and Sam Jones scored 22 points as the Boston Celtics whipped the San Francisco Warriors, 108-105. . . . Bill Allen of Quincy was named to the Marine Racing Hall of Fame in Long Beach, Calif. . . . The Boston Bruins new line of Forbes Kennedy, Reg Fleming and Tom Williams accounted for one goal as the Bruins defeated Toronto Maple Leafs, 2-0. . . . Tony Romeo, the Boston Patriots tight end, was the speaker at a father and sons night at the Quincy YMCA.

A Sports Legend

Jack Donahue Fondly Remembered

Jack Donahue, North Quincy High School's first football coach who died Saturday at age 79 is fondly remembered by his players and those who coached against him.

Here are a few of their tributes.

Bill Sullivan, who coached Quincy football teams to five straight wins over Jack Donahue's North Quincy teams and had a 6-2 record against North, paid tribute to the late North Quincy coach, saying, "The passing of Jack Donahue diminishes the ranks of this rapidly disappearing breed of coaches."

See Page 10 for obituary

"His playing days at Boston College and his early coaching days were in the 1920s and 30s when college football was king and sportswriters colored the games with tinges of romanticism. It has been said that teams reflect the personalities of their coaches. Coach Donahue brought to the game the character and integrity of his college days when he played for the famous Iron Major, Frank Cavanaugh.

"His teams were tough. They played the game rough but always clean and according to the rules. I admired and respected Jack Donahue. I have fond memories of our gridiron battles. I was always impressed by the loyalty of his players and one of the best examples is one of his former players, Pete Zoia. I feel Pete deserves to be in North Quincy's Hall of Fame but, even more, in life's Hall of Fame for the love and devotion he showed for Jack Donahue and his wife."

"Jack Donahue was great to me and taught me an awful lot," said Carl Leone, who played for Quincy against Donahue's teams (1944-46) and who succeeded Jack as North's head coach after being one of his assistants for six years.

"I tried to follow his example when I succeeded him as head coach and any success I might have had can be attributed in a large part to him. He was a great coach and a great man. We will miss him."

Dave Burke, who starred for Donahue and led the Raiders to successive wins over Quincy in 1944 and 1945, said, "Jack was the beginning of football at North and built the foundation. All that came after that was built off his principles. He was an outstanding coach and a real gentleman and he will be sorely missed."

"With Jack, education came before football and he helped me go on to college," said Jim (Sonny) Fay, captain of Donahue's 1934 team.

"Jack was well-educated himself and was one of the few in those days to have a master's degree. And he was an outstanding football coach and was very fundamental. He was ahead of his time and used the Pop Warner double wing successfully.

"He had a very sophisticated offense and he always stressed defense. He was a fine man as well as a good coach and he is going to be sorely missed."

ANNUAL JACK Donahue Award as best North Quincy player in Quincy game was presented to John Kozlowski by the coach himself in 1983.

Moment Of Silence For Jack Donahue

A moment of silence was observed before last week's North Quincy-Brookline football game at Veterans Memorial Field in memory of Jack Donahue, North's coach from 1932 through 1960, who died Saturday morning.

PEP TALKS to his team between the halves of football games helped to make Jack Donahue, the coach, a legend in his own time.

North Girls Win 5th Straight X-Country Title

Although two of its top runners were under par physically, the North Quincy girls' cross-country team won its fifth successive Eastern Mass. championship last Saturday over the Franklin Park course.

The Raiderettes scored 96 points to out-distance Cambridge Rindge and Latin, which finished with 137 points. New Bedford was third. Weymouth North fourth and Haverhill fifth.

Lou Tozzi's North girls will seek the state title Saturday at Northfield.

Tricia Barrett was North's only medal winner last week, placing fourth in 18:19.4, but Tozzi received strong performances from his other four scorers.

Lee Anne Fitzgerald was 17th, Tricia Leary 19th, Maryanne Kelliher 24th and Meg Leary 32nd.

"We have run better but I'm very happy because we were not healthy," said Tozzi. "Maryanne Kelliher and Meg Leary usually finish second or third.

Track Coaches Association Push For Indoor Facility

The Mass. State Track Coaches Association, of which North Quincy's highly-successful coach, Lou Tozzi, is vice president, is going all-out in an attempt to finally get an indoor track facility for high schools and win a battle which has been going on for 25 years.

"This is it," Tozzi said. "Either we get the legislature to finally build us an indoor track facility, as they have promised so many times, or indoor track is a dying sport in this state."

Tozzi urges all coaches, athletes, former athletes and parents to write to the governor, their state senator, state representatives and the MDA commissioner.

"Thousands of letters from interested track people will bring results," Tozzi said. "For 25 years politicians have promised, appropriated, planned and postponed construction of this building. I have been involved for many years and the situation is getting absurd."

"I urge everyone to write and to make it short, make it simple, don't be nasty, don't make threats, but DO write the letters. Write now!"

Tozzi points out that the colleges have indicated that they no longer want the high schools using their facilities for multi-school meets and are forcing the schoolboys and schoolgirls out through high fees and not granting dates.

The North Quincy coach urges letters be sent to Gov. Michael Dukakis, State Sen. Paul Harold, State Reps. Michael W. Morrissey, Robert Cerasoli and Thomas Brownell, all at the State House, and MDC Comr. William Geary at 20 Somerset St., Boston 02108.

Quincy Frosh Optimistic Despite Loss At Brockton

Despite losing to Brockton last Friday, 28-8, the Quincy Freshmen football team found much about which to be hopeful as it prepared to face North Quincy Saturday.

The Presidents found themselves behind very quickly against the Boxers. As Brockton scored on its first two possessions. A much bigger Brockton squad dominated the line throughout most of the first half, and was able to give the Brockton quarterback ample time to pick apart the Quincy secondary. However, a third Brockton touchdown seemed to bring a turnaround in Quincy's game.

"We simply were not ready to play at the start of the game," said Quincy coach Mitch Finnegan. "Brockton had a much bigger squad, both in individual size and in numbers, and we were not ready to play hard. But we fought back after the third touchdown, and did not give in."

The turning point for Quincy came near the end of the second quarter. Trailing 22-0, the Quincy defense found itself on its own 20-yard line. With a little more than a minute to go in the half, Brockton called three time outs in an effort to get yet another touchdown before the half ended. But the Presidents held and took over the ball on the last play of the half.

"We were very proud of the tenacity of our defense at the end of the half," said Finnegan. "Steve Freeland and Dave Gustin came up with some big hits at the cornerback positions, and Frank Calabro plugged up the middle from the line-backer slot. We were amazed at the time outs called when Brockton was leading by such a margin, but we're very proud of the way we held on."

The Quincy defense came out strong in the second half, led by Erik Walorz. "Erik had a great game," Finnegan said. "We used him at every position on the line, and even as a line-backer. Whenever we had a weakness, we knew we could stick Erik there, and that he'd plug up the hole."

The Quincy offense, meanwhile, finally began to click at the end of the third period. Behind the strong running of backs Freeland and Tom Tegen, Quincy began to move the ball up the field, as quarterback Tom Bjork connected on a few short passes. The Presidents' touchdown was set up by a 40-yard halfback pass from Tegen to tight end Frank Calabro that brought the ball to the Brockton 30. Bjork then connected on a thirty-yard pass to Tight end Craig Bowlen for the touchdown. Tegen ran in the conversion.

The Quincy defense held Brockton again, and took over the ball on their own twenty. Gerard Dennett moved from the end position to take over for the injured Bjork and managed to move the Presidents downfield before a fumble gave Brockton the ball. However, the tough Quincy defense forced a Brockton fumble, and Quincy had the ball back with less than a minute to go in the game. Leading 22-8, Brockton put in their starting defense once again, and picked off a Quincy pass for the final score of the game.

Finnegan praised Mike Merlino for his efforts. "Mike stepped in at center for the first time ever at practice on Thursday, and played a fine game. His play is an example of our team members being ready to step in wherever needed."

Finnegan was also pleased with the play of the entire line. "Coach Bob Quist has worked very hard with the linemen all season long, and their improved play was the biggest factor in our second half performance."

The Presidents play North Quincy on Saturday at Veterans Stadium at 9:00 a.m. They will be led by game captains Frank Calabro, Steve Freeland, Craig Bowlen, Tom Bjork and Karl Staskiewicz, who is returning from an injury.

Archery Champions Announced

Archery champions of the Quincy Recreation Department summer program were crowned in three divisions after district and playground championships.

Archery instructors for the 26 supervised playgrounds were Steve Durante and Suzzan Pacetti.

The champions and runners up are:

Forbes Hill.

Midget girls: Chris Barrett - Russell; Jackie Potter (Runner-up) Russell Park. Juniors girls: Karen Gralton - Fenno St.; Julie Buckley - Fenno St. (runner-up). Seniors girls: Maureen Gralton - Fenno St.; Kim Robertson (Runner-up) - LaBrecque.

Quincy Volleyball Team In South Semi-Finals

The Quincy girls' volleyball team, seeking its second state championship in three years, advanced the South semifinals and hosted Brookline Tuesday night.

Brockton met Bp. Connelly in the other semifinal and the winners will meet tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 at Massasoit Junior College in Brockton for the South crown.

The Quincy girls defeated Case of Swanson, Abp. Williams and Boston English in the Pool C quarterfinals last Saturday.

Despite The Score, A Positive Feeling

Brockton's unbeaten football team, the top-ranked Div. 1 Eastern Mass. team headed for the Super Bowl, poured it on Quincy, 51-8, last Saturday at Marciano Stadium to improve its record to 9-0.

But Quincy coach Jack Raymer came away from the game with a positive feeling after the Presidents had a three-game win streak halted and dropped to 4-4 entering the Thanksgiving finals.

Quincy had more than 420 yards in total offense, prompting Brockton coach Armand Colombo to say it was the best offense he has seen this season.

"Despite the huge score, I am very pleased with the way we moved the ball and am going into the North Quincy game with high hopes," said the first-year Quincy coach. "We passed a lot more than usual and Billy Shaughnessy and sophomore Steve Austin completed 21 passes for 300 yards, including a 64-yard touchdown pass by Austin. We also had more than 100 yards rushing. We had 14 first downs and on one occasion we held the ball for more than six minutes but couldn't score."

Shaughnessy was 14 for 21 for 168 yards and Austin was seven for 11 for 133 yards. Sophomore George McGuinness had seven receptions for 148 yards, including the lone touchdown and Ted McCall, who did a fine job filling in for the injured Joe Conti, caught four passes for 74 yards.

Daron Tucker rushed for 43 yards, Joe Cullen had 36 and McCall 33, while Don Luisi ran well and had his best game. Quincy missed

Don Parry, who has three touchdowns and is one of the team's best pass receivers, who was out with an injury.

The offensive line did a good job, giving the quarterbacks good protection and opening up some good holes for the ball carriers. Raymer singled out Steve Perfetto, John O'Callaghan, Kevin Burke, P. J. Duggan and Pat Calabro.

The Presidents' coach also had good words for Austin, Joe Inello on defense, Steve Picarski, Chris Veneto, Steve Gardner, Chris Mackey, Jeff Sprague, John Bogan, Dave Savage, Paul Lally and Rick Smith.

Odell Wilson, one of the premier runners in the Suburban League, scored five touchdowns for Brockton and quarterback Tom Colombo had three touchdowns passes, giving him 24 for the season, a school record.

Brockton wasted little time in scoring as it drove from the opening kickoff and Wilson, following a 40-yard burst, scored from the 10 and Peter Marciano kicked the point.

Quincy, led by Shaughnessy's passing, drove to Brockton's 10, using up more than six minutes, but the Boxers held and Wilson raced for 60 yards, then 12 and caught a Colombo pass for his second TD. Marciano again kicked the point.

Diahann Carroll Special Guest At WJDA's Musical Sunday

Broadway and TV star Diahann Carroll will be Musical's special guest Sunday, Nov. 18, 1 to 4 p.m. on WJDA radio, 1300 AM.

Miss Carroll began her career as a model and then went on to be featured in such Hollywood movies as "Porgy and Bess", "Carmen Jones" and "Paris Blues".

She also appeared on Broadway in "House of Flowers" and "No Strings".

Miss Carroll starred in her own TV series, "Julia", and has made numerous television appearances.

This week's spotlight show is "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever" with music by Burton Lane, book and lyrics by Alan Jay Lerner.

Mini-Fair At Point-Webster

The Point-Webster PTO will hold a Holiday Mini-Fair Saturday, Nov. 17, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the school gym.

The fair will feature crafts, games, a white elephant table and refreshments.

All are welcome. Proceeds will go to the PTO for holiday parties and field trips.

SCARBOROUGH CHAMBER PLAYERS, based in Squantum, will perform Monday, Nov. 26, at North Quincy High School.

Scarborough Chamber Players In Concert At NQHS Nov. 26

The Scarborough Chamber Players, based in Squantum, will present a concert Monday, Nov. 26, at 8 p.m. at North Quincy High School.

Included in the program will be "Songs of Youth and Age", written by Robert Starer for the group and which has as its text poetry of Kingsley, Whitman, Tennyson, and an anonymous poem from the Medieval period.

There will also be romantic pieces of Spohr, Glinka and Molino and two works of South American composer Heitor Villa-Lobos, as well as work by Castelnuovo-Tedesco who has written for movies in California.

The performance, sponsored by the Quincy Arts Council and the Mass. Arts Lottery, is part of a residency the group will do that week.

The residency involves three children's programs at the Central, Broad-meadows and Atlantic Middle Schools.

Each program will also have clinics given by each member of the group. The six areas are voice, flute, clarinet, saxophone, bassoon, guitar and piano.

The group will be involved in a similar program in the Winchester schools later this season. Members of the group are Virginia Sindelar, flutist; Roberta Gumbel, soprano; Peter Cokkinias, conductor, clarinetist, teacher and music educator; Richard Schilling, guitar; Myron Romanul, pianist conductor, chamber musician; and George Sakakeeny, bassoonist.

The Scarborough Chamber Players, in its third season, has just finished recording a digital compact disc and LP recording for Centaur Records of Baton Rouge, La.

The group will go to the mid-west this spring for a series of performances, and will have a New York debut at Carnegie Recital Hall Dec. 10.

Share A Meal Over The Holidays

South Shore Elder Services will once again coordinate a holiday share a meal program with home delivered meal clients in Quincy, Weymouth, Hull and Randolph.

A private, non-profit social service agency, South Shore Elder Services will coordinate volunteer families with elderly people in their own town.

The family who volunteers to share a meal is asked to deliver the meal to the elderly person living alone and perhaps stop and chat a bit.

Anyone who is willing to share a meal may call any of the agency's meal site managers between 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily, or the main office at 335-1310 or 383-9790.

Quincy meal site managers and their phone numbers are Norma Johnson, 472-6667; Nicci Marchi, 770-0681 and Eleanor O'Brien, 328-0242.

Condon Re-Elected To Head State Group

City Councillor Joanne Condon was reelected president of the Massachusetts Municipal City Councillors' Association recently at the group's annual conference in Hyannis.

The MMCCA is made up of city councillors throughout the state who meet quarterly to exchange ideas and discuss matters of mutual concern.

Dacey Bros. Sold To Conn. Chain

Dacey Bros. Dairy Store, with six outlets in Quincy, has been sold to Dairy Mart Convenience Stores Inc. of Enfield, Conn.

Jerry Dacey of Hingham was owner of Dacey Bros. which has 16 outlets from the South to Natick.

The Dacey stores will remain in business as Dairy Mart stores, according to a spokesman for the new owners.

The spokesman also said the stores will be improved and many will be expanded to include deli service.

The approximately 125 Dacey Bros. employees will join the Dairy Mart payroll, said Frank Colacino, Dairy Mart vice president for real estate of the 180-store chain.

Five Locations For Free Cheese

Quincy Community Action has announced that cheese and butter will be distributed to eligible families at five locations in the city during the month of November.

Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 11 Hunt St., Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 19, 20 and 21, from 12 noon to 4 p.m. Sons of Italy Hall, 120 Quarry St., Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 19, 20 and 21, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. This is a change in location from the South West Community Center.

Houghs Neck Legion Post, Sea St., Monday, Nov. 19, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., Tuesday, Nov. 20, 12 noon to 4 p.m. St. Boniface Church, Palmer St., Wednesday, Nov. 21, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Elderly residents of public housing should contact the Quincy Housing Authority and those in private elderly housing should contact the building manager.

Eligible families of one to four people will receive five pounds of cheese and two pounds of butter. Families of five or more will receive double that amount.

'Employment Opportunities' Topic For H.N. Community Council

"Present and Future Employment Opportunities" will be discussed Tuesday, Nov. 20, at 8 p.m. at an open meeting of the Houghs Neck Community Council at the Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193

Sea St.

Speakers from General Dynamics will be the first in a series planned to assist residents interested in entering or re-entering employment.

This is part of a program for job recruitment which will take place in community centers throughout Quincy.

Daniel Bythrow, council president, will preside at the meeting. He will announce plans for the annual community Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony Dec. 2.

Weymouth Man Threatened, Robbed

Michael Reardon, 27, of Weymouth reported to police last week that two men lured him to a location behind the Twin City Laundromat, 230 Washington St., threatened him with a pipe and robbed him.

Reardon said he was playing pool at Phil's Cafe when he ran out of change and went to the laundromat to get some from the machine.

The two men, he said, approached him outside the laundromat and offered him some beer. He went with them behind the building where, he said, they punched him in the face, forced him to lie down and went through his pockets.

He was not sure how much money was taken.

Open PTO Meeting At Point-Webster

 That Man's Coming To Town Again - Page 3

Would Aid Traffic

Williard St. Seen As MDC Parkway

By TOM HENSHAW
State and city officials and residents of West Quincy are discussing the possibility of the MDC taking jurisdiction over Williard St. from Furnace Brook Parkway to the Braintree line.

The move would alleviate residents' traffic concerns and help clear the way for construction of a $20 million complex, including two five-story office buildings, on the site of Goldie's junk yard.

Williard St. is currently a state highway from Copeland St. to Hayden St., a city street from Hayden St. to West St. and a state highway again from West St. to the Braintree line.

The potential developer of the Goldie's property, Adams Realty Trust, was turned down by the Board of Zoning Appeals Sept. 11 when it applied for a variance to build in the residential area.

Since that time, however, the trust has held a series of meetings with residents, including objectors, and recently the Planning Board gave permission for the trust to resubmit its bid to the appeals board.

The new submission will be taken up by the appeals board at its Wednesday, Dec. 5, meeting.

The series of meetings between developer and residents also included William Scott of the State Department of Public Works and Leo Lydon, deputy director of engineering for the MDC.

City Planning Director James Lydon, who is no relation, said Leo Lydon expressed the MDC's interest in taking over jurisdiction of Williard St.

"I have a letter from MDC Commissioner William Geary confirming that interest," said Lydon.

Lydon said the MDC looks upon the takeover favorably because it would be the final link in a recreational parkway network that includes Quincy Shore Drive, Furnace Brook Parkway and the Blue Hills Reservation.

"An MDC takeover would be the best thing," said Lydon. "The MDC does a great job of traffic control, they do a lot of beautification work and they exclude truck traffic from the parkways."

"A good deal of the objections residents have to the office buildings at Goldie's is due to their concern that traffic speeds on Williard St. and drivers do not follow the rules of good judgement."

"An MDC takeover would be a long bureaucratic process," said Michael Saint, spokesman for Adams Realty Trust. "Since Williard is part of the state road system, it would need approval from the State Office of Transportation and the State Legislature."

Saint noted that Williard St. is scheduled to be reconstructed with federal funds after the Southeast Expressway reconstruction is completed in November, 1985.

"The priority order would be to finish the Southeast Expressway, reconstruct Williard St. and then turn it over to the MDC," he said.

James Lydon said that, if the MDC fails to take over Williard St., residents have worked out a list of suggestions that will be turned over to the State Department of Public Works for possible implementation.

The list includes:
• Steps should be taken to discourage the use of Williard St. as a throughway.

• Restrict truck traffic from Furnace Brook Parkway to the Braintree line.

• Do not widen Williard St. from 36 to 40 feet as proposed but use the four feet for pedestrian sidewalks and bus stops on the west side that abuts MDC property.

• Pedestrian signs and crosswalks at St. Moritz Ave. and St. Moritz Apartments because there are posted MBTA bus stops.

• Restrict passing from Furnace Brook Parkway to the Braintree line with signs and solid yellow double lines, reduce the speed limit to 25 miles an hour and enforce both measures.

• There should be a traffic holding lane at all developments on Williard St. with the lane supplied by the developers.

• Traffic lights at Adams Realty Trust, Batterymarch Park, West St. and Willard St., and at Hayden St. and Willard St., all lights working with pedestrian activated buttons. Lights should be timed so that traffic going above the speed limit would be forced to stop at the next light.

• Lights at West and Willard Sts. should have a no right turn on red restriction north on Willard St. There should be a signal light at Wesson Ave. activated by a pressure plate.

• Provide a school bus turn around south of the St. Moritz Apartments to service the children in that area. There should be no more school bus stops.

• Provide clear stop lines and marking on the street at the lights on West and Willard Sts. in front of 619 Willard St. Repaint pedestrian crosswalks.

• Sidewalks on Willard St. should be plowed in the winter for pedestrian safety.

• There should be a clause written into the Adams Realty Trust variance that no construction can start until the town of Braintree has accepted sewage from the office complex.

FREE EMERGENCY FOOD — The Quincy based Protestant Social Service Bureau, 776 Hancock St., is preparing for the winter months as donations of canned and processed foods are donated by South Shore churches for the agency's Pantry Shelf. Mrs. Jean Smart of Quincy is one of the volunteers who assists with the free emergency food program which aids over 80 individuals and families each month.

Dog, Radio $10 Stolen From City Dog Pound

A dog, a police radio and a $10 bill were reported stolen last week in two breaks at the city dog pound on Broad St. by thieves who used the radio to threaten to burn the place down.

Acting Dog Officer Phyllis Berlucchi said two youths about 17 years old wearing hooded sweat-shirts appeared at the pound and asked to see the dogs.

She was going out on a pickup, she told them, and she locked the door. When she returned she found the door open and the radio and the $10 bill missing.

Later, police said, the radio was used to threaten to burn the pound.

Earlier in the day, Mrs. Berlucchi said, she found the front door jimmied open, one of the dog pens unlocked and a German shepherd missing.

Bobby Orr Grand Marshal

300,000 Expected At Christmas Parade Sunday

By TOM HENSHAW

A crowd of some 300,000 people is expected to line Hancock St. from Elm St. in Quincy Center to East Squantum St. in North Quincy for the 33rd annual Christmas Festival Parade which starts Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

Former Boston Bruins great Bobby Orr will be the grand marshal and will ride in the parade.

At least 30 bands and 21 floats as well as 20 specialty units will cover the 2.8-mile route, one of the largest Christmas parades in the East.

The parade is one of a series of holiday activities sponsored by the Christmas Festival Committee of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, the city of Quincy and the Patriot Ledger.

"We are sure that this year's parade, consisting of more bands, more floats and more specialty units than last year will provide a tremendous day of enjoyment for all in attendance," said George White, general chairman of the Quincy Festival Committee.

"We are pleased that Bobby Orr will serve in the position of grand marshal."

"The Committee was disappointed to learn that the Boston Police Motorcycle drill team, which was such a big hit last year, has disbanded and the McDonald's All American National Band will be unable to attend for a second year."

Hancock St. from Granite to School Sts. will be roped off at the sidewalk and White asked the cooperation of parade spectators in keeping back behind the ropes.

Floats illustrating the theme "Traditions of Christmas" will be competing for prizes and money in the commercial and non-commercial categories.

In addition, trophies are presented for the best float, the Father Thomas Tierney Trophy; the Mayor's Trophy for the best Quincy float; the Festival Committee Trophy for the best commercial float; and the Chairman's Trophy, which is awarded in the specialty category.

Paul J. Murphy of North Quincy, winner of the parade theme contest, will be a special guest. He will be transported along the parade route and will receive a gift presented by the Festival Committee.

State, county and city officials will also be in the line of march.

The floats will be judged on the basis of adherence to the parade theme, originality, use of materials and colors and overall appearance.

Sponsors of floats include:

Bernie's Modern Formal, the QCBPA, the Patriot Ledger, St. John's CYO, the Catholic Daughters of Houghs Neck, Campfire Girls, Woodward School, Charles Ayres, the Irish Club of Brockton, Sen. Paul D. Harold.

The North Quincy K of C, the Germantown Yacht Club, Headlock Cafe, Quincy Kiwanis Club, Cerebral Palsy Association, the Koch Club, the Viking Club, the Quincy Elks, Marina Bay, the Commodors, and the Sacred Heart Youth Association.

Floats will be judged by Elizabeth Shoor, fashion illustrator; Harold Hawkes, of the Braintree Art Association; and Myron Hartford of the Quincy Art Association. Bob Noble is judging event coordinator.

The high school bands in the parade will be competing for the state and New England championships.

They will appear in this order:

North Quincy, Chicopee Comprehensive, Agawam, Fairhaven, Portsmouth, R.I., Putnam, Conn., Quincy, Norton, Hopedale, Douglas, Haverhill, Whitman-Hanson, Westford Academy.

Bishop Feehan, Andover, Holbrook, Westwood, Dedham, Chicopee, Somerville, Shepherd Hill Regional, Milton, New Bedford, Abington, East Bridgewater.

The winner of the high school band competition will be eligible to participate in the 1986 Cotton Bowl Parade in Dallas, Texas.

Other bands in the Christmas parade include:

The Ft. Devens Army Band, the Klassy Klowns, the 215th Army Band, the Waltham Legion Post band, and the Canton Legion Post band.

Specialty units in the parade include:

Paul Murphy of North Quincy, the theme winner; the elementary school

BOBBY ORR

Christmas Lights Go On Friday Night

Colorful Christmas lights will beam out upon Quincy Friday, Nov. 23, at the annual "turning on the lights" ceremony at Christmas Island in Quincy Square.

A choral group will provide entertainment from 6:30 p.m. to 7:15 p.m.

Dignitaries will be introduced and will have a chance to give brief speeches from 7:20 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the Stop and Shop Building, One Center Plaza.

Santa Claus and the Disney characters are scheduled to arrive at 7:20 p.m. and distribute candy canes to youngsters.

The lights will be turned on promptly at 7:30 p.m. at Christmas Island.

Santa Claus To Parachute Into Quincy Saturday

Santa Claus will arrive in Quincy by parachute Saturday, Nov. 24, at 12:30 p.m.

Santa, along with Mrs. Santa and three elves, will descend from a plane and land at Faxon Field behind the Vo Tech School.

He will be transported with several Disney characters to the Cummings Store on Hancock St. where he will listen to Christmas requests until Christmas Day.

Sponsors of Santa's appearance are the Christmas Festival Committee of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, the city of Quincy and the Patriot Ledger.

Reader's Forum What We Have To Be Thankful For...

Editor, the Quincy Sun

Just pause for a few minutes today in that mad dash to eternity and think about what you have to be thankful for — as we approach yet another day of Thanksgiving.

How's your health? Could be better? Well, thank the Lord you've lived this long;
a lot of people haven't been so fortunate. You're complaining about not being 100% healthy? Well, thousands, and possibly millions, are hurting more than you. (By the way, have you ever visited a veterans' hospital and witnessed the sufferings of the war heroes?
Or a rehabilitation clinic for crippled children or the fabulous Dana Farber Institute in Boston that treats and gives hope to innocent children afflicted with cancer?)

Well, if you awoke this morning and were able to hear the birds sing, used your vocal chords to produce human sounds, were able to walk to the breakfast table on two good legs, and read the morning paper with two good eyes, thank Heaven for those rich blessings we often take for granted. For lots of folks couldn't.

How are you fixed financially? Not too good, you complain? Well, most of the world is a heck of a lot worse off. No pensions. No welfare. No food stamps. No Social Security. In fact —

let's face it — one-third of the people in the universe will go to bed hungry tonight. So thank your lucky stars you're not living
(if such it can be called) in Ethiopia.

Are you lonely? Well, the way to have a friend is to be one. If nobody calls you, call someone. Go out of your way to do something nice for somebody. It's the sure cure for the blues.

Are you concerned about your country's future? Well, Hooray! Our system has been saved by such concern — concern for fair play under the law. Your country may not be a rose garden, but neither is it a patch of weeds and crabgrass. So count your blessings!

Freedom still rings in the good old U.S. of A. — if you'll just look and listen.
You can still worship at the church of your choice, cast a secret ballot and even criticize your own government without fearing a knock on the head — or a knock on your door at midnight.

And if, Heaven forbid, you want to live under a different system, you are free to go. There are no walls or fences — nothing to keep you here. Except life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

McCauley Looks To Mid-Term

Well, time does fly.
Mayor Francis McCauley is already working on his mid-term address, which will be delivered Jan. 7 (10 a.m.) at City Hall.

"I've started putting it together," he says.

But it won't be a prepared text.
He'll have only an outline and then as has been his custom — he will talk off-the-cuff.

"It'll be 18 to 20 minutes," he says.

And, adds with a smile:

"It's going to be hard to keep it within that time considering all the good things we can talk about."

And, he has a few such projects as:

The multi-million dollar Crown Colony development in West Quincy which will also give Quincy its first real hotel. The $16 million eight-story office building at 200
Newport Ave. ...The $40 million 303-unit Captains Cove facility on Duane's old property...The $8 million 133-unit McCourt Condos on Shea Blvd.

And other projects still on paper but ready to go into the ground.

There's no doubt he's looking forward to his midterm address.

McCAULEY

THE DATE OF a mid-term or inaugural address depends on where the first Monday in January falls.

This one happens to be on Jan. 7.

CONDON

If that's so, she would be taking a page out of McCauley's own book.

He recalls that when he made his announcement to run in 1981 he selected the day after Mayor Arthur Tobin's mid-term address.

Condon, if she picks Jan. 6, would be getting a one-day head start.

CONDON, meanwhile, is publicly saying only that she plans an announcement in January.

There has been some speculation she might surprise everyone and run for city councillor at-large instead.

But she spikes that rumor. "I'm not running for councillor at-large," she says.

Of course, she still hasn't definitely said she is running for mayor. But she has hinted strongly that she is.

IF CONDON RUNS for Mayor — and just about everyone is now convinced she speculation that Thomas Nutley might run for the Ward 6 seat she would vacate.

Nutley, is a Boston Gas Co.
executive, North Quincy community activist, and friend and supporter of Condon.

Special Holiday Swim Program At Lincoln-Hancock Pool

The Quincy Recreation Department will conduct a special schedule of swimming on Sundays between Thanksgiving and Christmas at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool.

Recreation Director
Barry J. Welch said the Pool will be open on Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m.
for those ages six to 18 who may swim all or part of this period, while parents take advantage of the Sunday store openings and shop at local stores.

From 4 to 5 p.m., the normal adult swim will remain in effect. Regular pool memberships can be used or a $1. guest fee can be paid at the door.

Swimming will be supervised by American Red Cross Trained Personnel from the Quincy Recreation Department. Adults may also swim in the extended hours swim and family groups are encouraged to participate.

Dates of the special shopper swims are Sunday,
Nov. 25, Dec. 2, 9, 16, and 23.

A LETTER SENT to members of the House of Representatives has the State House buzzing.

The letter contains a list of committee chairmen
George Keverian reportedly will name if elected House Speaker over Thomas McGee.

It says:

"Following is the other leadership team" and signed
"A State House Observer."

Quincy's three representatives will do well, if the letter is correct and, of course, Keverian knocks over McGee.

Rep. Michael Morrissey, it says, will head the Housing and Urban Development Committee;
Thomas Brownell the Judiciary Committee and Robert Cerasoli, Post and Audit.

THOSE WHO SPENT a good part of the day with Ruth Gordon on her recent visit for the re-dedication of the amphitheatre named for her, in Merrymount Park couldn't help notice how attentive her husband Garson Kanin is to her.

An outstanding playwright and author and a star in his own right, Kanin is always at her side if she needs anything.

But he then slips into the background and lets her have center stage.

They've been married 42 happy years and still walk hand-in-hand.

State Energy Grants Now Available

Rep. Michael T.
Morrissey has announced that state funds are available from the Office of Energy Resources for the Innovative Energy Conservation Grants Program.

The funds are designed to encourage development of creative new projects, permit the state to respond to local needs, and promote interest in energy conservation and renewable energy programs.

"This funding program would provide an incentive for all energy conscious people to develop new strategies and innovative methods for conserving energy in the residential and commercial sectors," said Morrissey.

There will be three grants to fund projects totalling up to $50,000. The minimum award is expected to be $10,000.
Proposals must be submitted by individuals or organizations by 4 p.m.
Wednesday, Nov. 28.

Rape Counselling Now Confidential

Under new legislation now in effect, a "sexual assault counsellor" must keep all information from victims, including notes, reports, records, and memos, confidential.

Harold said the law denies a "sexual assault counsellor" as a person employed at a rape crisis center, who has been trained as a counsellor, and is under the supervision of a licensed social worker, nurse, psychiatrist, psychologist, or psychotherapist.

Senator Harold said the new law means information given by sexual assault victims to their counsellors may not be used as evidence in court proceedings without the written consent of the victim.

Information given by rape victims to rape counsellors is now confidential and may not be disclosed without the victim's permission, Sen.
Paul D. Harold notes.

Domestic Violence: Bringing A Hidden Problem To Light

Statistics show that as many as six million women throughout the country were beaten last year, but no one knows how closely these figures reflect the real problem.

While other types of violence are usually reported to the police, domestic violence is often kept quiet because many women are too ashamed or too afraid to seek help. DOVE (Domestic Violence Ended), a United Way agency in Quincy serving Norfolk and Plymouth Counties, lets women air the feelings that result from abuse.

DOVE's 24-hour hotline (471-1234) "helps alleviate some of the fear and shame that battered women experience when seeking help," according to Sandie Baler of Braintree, the agency's planning director.

"Unlike enrolling in a counseling program, a hotline allows women to preserve their anonymity," she says. "It doesn't require any commitment, provides an easy way for women to contact us, and helps build trust." Dialing the hotline, which receives almost 4,000 calls each year, is often the first step women take in accepting some of the other services that DOVE offers.

Nancy (not her real name), like many others, agreed to accept DOVE's services only after slowly building up trust. Married for more than 30 years, she spent most of that time raising her five children. Because her family was well-known in Quincy, Nancy didn't tell anyone about the verbal and physical violence in her home. She initially contacted DOVE by calling the hotline last January; six months later, she came to one of the agency's support groups using an assumed name. In October, she decided to leave her home and came to live in DOVE's shelter.

"When Nancy came here last fall, she was very frightened," says Susan Beck of Natick, DOVE's program director. "Leaving her husband was a big step, and it took a while before she felt secure enough to take it." With the agency's help, Nancy obtained a court order requiring her husband to stop harassment. In November, she started living with her children again, and today she continues to participate in a DOVE support group. "DOVE's purpose is to help women lead violence-free lives," says Beck. "Each woman must decide for herself whether to accomplish this by leaving the relationship or by staying and trying to get the batterer to accept counseling. We don't want to perpetuate a woman's dependence by making these choices for her. We supply her with the information and the tools she needs and then encourage her to do it herself."

In addition to the hotline, support groups, individual counseling, and shelter, DOVE provides advocacy for women in dealing with the courts, in searching for housing, and in securing government benefits. DOVE also offers child care, education, and counseling for children staying in the shelter.

Miss Beck sees DOVE's work with children as crucial in dealing with the overall problem of domestic violence. "Many of the men who batter their wives witnessed violence in their homes when they were kids," says Beck. "It's a cycle — children imitate their parents. Our child care programs teach kids to express angry feelings verbally, or even to hit a pillow, but not to hit other people. We ask men to be child care volunteers, so children can see firsthand that all men don't hit."

DOVE's house in Quincy provides the safe environment needed to nurture trust, to encourage women to make their own decisions, and to discourage violent behavior in children. Baler says that the United Way supplies about 40 percent of the basic operating costs for the house and the staff. "We could not be operating at all without United Way money," says Beck. DOVE has received a $65,000 allocation for 1984.

By encouraging self-confidence and providing support services for women and children, DOVE hopes to bring his hidden problem to light. Beck says that when more women stop hiding the violence in their homes, others will follow their lead. "One of our clients succeeded in getting out of a violent situation, and now she and her three children are doing well," Beck says. "When her sister-in-law, who was also being battered, saw our client's success, she also called the hotline for help. This is the kind of cycle we would like to perpetuate."

9 Honored By Rehabilitation Center

A man and a woman from Quincy, both mentally retarded, were among nine people honored for their achievements recently at the third annual awards reception of the Friends of the South Shore Rehabilitation Center.

They are Michael Duffy of Wollaston and Rose Stone of Quincy.

Duffy was honored with the Michael Toole Award for outstanding progress in SSRC's CREWS program of supervised community employment.

He serves on the janitorial crew at the John W. McCormack Post Office and Courthouse in Boston.

Duffy came to SSRC for vocational training in the work center in 1979 and made such steady progress in learning new skills and working independently that he was promoted to the CREWS program in 1983.

Stone received the Residence Program Award for her outstanding progress in developing community living skills and achieving an increasing level of independence during her six years in the program.

She was a resident of the Wrentham State School for 17 years before joining one of SSRC's group homes in Quincy.

The awards reception, co-hosted by Channel 5's Natalie Jacobson and Chet Curtis, was co-sponsored by Boston Gas at the Neighborhood Club.

Other award winners included:

State Rep. A. Joseph DeNucci of Newton, the Distinguished Service Award for his role in supporting legislation to improve human services in the state.

The Massachusetts Knights of Columbus, the Probus Award for its commitment to philanthropy in general and its programs in support of increased opportunities for retarded people.

Alpha Chemical Services of Stoughton, manufacturers of detergents and related products, the Employer of the Disabled Award, for providing career opportunities for disabled people.

Schmid Brothers Inc., of Randolph, creator of gifts and collectibles, the Contractor of the Year Award, for providing employment for disabled workers in regular work settings.

Kristin Demong of Boston, director of the Division of Employment Security, the leadership Award for advancing employment opportunities for disabled adults across the state.

Wayne Yablonsky of Brockton, a graduate of the SSRC vocational program, the Job Placement Award for his work as a machine operator at Accu Rounds Inc. of Avon.

Joseph Mullen of Milton, whose disabilities include blindness, the Vocational Award for outstanding progress in SSRC's work-center training program in Quincy.

CURB ON DRINKING

Drinking, particularly among teen-agers and war workers, captured the attention of official Quincy.

The Council for Alcohol Education called on the city to reduce the number of liquor licenses available and control the hours of sales.

"Some bars in Quincy are open 110 hours a week," Mayor Charles A. Ross was told, and the easy access to intoxicating beverages "impairs the efficiency of war workers."

Meanwhile, Capt. George W. Fallon, head of the Quincy Police Criminal Investigation Bureau, promised swift prosecution of bartenders and cafe owners who sell liquor to minors.

Teen-agers who falsify their ages to obtain alcoholic beverages also faced court action.

"There is all together too much drinking and drunkenness in Quincy among teen-aged boys," said Capt. Fallon.

CITRINE FOR EVERYDAY

The colored stone, citrine, gets its name from "citron", a lemon-like fruit. Its color ranges from pale yellow to yellowish-brown. Because its earthy tones are subdued and neutral, it is a fine complement to many wardrobes. This makes it a very good "everyday" stone that stands up well to daily wear. Citrine is quite plentiful and, therefore, quite affordable. It has long been known by the misnomer "topaz". However, topaz and citrine are two distinct minerals. They have little in common except, occasionally, their color. Most citrine is actually amethyst that has been heated to turn it yellow.

Some people have what they refer to as "everyday" jewelry and "special occasion" jewelry. Wouldn't it be nice to own jewelry pieces that can be worn at all times without worry of ruining them. You can when you shop at TODDIE'S FINE JEWELRY because we carry a wide variety of jewelry that will please the extravagant as well as the conservative shopper. You'll enjoy shopping in our store because we offer you suggestions, advice and help rather than to "sell" you anything. Come to 1163 Hancock St. for beautiful jewelry, giftware and service. No need to go to Boston for value. We offer it right here in Quincy, Mon.-Fri. 10-6; Sat. 11-4. Tel. 479-9464. Happy Thanksgiving!

Avoid subjecting citrine to heat.

In case of inclement weather the parade will be held Sunday, Dec. 2. Any postponement will be announced over WJDA and other local radio stations at 8 a.m. Sunday.

Parking Banned All Day Along Parade Route

Parking will be prohibited from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday on both sides of Hancock St. from School St. in Quincy Center to Kendall St. in North Quincy because of the Christmas Festival Parade.

Motorists are asked not to park on School St. to Faxon Park Rd., on Scamell St. from Quincy Ave. to South St., on Elm St. from Hancock to Mechanic Sts., on Mechanic St., on Revere Rd. to Elm St., on Revere Rd. from Mechanic St. to Dennis Ryan Parkway, and on Dennis Ryan Parkway from Revere Rd. to Foster St.

Police Chief Francis X.

Finn said towing ordinances will be strictly enforced on both sides of those streets.

Shaw's Market, the Quincy Cooperative Bank and the John Hancock parking lots will be restricted to floats and parade personnel starting at 6 a.m. Sunday.

Finn pointed out that Newport Ave. can be used as an alternative to Hancock St. as a route to North Quincy, Wollaston, Montclair and Quincy Square.

Parking for parade spectators will be available at the MBIA parking area on Burgin Parkway, the Ross Parkway, the Ross Parking Garage, the Stop and Shop Parking Garage on Burgin Parkway and the Granite St. lot next to the Burger King.

Police also suggest additional parking at Adams Academy, the Votch School, Quincy Junior College, Capitol Market in Wollaston, Supreme Market in Wollaston, Burger King on Granite St. and Burgin Parkway.

Also the MBIA lots in Wollaston and North Quincy, State Street South and Kemper Insurance off Newport Ave., North Quincy, Peabody Field and Collins Rest a While in Merrymount Park, and Southern Artery from Furnace Brook Parkway to Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Comfort stations are located in the Quincy District Courthouse and in the John Hancock Parking area off Dennis Ryan Parkway.

Koch Club To Collect Toys At Parade

The Koch Club of Quincy will have a vehicle in the Christmas Parade to collect toys from spectators along the parade route Sunday, Nov. 25 for distribution to church, community and social service organizations serving needy families.

The Koch Club's participation was approved by the Christmas Festival Committee.

The U.S. Marine Corps has conducted the project for the past number of years but declined participation this year because of its backlog of toys accumulated the last year which will be distributed this year at Christmas.

Those wishing to provide a gift are asked to bring it to the parade. As the vehicle passes accompanying uniformed ROTC members will collect the items and pack them on the truck.

During the past 28 years, the Koch Club has conducted Christmas charitable projects in Quincy and in 1971 initiated a collection of toys for needy children in the Quincy, South Shore and Boston. Last year more than 2000 new and used toys were distributed to various social service agencies for presentation to children at Christmas.

The Koch Club Program continues through Jan. 6 or Little Christmas when the Hispanic Section of Boston is provided with assistance

Santa's Mailboxes Ready Nov. 26

The Christmas Festival Committee will again set up Santa mailboxes for children in Quincy Center effective Monday, Nov. 26.

Chairman, Richard J. Koch said the mailboxes will be located in front of Colman's Sporting Goods and Baskin Robbins Ice Cream Store on Hancock St. The Child World store entrance from the parking area, and McIntyre Mall adjacent to the Quincy Cooperative Bank.

Adults are cautioned that the containers are for letters to Santa only and children may deposit the letters themselves.

The special mailboxes will be left in place until Wednesday, Dec. 19, the deadline for direct mailing to Santa Claus at these locations.

Letters will be picked up weekly and forwarded to the proper destination.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Thanksgiving Day is a meaningful and cherished holiday. It is a day we set aside to count our blessings and good fortune. On this special day let us be continually grateful that we live in a land where people can still laugh, hope, dream, speak their minds and worship as they please. No other country has ever done more to promote the spiritual and material needs of its citizens.

A noted American author once said: "There never was a land that better deserved the love of her people than America, for there never was a mother-country kinder to her children. She has given to them all that she could give."

Let us earnestly join in the observance of Thanksgiving. But let the spirit of Thanksgiving not be a scheduled sentiment which we turn on once a year. Rather, let it be an abiding testimony, a recognizable symbol of our daily faith... our faith in ourselves... our faith in our country... and, most of all, our faith in God..

For Fight Against Hunger

Quincy Community Action To Honor Six

Six men will be honored by Quincy Community Action for their work in the battle against hunger and homelessness at a fundraiser Friday, Nov. 23, at the Kennedy Library in Boston.

They are Archbishop Bernard Law, Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, Orthodox Bishop Methodios of Boston, the Rev. Dr. Roger Kvam of the First Presbyterian Church in Quincy, the Rev. William McCarthy of St. Johns Church and Clement O'Brien, retired director of the Quincy Housing Authority.

"The number one problem facing our state is the lack of affordable housing units for low income families," said Rosemary Wahlberg, executive director of Quincy Community Action.

"We have chosen this time, close to Thanksgiving, to honor those whose efforts and talent have been used to alleviate this problem."

Tickets for the ceremonies at the Kennedy Library are $50 a couple and may be obtained by calling Quincy Community Action, 479-8181.

Meanwhile, Mayor Francis X. McCauley has proclaimed the current week to be "Hunger and Homeless Awareness Week" in Quincy and he urged residents to "share their abundance with our less fortunate neighbors."

McCauley's proclamation specifically cites the work of Quincy Community Action and the Quincy Interfaith Shelter Coalition.

The Coalition has started a shelter for the homeless at the Salvation Army. Guests at the shelter are taught skills that will enable them to secure permanent housing.

Quincy Community Action has been providing a free restaurant, an emergency food bank and housing counseling.

LET'S TALK TURKEY ABOUT OUR NEWEST QUINCY OFFICE.

We're just in time for Thanksgiving. Our newest Quincy office in the Monarch III building at Howard Johnson Plaza is having a Grand Opening on November 19, 20 and 21. Stop by and meet Lida Griffiths, the branch manager. She'll be happy to tell you about South Shore Bank and the many services we offer. And you can take something home for the holidays.

FREE APPLE PIES

We have a sweet way to get acquainted. Visit us during our Grand Opening and you'll receive free, a delicious individual apple pie, while the supply lasts.

TURKEY SWEEPSTAKES

Do the turkey trot. Walk into our new office and enter our sweepstakes. We're giving away fifteen tender turkeys... drawings will be held for five turkeys on each day of our Grand Opening.

To become eligible, just fill out the attached entry blank and place it in the specially marked box in our lobby. Enter as often as you like. Who knows? You might win a turkey in the draw!

DINNER FOR TWO

How does dinner for two at The Gazelle sound? That's what we're giving away in our Grand Prize Sweepstakes. And wouldn't winning be a feather in your cap! Enter as often as you wish through November 30th. Drawing will be held on December 3rd.

So come to our Grand Opening during Thanksgiving week. We promise everyone a great time.

Advent Concert Series At St. Chrysostom's

A series of two Advent concerts will be held at St. Chrysostom's Church, Wollaston, Sundays Dec. 2 and 16 at 7 p.m.

The concerts will be following by a collation and fellowship hour.

"An Advent Festival of Lessons and Carols" will be presented Dec. 2, featuring the combined choirs of five Quincy churches. Members of Bethany, Union, Good Shepherd Lutheran, Wollaston Lutheran and St. Chrysostom's will sing under the direction of Peter Krasinski and accompanied by Beulah Koulouris on the organ.

Bethany and Union are congregations of the United Church of Christ, and St. Chrysostom's of the Episcopal Church.

The concert will begin with the "Service of Light" for the Advent Season; the Handbell Choir of Wollaston Lutheran Church will also participate.

Scripture readings will trace the biblical story as it anticipates the coming of Christ. Clergy of the participating churches will share in the service.

The Dec. 16 concert will feature the Braintree High School Choral and DeCamera Singers, under the direction of Dr. Katherine Dewey.

They will perform a selection of Christmas music, including works by Kountz, Mozart, Victoria and Berger.

The concert series is sponsored by the Worship Commission of The Parish of St. Chrysostom and Beulah Koulouris, organist and choir director.

Mrs. Koulouris was newly appointed to this position in October.

Thanksgiving Service At Christian Science Church

A special Thanksgiving service is planned for the community tomorrow (Thursday) at 10:45 a.m. at the First Church of Christ, by the local Christian Scientist, 20 Greenleaf St., Quincy Center.

A passage from psalms provides the keynote: "Praise ye the Lord: for it is good to sing praises unto our God... He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds."

Exploring the importance of gratitude in daily life, the sermon on "Thanksgiving" will include passages from the Scriptures and accompanying selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by the Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy.

The lesson readings emphasize that thanksgiving is far more than a passive posture to blessings.

As a passage from "Science and Health" asks: "Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the blessings we have, and thus be fitted to receive more. Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech."

During the hour-long service, the congregation will share hymns of praise, brief silent prayer, and the Lord's Prayer. The latter portion of the meeting has been set aside for spontaneous testimonies of gratitude to God.

All Christian Science services are open to the community, and families and neighbors are invited to attend this special annual gathering.

Choral Concert Nov. 25 At Bethany Church

The University of Massachusetts Chamber Singers will present a Choral Concert Sunday, Nov. 25 at 4 p.m. at Bethany

Congregational Church, Spear and Coddington Sts.

Eileen J. Hunt will conduct. Peter E. Krasinski will be accompanist.

The concert is open to the public at no charge.

There will be a free will offering for Bethany's music program.

Standard of Greatness Wollaston Congregational Sermon

Matthew 23: 1-12 will be the scriptural text for the Rev. Elden D.J. Zuercher's sermon, "Standard of Greatness," at the 10 a.m. Sunday service at Wollaston Congregational Church.

Linda Walker will be the Lay Reader. The Senior Choir will sing "Behold Now, Praise the Lord" by Everett Titcomb.

Carol McRae and Paul Frazer will sing Titcomb's "Jesus' Name of Wondrous Love." The Senior High Church School class meets at 9 a.m., and at 10 a.m.

Nursery through Grade 8 will meet.

Anyone wishing further information on the activities of the church may call the Church Office at 773-7432.

Christmas Fair Dec. 1 At Wollaston Baptist

First Baptist Church of Wollaston, 81 Prospect Ave., will hold a Christmas Fair Saturday, Dec. 1, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Handmade articles and knicknaw will be for sale. Crochet and holiday novelty booths will be open.

There will also be baked goods, preserves, cheese and candy, as well as a home boutique booth, wood work, door chimes and a "treasures" table.

Christmas plants, dried flowers and home-grown plants will be featured.

A children's shopping bar will be available where photos may be taken with Santa Claus.

A luncheonette will be open.

Squantum Church Features Thanksgiving Music, Readings

Thanksgiving music and readings from the Pilgrims were part of a special Thanksgiving service at the First Church of Squantum Sunday.

Members of the congregation had gathered earlier in the morning for a Thanksgiving Sunday breakfast sponsored by the young people of the church. Adult advisors included David and Jeannette Crosby, Bonnie Adams, Hazel Mayne, Evelyn Ahearn, and Ruth and Luther Swenson.

At the service, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin read from the writings of Pilgrims William Bradford and Edward Winslow. He also told the story of Winslow's life.

Dr. Langevin's sermon was entitled "Remembering with Thanks." It was the third in a series he is preaching this month on "The Pilgrim Faith."

The sermon this Sunday, "The Necessity of the Separation of Church and State," will build on the life and Christian experience of Roger Williams, who was a Separatist pastor at Plymouth and Salem before he went into exile in Rhode Island and founded the city of Providence.

Three choirs sang at the service. The Junior Choir sang and played "Festival Fanfare" by Duane Blackley. The bell players included Ruth Adams, Blythe Bumpus, Kristen Fluhr, Marc Hurd, Lori Ogilvie, Kim Olsen, Krista Olsen, Kristen Reister, Melissa Stamos and Amanda Young.

The Youth Choir joined with the Chancel Choir to sing "A Thanksgiving Quodlibet" by David Peninger. Mary Ruth Scott directs all three choirs.

Hymns sung during the service included "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come," "We Gather Together," "We Plow the Fields and Scatter" and "Now Thank We All Our God."

Greeters for the morning were Charles and Gloria Lester. Ushers were Tore Wallin, Stewart Scott, David Williams and Steven Williams. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Edna Swanson and Doris Longmire.

There will be two services Sunday, Nov. 25: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

Members of the congregation are asked to bring canned goods for the needy with them to church for the next few weeks.

On Wednesday, Nov. 21, Thanksgiving Eve, at 7:30 p.m. the Inter-Church Council of North Quincy will sponsor a "Service of Thanksgiving" at the First Church of Squantum. Participants will include pastors and members of the North Quincy and Wollaston churches.

The choir for the service will be that of the First Church of Squantum but members of the choirs of other local churches are invited to sing as well.

Choir Director Mary Ruth Scott asks that all persons planning to sing that night be in the church sanctuary at 6:30 p.m. with his or her own music, robe and music folder.

The anthem will be "Thanks Be to Thee" by George F. Handel (SATB, as arranged by Channing Lefebvre.)

Special Holiday Edition Of Musical Sunday On WJDA

WJDA's Musical will present a special Holiday edition Sunday, 1 to 4 p.m., featuring the 50 biggest grossing movie musicals of all-time according to box office figures released by weekly Variety.

The musicals will be counted down from 50 to one.

WJDA is located at 1300 on the radio dial.

Calligraphy Course At Town Brook House

An eight-week calligraphy course will begin Tuesday, Nov. 27, 7 to 8 p.m. at Town Brook House, 45 Brackett St., Quincy Center.

Senior citizens are also invited to join an exercise class Mondays and Wednesdays at 2 p.m.

There is a nominal fee for each class.

For more information, contact the Town Brook House office at 479-0248.

5 Top Ranking Students Receive Academic Excellence Certificates

Five of the top-ranking students in the senior class in the three high schools in Quincy were awarded Certificates of Academic Excellence at the School Committee meeting recently.

The certificates were made available by the Massachusetts Association of School Superintendents.

The five high achieving seniors receiving the certificates were: Tracy A. Coleman and Evelyn Perepeyuk, North Quincy High School; Andrew R. Peter, Quincy Vocational-Technical School; Maureen P. Semans and Huong K. Truong, Quincy High School.

The students were selected to receive the certificates by John A. Osterman, Superintendent of Schools, and were introduced to the School Committee by Arthur S. Woodward, Director of Secondary Education.

The students were nominated by their respective principals, Peter J. Chrisom of North Quincy High School, Lloyd H. Hill of Quincy High School, and Joseph A. Mazzarella, Principal-Director of Quincy Vocational-Technical School.

The Massachusetts Association of School Superintendents has made the Certificate of Academic Excellence available to superintendents for the first time this year.

The certificates are given to high school seniors who have distinguished themselves in pursuit of academic excellence during their high school careers.

Students selected to receive the Massachusetts Association of School Superintendents Certificates of Academic Achievement must meet criteria based on their cumulative record in high school and rank in class, and must be in the top 5% of the senior class.

The number of certificates made available to a school district depends upon the number of students in the senior class. Only five certificates were made available to John Osterman of Quincy.

Cesarean Preparation Classes To Begin At Hospital Nov. 23

Jiffy Lube Brings Pit-Stop Service To South Shore Cars

Jiffy Lube, the auto maintenance chain, has brought the concept of the racing pit-stop to everyday motoring on the South Shore.

The first Jiffy Lube location in the greater Boston area opened recently at 504 Quincy Ave., Braintree, behind General Dynamics, where motorists can have their cars serviced in 10 minutes for a mere $19.95.

"We want to put the average motorist in the position of a race car driver at a pit-stop," said R.J. (Dick) Valentine, the main charge of the Jiffy Lube franchise in the Boston area.

"The driver pulls in, has his or her car taken care of on the double with speed, efficiency and safety, and is on his way again with minimum delay."

Valentine knows whereof he speaks.

A successful businessman and president of Lube 495 Inc., a division of the multimillion dollar MBA Group of Braintree, he races Trans-Am cars as an avocation.

It was as a race car driver that Valentine spotted the glaring difference between the delays experienced by the average motorist in getting his car serviced and the speedy, efficient work of a trained pit crew.

PIT-STOP CONCEPT of Jiffy Lube in the SCCA Trans Am Series. Auto maintenance service was developed by R. J. Valentine from his experiences racing Trans Ams.

"In coordinating the services," said Joe Menendez, operations manager for the Boston locations, "we have tried to reflect the pit stop concept. Every worker has a role to play, a contribution to make to the team."

Servicing procedures at Jiffy Lube have been carefully designed to maximize efficiency. The car is pulled into a service bay over an opening in the floor that leads to a basement service shop.

In the basement area, one man operates on the underside of the car, lubricating grease fittings, checking the differential, draining old motor oil and installing a new oil filter.

Upstairs, two servicemen check the air filter and flow, add fluids to the battery, windshield, transmission, power steering and brake fluids, filling the crankcase with new oil and checking other items.

The two-story arrangement enables the underside, the engine and the passenger area to be worked on simultaneously, something that is impossible in most garages with conventional lifts.

Jiffy Lube service also includes a safety check of the muffler, power train, brakes and transmission. Customers are given a checklist of what was serviced on their cars.

Multibank Makes Best List For Second Time

Multibank Financial Corp. of Quincy has appeared for the second year in a row on Forbes

Magazine's list of the best smaller publicly held companies in the United States.

It was one of only 166 companies of the 277 firms on last year's list to make a second appearance. The listing is based on the return on average equity over the past five years.

For the five years ending Dec. 31, 1983, Multibank's annual earnings growth rate averaged 18.9 per cent and its average return on equity was 16.4 per cent.

Multibank, of which South Shore Bank is a member, was the only New England banking company on the list.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Manager

ZONING AND THE LANDOWNER

QUESTION: Just how far should a landowner, who intends to build a home on that land, look into local zoning laws?

ANSWER: Very carefully! You may find it's impossible to build the home you plan. Zoning laws may require a specific amount of acreage for a one-family zone. If you own a smaller lot than required, you may not be able to build the house you want on your lot.

Also, look into the type of home which is allowable in your zoning area. You may plan to build a second floor apartment, possibly for another member of your family or even for rental purposes. If the property is a one-family residential zone, you may be out of luck.

CHECK ZONING CAREFULLY BEFORE you start building. An after-the-fact zoning check may be a costly error.

PRESIDENT John F. Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, chat as the motorcade prepares to leave that fateful day, Nov. 22, 1963.

Kennedy Assassination Question: Was That A

Edgar F. Tatrow, who has long been intrigued by the evidence and speculation in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, is an English teacher at Quincy High School and teaches the Kennedy Assassination course at Quincy Junior College.

By EDGAR F. TATROW
Thursday marks the 21st anniversary of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Since 64 known witnesses that day believed that shots came from in front of the president, most researchers of the murder throughout the years have focused their attention upon the area known as the famous grassy knoll to the right and front of President Kennedy's limousine.

The overwhelming evidence which substantiated the presence of conspirators behind the wall and fence in that particular location was ignored by the Warren Commission in 1964, but was finally confirmed in 1979 by a Congressional committee known as the House Select Committee on Assassinations.

Acoustics tests of a tape recording of the shots reinforced the photographic evidence as well as eyewitness, earwitness and even nosewitness (nine people smelled gunpowder from that location) testimony that a conspirator had fired a shot at the president's entourage from the grassy knoll north.

Now there is sufficient evidence to consider the real possibility that an additional gunman was situated atop the other Dealey Plaza incline, the grassy knoll south, the symmetrical counterpart of the famous grassy knoll and virtually no one, but a handful of diligent researchers have pursued this crucial aspect of the case. The individuals who have attempted to bring this vital information to the attention of government officials have been ignored.

Suspicion of a grassy knoll south assassin began with the discovery of a sidewalk scar, approximately five inches in length, found on the northern side of Dealey Plaza's Elm Street sidewalk adjacent to the street extension facing the historic Texas School Book Depository. According to various Dallas citizens, a local Dallas television newsmen pointed to the mark on this clock news the night of the assassination and called it a bullet mark. Channel Four officials in Dallas have since denied any knowledge of this occurrence.

Months later, a private citizen, Eugene P. Aldredge, who had watched the original newscast, visited the site and observed the easily identifiable mark and when the Warren Commission Report was released in 1964 and omitted any mention of the scar, Aldredge felt compelled to discuss his concerns with Chas. Freund, a reporter for the Dallas Morning News, who verified Aldredge's observation of the mark. Both men believed the scar was the result of the assassination bullet.

Aldredge then called the FBI who wanted to know why he had waited so long to report the information. Aldredge informed them that he had assumed that the Warren Commission could not possibly have overlooked such an easily observed scar which had been cited on television and also that he had no desire to become personally involved in the investigation.

Two days later Aldredge took the FBI to the pavement scar and they scraped material from the mark and sent the specimen to FBI headquarters to determine its contents by means of spectrographic analysis. Incredible as it may seem, the scientific results are still being withheld two decades later from the American public.

Five days after the FBI scraping incident Aldredge and a friend returned to the spot and "found that the mark had been filled up with what appeared to be a mixture of concrete and asbestos and an attempt made to make it appear like the surrounding area."

Again Aldredge contacted the FBI to inform them of the alleged patching of the sidewalk scar and again the FBI returned to remove material from the scar to have FBI headquarters analyze the alleged foreign substance. Amazingly, these spectrographic test results are also being withheld from the American people.

Harold Weisberg, a former Senate investigator, author of several excellent books about the assassination and perhaps the most respected researcher worldwide on the subject, recently informed me that microfilm pertaining to this particular spectrographic analysis has been destroyed by the FBI.

Weisberg wrote, "This is the only spectrographic plate claimed to be missing. The FBI's unsworn and conjectural explanation of its alleged disappearance is that it was destroyed to save space. How much space do you save by eliminating a single thin piece of film?"

Later in the 1970's, a Dallas journalist, who shall remain nameless for obvious reasons, surreptitiously removed the sidewalk chunk in question much to the dismay and anger of certain Dallas politicians and officials. According to reliable researchers close to the Dallas scene, a privately financed neutron activation analysis was performed which revealed that no metal was detected within the mark, but rather some clothlike substance, asbestos in nature, was adhering to the scar. The little hero, Aldredge, had said as much over 10 years earlier.

Weisberg, whose legal battles with the FBI and marathon attempts to declassify crucial assassination evidence and documents are infamous in the annals of Freedom of Information Act litigation, concluded, "There simply is no question about it. The FBI knew the curbstone was patched when Shaneyfelt (an FBI technician) had it dug up and taken to the lab for testing."

My personal friend and investigative colleague, Emory Brown, a photographer by avocation and draftsman by profession, speculated that if the sidewalk scar had resulted from a bullet ricochet or a missed shot, the most reasonable source of origin, considering its architectural angle, would be the grassy knoll south directly across from the famous grassy knoll.

Supporting this theory is a television interview of an unidentified woman bystander who claimed a shot was fired from south of the triple underpass. Thus Brown began a meticulous search for any photographs showing the knoll in the hopes that some valuable evidence might reveal itself. He hit paydirt when he examined a photograph taken by UPI photographer Frank Cancellare.

The photograph was taken approximately less than a minute after the assassination. The whole view depicts two motorcade cyclists who are heading down Elm St. toward the underpass. Some witnesses still lay prostrate upon the ground while others, who stand, take snapshots of the Dealey Plaza area.

Since all of the attention of the assassination aftermath was directed primarily at the famous grassy knoll and the Texas School Book Depository, LEFT ARROW indicates a distinct human-like figure holding a rifle-like object atop the Grassy Knoll South. Right arrow points to a vehicle. UPI photo is by Frank Cancellare.

THIS PHOTOGRAPH was taken in 1964. The figure shown in the Cancellare blow up of November 22, 1963 is no longer present in third tree to right.

Another Gunman On The Grassy Knoll South?

Brown theorized that a south knoll sniper might have lingered awhile unnoticed and if so, his image might be permanently etched in blow ups of the Cancellare photograph especially since there was no stockade fence present upon the south knoll.

Brown's blow ups speak for themselves. Just to the right of the tree in the center background is a distinct human-like figure holding a rifle-like object. Brown estimated that the "man" is approximately four and one half feet tall and is presumably kneeling. Meticulous inspection of very close blow-ups even reveals what may be the loop of a rifle sling.

Photographs taken in 1964 for comparison purposes clearly indicate that the human silhouette is no longer present. Brown also suspected the possibility of another individual farther to the right partially obscured by some shrubbery in front of an automobile, but it is difficult to discern.

Brown sent photographic copies of his discovery to the Jet Propulsion Lab of Pasadena, California for confirmation, but a spokesman for the firm known for its photographic expertise informed Brown that they would need the original negative owned by UPI in order to produce viable enhanced images and determinations.

With Brown's permission, I entered the foray. Twice I sent these materials to the House Select Committee on Assassinations, once with Richard A. Sprague at the helm and again after G. Robert Blakey had taken charge. The HSCA had possessed a $6 million budget to investigate President Kennedy's assassination, but my pleas for photo image enhancement of a potential killer were ignored.

Let the record show that photographic expert Robert Groden, a photo consultant to the HSCA, who had received the Cancellare blow ups from another researcher via me, also urged the committee to pursue this area "as a suspected firing position in the assassination as it related to photographic evidence," but to no avail also.

Since the HSCA report was published, I have sent Cancellare packets to Dr. James Barger, the HSCA acoustics consultant, and to Cecil Kirk, the HSCA forensic photographer, but neither responded to my correspondence. Even sent duplicate copies to the television show, "That's Incredible" with no success. I suspect that some subjects are too incredible for network television to touch.

When word reached me of a $23,000 issued to the National Academy of Sciences to re-study the acoustical evidence, I advised that the Cancellare figure be included in their investigation. Their spokesman assured me that the material had been delivered to "the chairman of the committee on ballistics acoustics and also to the Department of Justice," but the letter also implied that the committee was concerned with the authenticity of the acoustics evidence and not with the intention of conducting any new and elaborate tests.

Needless to say the published report avoided the grassy knoll south. The fact that the Justice Department was informed of my requests, in view of the FBI's shady handling of the sidewalk scar, will more than likely only serve to add another folder to their file on me.

I then turned my attention to the politicians who represent me with the same unproductive results. Paul Tsongas, who as a Representative in 1975, not only promptly responded to my requests for a new Congressional investigation, but also co-sponsored the bill, now as a Senator, did not respond. Councilman Brian Donnelly has no idea what happened to my correspondence and Senator Edward Kennedy was gracious, but declined to become involved in any assassination aspects whatsoever although he was not adverse to any new formal investigations.

Ironically, in 1977 I had met Dave Powers, JFK's best friend at Harvard University. Mr. Powers was guest lecturing about the wit and wisdom of JFK at a course concerning the Kennedy presidency and I spoke to the same forum some weeks later about the assassination.

When I showed Powers the Cancellare photo and blow-ups, his eyes nearly popped. He asked, "Does Congress have these?" in a heightened, enthusiastic voice and I answered, "Yes, I sent them myself." He replied, "Good."

I will never forget the look of shock, but hope in his face.

The acoustics tests had substantiated the existence of four shots on Nov. 22, 1963, one from in front of the president and three from behind, but unfortunately the comparison reenactment tests had been limited to only the grassy knoll north and the alleged Oswald perch.

The acoustics experts also found five other pops which may or may not have been shots from other areas of Dealey Plaza. In other words it is possible that between four to nine shots may have been fired that day, but the lack of appropriate re-enactment tests to determine whether the pops are innocent acoustical refractions or actual shots and their origins was never determined.

Could one or more of the pops be a shot or shots from the grassy knoll south?

Finally there is evidence to suggest a left frontal wound to the head of President Kennedy, a wound which would complement the grassy knoll south perch perfectly. It is impossible to absolutely confirm or reject such a shot because the president's brain would have to be dissected by forensic pathologists, but the president's brain disappeared mysteriously in 1966.

However, three Texas physicians, Dr. Robert McClelland, Dr. Marion Jenkins and Dr. Adolph Giesecke all testified to seeing a wound of the left temporal region. Father Oscar Huber, who gave President Kennedy the last rites, commented about a wound over JFK's left eye.

Two professional photographers in Dealey Plaza, James Altgens and Norman Similas, claimed there was a left-sided head wound. Also there is an official autopsy chart drawn by Commander J. Thornton Boswell which cites a three centimeter defect in the same head area described by these witnesses and Robert Groden in his HSCA photographic report claims that autopsy photo number 29 shows the wound though faintly.

Does the Cancellare photograph show one of President Kennedy's killers?

Given the suspicious actions of the FBI regarding the sidewalk scar and the wholesale avoidance of the Cancellare figure, the need for photo image enhancement of this photograph and new thorough acoustics tests is imperative.

The late ex-beatle, John Lennon, whose murder is also being closely investigated by researchers, once wrote, "A conspiracy of silence speaks louder than words."

It seems to speak louder and louder in the Kennedy assassination as the years go by.

STEVE AUSTIN, who had a fine game for the Quincy sophomore-junior varsity team, gets set to pass in last week's game with North Quincy. (Quincy Sun photos by Charles Flagg)

IEO LeMay of North Quincy goes around the right side for a good gain against the Quincy sophomore-junior varsity team. Kevin Segalla (29) clears the way.

It's North Soph's-JV's, Frosh Over Quincy

By TOM SULLIVAN
It was a North Quincy sweep last Saturday morning as the sophomore-junior varsity squad and the freshman team defeated Quincy at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The North soph-jayvee team scored all its points in the fourth quarter to come from behind and top Quincy, 22-14.

In the opening game the North freshmen defeated their Quincy counterparts, 20-0.

In the soph-jayvee game, Quincy's Don Luisi raced 35 yards to North's eight and Chris Venito scored from the four to give the Presidents a 6-0 lead, which they held until the fourth quarter.

Later in the third quarter North drove 60 yards, led by Leo Lemay, Chris Gray and Gary McNamara, and reached the Quincy five as the quarter ended. On the first play of the final quarter McNamara scored from the five and Lemay rushed for the two-point conversion to give the Radiers an 8-6 lead.

Tom Casey of North recovered a fumble on Quincy's 34, McNamara went to the 22, then to the three from where Lemay scored. Mark Cimoneilli rushed for the conversion and North had a 16-6 lead. North's Mike Cicerone intercepted a pass to halt a Quincy drive and a few minutes later North recovered another Quincy fumble to set up the final Raider score. Simonelli raced 24 yards for the touchdown.

With time running out, Quincy scored on a pass from Steve Austin to George McGuiness. Austin passed to Steve Pierski for the two extra points.

North coach Mark Mulvaney, who was joined by Ted Sadowski and Kevin Cobban, praised quarterbackbacks Gray and McNamara, and also had good words for Cicerone, Ed Bagley, Tim Kelly, Kevin McCarthy, Mike Hugy, Ken Kemp, Demay and Tom Casey.

Peter Cassidy, who coached Quincy along with Jeff Giordani, singled out Austin, Joe Innello, Venito, McGuinness, Kevin Jolley, Louis, Pierski, Rick Smith and Paul Lally for their performances.

In the opening game Pete Zoia's North freshmen completely bottled up Quincy's attack as the young Presidents lost yardage.

North recovered a fumble on Quincy's one in the second quarter and the Presidents held for three downs but on fourth down Dave Lawless scored. Bob Sylva passed to Scott Collins for the two-point conversion. Later in the quarter Sylva passed to Lawless for 12 yards and the second score.

North finished its scoring in the third quarter when Sylva scored from the three.

Zoia praised his backfield of Sylva, Lawless, Lou Sasso, Kevin Henry and Paul McCormack.

He also hailed the defensive line, which was brilliant, singling out Matt McNamara, Bill Martin, Collins, Shawn Clancy, Mark DiMattio, Bill Manning and Jay Rodriguez. He also had good words for Jim MacNeil, Bob Dixey, Mark Rudnisky, Paul Hannan and Mike Kiley.

Quincy coach Mitch Finnegan, who was assisted by Bob Quist, hailed the performances of Tom Tegen, Mike Merlino, Erik Walorz, and his captains, Frank Calabro, Steve Freil, Craig Bowlen, Tom Bjork and Karl Staskyvicz.

Between games a group of North Quincy fans presented Quincy varsity coach Jack Raymer with a gift certificate for the Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant as well as a Quincy hat with "North Quincy" emblazoned on it. The gifts were in appreciation of Raymer's efforts as a North Quincy assistant the past seven years.

McPhee: 'The Game Will Be A Shootout'

Raiders Have 6-Game Win Streak Momentum

NORTH

"This game will be a real shootout."

That is how North Quincy football coach Ken McPhee views the 52nd meeting Thursday between the Raiders and Quincy. The 10 a.m. game at Veterans Memorial Stadium is expected to attract about 11,000 with good weather.

Although most people predict a North victory on the basis of its 7-2 record, its best in several years, McPhee feels the game is a tossup. It has been proven many times during the long series that the records mean absolutely nothing.

"I have had people tell me we should kill them," said the third-year Raider coach. "But they have to be people who haven't seen either team play. With the offense Quincy has shown in its last few games, how can anyone say we should kill them?"

North is ranked seventh in the Eastern Mass. Div. I ratings.

North has some momentum going into the classic as it has won six in a row, but McPhee downplays this.

"After all, Quincy won three in a row before losing to Brockton and, don't forget, they gained more than 420 yards against Brockton and that is really something. They can really move the ball."

McPhee has been putting extra emphasis on pass defense, knowing Quincy's Bill Shaughnessy, who has had an outstanding season, will be filling the air with passes. In the last two games North has given up five touchdowns, all on passes.

"Jack (Raymer) knows we are hurting in the secondary with Joe Bangs, one of our best pass defenders, sidelined with a broken arm," McPhee added. "Shaughnessy is one of the best around and our secondary will have to be at its very best."

The North coach knows his team also can move the ball and Steve Kelly (five 100-plus games) and Mike Barry (four 100-plus games) are two of the finest ball carriers around. And quarterback Dave Zuroms is an excellent passer as well as runner.

McPhee says the offensive line is the best he has ever seen at North and it has been outstanding all year, breaking Kelly and Barry loose.

Defensively North has also been outstanding, and, if the Raiders can halt Shaughnessy's passing, it would put a crimp in the President's high-powered attack.

Ironically, if Colin Powers, who was to be starting fullback, hadn't broken his leg in a pre-season scrimmage, Barry would be only a defensive player.

"Mike has done a great job as has Kelly," McPhee said. "I feel they are as good as any running backs around."

McPhee won't hesitate to have Zuroms pass. He is an excellent passer and has some fine receivers. Gerry Coughlin is one of the best and Kelly and Brooks also are fine receivers.

The Raiders will open with an offensive line of Brooks or Ed Kennedy and Coughlin at end, John Roney and Al DiBella at tackle, Bill Doherty and Jack Hannan at guard and Harry Nialetz at center.

Zuroms at quarterback, Kelly and Rob Bradley, filling in capably for Bangs, at halfback and Barry at fullback will make up the starting backfield.

Also seeing action on offense will be backs Jim Cataldo, Leo LeMay and Rich Costello and wide receiver Tim McDonough.

On defense Roney and Ken Runge or Mike Russell will start at end with Joe Morrissey and Steve Dever or Steve Miller at tackle, DiBella noseguard, Barry and Dave Cooke or Kevin Sullivan at linebacker, Rich Horrigan and Kelly at cornerback and Tim Sullivan and Jim Martin at halfback.

John Ennis will also see service on defense.

McPhee, a member of North's undefeated 1966 Greater Boston League champions, has three other former Raiders, Pete Zoia, Mark Mulvaney and Kevin Cobban, and veteran Ted Sadowski, completing his 26th year at North, as assistants.

NORTH QUINCY quarterback Dave Zuroms, shown picking up yardage, against Newton North, will be one of the Raiders' top offensive threats Thursday.

QUINCY

By TOM SULLIVAN

When the Quincy football team takes to the field at 10 a.m. Thursday for the 52nd meeting with North Quincy, first-year coach Jack Raymer has no worries about his offense.

His main concern is the Presidents' defense.

"We proved in our last three games that we can move the ball," said Raymer, a North assistant for seven years before taking over the Quincy reins this fall. "Against Brockton in our last game we had more than 420 yards on offense and Armand (Colombo, the Brockton coach) told me no team ever moved the ball like that against them. In the last three games we had more than 1000 yards offensively."

"We'll pass a lot and I know North is hurting a bit in the secondary with (Joe) Bangs out of the lineup. Billy Shaughnessy has had a fantastic season for us and hit on 14 of 21 passes for 168 yards at Brockton. And our sophomore quarterback, Steve Austin, was seven for 11 for 132 yards. I know North will be out to stop our passing but they can't just sit back and wait for the pass. If they do, Joe Cullen and Daron Tucker as well as Shaughnessy himself will be picking up the yardage on the ground. They all can run."

Raymer, whose team takes a 4-4 record into the game, knows his defense will be in for a busy morning.

"They have two great runners in (Steve) Kelly and (Mike) Barry, and (Dave) Zuroms, their fine quarterback, can also run. They have an outstanding offensive line and our defense will have to really dig in if they want to stop their high-powered offense. And we'll have to watch out for Zuroms' passing, as he does a good job and has some fine receivers."

Quincy started slowly this year as the Presidents had their third coach in three years. Tom Fitzgerald retired two years ago and last year Bill Maver was the head coach before he resigned to take a position at Acton-Boxboro High School.

But the Presidents came along well and before their walloping at the hands of Brockton, the undefeated Div. I leader which is a cinch for the Super Bowl, they had won three games in a row.

"My only disappointment this year was the loss to Brookline, a game we should have won," Raymer said. "I'd certainly like to have that game back."

"This is a truly outstanding group of kids who have given me 100 per cent and more all season. I worked with North's seniors during the last two years and they also are outstanding boys. They were two excellent groups to work with."

With the possible exception of Joe Conti, who suffered a cracked rib three weeks ago, Quincy will be at top strength, the first time since the season opened it has been healthy. Raymer was devastated by injuries at mid-season and key players were sidelined in nearly every game.

Raymer will open with an offensive line of Kevin Burke and Conti or Don Parry at end, Rich Pettinelli and John O'Callaghan at tackle, P.J. Duggan and Pat Calabro at guard and Steve Perfetuo at center.

Shaughnessy at quarterback, Tucker and Gerry Frazier at halfback and Cullen at fullback will make up the starting backfield.

"Sophomore George McGuinness, who caught seven passes at Brockton, will see a lot of service at wide receiver. Teddy McCall, who has filled in well at halfback, will also see a lot of action as will Mark Callahan at tight end and Paul Lally at offensive tackle," Raymer said.

Defensively Quincy will open with Burke and Callahan at end, O'Callaghan and Peter Gangi at tackle, Calabro, Frazier and Cullen at linebacker, Conti or John Wholey and Tucker at cornerback and Shaughnessy and Parry at halfback.

Also playing on defense will be Lally, Steve Picarski, Mark Walsh, McCall and Mark Pozio.

"This won't be a scoreless tie like last year, I can promise you that," said Raymer.

Raymer, a former Quincy player himself, has three other former Presidents, Mark and Jeff Giordani and Peter Cassidy. Joining him later in the season as freshman coach was Mitch Finnegan, also a former Quincy athlete.

BILL SHAUGHNESSY has had a remarkable season as Quincy quarterback with his brilliant passing and running. He now wears No. 7.

Coaches No Strangers

The coaches in Thursday's game are no strangers to each other and each knows what the other can do.

Jack Raymer, in his first year as the Presidents' coach and their third coach in three years, was a North Quincy assistant the past seven years, the last two under North Quincy's current coach, Ken McPhee.
